
HOW THEY WERE FOUND — Police said when they entered the basement of 1728 McKean Ave. on Tuesday they found the five children of Kelley T. Johnson huddled in the darkness. This is an artist's conception of that scene.

Five children found in McKean St. Basement

By MAX JOHNSON

"Your Honor, we went in this house with the beautiful, stone front . . . there was so much filth everywhere inside, filth almost beyond imagination, we were actually nauseated . . . and huddled in the darkness of the filthy, littered basement, we found those poor, little children.

"They were so filthy, ragged, undernourished and utterly neglected, it will take many, many months to bring them around to normal and healthy conditions."

Sgt. Violet Hill Whyte, police woman, was testifying before Magistrate Linwood G. Koger Sr., in Northwestern Police Court Wednesday afternoon.

She was explaining why "the Reverend", Kelley Thomas Johnson, a 29-year-old self-styled, spiritual adviser and preacher, of 1728 McKean Ave., had been arrested and charged with neglecting and failing to properly care for his five children since this past January.

SGT. WHYTE charged that Mr. Johnson forced his five children to actually live in the basement of his two-story, six-room house on McKean Ave.

"This is one of the most shocking and pitiful cases of its kind ever to come to our attention," she said.

Mr. Johnson's children are three girls and two boys, including a set of girl and boy twins. Their ages range from two to six years.

Mr. Johnson also faced a lottery charge. Sgt. Whyte and Sgt. Robert McKay said they found numbers slips at his home, and at a basement "church" he operates at 1708 McCulloh St.

MR. JOHNSON, they told Magistrate Koger, calls himself "Prophet Jeremiah," and advertises his "healing powers" with his various "holy oils."

The accused man is slender, dark-skinned and of medium height. Throughout the proceedings, he leaned on the brass railing before Magistrate Koger's bench, with a wide-eyed, puzzled expression over his face.

He was neatly dressed in a tropical, light brown suit, clean white shirt, dark tie and a crumpix approximately six inches long, hung from a long silver chain around his neck.

He appeared without an attorney. Several times he attempted to interrupt police testimony about the finding of the lottery slips.

SPEAKING BARELY above a whisper, he said at first: "I wouldn't do nothing like that." A second time, he said: "I use them (the lottery slips) to pick my texts." And at still another time, he interrupted to tell Magistrate Koger: "A girl left those slips there. I didn't even know about them."

Mr. Johnson stood silent, when Sgt. Whyte told of the conditions under which police found his children existing in the house of McKean Ave.

Magistrate Koger placed him under total bail of $3,000 for grand jury action, setting bail of $2,500 on the lottery charge, and $500 on the charge of neglecting his children.

If convicted, he faces a maximum of a year in the House of Correction and $1,000 fine on the lottery charge, as a first offender. He could get a maximum of three years in the House of Correction and a $100 fine on conviction of failing to properly provide for his children.

SGT. WHYTE told Magistrate Koger that she and Policewoman Marian Crawford went to Mr. Johnson's McKean Ave. home at noon Wednesday. They were acting, she said, on complaints she had received about neglected children in the house, through at least 20 anonymous telephone calls.

Getting no response to their knocking, she said they entered the open doors and found an aged woman, apparently 70 years old or more and almost blind, in a rear room.

This woman, Sgt. Whyte told Magistrate Koger, was apparently a baby-sitter for the children, who were later found in the basement.

"The house was almost bare of furnishings," she stated. "Rags, dirt and filth were in piles throughout the place. There is no electricity on in the place, and window shades were tacked over the front windows, including the two in the cellar.

"The stench was so nauseating, we had difficulty staying inside any length of time."

THE CHILDREN, Sgt. Whyte said, are Jeremiah, 2, the twins, Kellia and Kelley, 3; Romaine, 5, and Frances, 6.

When they were found huddled in the basement, they stood silent and frightened, and appeared to have difficulty speaking when attempts were made to question them.

"Those children had been kept in the darkness of the basement of their home so long," Sgt. Whyte said, "they were unable to hold their heads up and face the sunlight.

"When we brought them out, they kept their heads bowed, and constantly blinked their eyes to adjust them to the things properly. One girl, Kellia, was found to have an eye infected with an ulcer.

"She was warned in the University Hospital for immediate treatment, and later to the Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, as an out-patient.

"All of them smelled so much dirt and grime on their skins, it was difficult at the time to tell whether they had scabies.

"The children were turned over to the Department of Public Welfare for placement in foster homes.

"WHEN I asked Mr. Johnson why he kept his children in such filth," Sgt. Whyte testified, "he said he believed in keeping children in, and making them fat. And I told him that was what farmers do with hogs."

Sgt. Whyte said it was evident that Mr. Johnson had made little attempts to fatten the children. For police learned that they had been existing mainly on bread and cold cuts brought to them each morning by their father.

It was apparent from the filth and bare furnishings of the McKean Ave home that Mr. Johnson did not share his income with his family.

Neighbors told of seeing him coming to the house daily of early morning, with a small bag from a corner grocery store, and leaving almost immediately afterwards.

Police investigation disclosed that his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, died in June of 1955. Police said she had tuberculosis.

NEIGHBORS in the 1700 block McKean Ave. said they seldom saw the children since the death of their mother. And only on one or two occasions had they been seen attempting to peer out of a first floor window around a partly pulled shade, since the past January.

