Eastern Stars entertain for AFRO ideal mothers

By B. M. PHILLIPS

Myra Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, P.H.A., entertained at a pretty banquet honoring Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson, AFRO Ideal Mother of 1957.

Sharing honors with Mrs. Jackson were two other mothers, Mrs. Celid McLeod and Mrs. Alice R. Matthews, who won honorable mention honors in the AFRO Contest.

All three honorees are members of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Jackson belongs to Trinity Chapter.

Mrs. McLeod is a member of Gethsemane Chapter and is also Grand Pianist of the order. Mrs. Matthews is a member of Queen of Sheba Chapter and Grand Lecturer.

• • •

THE BANQUET was held on Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple, and was attended by 150 guests including the ministers and families of the three honorees.

Mrs. Jessie Wells, Associate Grand Lecturer, presided during the program which featured tributes from the honorees' associates and ministers, and testimonials from their children.

All three mothers were presented with gifts.

Ronald Reid, Grand Patron, congratulated the winners and wished them a long life.

MISS MARY E. JONES, Havre de Grace, Grand Worthy Matron, presented gifts to the honorees; and there were gifts to Mrs. Jackson from Trinity Chapter by Mrs. Olivia Bates, Grand Associate Conductress who praised her as a woman who is "unafraid and speaks the truth."

Mrs. Bates also read a poem which she dedicated to the honorees. . . "show me that you love me now while I can laugh and smile with you . . . while I can see and smell your flowers . . . enjoy your praise this very hour."

Mrs. Edith Mosby, Associate Grand Matron presented gifts to Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. McLeod, "on behalf of Myra Grand Chapter. We are very proud of you being honorable mention winners in the AFRO Contest."

Mrs. Mildred Newton gifted Mrs. Matthews, who also received flowers from her children.

• • •

MRS. NAOMI JULIUS, Past Grand Matron praised the AFRO's selection of three Eastern Stars as ideal mothers, and presented a gift to Mrs. Matthews.

Guests oohed and aahed when a huge bouquet of red roses was handed to Mrs. McLeod—a surprise from her husband who was present.

Miss Ovelia Dorsey read a tribute to mothers. Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips, assistant to the AFRO president, thanked the Order for honoring the contest winners.

She said: "We think this year we have the best ideal mother. Sometimes we admire flowers in the other fellow's yard when those in our own are prettier.

"For 13 years we have selected an ideal mother from all over the country. This is the first Baltimore mother. We had her right here in our own yard."

• • •

MRS. JACKSON was so moved by the tribute that she was near to tears when she rose to acknowledge the honors. "This is one time I am lost for words. This has been one of the greatest occasions of my life.

"I hope to be able to live up to all these honors. When I heard that beautiful child sing a minute ago (reference was to a solo by Miss Hazel J. Bryant, Peabody student) it took me back many years when my own daughter couldn't enroll at Peabody.

"At that time there was immoral segregation on account of color. But God is righteous. I felt if God would just use me, I would work against this stigmatism on account of race.

"Thank God, God is in Baltimore now and we can go to Peabody.

"Thank God that through you, brothers and sisters, there were enough sincere, honest and true citizens who worked with the NAACP so we have real public schools now."

• • •

TWO OF Mrs. Jackson's three daughters, Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, Baltimore attorney, and Mrs. Virginia Kiah, Savannah, Ga., teacher and portrait painter were present. A third, Mrs. Marion Downes, is a California teacher.

Mrs. Mitchell told the gathering: "We are grateful for this honor paid our mother. What our children become is at the door of every mother and I just hope I can do as well . . . we need more good mothers like the three we're hororing tonight."

Mrs. Kiah explained that a father is important in every home and that no mother can be a success without the help of the husband and father. . . .

"My father," she said, "is always in the background, pushing and watching thebusiness so Mama could be out in the street going from door to door helping others."

• • •

MRS. McLEOD in acknowledging her honors said: "I am very grateful, I am very humble. I want to thank the AFRO and all my friends who nominated me for this honor.

"I thank God for a grandmother who reared me along with my other cousins because I did not know my mother. Her prayers are still leading me. I am also very grateful to our ideal mother (Mrs. Jackson). She has inspired me. I, too, want to be like her."

Present were Mrs. McLeod's husband, Charles McLeod Sr., her four children, Evelyn, 14, a Dunbar student; Charles, a Va. State College junior; Maudeline, a Dunbar student, and Bettye, 6. Also, a friend, Mrs. Martha Dennis.

Fourteen - year - old Evelyn, speaking for the family, told how she submitted her mother's name in the AFRO contest, and added, "I can truly say, she's the ideal mother to me."

• • •

MRS. MATTHEWS, in a very moving talk, told of the inspiration her own mother had provided to help her become a successful teacher, church worker and mother.

"You have been wonderful . . . from the bottom of my heart thank you. I feel that my mother left behind many footprints. I am trying to be the mother she was. I pray I may be the type of woman the AFRO has selected me for."

