attorney, answered as follows:

—Mrs. Dixon, since this separation, don't you consider people have to move out of her own home?

A—Well, in September he called me one night and said, "Mom would you mind if I did see coming back?" I said, "Let's sit down and talk about it." We sat down and the house was quiet as well forgot about coming out between us.

I said, "I am not saying you need or am saying no." My reason for talking to you that one reason why women he was living with that lived in Washington.

Then after we had a conference in Mr. Bregel's (my lawyer) office I said to him called the same day I said, "Mr. Dixon, maybe my son wants to come back." He said, "Mrs. Dixon, I'm sorry." He called up and wanted to know how I felt about him coming back to the house. I said, "I can't discuss that over the phone." You don't discuss those kind of things over the phone.

"HE SAID, "I will see you tomorrow." He didn't come the next day. He came the following day, which was Tuesday.

"Wednesday I drove to begin to move out. I asked him about this woman and the house.

"He jumped up and said 'I didn't know anything about it.' I said, 'If you don't know anything about the house and the house you might as well forget about coming out between us.'

Q—Do you believe it would be for the best interests for the reasons of your children for you and your husband to reconcile your differences?

A—Well, Henry, I am Catholic. We do not believe in divorce. If my husband wants to do what is right, give up this woman and all the other women he may want to go out with, and divorce some time to me and treat me as a wife instead of a housekeeper, I would be willing to accept him back.

Q—How much of this time would satisfy you?

A—I don't expect a man to stay in twenty-four hours a day, day in and day out, but certainly it seems to me to just let your wife in from one year to the other, not take her to the movies —all social affairs I have to go to alone or with other couples, it is embarrassing. That has been going on for the past two and one-half years.

Q—You haven't answered my question. How much of his time would reasonably satisfy you, considering the type of business he is in?

A—He could stay at least one night a week, and come home early instead coming in the next day or whenever he got good and ready. All hours of the morning with no explanation.

Q—If he would agree to do that, and do it, would you be contended to reconcile these differences?

A—If he would agree to do that, and some kind of explanation about this house where he is living and this woman. The girl I called understand is why she had to come from Washington over here to Baltimore to live. I can't understand that.

Q—A lot of people in Washington live in Baltimore.

A—I can't understand that. The night he wanted to come back I said, "Henry, how do you feel about this woman?" He said, "I will see you tomorrow." He didn't come the next day. He came the following day, which was Tuesday.

Wednesday I drove to begin to move out. I asked him about this woman and the house.

Wife bares husband's 'last letter'

By MARY STRATFORD

"He cried and he prayed. He was the most pitiful person you have ever seen. He didn't want to die."

Her eyes blurred with tears at the memory. Mrs. Susie Daniels, 26, 100 block 12th St., NE, recalled her last moments with her husband, Eddie Lee (Flash) Daniels, before he died Friday — the first victim to be executed in Maryland's new gas chamber.

Daniels was convicted of first degree murder for the stabbing slaying, last year, of Arthur E. Chayelle, white co-owner of a Silver Spring car wash. Two co-defendants in the case, are serving life terms.

MRS. DANIELS visited her husband at the Maryland Penitentiary Thursday — the day before his death.

"He kept thinking he might get off," she said. "He kept hoping that the Governor (Gov. Theodore McKeldin, of Maryland,) would stay the execution."

Daniels, father of two of Mrs. Daniels four children, referred to them repeatedly, the wife said.

"He told me to try to get them a good education," she recalled. "He said, 'If I could just see them, I'd be satisfied.'"

The children, Malcolm, two, and Carrie Mae, one, did not see their father after his arrest.

MRS. DANIELS, slender and soft - spoken, disclosed that she and Daniels were separated at the time of his arrest.

"But he used to write to me and his children money," she said. "He took care of my older children, too. He was the best man I ever knew."

The wife, who said theirs was a common - law relationship, met Daniels about three years ago in the District.

On the day Chayelle was killed, Daniels came to her home.

