Advise For Residents On Redevelopment Plans

By MAX JOHNSON

Increasingly, high public interest in the city renewal planning program of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency has come to the attention of the AFRO recently.

This had been particularly evident since an AFRO article in the June 8 edition announced that this agency had just designated a new urban renewal area — the Mount Royal Fremont Urban Renewal.

This new area includes all of the old area 12—around the Fifth Regiment Armory and is a 925-acre tract within the boundaries of Fulton Ave., Druid Park Lake Dr., Mount Royal Ter., and North Ave. on the north; Howard and Cathedral St. Mary and Mulberry Sts. on the south; and Fremont and, roughly Pennsylvania Ave.

Some 70,000 people reside in this area. They live in 20,216 dwelling units, in 10,972 residential structures, there are also other building structures.

AFRO READERS have directed a volume of questions to this newspaper, requesting all sorts of information about what will happen to their properties. Here are some of them, and the answers from the agency through Robery Moyer, director of information services.

Q.—Just what does urban renewal mean, in respect to my neighborhood?

A.—Urban renewal is the broad-scale program aimed at rearrangement, conservation and rebuilding neighborhoods and restoring their vitality. The major emphasis in renewal is on conservation and rehabilitation of existing property, with demolition and redevelopment only where necessary, to provide the neighborhood with the services and facilities needed and desired.

Q.—How can I keep informed about this planning, in addition to newspaper articles?

A.—When an area is officially declared as an urban renewal area by the City Council, the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency will set up an area planning office right in the neighborhood.

(Two such areas have been designated to date. They are the Harlem Park Urban Renewal Area, and the Mount Royal-Fremont Urban Renewal Area. The Harlem Park area planning office is at 724 N. Carroll Ave. Such an office for the Mount Royal - Fremont area has not yet been set up.)

Active citizen participation in the plans for an area is part of the renewal program. A community organization advisor will be in the area office to assist in keeping the resident fully informed of progress, and to transmit the wishes of the residents to the agency in organized fashion.

General information about the renewal program can be obtained by writing: Information Services Division, Baltimore urban Renewal and Housing Agency, 709 E. Eager St., Baltimore 3.

Q.—If there is a decision that repairs must be made to my property to fit it within this renewal program, must I bear these costs, regardless of my financial status, or can I expect help from the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency?

A.—If you own the property involved, and repairs are ordered after it is found to be below minimum housing standards, then the owner must bear the costs, regardless of financial status.

No financial help is available from the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency.

However, help is available to owners with severe financial problems in approved renewal areas from a private organization, the Fight Blight Fund, Inc.

Loan funds may be available in some instances for rehabilitation from other private sources by reason of additional FHA insurance provisions.

Q.—What happens if I refuse to meet these requirements?

A.—Penalties are imposed by the Housing Court, and are determined by the magistrate. They vary in accordance with the seriousness of the case at hand.

Q.—If my property is to be taken over by the city, through the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency, how much above its actual assessment value will I be allowed, with considerations of my purchase price and my improvements?

A.—If your property is acquired by the city as a part of an urban renewal plan, it will be acquired at the market value of the house. The assessed value is one of the factors considered when appraisal is made.

Q.—How effective will my protests of these decisions be?

A.—Protests against condemning property will be carefully considered by the neighborhood groups, the renewal agency, and the City Council.

However, once the plan in which your property is involved is approved by the City Council, the courts will determine property values, if contested by the owner.

Q.—How can I be certain my property will be safe from condemnation?

A.—No property owner can receive guarantees that his property will not be condemned. However, if your property is decent, safe, sanitary, and not located in a mixture of residential and commercial properties in a deteriorated section, you can be reasonably sure it will not be condemned later.

If it is in an area that has been given urban renewal treatment before you moved there, you can be quite sure it will not be condemned.

Lucky pix winner to use money for school

"That was the first time my picture ever was in the newspaper. All my friends told me they saw it."

Fifteen-year-old Radcliff E. Dare, 1307 N. Gilmor St., Friday's Lucky Picture winner, made these remarks as he received a $5 check at the AFRO City Desk Monday afternoon.

Radcliff, who will begin his first year at Douglass High School this fall, was photographed as he and other students of the Gilmor Homes Project were preparing for an outing last week.

HE SAID he first learned of his good fortune from his mother. Mrs. Frances Dare, when he arrived home from his summer job.

When asked what he planned to do with the Lucky Picture check, Radcliff said, "I'm going to save it to get some clothes for school." The lad emphasized that he is also using his summer earnings for this purpose.

In each edition of the AFRO, there is a circled picture worth $5 cash. In order to be the Lucky Picture winner, the person whose picture is encircled must call at the AFRO office before noon of the next publication date.

Watch for the winner's circle; you may be in it!