Police said 19 lottery slips, with 193 numbers and totaling $71.63 were found at Mr. Johnson's home, at 1711 a.m. "church," and at his McKean Ave home, and on his person when searched at Northwestern District stationhouse, after his arrest.

TWO identification cards were also found on Mr. Johnson.

One, with two red and two blue seals on the back, stated that he was a member of the United Baptist Convention of New York, Atlantic City, Baltimore and Maryland, and was authorized to conduct evangelistic services until June, 1957.

The other stated that he was — Elder K. T. Johnson, spiritual adviser, of Andrews, S.C. The card read also: "one of the world's great Faith Healers. If you are cripple or in pain, see this friend. He can heal you."

A SIGN over the basement "church" at 1708 Madison Ave. reads: "Rummage sale here Saturday, all day beginning at 7:30 a.m., to help the church."

Along the north wall inside the small basement room, is a long rack of used clothing. A small pulpit and some 14 or 15 folding back chairs are the furnishings. A room in the rear is Mr. Johnson's study.

Mrs. George Mathies, who lives in the first floor apartment directly over Mr. Johnson's "church," said:

"He has a right good crowd around here. They hold services every Wednesday and Sunday nights. They sing and pray a lot from about 8 o'clock to 10:30 or 11 o'clock, then they all leave. I can't sleep until they leave."

Mr. Johnson gave police his birth place as Kingsfin, S.C.

Father guilty on morals count

Webster Taylor, 53, 2100 block E. Eager St., was convicted in Criminal Court this week on a charge involving the need for proper relations with his 13-year-old daughter.

Sentence was withheld pending an examination of the father by Dr. Manfred Guttmaker, court psychiatrist.

According to the mother of the child, the youngster complained that her father entered her bedroom around midnight on July 6 despite the fact that a lock had been placed on the door.

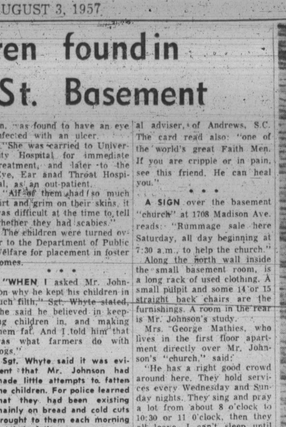
She also stated that another daughter, age three, sleeps in the bedroom with the older child.

SHE TESTIFIED that Mr. Taylor is a "good" provider, does not allow her to work, and gives the children ample clothing and spending money.

The couple has four children.

Mr. Taylor appeared on the witness stand with a Bible in his hand, her finger marking the place where she had been reading.

She wore a maternity frock and testified that she expected another child in November.



THIS IS THE HOUSE—Looking from the outside this is the view that pedestrians had of 1728 McKean Ave., where according to police Kelley T. Johnson, 29, kept his five children in the basement.

FREDDIE MATTHEWS

Have you seen this missing girl, age 16?

Northwestern District police and AFRO readers have been requested to help find 16-year-old Freddie Elizabeth Matthews of 906 Argyle Ave., missing from her home since Sunday evening.

Miss Matthews is described as being five feet, two inches tall, 122 pounds in weight; light hair. She was wearing a brown dress trimmed in white, brown shoes; white earrings, a brown necklace, and carrying a black umbrella with a white streak on the handle.

Mrs. Carrie Lee Farmer, the girl's mother, said her daughter was last seen by an attendant at a theater in the 1600 block midnight Sunday.

MRS. FARMER said the girl has another mark of identification, a white mark, resembling a flesh burn, on the outside of her left leg near the calf.

The girl left home shortly after five o'clock Sunday evening to visit her grandmother in the 1500 block Division St., and then to go to the theater. She was to be home by 11 that evening.

Mrs. Farmer notified Northwestern police at 2:15 a.m. Monday, when her daughter failed to return home. She said the girl has never stayed away from home before, though she has been visited frequently of late by a young man who lives in Washington. The girl is a first year student at the St. Francis Academy, 500 block E. Chase St.

COX — In loving memory of our dear father and beloved husband, WILLIAM JESSE COX Sr., who departed this life six years ago, August 1, 1951.
He heard a voice within him say,
"Come unto me and I will give
Come forth my Son and take your place
With my body's rest and peace."
You've done your task; your battle's won
Your home on earth is through.
To me and all you leave behind,
Are very proud of you. So take your place upon the throne
And lift your head up high. Though we miss you, we don't mourn for you
We'll meet you by and by.

DAVIS—In loving memory of my dear husband, SAMUEL L., who passed away July 31, 1956.
I seem to see a bright light
As I love the best.
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the west.
Then I did on the day of your going,
For absence can never close the door of my heart.
And the lamp of my love is still glowing
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world.
Your love the best to recall. For you on earth can take your place
You are still the greatest of all.
Your Devoted Wife,
MRS. GERTRUDE DAVIS

DUTTON — In memory of my husband, WALTER N., who departed this life two years ago today, August 2, 1955:
No one forgotten, loved one
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory lasts
I will remember thee.
Lost a husband in memory
A sorrow too great to bear
Lost a husband and lost
you.
Your memory will never grow old.
Loving Wife