"HE DIDNT tell me what had happened," Mr. Daniels related, "but I could tell something was wrong by the way he acted."

The wife wept as she said: "I don't know why he did it. I don't believe he'd ever been in trouble before. He must have needed a lot of money — bad.

"It's hard to believe. He didn't even drink or smoke." Daniels visited him several times.

After Daniels arrest, Mrs. Daniels moved from Rockville and later in Baltimore, Md.

"Once," she recalled, "he told me he didn't do it. "He said, 'I've got to get this off me. Its the truth between me and God. I didn't kill that man. One of the others did."

DANIEL'S DEATH Friday night, did not disturb her as much as the thought of his pending execution had in previous months, she said.

"When you worry about a thing so much, you wear yourself out."

Mrs. Daniels, recently denied continued assistance from the Board of Public Welfare, stated she did not assume expenses for her husband's funeral because of her financial condition.

The day following his death, she received a letter from her husband, apparently written after she visited him at the penitentiary. The letter read:

"Dearest wife and kids, bad:

"I thank you for coming to see me and you surprised me. I hope I can see my little girl. I ask the Lord to help me and I remember things you said and if it be the Lord's will, I shall see you again cause we are from down South and you think just like me.

"Believe me, honey, nobody knows what happened so you just take care of the kids.

"I do want to see my family again and I know you want to see me again.

"Please be sweet and kiss the kids. The Flash did get a watermelon but I hope we eat one together again.

"I do ask the Lord. Help me this time. You and me and the kids. You are nice. I would like to see you all the time and you must try to write me.

"I do hope I can see the kids. I want to hold my boy. Then I would be very happy. Tell Aunt Carrie and son-helio, (Mrs. Daniel's brother and sister-in-law).

"Also the kids. You know who I love. Everytime I say Mr. Flash, don't tell him hello. You did say how many teeth the boy had. I know that they eat all the time.

"Try to get my mother (Mrs. Estelle Daniels, Tampa, Fla.) to come up and stay with the kids.

"I know love here. I do hope this won't be the last time I see you. You must remember you are grown and not a child. O.K.

—No burial

BULLETIN

After lying in the Baltimore City Morgue for five days, the body of Eddie Lee Daniels has been claimed by W. H. Bacon of the Beacon Funeral Home, 5635 E. St., N.W., Washington, who said he was acting Mr. Daniels' mother, Mrs. Estelle Daniels, of Tampa, Fla.

According to Mr. Bacon, the family is trying to raise $150, the cost of the burial.

lines to the Governor's mansion were kept open.

Even prison chaplain, the Rev. Edward Weglein and a Catholic priest, the Rev. Father Francis Tolay, prayed that he might have mercy but Daniels was not spared.

IN A LAST minute statement, Gov. McKeldin denied the appeal for a stay of execution.

He said: "I believe Daniels's guilt is not open to reasonable doubt.

"I refuse to intervene in this matter by granting executive clemency, which is hereby denied."

With that one last hope gone, Daniels was left alone with the tightly sealed gas chamber.

The lethal gas, a mixture of cyanide and sulphuric acid, reached his nose at 10:10 p.m. At 10:11 p.m. he became unconscious.

At 10:23 p.m. his heart stopped beating. The young man who is going to continue his work, Watkins up in my face. We will be back to the same thing all over again.

Q—Do you think she ought to take you back—

A—That is what happened from the beginning.

Q—Let me ask you a question: Do you think your wife should take you back right this minute when you just finished testifying you still intend to go with Mrs. Watkins? Do you think that is an offer in good faith?

A—Mr. Bregel, I been out to the house. I want to answer your question.

Q—You can answer my question yes or no and give any explanation you want.

A—Mr. Bregel, that I been trying to do.

JUDGE—What is your question? (Stenographer read the question.)

JUDGE—Answer the question.

THE WITNESS: In other words, the question is—By Mr. Bregel:

Q—You heard the question. Answer yes or no, please.

A—Yes.

Q—DO YOU remember the occasion when she came into your room to make another attempt at reconciliation and you told her to get out of the room?

