Gadabouting In Baltimore

Continentals' conclave in Atlantic City full of play

with Lula Jones Garrett

The Continentals journeyed to Atlantic City over the week end for their annual conclave.

There they joined sister chapters from Washington and Philadelphia at the Park Plaza Motel, which served as their headquarters.

At the business meeting the Continentals discussed the means of cementing friendship, and expanding and exchanged ideas for their charities with under-privileged children.

The Philadelphia chapter served as host of the social activities, which started with a "Get Acquainted Eye-opener" early Saturday morning.

High noon found the boardwalk alive with Continentals, who were guests at a Cabana party . . . at which the girls arrived in the fops in beach attire.

Later in the afternoon they were guests at a banquet which also honored husbands and friends. Sunday morning's breakfast party was at Club Marien, and the festivities closed with a party on the sun deck of the Park Plaza Motel. Here they were joined by a hundred other guests.

From Baltimore were:

Margaret and David Mason, Helen and Clifton Gattis, Helen and Richard Quarles, Edith and Walter Davidson, Delores and William Young, Norman and Lillie Branch.

Serena and John Holmes, Frankie and Webster Henchen, Dupreva and Milton Stanley, Emily Peck, Frances Turner and Sue Miles.

Incidentally, at the Baltimore unit's last meeting here they conducted a beautiful candle light service to induct a new member, Dr. Rebecca Davis.

After the induction they were joined by husbands and friends for an evening of fun and festivities.

THE POLLYANNAS were in for a afternoon of bridge with Mrs. Howard Murphy at her home in Morgan Park, Saturday afternoon.

Here from Philadelphia for the session were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor and Leon Newsome.

The Pollyannas there include Mesdames Sadie Murphy, Norma Marshall, Cora McDaniels, Marie Payne and Lillian Jones.

And playing with them were other guests: Mesdames Erma Davis, Gladys Derry, Althea Cornish, Courtney Valentine, Mary Proctor, Isabel Clark, Grace Murphy, Ruth Burgess;

Also Mesdames Vashti Murphy, Nellie Sorrell, Mabel Frisby, Lelia Wright and Virginia Love.

Mesdames Davis and Cornish topped the guest players, taking first and second prizes, respectively. Mrs. Sadie Murphy won first prize of club members, and second went to Mrs. Annie Smith.

SYLVIA COOK is to become Mrs. Donald W. K. Martin during the late summer.

Announcement of her engagement was made this week by her mother, Mrs. Clara Evans Cook. The bride-elect is also the daughter of the late Emanuel Cook. A graduate of Douglass High School, she is now a junior at the University of Maryland.

Her fiance is also a Douglass grad and a student at the same university. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Martin and is recently out of the service.

PEREGRINATORS: Lt. Col. and Mrs. Willard C. Stewart (Morgan State College) and their children leave today (Friday) for Shelbyville, Ind., where the family will remain. He is en-route to Korea.

Judge and Mrs. E. Everett Lane are vacationing in easy doses, this summer. Jaunted to New York one weekend. The past one, week-ended with Dr. and Mrs. Sylvester Smith in Ambler, Pa.

The Calvin (Letitia Ashes (they're of the Douglass High faculty) are packing for several weeks in Mexico. She will probably be back in time to go to the Urban League's national convention in Detroit. Being on the board of the Baltimore unit, she is being persuaded to represent the local group at the Michigan meeting.

Geneva and Leo Woods are extolling the beauties of the West, through which they are traveling these days.

Left this city Friday, stopped in Oklahoma to see the 50th Centennial, went on for a peep at the Grand Canyon National Park, thence to Las Vegas. They should be in Los Angeles, California today (Friday).

Blanche Hughes, Vernice Wynn and Doris Tarfer are in San Francisco, Calif. for the national sessions of Jack and Jill of America.

Mattie Connor left Sunday for the South and West Coast accompanied by her sister, Fannie Jones of Salinas, Calif., and her niece, Mrs. Fred D. Williams of Selma, Ala.

The party will visit relatives in Birmingham and Selma Ala. New Orleans, La. and Salinas. Then Mattie will do an extensive tour of the Coast and Canada.

POTPOURRI: The Otis Sprows are four as of last Wednesday morning. A daughter, Monica Odell, (weighing all of seven pounds) arrived to join been and their small son, Otis, Jr.

Jacqueline Bass, daughter of the Kenneth Basses, was honoree at a delightful luncheon given by her aunt, Mrs. Alma J. Caswell, Thursday.

