1214 Madison Ave. killing startles TriState delegates

"It is our understanding that a general drinking session, and an argument over 25 cents set off a fight that brought on the killing of this man."

A Northwestern district policeman was speaking of the fatal stabbing Saturday evening of Roy Roger Wright, 29, of 1214 Madison Ave.

Accused of killing him is George Smith Jr., 29, also of the Madison Ave. address. Mr. Smith was ordered held without bail for grand jury action, following a hearing in Homicide Court on Monday.

Held as State's witnesses in the case are Joseph Burden, 30, and John McCoy, 39, both also of the Madison Ave. address.

Mr. Wright lying on the pavement with stab wounds in his upper chest.

He was carried to Provident Hospital, and pronounced dead on arrival.

The killing startled delegates to the Elks TriState Convention now in session and attracted a large crowd, many of them Elk delegates who were visiting in the Sampson Brooks Lodge in the same block.

A paring knife, with part of its blade missing, was found in the flush bowl of a toilet in the second floor apartment.

Robert Williams

WASHINGTON

Robert Williams, 75, formerly of 81 V St., NW, was buried at Lincoln Memorial Cemetery, Friday.
