'First Run' Films of The Week in Review

THRILLING ADVENTURE AT NEW ALBERT

Stemming from an authentic historical incident, the massacre of white inhabitants at an Arizona wayside station named Dragoon Wells, comes the tensely - exciting new outdoor drama, "Dragoon Wells Massacre" brilliantly headlined by a foursome of screen stars. The action - packed production is now playing at the New Albert theatre.

Thrilling with its hard-hitting adventure, and most unusual in its story content, "Dragoon Wells Massacre," in Cinema-Scope and color by Deluxe was filmed exclusively in the wondrous rainbow canyons of Southern Utah.

The stars, Barry Sullivan, Dennis O'Keefe, Mona Freeman and Katy Jurado, are seen throughout the picture in natural outdoor settings with nary an interior staging.

WYATT EARP IN FILM AT REGENT

One of America's most compelling legends, the story of the unaccountable friendship between the fabled U.S. Marshal of Dodge City and Tombstone, Wyatt Earp, and the gun-slinging ex-dentist, Doc Holliday, has been filmed by Paramount with Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas in the lead roles.

Produced by Hollywood's foremost hit-and star-maker, Hal Wallis, and titled "Gunfight at the O.K. Corral," after the climactic incident that put a bloody period to Tombstone's fierce struggle for law and order, the huge-scale Technicolor drama looms as one of the maor Westerns of all time.

Now playing at the Regent Theatre, the VistaVision film costars Rhonda Fleming, Academy Award-winner Jo Van Fleet and John Ireland, with Lyle Bettger, Frank Faylen and Earl Hollliman heading the large supporting cast.

HARLEM HAS FILM WITH JEAN SIMMONS

When a young, pretty and impressionable New Englandbred school teacher takes a parttime job as secretary in a rowdy New York night club run by a tough ex-bootlegger, anything can happen — and does — in MGM's very funny "This Could Be the Night," now showing at the Harlem Theatre, with a cast headed by Jean Simmons, Paul Douglas and a handsome new leading man, named Anthony Franciosa.

The assortment of characters introduced in Isobel Lennart's laugh-a-minute scrip is a prickless one.

Among the personnel of the Tonic Club are its owner, Rocco (Paul Douglas) former racketeer gone "legit" but with plenty of the old bite left; his young partner and protege, Toby (Anthony Franciosa), a ladies-man if there ever was one; and Ivy (Julie Wilson), the club's torchy chanteuse.

MET THEATRE HAS FILM ON DRUGS

"Monkey On My Back," at the Met Theatre, is the story of the almost incredibly exciting and dramatic life of Barney Ross—ex-champion ex-Marine hero, ex-drug addict. In exploring the degradation and horror of narcotic addiction it pulls no punches, glosses over no harrowing detail — at Ross' own request.

Cameron Mitchell plays the role of Barney in "Monkey On My Back," co-starred with Diane Foster as Cathy, the wife who stood steadfastly by her husband through the most trying days of his ordeal.

The supporting cast is headed by Paul Richards, Jack Albertson, Kathy Garver, Lisa Golm, and such former ring stars as Cesario Garcia, Tommy Herman, Joe Glick and Joe La Barba, among others.

RED HOT SHOW AT ROYAL THIS WEEK

The Royal's stage is red-hot this week with a star-packed footlight revue topped by those great recording stars of "Everyone Laughing" and "Peace of Mind," The Spaniels. Zachary Scott and Peggie Castle are the co-stars of the screen feature "The Counterfeit Plan."

Other bigtime features of the show, are Solomon Burke, known for "I Need You Tonight" and "No Man Walks Alone";

The Sensations with their "Yes Sir That's My Baby" and "You Made Me Love You"; The Flamingos and their hits "Would I Be Crying" and "I'll Be Home"; Those delightful and delovely Ray Sneed dancers, plus the Prince Charming of Song, Lee Richardson. Syncopation is furnished by Tracy McCleary and his Royal Men of Rhythm.

Adah K. Jenkin's MOMENTS MUSICAL

MAIL BOX: By airmail from Paris a handsome program of the four-act opera "Cousin Esther," by Evelyn Larue Pitman, in which the Baltimore tenor, Robert Wilson, sang a leading male role of "Mardochee."

The cast was an intercultural and international one, with sponsorship of the Cultural Center of the University' and the United States Foundation.

The opera deals with the story of Esther, who saved her people, under the direction of Hamon, thru her love for the king, Xerses.

From New York: The Westminster Choir, of the Church of the Master, at Morningside Avenue presented S. Coleridge-Taylor's cantata "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" on a recent Sunday, under the direction of Dr. Theodore R. Stent.

The program also included scenes from "Alice in Wonderland" by Irving Fine. Rev. J. H. Robinson is pastor.

SPRING AND early summer bring the annual bouquet of musical festivals, operettas, student recitals and scholarship contests.

Southern High School and its Music Department led the way with an early festival which is one of the outstanding annual events in South Baltimore.

Over 500 pupils participated in the vocal, choral and instrumental programs on two evenings.

According to the foreword on the program from Principal Sidney N. Chernak, "these students not only perform at Southern High School but give programs in other schools and organizations in the community."

* * *

THE FIRST concert featured the famed Concert Band, under the baton of W. W. Shelley, offering such contrasting works as Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun" and "Tango Lullaby" and "American Folk Suite" (Walters).

