Mrs. Elizabeth Julian celebrates 76th birthday

with Lula Jones Garrett

(Elizabeth M. Oliver substituting while Lula is in Jacksonville covering the AME trial of Bishop Nichols)

"Summer days, so sweet, so cool, and filled with roses," so poets say, but ere July called out goodbye and August came, Baltimore saw many a hot day.

However, Baltimore hostesses held forth, and ignored the heat from the seclusion of air conditioned homes, fashionable seashore cottages and yea—from wooded manors upon landed estates.

The gay social whirl goes on and on as you shall see:

SHOWERS OF gifts and wishes for "many happy returns" came to one of Baltimore's most beautiful of mothers a week ago Sunday. 'Twas Mrs. Elizabeth Julian, mother of the famed Julian clan, who celebrated her 76th birthday.

Surrounded by five of her six children and 10 of her 12 grandchildren, Mrs. Julian was the guest of honor at the party held at the Greenspring Valley estate of physician son Dr James Julian and his wife Betty.

Down from New York was daughter Irma Dungee Julian Cooper who is the wife of Brooklyn undertaker Cotrell Cooper. They were accompanied by their two children. She is head of the testing department of the Brooklyn Employment Service.

Another daughter who exemplifies the Julian girls' tradition of beauty plus brains aplenty, was Mattie Pearl Julian Brown and her husband, Dr. Warren Brown who is an NYU professor of Social Science. They have just returned from Egypt, you know.

The third daughter there was vivacious Elizabeth, the Spanish type beauty who teaches English at Douglass and is the wife of Johnnie White, president of the local Postal Alliance.

Her daughter, Bettye Jean McLemore, also a teacher, was prettily tucked in bed, could not attend, but is now improving.

Dr. Emerson Julian, the youngest of the noted family and a local physician, was accompanied by his wife, Rosearl and their 4 children to the sheer delight of their grandmother whose secret pride lies in her grandchildren.

Dr. Percy Julian, one of the worlds great scientists, and family could not be present but sent gifts, made phone calls, from Oak Park, Ill. where he has the home office of the Julian Laboratories.

SINCE THE establishment of the Guatamalian laboratory offices, Dr. Percy has been commuting from Oak Park to that South American country by plane, has had little time for much else.

He is expected to visit his mother later on in the summer, however.

The appropriate setting provided by son, Dr. James and wife Betty was their spacious home, whose gardens harbor one of the most fabulous of swimming pools.

Joining the "strictly family affair" was Betty's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Hallley Taylor of Plainfield, N.J., and their 10-year-old daughter.

Dinner, swimming in the pool which is sunk into the green turf of the wide lawns, and the late evening barbecue outside at the grills, witnessed Mrs. Julian the happiest mother on earth, having a day with her children, and all her dreams come true.

YVETTE MURPHY'S delightfully cooling and original cocktail drink was borrowed by Verda Welcome to become the "piece de resistance' of her party last Wednesday, as she entertained at one p.m. for Mrs. Minnie Johnson of Columbia, S.C.

The guests who were thrilled and chilled by the "pineapple tropicana" which Yvette invented were: Mesdames Johnson, Murphy, Irma Dixon, Dora Hutchinson, Dolly Walker, Flotsella Clark, Dorothy Atkins, Pearl Manie of D.C.

Verda proudly passed on the word how the attractive drink is made and then poured into a scooped out pineapple shell. Each and every lady had her own pineapple, took off its lid and sipped from it with a straw.

The beautiful setting of the Welcome home, the dinner and the lively conversation made the occasion what is definitely called a heavenly summer afternoon.

The gracious Mrs. Welcome, long since known on the Eastern Seaboard as the "hostess with the mostess," will have as her week-end guests the former Baltimoreans, the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Nixon now of Hudson, N.Y.

IF YOU think weddings ended with Junetime, it's a mistake. Some of the season's most beautiful ceremonies have taken place this July.

For instance, a vision of loveliness was Mrs. Bertha E. Faunteroy, who were traditional blue gown last Saturday as she became the bride of the Rev. Alfred Hughes of Mt. Sinai Baptist Church.

With white pearls at her throat, and wearing pale orchid pumps and gloves, she carried a spray of American Beauty roses.