A—We never talked about any reconciliation until three weeks ago. We never discussed any reconciliation.

Q—Do you remember when she came in the room?

A—Yes. She came in the room several times.

Q—Didn't you tell her to get out? A—I never told her to get out of the room.

Q—Did you put your arms around her.

A—No. I didn't.

Q—You never made any attempt?

A—No. I didn't.

Fire started guts house by lightning

MANNING, S.C.—Lightning struck and set afire the four-room frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Reese Witherspoon Jr., three and one half miles south of Manning, late last Thursday and destroyed the dwelling.

The Witherspoons, including two children, Harold Edward, 6 and Linda Ann, 3, were on a farm two miles west of home at the time.

Mrs. Jennie Lee Dozier, a neighbor who was passing at the time, said the bolt appeared to have exploded the house. All furnishing and other possessions of the family were destroyed.

Neighbors were endeavoring to refurnish and re - supply the family with clothing and food. The Witherspoons live at Rt. 4, Box 106, Manning, S.C.

"OUR ORGANIZATION contributed over $800 toward the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott," Mr. White stated. "And we feel that it is time some body took a stand against the excursion boat line discriminatory policies here. . .

"We are Federal employees, and there may be a legal aspect involved.

"However, we are seriously considering withheldng a boycott of this boat line.

"If we can not do this as Federal employees, we can and will support such action launched by another organization.

"If those people in Montgomery could win such a fight against discriminatory practices, we certainly owe it to them and ourselves to stop supporting such practices here."

MR. WHITE revealed that this matter had been under study for some time, and had come to a head in meetings with the management of the boat line last year.

"Prior to last year," Mr. White said, "two separate companies operated two boats which could be used for moonlight excursions.

"Last year, one company took over both boats, and we had several conferences with the management about getting earlier dates.

"No progress was made. We were told white organizations had been using all these summer dates for years, and still had the dates booked ahead."

THE BOAT management then raised the price of the boat for an evening outing $100 to a total price of $900, Mr. White said, with the boat's personnel operating all the concessions.

The Baltimore branch, National Alliance Postal Employees, has 642 members, and sponsors two fund-raising projects annually.

One is a cabaret party, and the other the yearly moonlight cruise. Both have been successful in the past, he stated.

A beach party will replace the cruise this year.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually-sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drugstores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

'She always cut right out after she got my money . . .'

"She would always cut out right after she got my money," Walter Arrington complained to a master of Circuit Court, this week.

He was testifying in a suit for divorce from Mrs. Ruth Arrington, whom he charged with desertion.

The husband, who lives at 1363 N. Stricker St., said:

"I was a good husband. I worked and gave her money. I even helped her cook.

"But as sure as she would get my money, usually on Friday afternoon, she'd cut out on Friday night. I wouldn't see her again until Tuesday or Wednesday."

MR. AND MRS. ARRINGTON were married on June 27, 1951, according to the record. She left on Oct. 2, 1955, the husband said.

She was there when I left, for work. When I got back she was gone," he said.

Mr. Arrington said that he didn't know why she left, but had a suspicion that she was "mad" since he told her she daughters, . . Cassandra and Deborah.

Brown, Allen and Watts were attorneys for the wife.

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD Priscilla Carter gave testimony in Circuit Court, this week, that she was a divorce for her mother from her father.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carter of 1721 Aisquith St. had charged Vance Carter with desertion.

She said that they were married in 1935 and that on Sept. 15, 1955, he left her.

The daughter told the court, "My father just took his clothes and said he was leaving."

—The Hoffa case

ky-known attorney of the West Side, joined the Hoffa defense counsel.

Mr. Jefferson has been a practicing attorney for 30 years, and has won numerous important cases.

Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews, Monday, overruled the ruling on a defense motion for a mistrial.

The motion was made on grounds that the chief Government witness had prejudiced the proceedings before the jury with race-laden testimony.