Led by R. Haffenden, the Gleemen sang selections from two well known musicals, "Carousel" and "The Student Prince."

Linda Roberts, soprano, Walter Huber, baritone, Donald Owen, trombonist and Leslie Luco, clarinetist were the special soloists.

Saturday evening Mr. Haffenden's Choristers (a vocally mixed choir) did several enjoyable folk songs arranged by the conductor, with James Wood, as a very effective baritone soloist.

Both the Madrigal Group and the A Capella Choir, directed by Mr. McCall, were notable for some finely mature singing, particularly in the "Tenebrae Factae Sun" and Vittoria's "Ave Maria." The Girls' Chorus, led by Mrs. O'Daniel, also sang with pleasing tone quality and nice vocal balance.

Soloists for the second concert were Lillian Boone, soprano and James Wood.

THE BALTIMORE Music Guild held its annual scholarship contest at Coppin State Teachers College, with nine students participating, from studios of Mesdames Mildred B. Bryant, Alma J. Caswell, Maude E. La Forest, Margaret B. Franklin and Frances C. Watkins.

Kathleen Randall, Patricia Johnson and James Brown were the vocalists; and piano contestants were Rosal Mae Fair, Mary Adams, Bertina Evans, Vincent Conner, Bonda Lee and Jean Reed.

The selections performed were taken from a prescribed list furnished by the Guild, of which Mrs. Franklin is president. Judges were Mrs. Genevieve Wisner, Luther Mitchell and your writer.

Winners of the scholarship awards in voice were Patricia Johnson, and Kathleen Randall.

Honors in piano went to Mary Adams and Vincent Conner.

Mrs. Franklin announced that the scholarship funds are derived from the activities of the Baltimore Music Guild for the purpose of furthering music education.

THE SCHWARZ STUDIOS of Musical Arts presented students in the fourth recital of the 1956-57 season at Providence Baptist Church.

Ensemble playing for two pianos was featured in the early part of the evening, with Antoinette Porter, Rochelle Curtis, Patricia Cartington, Rosalie Turpin, Wendell Gardner, Lucia Boston, Constance Carroll, Joseph Truiett, Janta Gattis, Lucille Pearson, Alethea Branch, Edward Myers, James Dashiell, Purcell Taylor, Rebecca Carroll and Hiawatha Watkins.

The two instructors, Prof. and Mrs. Schwarz participated with their students in a number of the selections from classic and romantic composers.

The vocalists of the evening specialized in arias from grand opera sung by Geneva Hillen, Barbara Dungee, Julia Hawkins and Marjorie Short, sopranos;

Also, Dorothy Lee - Davis, contralto; Moore L. Carson, baritone; Donald Staggers and Joseph Nettles, tenors. A vocal duet was contributed by Andreasetle Nance and Phyllis Harris.

One of the most ambitious performances of the program was given by Mary Powlkes, who played Chopin's "Ballade" in C Minor. The Ladies Guild of the church provided hostesses for the reception at the close of the recital, which was on a high musical plane and showed evidence of diligent study.

THE ST. FRANCES ACADEMY Chapter of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and the Cecilian Choral Club of the Academy presented a recital in the Academy auditorium, Brentwood and Chase Streets.

The choristers, who have won high honors at the annual Diocesan Contests at Catholic University and the Music Department at the school are directed by Sister Marie Infanta, O.S.P.

The organ and piano students of Gladys White Davis were presented in their annual recital at Providence Baptist Church on a recent Sunday evening.

White's Male Chorus, with Mrs. Davis accompanying and her own female choir, the Gladettes, supplied the choral music.

Aid in the console were: Kenneth Dean, Jean Sims, Edward Tilton and Harrison Bryant Jr.

Piano students programmed included: Gladys Knight, Macha Miles, Judy Yates, Barbara Derricks, June Harmon, Joyce Brown, John Brisant, Arnold Winn, Lucille Mathews, Georgia Rush, Flora Rollins, Anna Goode, Mary Steverson, Susie Tylor, Eleanor Bryant, Franklin Wallace and Sterling Wallace Jr.

Mrs. Lillian Ringgold was hostess at the informal reception. Schwarz Studios of Musical Arts will give scenes from several operas in concert form.

The Ladies Guild of the church will be hostesses at a reception following the recital, which is under the direction of Prof Herman Schwarz.

Sunday, June 16 at 5 p.m. a joint concert at Bethel A.M.E. Church, by Mabel Robinson, elocution which followed the recital.

CALENDAR: Friday, June 14 and Wednesday, June 19 at 8 p.m. at Coppin State Teachers College, 2500 W. North Avenue, piano pupils of Mrs. Florence C. Carter in two recitals that are open to the public without charge.

Friday, June 14 at Federal Street and Greenmount Ave., School 113 from 4 to 10 p.m. Number 2 Municipal Concert Band, conducted by Harrison Dodd.

The program will include "Raymond Overture," "Guadalcanal March," "Band of America March" and a number of top-rating popular tunes.

Friday, June 21 the same aggregation will play at the Musical Union Bldg. 1300 Argyle Ave.

* * *

ON SUNDAY, June 16 at Collington Square, the Park Concert Band, under the direction of Charles D. Gwynn will play its fourth concert this season.

Sunday, June 23 at 6 p.m. at Grace Presbyterian Church, the Opera Department of the soprano and Gladys White Davis, organist, presented by the church choir. The Rev. Harrison Bryant is pastor.