Her son, John, gave her away while cute little granddaughter Roslyn was the flower girl. The Rev. James E. Bowman, assistant pastor of the church, read the vows.

GWENDOLYN Freda Hicks, daughter of the Annapolis Joseph Hicks', was a fairy princess in her wedding gown of Chantilly lace, last week.

It was at the Mt. Moriah AME Church in Old Annapolis that she was wed to handsome Charles Gordon Ross Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross Sr., and the mere sight of her billowy skirt with its yards and yards of tulle and the bridal veil brought oohs and ahs.

She carried white roses and was accompanied by her maid of honor, Miss Carolese Redd, who wore a gown of yellow lace.

Little sister of the bride, Marvonise, was flower girl. The best man was Tolliver Vann.

Mother of the bride was sweet in creation of white and black. Her corsage was made of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a gown which reflected colors of the rainbow and a corsage of yellow roses.

The reception for the happy youngsters took place on the lawn of the bride's home where neighbors, friends in the community, as well as many of her Bales High School classmates, gathered to wish her happiness.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Ross will be at home on Dorsey Ave. and he will return to his job at the Naval Academy after the honeymood.

For the memorable occasion they have to thank the ingenuity of Mrs. Eleanor Reese, Mrs. Veola Randall and Mrs. Aurelia Williams who arranged the lovely affair.

AS LOVELY as any summer rose was Mrs. Jessie M. Jackson who became the Saturday bride of Samuel Dixon, and wore a stunning frock of rose lace nylon with a picture hat to match, and a dainty corsage of — yes — roses.

The wedding took place at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lee on Barclay St.

The Rev. Harry Dixon, Sykesville, who is brother of the bridegroom, saw to it that the knot securely was tied, as the bride was attended by her small daughter Beverly Jackson, dressed in blue, and the bridegroom by Walter Cook.

Witnessing the vows were the Larry Lees, the Alfred Dixons, the Chester Millers, Rev. and Mrs. Harry Dixon, Mrs. Doris Smith, and Lawrence and Jerome Lee.

Since the bridegroom is in the Philadelphia Post Office, the couple will reside there.

AND, SINCE weddings are still the event of the hour, it's natural that engagements should also be announced.

Coming out at this romantic time is the news that Mrs. Velma V. Scott, 2143 W. Baltimore St., is telling of the late August wedding of her lovely daughter Mandella Louise to Oakley Pettiford of Warsaw, Va.

The cute little tyke entertained her were friends with games ere the dancing began, and among those who attended the party were: Tina McAllister, Lynn Willis, Karen M. Willis, Deborah Holly, Maria Lee, Elaine Write, Lenora Pettiford, Clarise Washington, Bernadette and Yvonne McCoy and Yvonne Ruffin. Also about were Masters Eugene and Rodney Proctor of D.C., Gregory Johnson, Vernon Hatcher, Ricky Tucker and Billy Watkins.

COME SUNDAY from three to six one of the season's most fabulous cocktailers will be he at the Charles Street Famous Ballroom. Moses O. Lake is the "Key Man of Elegance" and has invited friends and patrons to "be my guest" at the get-acquainted party. The invites are gold-embossed and present guests with a golden key to elegance.

Speaking of smart affairs and doings of the smart ones, the Whoeits Club recently sent seven of its glamorous gals to set up a sister club in New York, I'll have you understand.

Entirely up to the fashionable ocasion and dressed in smart city-type summer frocks, those who made the journey from Baltimore were Olivia Dixon, Louise Lockerman, Alma Gray, Maxine Hibbinbotham, Harriet Jones and Louise Lockerman.

NOW THAT journeys are in order, among those taking trips away from the Chesapeake shore is Rose Marie Davis. As of this moment she is down

Cherry Hill Notes

By MARJORIE J. WARD

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griffin of 641 Cheraton Rd., returned recently from a vacation. They visited Detroit, Canada, and Chicago. Accompanying them on the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Jake McNeill and Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Thomas of Baltimore.

On Sunday, the Cherry Hill Community Church (Presbyterian) celebrated the fifth anniversary of its pastor the Rev. Edgar W. Ward. Special recognition was also given Miss E. V. Murphy, director of christian education at the church.