The defense lawyers contended that Jack Cheesty, in his testimony, had by his tirade against colored people in Tallahassee, Fla., had "created a climate in which the jury could be strongly influenced in reaching a verdict against Hoffa."

Cheesty, in his testimony, had said that "Negroes are so filthy that they don't even wash. They carry the communism was rampant" and stirring up the racial strife.

It is known, however, that the defense will attempt to show that Cheesty's interest in the Southern racial affair was other than that of a friend to the colored Southern populous.

TO THAT end, the defense has effected a subpoena for the appearance of the Rev. C. K. Steele, leader of the Tallahassee bus boycott, to testify to Cheesty's activities in Tallahassee.

All of this, linked with the fact that eight of the 12 jurors in the case are colored, convinces many observers that the political roots and effects of the trial are equal to, if not broader than, the criminal aspects.

Some observers, for example, have said that the committee investigating labor in anti-union in purpose and, therefore, allied with Southern movements to suppress liberal unionism.

HOFFA, BEFORE the hearing began, was the leading candidate to be elected president of the Teamsters to succeed Dave Beck in Miami next September.

These same observers say that Hoffa is a liberal on racial matters. They also say he is a person conservatives would like to see eliminated by smudges such as the present hearing and frequent association with the much - publicized Dave Beck "rascality."

The effect of the disrepute to which unions expectedly would drop as a result of the trial would be to slow unionized labor in the South where it is currently a growing power in the fight for employment and economic equality.

That line of reasoning advances such questions as these:

Just who was behind the Committee's purpose, and was that purpose to thwart labor unionization?

FURTHER, IF the Committee's purpose was anti-labor and to entrap Hoffa in the bribery charge, how could the FBI cooperate so timely without being a part of a planned entrapment?

The answers to some of these questions are expected before the Hoffa - Fischbach hearing is over.

The trial may result, also, in another Constitutional question: Is it legal for Senate Committees and/or the FBI to engage in lead - ons to snare individuals into illegalities?

Two days required to pick Hoffa jury; eight colored chosen

WASHINGTON

Two days were required to select a jury for the Hoffa-Fischbach bribery trial currently in progress. But when the selection was finished, eight of the 12 jurors and two of the four alternates were colored.

Six challenges to eliminate prospective jurors were given the defense for each of its two defendants, and six challenges were given the Government for the same purpose.

Edward B. Williams, chief counsel for the defense, told the AFRO, Tuesday, that he tried to pick "pro - labor" jurors, not necessarily colored jurors.

The following are the names of the eight colored panelists chosen:

William J. Benjamin, 34, 1900 M St., NE; Roland L. Franklin, 30, 2705 13th St., NE; Mary F. Douglas, 32, 818 F St., SW; Conora L. A. Elliott, 39, 49 Bryant St., NW; James Johnson, 59, 633 E St., NE; Mrs. Ineg A. McDowell, 1321 Quincy St., NW; Albert Watson, 647 F St., NE; and Southall E. Seay, 534 46th St., SE.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at St. John AME Church where he was an active member. He attended church just last week.

2 waiters killed in train wreck

GUTHRIE, Ky. — Two dining car waiters have been identified as among the six persons killed when a freight train ran into a Florida-bound passenger train on the L and N tracks near here Saturday. The other four victims were white.

The dead waiters were Godfrey Cowan and Richard Porter, both of Chicago. Among the dead was the engineer of the freight train, W. L. Raspberry, about 60, who stayed with his diesel engines trying to stop the train in the best Casey Jones tradition, while his firemen leaped to safety.

Close Fignole's paper in Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (ANP) — Foi Social (Social Faith), the newspaper of ousted provisional president, Daniel Fignole, last week was closed by police and half a dozen of its staff members arrested.

The seizure was another of a series of moves made by the present military junta which now seems bent to crush down on forces loyal to the ousted president.

The newspaper has been proclaiming that Fignole "still is a candidate for the presidency of Haiti." Fignole recently fled the country to New York.

The junta has promised free elections as soon as order is restored in the troubled republic.
