Time, fines grow in auto death case

Another year in jail and a $400 fine has been added to the three-year sentence and $1,000 fine an unauthorized driver received earlier for a June 3 automobile manslaughter case which involved a race with policemen.

Magistrate Harry T. Silbert, in Traffic Court Wednesday added the year and $400 fine to those imposed earlier by Judge John Tucker of the Criminal Court.

Lloyd Johnson, 27, 700 block of E. Preston St., received the new sentence and fine on charges of exceeding 70 miles an hour, reckless driving, failure to identify himself after an accident and operating on a suspended or revoked license.

Magistrate Silbert suspended two $100 fines on charges of failing to grant the right of way and failure to render aid to the injured.

HE ALSO sentenced the driver of the car Mr. Johnson drove, Nathaniel Tunson, 33, of the 1500 block E. Preston St., to a year in jail and a $250 fine as a party to the crime and for allowing an unauthorized person to operate his automobile.

Judge Tucker, in giving Mr. Johnson the three - year sentence and the $1,000 fine, to run concurrently, the maximum on the auto manslaughter charge, said of the case:

"This is the most extreme case of automobile manslaughter it has ever been my lot to hear."

He dismissed an auto manslaughter charge against Tunson.

OFFICER MILTON Skalinski, of Traffic Division, told Magistrate Silbert the Tunson car was first noticed operating at a high rate of speed on Pulaski Highway and when officers pulled abreast and signaled the car to stop Johnson sped off at speeds exceeding 80 miles an hour.

He said the car ran one red light and while going through another - automatic signal at Edison highway and Biddle St., struck another car, killing Edward L. Fisher, 38, of the 3100 block of O'Donnell St.

The officer testified that Mr. Tunson was in the rear of the car during the chase.

In the Criminal Court hearing Johnson testified he sped away from the scene of the accident, "because I didn't have a license."

Mr. Tunson said he became ill after drinking some beer and eating a hamburger and went to sleep on the back seat of his car.

He said he tried to stop Johnson when he woke up and found police were chasing them. Asked if he knew his car had collided with another he replied, "I was sleep then."

Magistrate Silbert refused to make any of his sentences for fines concurrent.

Tip on fatal fire is top AFRO award

A fire last weekend which claimed the life of one victim and caused four others to be hospitalized earned the top AFRO newstip award this week for an alert tipster.

Other tips by AFRO readers earned for them cash awards in varying amounts.

The tipster who reported an arrest in which charges of police brutality have been lodged won for the caller a check for $3.

ALSO EARNING a $3 award was the caller who reported the fatal freak accident in North Carolina involving a Baltimore truck driver.

Indication that good news also earn awards was seen in the $2 check earned by the caller reporting that a charming lassie had been selected to reign in the court of the queen at the Baltimore Junior College homecoming football game.

A report that a colored man had been selected as the first of his race to serve as a Baltimore county probation officer earned for the tipster a $2 check.

Also awarded a check for $2 was a tipster who reported the death of a schoolboy injured while riding a bicycle in which his brother was fatally hurt when it collided with a car.

The report of a robbery in northwest Baltimore won a one dollar check for an alert tipster.

Sees early death for hotel barriers

A complete end to every vestige of racial segregation in Baltimore hotels in a year's time was predicted on Monday night.

The prediction came from Herbert L. Fedder, who was retiring after three years as president of the local chapter of Americans for Democratic Action.

Mr. Fedder reviewed for some 60 ADA members attending the organization's annual meeting in the Christian Center at Morgan State College the progress made in breaking down hotel racial bars since ADA undertook the project two years ago.

He recalled that when ADA first urged that segregation be dropped the Hotel Association refused to go along, but later the association compromised to the point that colored persons with conventions or athletic teams would be housed.

"We don't like the idea that the hotels have so late offered so little," Mr. Fedder commented.

He pointed out that a similar ice-breaking policy was adopted in St. Louis and that in a year's time the hotels broadened their policies after finding the limited policy impossible to enforce.

While the Hotel Association has not changed the convention-team policy, some local hotels have announced that they would accept all reservations.

HOWARD MURPHY
New ADA president

Some hotels reportedly still limit the use of facilities of colored guests.

* * *

GUEST SPEAKER for the annual meeting was Gerald W. Johnson, author and retired newspaper editor, who decried what he termed "a lack of vision" on the part of the Eisenhower Administration.

Mr. Johnson said the current administration's policy has been: "In the presence of a crisis, do nothing and perhaps it will go away."

He said the recent Democratic administrations, were examples of "vision in places of leadership."

Mr. Johnson said it is up to the "little man" to demand leadership.

* * *

HOWARD H. MURPHY, business manager of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers was elected president of the ADA chapter. He has been a member for ten years.

He is a member of the national board and served as treasurer for three years.