Present were: Mrs. Matthews' husband, Mayon; her three daughters, Mrs. Betty Shelton, Mrs. Berteal Evans, Mrs. Anne Warner, and a cousin whom she reared, Mrs. Charlotte Marshall;

Also, a son - in - law, Wilfred Shelton, and the Rev. Mrs. Edith Williamson, associate pastor at Enon.

• • •

THE REV. Mrs. Williamson, who nominated Mrs. Matthews said: "It had been on my mind to nominate Mrs. Matthews before because it took a lot of courage for her to go back and finish college after rearing her family."

A daughter, Mrs. Shelton, thanked the AFRO and the OES for honoring her mother. "We feel mother is just the best. She has endowed us the spirit of philosophy to help us live. We are proud of her. . ."

The Rev. Harrison J. Bryant, pastor of Bethel AME Church, said the invocation, in which he praised Mrs. Jackson "for her passion for freedom for all people."

The Rev. A. J. Payne, pastor of Enon Baptist, where Mrs. Matthews is church coordinator, told the gathering: "I bring you greeting from Enon and its members to let you know that we, too, are proud."

IN ADDITION to Miss Bryant, who is the daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, other musical numbers were by the Harmony Trio which includes: Mesdames Margaret McRae, Jacquelyn Waits, and Rosa Mebane.

Mrs. Mildred Bryant was accompanist.

Besides the honorees, their husbands, and the speakers, other head table guests were; Mrs. Rello Wilson, Mrs. A. J. Payne, Mrs. McLarry.

Present at the banquet were: the following past grand matrons of the Order: Mesdames Charles Ringgold, Susie Stansbury, John Mitchell, Lilie E. Butler, Nellie J. Paul, Mary Lue Bowley, Bessie F. Scott, Alice R. Dansbury, Vaughn Stepney, Mamie E. Kennard.

Junior B&P represented by local trio

Helen and Lillian "Micky" Fowlkes and Jean Robinson were the representatives from the newly-organized Baltimore Junior Club of the National Association of Business and Professional Women at the meeting of the Junior Council held at the Pyramid Club in Philadelphia, Saturday.

The delegation was accompanied by Miss Mary C. Allen, junior sponsor, and Miss Margaret Johnson, senior club president.

Plans were made for senior participation in the junior program, the celebration of Business and Professional Women's Week, and for junior participation in the national convention to be held in Pittsburgh in October.

JUNIOR AND senior clubs will sponsor a contestant in the annual popularity contest to select Miss B and P who will be crowned at the convention luncheon. This project raises funds for the national Elizabeth Anthony Scholarship Award.

Baltimore juniors have selected Geraldine Dunn as their contestant. Helen Fowlkes is president, and Viola Brown, secretary. Other officers are Mignon Moses, vice-president; Doris Scott, treasurer; Bessie Jones, business manager. Mrs. Helen A. Hill is the other junior sponsor.

Baltimore juniors will sell tickets and sponsor a calypso party in June to help their contestant.

Ideal Mother will take 2nd honeymoon in Detroit in June

We're going to take time out for a second honeymoon."

Mrs. Lillie May Jackson, the AFRO 1957 Ideal Mother made his announcement on Tuesday.

At that time she revealed that when she and her husband, Keiffer Jackson, attended the NAACP national convention in Detroit from June 23 to June 28, it will be their first together "in years."

Before her departure on June 23, Mrs. Jackson will be guest of honor at a going away party given by the Shiloh Allen Lodge of the National Ideal Benefit Society of which she is a member.

The event will take place on Tuesday, June 18, at 9 p.m. in Job's Hall at 1204 Druid Hill Ave., it was announced by Mrs. Mary Haynie, president of the organization. Mrs. Florence Snowden is the district deputy.

Cooking Is Fun

By FANNIEJOE REID

June is the month for weddings and here are some tips on how to make that wedding cake. As you know, the wedding cake is always a rich fruit cake and it should be made at least a month in advance.

You can bake it in square pans so that it can be cut into small pieces and placed in white boxes. Or, if you prefer, you can bake it in a large pan, frost it, and use it in the center of your table at the reception.

The day before making the cake, prepare the fruit. Raisins should be seeded and cut in pieces. Currants must be washed and the stems removed.

Almonds may be blanched by putting them in a bowl of water which has been boiled. Let them stand for two minutes, drain water and put the almonds in ice cold water. The outer skins will rub off easily. Dry almonds and shred them lengthwise.

The citrons should be sliced very thin in two-inch pieces.

• • •

NOW FOR the cake. Cream one pound of butter and add one pound of light brown sugar. Sift together one pound of flour, one teaspoon of mace, two teaspoons of cinnamon, one teaspoon of nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoon of salt and one teaspoon of soda.

To the flour mixture, add three pounds of currants, one pound of sliced citron, two pounds of raisins, seeded and chopped, and one-half pound of almonds, blanched and shredded.

Combine sugar and fruit mixtures and add one-fourth cup milk, one teaspoon vanilla, the rind and juice of one lemon and the yolks of nine eggs. Fold in egg whites.