. . All because she has been such a smart girl, during her elementary school training in fine order and ready for junior high.

Dining with her were Inell Brown, Marilyn Oliver, Kenna and Rita Bass, Barbara Freeslidge, Charlene Cephas and Dorchea Glasco.

And speaking of schools, there's going to be a new look on the facilies of many of the town units come September.

Talented Vernice Matthews, who has been at P.S. 148, is to be vice principal at that school. Margaret Ewing, now a specialist in elementary education, will take a vice-principalship at Fannie Barbour School No. 161, and Leo Diggs will add her charm and brain to the second highest post at the Elmer A. Henderson School No. 101. Edward Murray will head the Rutland Elementary School No. 149 when it opens in February, 1958.

ON MONDAY, Maters descended on unsuspecting Frances Graham, bringing edibles, garlanded punch bowl; supplies and of course, gifts.

"Twas a surprise shower for the newest addition to the Ben Graham household, month-old Benita Jane.

The Maters took advantage of the gathering to pin point plans for a barbecue for the fellows and themselves on Saturday, and a closing family picnic on the 28th.

Guests at their Monday party were Leslie Graham, Eloise Brown, Ruby Glover and Madeline Tucker of Louisiana.

Members of the club about were Bernice Parker, Helena Wright, Mary Carter, Jean Taylor, Gwendolyn Nicholas, Naomi Lawson and Ina Bryant.

THERE WERE SO many fireworks, party-wise, on yesterday (the Fourth) that merely listing them is a story. Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Hunt held forth at their Gwynns Falls Parkway place, all afternoon, dispensing dinner (barbecued base) drinks, et al to a number of towns folks and out-of-town guests on their spacious lawn 'til into the night.

The A. Jack Thomases entertained at their farm on the Magothy. Dr. and Mrs. James Fair were barbecue hosts . . . Ditto Mrs. J. Logan Jenkins of Morgan Park. At Arundelon-the-Bay, the Douglass Kings had gangs in for the day.

re W. N. M. Club, and guests, went off for a four-day holiday at Colton . . . and the Baltimore Guardsmen had their usual Fourth-of-July picnic.

Suddenly ill, Mrs. Robert Matthews (Vashti Murphy) was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Friday.

PROJECT CHANGE—The Baltimore chapter of Jack and Jill of America deviated from their national charity project, aid for polio victims, to local gifts, this year. From funds raised in a cocktail party in February, the group gave $100 each to the Druid Hill YMCA, the Madison Avenue branch YWCA, and as first installment on a NAACP Life Membership, $50 to the Baltimore Urban League and $300 to the March of Dimes. Officers and committee chairmen include, left to right, Mesdames Emma Michaels, program chairman; Doris Oswell, treasurer; Margaret Proctor, vice president; Blanche Hughes, president; Kay Carter, Monterey Clay and Louise Robinson, committee for the charity benefit.

PRETTY BRIDE was Miss Delaphine Faucette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Faucette, 2331 McCulloh St., who was married on Saturday at St. James P.E. Church to Ronald Watts. The bride is shown here with her father as she prepares to enter church. The wedding on June 29, came on the 25th wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Watts.

Zetas' Peezee Youth Group entertain mothers at tea

The PeeZee Youth Group of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority had a gala tea in Morgan State College's Christian Center, Saturday.

Mrs. Althea Cornish, past advisor of the Gamma Chapter, opened with prayer. Outstanding among the program numbers was a greeting song written by Olive Shands, a meditation entitled "Mother's Prayer" written by Elveta Allen and read by Patricia Dorsey.

Miss Beatrice Mayo, basileus of Alpha Zeta Chapter, played a violin solo after welcoming the mothers to the tea. Barbara Chase represented the PeeZees and Mrs. Beatrice Lancaster represented the mothers in giving a response to the welcome.

A unique arrangement of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" was sung by a quartet composed of Jeanette Mayers, Doris Brodie, Brenda Jones, Lavadia Savoy.

THE INTERPRETIVE dances were given; the first "So Rare" featured Shirley Dilver, Eleanor Williams, Carolyn Ennis, and Rolina Handy; the second, "He Lili Hi Lo" featured Lillie Claybone, Joan Winchester, Sarah Cousins, and Bernice Young. An original reading by Olive Shands was entitled, "The Life of a PeeZee." Doris Brodie sang "Londonderry Air." Piano selections were rendered by Sarah Cousins and John Smith who played "Nocturne in E Flat" by Chopin.