Other new officers are Jack Levin, vice president; Mrs. Una Corbett, vice president; Mary L. Allen, secretary; Herbert Fedder to the national board, and William Engleman, treasurer.

Dr. Arthur Lovejoy and Dr. Frank Don Fend were named honorary presidents.

Former letter carrier freed on mail charge

George Melvin Tartar, 45, a former postal employee of the 1500 block N. Monroe St., was acquitted in Federal Court Tuesday on a charge of unlawfully detaining mail, which involved taking some letters home when he was in the carrier service.

Michael F. Freedman, attorney for Mr. Tartar, won the acquittal with a successful plea that his client had no criminal intention, but was attempting to perform an added service for some residents on his post, and did so his own efficiency.

Judge W. Calvin Chesnut, in a lengthy summation of the case, agreed with Mr. Freedman's contention. The prosecution was handled by Martin A. Ferris III, assistant U.S. Attorney.

* * *

SPECIFICALLY, Mr. Tartar was charged with taking some 26 letters away from the Franklin Office Station, 2100 block W. Pratt St., the past April 3, as he went off duty.

Mr. Tartar's explanation was that three persons who lived on his route had asked him to bring the letters they were expecting, if the letters had arrived at the postoffice prior to the close of his day's work.

The other mail, he said, was being carried home to fix for forwarding addresses, or return to the senders.

Mr. Tartar explained that he had previously been reprimanded for leaving work without first making up letter mail due such attention.

Judge Chesnut was told that Mr. Tartar had since been dismissed from the Post Office Department because of complaints about his 'efficiency.'

Mr. Freedman produced witnesses who verified that they had asked Mr. Tartar to bring the letters to them. All three arrived at the postal station before he left work on the past April 3.

Mr. Tartar has been in the postal service since May 12, 1945, when he was appointed a probationary substitute carrier. He was promoted a regular carrier, he and Mrs. Nellie Tartar have an eight-year-old child.

'I'll have to go to jail'

"I'll have to go to jail — I can't pay over $50," said George Banks Jr., 838 Hamilton Ave., in Traffic Court Monday after Magistrate George Cavenagh fined him $100 and costs.

Mr. Banks, after listening quietly to the testimony of the arresting officer, said to the magistrate, "I'll have to ask for the mercy of the court because of my wife and children."

He was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of intoxicants; failure to change his address at the Department of Motor Vehicles and failure to appear in response to a summons.

* * *

THE ARRESTING officer in the case testified that he saw a truck parked on Lanvale and Bolton Sts., Sunday night and when he investigated, "I opened the door and smelled liquor . . . He had to lie on the hood to produce the license."

Magistrate Cavenagh suspended Mr. Banks's license for 90 days on the other charges.

Mrs. Corner gets commission seat

Mrs. Henry E. Corner of Baltimore, veteran public affairs figure, has been appointed to a six-year term on the Maryland Commission on Inter-racial Problems and Relations by Governor McKeldin.

Mrs. Corner fills a vacancy created by the resignation last month of Clinton K. Macsherry.

'I didn't know'

"I didn't know he didn't have a license — I've seen him driving."

Walter Pierce, 1004 W. Franklin St. gave this excuse to Magistrate George Cavenagh in Traffic Court on Monday. Charged with allowing an unlicensed person to operate his car, Mr. Pierce was fined $25 and costs.

Lester Tolliver, 25, 1417 N. Fulton Ave., explained that he drove Mr. Pierce's car when he was asked because BRILLIANT AND BEAUTIFUL is Charlotte Holloman who is shown as she sang on Wednesday at Morgan State College.

Miss Holloman wins audience at Morgan

Charlotte Holloman, brilliant young coloratura soprano, won approximately 2,000 more fans Wednesday when she appeared College.

In concert at Morgan State

Singing a varied program with appropriate vocal range and her characteristic perfect and clear tones, Miss Holloman won several encores from the students and guests who filled the E. P. Hurst Gymnasium to hear her.

Alternating moods of passion, happiness and ringing joy were struck as Miss Holloman opened her program with a concert aria from Mozart, ran through two selections from Hugo Wolf's "Goethe," and rippled through a selection from Wolf's "Morkie."

The artist then sang two selections by Francis Poulenc and finished the concert with six spirituals arranged by Hall Johnson.

Miss Holloman was accompanied by pianist Lowell Farr. She was extraordinarily beautiful in an elegantly smart black afternoon dress.

Douglass pupils set for TV bow

By DAISY WILSON

Four pupils from Douglass will appear on a local television program on November 7.

The pupils will discuss the various school clubs, the role and functions of the school newspaper, the numerous activities, the athletic program, the purpose and the duties of the Citizenship Board and other such areas.

Buddy Dean will question the participants and they in turn will ask him some questions about himself, his career, and his program.
