Court frees rat poison suspect

Charges against a 39-year-old man who was accused of putting rat poison in the coffee of his girl friend, were dismissed Wednesday, in the Eastern District Police court.

Allen Bell of the 100 block S. Spring St., was found not guilty of attempted murder and assault by Magistrate John A. Janeiske.

Bell was arrested after Miss Mattie Strahan of the unit block S. Caroline St., complained last Friday that he had attempted to take her life following a dispute over his attention to another woman.

Miss Strahan told police that when she went to drink a cup of coffee, she noticed a peculiar flavor and discovered that a large amount of rat poison was missing from a can in her home.

Police testified at Wednesday's hearing that the report indicated that no signs of poisons was found in the woman's system.