Mrs. Madeline Murphy presided over the 11 a.m. services. Remarks commemorating the pastor were given by Dorothy F. Noel; from the trustees, Mrs. Mildred Greene; deacons, Mrs. Mattie Harris; adult organizations, Mrs. Oreah Mitchell; youth, Miss Freda Greer and from the children, Calvin Thomas Jr.

After the remarks gifts were presented to the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ward from the church and Mrs. Z. Kirk received Miss E. V. Murphy's gift, who is attending a workshop in dramatics at Wisconsin at present.

The guest speaker for the morning was Otho P. Pinkett, member of the board of strategy, Baltimore Presbytery and an elder.

THERE WAS a Doll Fashion Show and Doll Baby Carriage Parade at Cherry Hill Community Center 2700 Spelman Rd. Wednesday.

"The Little Bees," a club formed in the 900 block of Seagull Ave., by young Dorothy Steward and made up of children three to 12 years old, presented a musical program at the Community Building recently.

More farmers are employing hired help

WASHINGTON (ANP) —A quarter of a million fewer farm operators or unpaid members of their families were at work on farms during the survey week of June 23-29.

However, the number of hired workers was up by close to 100,000.

in New Orleans showing the folks at the 28th annual Beaux Cultural Convention just how to fix up pretty hair styles.

Off to Pittsburgh for a weeks stay are Lillie Owens, Margaret Gassaway, and Lelia Cooper. Lelia is a district delegate from Warren's Methodist Church while Lillie and Margaret attended the sessions.

The fortunate trio was delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Forest Thomas while visiting there in their home. On the week-end they were guests of Mrs. Mary Page who is the director of the YWCA young people's work, an interracial project.

HOWARD MURPHY, Singleton Valentine, Carson Johnson, and many others will remember Forest Thomas who used to live here in Baltimore, and they will be glad to know that he is bringing his bride of one month to show her off here in a few weeks time.

Cards and letters inform that many of the towns people are "having a wonderful time" and wish you all "were here."

From the Harrison Hotel located in the heart of Chicago comes a letter from Olivia and Leon Bates who slipped off from their Auchenbrody Terrace home some time ago and went a-visiting, shopping, and doing twenty things.

On the go by car, they stopped at Pittsburgh, Columbus, Cleveland, Springfield, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Columbus, Kansas City, visited just such wonderful friends as the John Holts of Pittsburgh and the Thomas Gowdens (his sister) of Kassas City, and his other sister in her fashionable Chicago home.

FROM Minneapolis and St. Paul comes a card from Emily Peck and Claire Peck Parker who are doing the twin cities in great style.

They are enroute to Duluth, Minn., where they are due to visit Capt. and Mrs. Frederick Peck at the Duluth Air Base. Kinda nice, eh?

And oh the joy of the two-week trip to Canada was two schoolmarms, Florence Dennis and Laura P. Wiley are now residing in San Francisco.

Out of towners who attended the party were: Mrs. Katherine Henderson, New York; Samuel Woodson and Irvin Roberts, Chester, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. William Sonn, and family, Oxford, Pa.; Earl Kelly, Gloria Robinson, Washington, D.C.; and Dunham; a student nurse at Provident Hospital, Toledo, Ohio.

Other guests include: Capt. and Mrs. Obie D. Robinson and infant son; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson Jr. and infant daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Diggs; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas and Dr. and Mrs. Mal Foot; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weldon; Mr. Mabel Hughlett; Linda Foster; Brenda Heywood; Gladys Palmer; Tyler Allen; Mamie, Kenneth, John Berry; Gladys and Sydney Berry.

Also, Dorothea Meyers; Esther Lipscomb; Robert Greenway, Helen and Vernon Wheadon, Mary and Larry Parker, Nina Scott, Doris and Alvin Johnson, Nellie Bowie, Lillian and Buddy Cornelius.

THE ROD AND GUN CLUB, Inc. crab feast was held at the shore home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Saunders last Sunday.