MRS. RUTH M. CLEVER, gave the main address in which she emphasized the La Cheerio Project of the Zeta Rhi Beta Sorority which aims to serve those who need but cannot pay in material wealth.

Mrs. Clever is now advisor to Gamma Chapter, Morgan State College. Miss Lillie Ross, associate director of the Atlantic Region for the state of Maryland and advisor of the PeeZee Youth Group, who made presentations is also third anti-basileus of Alpha Zeta Chapter.

At the piano were Mrs. Goldie Ford, Mrs. Althea Cornish and Miss Elveta Allen.

Guests of the group included:

Mesdames Thelma R. Handy, Evelyn Allen, Eliza Johnson, Margaret E. V. Chase, Doris Dilver, Queenie Williams, Essie F. Dorsey.

Mesdames Bertha Jones, Agnes Smith, Dorothy Brodie, Ethel Carroll, Mildred Winchester, Sarah Smith and Beatrice Lancaster.

Among PeeZees at the party were:

ANNIVERSARY of their wedding 25 years ago was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berry, 2527 Madison Ave., on June 28 at a dinner-dance held at Odd Fellows Hall. Mr. Berry and the former Miss Elizabeth Goody, were married in St. Pius Church.

Mass, breakfast, dance mark Mr., Mrs. Berry's anniversary

It was a gala occasion, Friday, for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Berry, of 2327 Madison Ave., who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

The day began with a nuptial high mass at St. Peter Claver Catholic Church. The mass was attended by a large number of members of the church, the original wedding party, her Altar Guild and the Scholarship Club.

A breakfast, for out-of-town guests and members of the family followed at the Berry's home. Then scores of guests greeted the couple at a dinner dance held in Odd Fellows Hall that evening.

A feature of the evening's entertainment was a "This Is Your Life" skit, by Mrs. Mary West Jones, who chronologized the high points in the couple's married life.

Father Richard Swift blessed the couple. Another speaker was Father Philip O'Hare. Charles Parker, organist, played and sang favorite songs of Mr. and Mrs. Berry.

OUT-OF-TOWN guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, NYC; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Brown, Miss Jennie Dean, Philadelphia; Dr. and Mrs. Custis Howard, Coatesville, Pa.;

Mrs. Ruth Gardner, Newport News, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones, El Paso, Texas; Mrs. Beatrice Stewart, Mrs. Henry Miles and Mr. and Mrs. John Holt, Washington.

Miss Ellen Vincent becomes bride of Robert Bentley

Miss Ellen Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vincent of Roanoke Rapids, N.C., became the bride of Robert Bentley in a pretty ceremony.

The wedding took place on the lawn of the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, 3412 Bateman Ave. The Rev. James Mallory officiated.

MISS VINCENT, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Valencia lace over satin. The fitted bodice, buttoned down the back, had a Sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves. The full skirt flowed into a chapel train.

Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion was held by a half hat of tulle embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of carnations and baby's breath.

MISS BEULAH VINCENT, sister of the bride, was the only attendant; Her gown of blue tulle net had a fitted bodice and skirt of tiers of ruffles. The sleeveless dress was worn with a stole. She added a corsage of red roses.

George Bentley served his brother as best man.

A reception followed.

Mr. Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bentley of Farmville, Va., is a Government employee in the ordnance department at Curtis Bay.

The bride, who graduated from North Carolina College, Durham, teaches in Princess Anne, Md.

The newlyweds are at home at 1521 N. Rentalou St.

IRVING AND LOUISE LOCKERMAN counted up the other day and found it was a whole quarter of a century since they skipped off to Philadelphia to say their 'I dos.'

So, they invited a few relatives and friends to join them in a small celebration at her family home in Jonestown, Howard County.

They urged the guests not to bring gifts but because there are such lovely people, their guests showered them.

Irving, you know is the city teacher. Louise—she was Louise Adams—was a city health nurse years back, and now she's back to her first love again, as nurse in the nursery department at Hopkins Hospital.

For the anniversary guests were treated to delicious chicken salad with all the trimmings and that delovely fancy ice cream and punch.

About to greet them were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Nathaniel Pollard, Jessye Hughes, James L. Jenkins, Jr., Harry Bruce, Edward Williams, Frank Phillips, John B. Jackson, Gus Adams;

Messrs. and Mesdames Howard Slater, Gorham Scott, James Dorsey, John Bailey, Salem Davis, Allen Ebbs, Charles Adams, Wilbert Jones, Eugene Hughes;