Line cake pans with manilla and wax paper. Fill pans three-quarters full with cake dough and cover with manilla and wax paper and cheese cloth. Steam six hours.

Remove cake at once from pan but do not remove paper from cake. Let stand over night. The next day, wrap cake in wax paper without removing other paper from cake and store in air-tight tin to ripen.

If cake appears to be too wet, let it sit in a warm oven with the door open until it is just damp before storing.

The unfrosted cake for the guests should be cut a week ahead of the wedding and wrapped in wax paper.

• • •

IF YOU want to try your hand at ornamental frosting, then here are a few tips which may help you to produce the wedding cake of the year:

Using pastry tubes, fill the bag two-thirds full of frosting and twist the top so that the frosing will not seep out. Always squeeze the bag at the top.

Before decorating the cake, draw your design on a piece of paper, the size of your cake, so that the decorations will be evenly placed. Use toothpicks on your cake as guides:

The cake should be frosted the day before the wedding so that it can stand in a cool place.

Here's my pet recipe for wedding cake frosting:

Cook two and a half cups of sugar, one-half cup of corn syrup and one-half cup of water until the syrup spins a thread. Beat the whites of two eggs until stiff and add syrup mixture, beating constantly. Beat frosting until it holds its shape. Add on teaspoon of vanilla.

Victory banquet for insurance agents

Topped by the $44,000 production of North Carolina Mutual's Rufus Hackett, five of the city's ace insurance agents were feted at a victory banquet Tuesday night and presented with table model radios.

The sales record was made during the observance of National Insurance Week, May 13-18, during which a total of $986,397 worth of new policies were written in Baltimore.

The banquet was held in the Carver High School cafeteria.

The competition was sponsored by the Underwriters' Association of Maryland in association with the National Insurance Association, whose president, Joseph A. Faison of Philadelphia, was the principal speaker.

• • •

BESIDES MR. HACKETT, who last year was admitted to the exclusive national "Quarter Million Round Table" for having sold above that amount in insurance, others awarded prizes were:

Mrs. Ada Marshall of N.C. Mutual, East Baltimore; James R. Hawkins, Southern Life; Marty E. Ferguson, Supreme Liberty and Mrs. Ann Chambers, Mutual Benefit Society.

"We are getting nearer to true democracy all the while," "We are getting nearer to true democracy all the while," Mr. Faison told the approximately 200 insurance officials and agents present.

"We are learning gradually this art of living together in the treatment of our fellow men, the cruelty motive is declining.

"The luxury of segregation must be abolished completely," he said, adding, "Historically, the time is ripe to end discrimination in this country."

• • •

MR. FAISON was introduced by Joseph Bush of the Southern Life Insurance Co.

Jentry E. McDonald, president of the Underwriters Association, served as toastmaster.

Greetings were brought by Theodore W. Kress of Mutual Benefit; Dr. Willard W. Allen of Southern Life; John L. Berry of N. C. Mutual; and Joseph F. Mannion of the Maryland Insurance Commission.

Prizes were awarded the winning agents by Frank E. Walker of the N.C. Mutual, while presentation of a gift to the guest speaker, Mr. Faison, was made by Archie M. Jones, manager of Supreme Liberty Life.

Mrs. Ruby Glover, an agent of Supreme Liberty Life, sang two solos.

Third prize went to the 700 block Whitmore St.; hostesses Mesdames Magdalene Davis, Vernice Reynolds and Annie Mae Evans.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Anita Smith who was the first guest at the tea.

Judges at the contest were Dr. Arnold Dickman, Miss Rosetta Davis and Mrs. Cora Smith.

Also featured at the affair was a program sponsored by the Etude Musical Society under the direction of Shellman Johnson. Mrs. Helen Johnson served as mistress of ceremonies.

Lewis Brown is president of the association; Mrs. Frances Mondoweney, chairman of the tea and Mrs. Margaret Harris, chairman of the program.

Birche will lecture

William Meredith H. Birche Jr. elementary teacher of music in Mt. Winans, Cherry Hill and East Baltimore Areas has been selected by the Music Division of City Schools to lecture and demonstrate ways of setting a children's poem to music at the Music Teachers Summer Workshop to be held June 24 - 28 at School No. 51.

Mrs. Mary B. Newton and her class from Mt. Winans School Number 156 will assist in the demonstration.

Miss Mollie A. Miller also of the Elementary Music Department will also take part in the Music Clinic.

We use our phone as our bargain shopper

I'm a mother with three small children who are too young to be left alone. As a result, I can hardly ever find the time to go to a sale in person.

So I've made my phone my bargain shopper. And does it save me money!

Last month, for instance, I saved over $60 on a TV set. They were on sale but, as usual, I didn't have the time to go to the sale. I phoned the store and explained my situation. They were nice enough to send one out on trial, which we liked and bought.

We also use our phone to hunt for bargains, such as one-day sales on play clothes for the kids, gardening needs, many things a growing family uses.

Our telephone bargain-hunting savings are often small. But we believe they add up to enough so that our phone pays for itself—and we know our phone gives us more time to live our lives as we like.