All guests arrived home to tell of the utterly divine time they had. It was the "living end" they said. And among those enjoying the priceless hospitality of the Saunders home were:

Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Anderson and children, James Bumbry and guest, Mr. and Mrs. James Dorsey, Walter Eaton, Mrs. Richard Waters Sr. and Hanson Green of Cambridge;

Also the John H. Murphy Jr's., the Harry Macers, the Harold Sydnors, the Howard Washingtons, the Richard Watters, the Thomas Watters, the Roland Rayne's and sister, the John Watters and his sister, the Frankw Owenses, the Leroy Carrols, Rev. and Mrs. Hiram Smith and the Hiram Browns from Towson.

SHIRLEY KYLE and Mrs. John Manning arrived in Minneapolis last Friday and are now the house guests of Shirley's fond mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Earle F. Kyle.

But — before the attractive young ladies turned toward Minneapolis and St. Paul they looked around Chicago, and Milwaukee and were entertained by some of their old classmates and friends from Knoxville College in Tenn. where they were students once upon a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Manning now live in Washington where she is a teacher of exceptional children in the public school system, and welcomes Shirley to make their home her "home away from home."

EACH YEAR Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brooks of Pasadena have the most glorious Fourth of July picnic at their Magothy Beach home. Surely you've heard about it. This year they featured a feast of crabs, crab cakes and crab soup prepared as only Mrs. Josephine Mayo can.

These who enjoyed the treat and will remember the holiday as long as they live were:

Mrs. Pearl Smith, Mrs. Ross Staton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, and their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pickett of the New Jersey Arch Social Club;

Also, Walter Braxton, the Altamonts Club marching unit of the Great Southern Temple; Drill Patrol No. 30; and the Brotherhood and Sisterhood of the Raindeers.

MRS. J. LOGAN JENKINS' house guests of last week, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morris and Mrs. Rosa Strother of Buffalo, returned home on Wednesday with memories of a wonderful time while visiting their cousin, the gracious Mrs. Jenkins.

Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Strother are sisters. They not only enjoyed the sightseeing trips while here but they were guests of honor at some pre-ti-y fine affairs.

Rose T. Kinney is the one person on the social list who is going abroad this time. Europe is where she is spending her vacation to become the envy of all who know the chic lady.

The Rhoers under the sponsorship of the Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority had a pleasant afternoon indeed last Wednesday when they went to Ft. Smallwood and delved into photography, croquet, badminton, swimming and games on the sand.

Their advisor, Mrs. Geraldine Jenkins was accompanied by former basileus, Mrs. Emily Cralle.

Taking part in the happy time were: Barbara Blake, Brenda Brown, Deanna Carter, Janice Evans, Helena Gibson, Dolores Hunt, Joanne Johnson, Inez Lloyd, Patricia Morton, Vivian Parker, Phylis Stevenson, Vernadine Tubman and Lillie Walker.

Also, Lillie Walker.

IRMA DIXON certainly had an elegant dinner party Wednesday night for hubby William B. who celebrated his 67th birthday July 31. It was served at the Chesapeake Club by caterer Milfred Jefferson who brought out the silver candelbra and everything else to go with such a grand occasion.

Fifteen in all, was the number of guests who like to dine together, call themselves a friendly family. They were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Leroy Tayler, Ernest Dennis, James Murphy, P. D. G. Pennington, and Drs. and Mrs. Cecial Gloster, Charles Woodland and Glenford Mussenden.

Miss E. Estelle Thomas, executive secretary of the Madison Ave. Branch YWCA arrived in St. Thomas by plane today (Friday) for a two-week vacation. She was met at the airport by Miss Jane Tuitt, who is assistant Commissioner of Education there. Later she will spend a week in St. Croix and a day in Puerto Rico.

ST. ANN SPIRITUAL Acres on the Magothy Beach Road, Jacobsville, Md., was the annual Feast in the Wilderness last Sunday held in honor of the memory of Mother and co-founder of the church, Mrs. Rosie Koon.

The wooded wonderland is now the site of the new church and approximately 250 persons attended the affair. The Rev. Mrs. Lillian May Thompson is pastor and daughter of the founder.

Honorees included Mrs. Josephine Mayo, James A. Koon, father of the year who is husband of the founder. Mother Mary Walker, Solo Gibbs and Elder Minnie Lee Cooper.
