A second solo, "When I've Gone the Last Mile of the Way" was sung by Mrs. Mable Phillips.

IN THE half-hour eulogy delivered by the Rev. James Browne, the family was advised to "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid, for God is with you to the end of the world."

"In life," the Rev. Mr. Browne continued, "You're going to be upset no matter how Christian you are, but do not hate any man or woman for what they have done to you.

"To the bereaved I say, let us think of this man as moving into a heavenly mansion.

"Remember this above all. To thine own self be true. And it shall follow as night unto day, thy cannot be false to anyone."

THERE WERE tears on the faces of several mourners when they left the chapel.

A sister, Miss Dorothy Shields, collapsed in the arms of attendants, moaning:

"That's allright Paul . . . So much trouble, so much trouble."

Six cars transported relatives to the Baltimore National Cmetery.

Funeral home attendants wre pallbearers.

OF THE hundreds of persons who viewed the body, not one was heard to mention the facts surrounding the death of Mr. Shields.

A part-time construction worker and chauffeur, Mr. Shields was found in the second-floor apartment of Miss Geneva Lewis at 1009 W. Lanvale St., bleeding to death from a stab wound of the heart around 3:30 a.m., Saturday.

Northwestern District Police recovered a six-inch, blood-stained hunting knife.

In Pine St., Police Court on Saturday afternoon, Miss Lewis was charged with stabbing Mr. Shields to death and was ordered held without bail pending a hearing to be set by the State's Attorney's office.

Police said they were told by Miss Lewis that she stabbed Shields because he choked her.

They quoted her as saying she kept a knife under her pillow for 'protection.'

Miss Lewis also stated according to police, that when Shields realized that he had been cut, he jumped from the bed and ran to a mirror and said, 'My God you stabbed me."

He then turned and collapsed before he could reach a door leading from the apartment.

In addition to the knife and a poker, police also confiscated a pink blouse belonging to Miss Lewis, and a blue shirt worn by Shields.

Both were soaked with blood, police said.

AT THE Shields' Mulberry St. home on Tuesday, the widow, a tall, attractive matron, commented, "I'm all shook up over this thing."

Mrs. Lillie Mae Shields described her husband as a well mannered man who was good to his family.

Sitting in the dark of her dining room, she said: "We never had any trouble before. He was good to all of us and always worked.

"He had many friends and he kidded and joked with lots of people.

"He was driving a truck when I first met him and he never stopped driving."

ASKED HOW her husband was able to acquire so many friends, the bereaved widow replied: "He was liked by everyone he met.

"He met people from hauling things for them in his truck, cleaning out cellars and doing odd jobs."

Mrs. Shields added that while her husband was in the South Pacific with the Army during World War II, he boxed, earned two medals, and took a course in baking.

He was born in Richmond, Va., but was brought to Baltimore at the age of two by his parents and he attended St. Monica's Catholic School.

IN ADDITION to his wife and sister, Mr. Shields is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mollie Shields; father, Floyd Shields, a trucker for the B. and O. Railroad; and a brother, Daniel Shields.

The seven surviving children are: Paul Jr., 4; Jeffrey Allen, 2; Gregory, 11; Elvis Hall, three months; Gonzalis Elizabeth, 8; Zelda Mae, 6; and Linda Marie Shields, 5.

THE SURVIVORS of Paul Alfred Shields are shown as they arrived for funeral services Wednesday morning. In front, the wife, Mrs. Lillie Mae Shields is accompanied by her brother-in-law, Daniel Shields. They are followed by the dead man's father, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shields and two of the slain man's three daughters, Elizabeth and Zelda Mae Shields.

—Mother Divine

and Westminster Ave., Mother Divine appeared, but Father Divine was heard only by tape recording.

His recorded greeting said only: "Peace. Everyone. My spirit is my presence—operative, cooperatively and democratically, and performs all of its duties according to the plan and the purpose of the Almighty—makes the way possible to guide everyone into all possibilities. I thank you."

The May 11th issue of the New Day which carried this speech also carried a picture of the Divine couple with this notation:

"The above is a recent photo of Father and Mother Divine. This is an enlarged facsimile of their pictures as they appeared on commemorative lapel buttons to which were attached different colored pennant-shaped ribbons." The buttons were distributed as momentos at the anniversary services.

Since that time, Mother Divine has presided at most public affairs and has greeted guests on various occasions. While she had been widely quoted in the New Day since then, Father Divine has been quoted directly only once.

That was as of May 9 when Father Divine is reported as having interviewed a pilgrimage of California followers.

The New Day account of the proceedings is as follows:

As FATHER was busy with HIS never-ending duties in the Office, MOTHER condescended to serve the Banquet Table at this time to all those who were shortly to leave for California and other parts west.

During the course of the Service the many adoring children gave forth praise in testimonies of love and adoration to and for their Beloved SAVIOR and HIS Spotless Virgin BRIDE, telling Them of the wonderful time they had while here.

They also gave thanks for the lovely trips to Woodmont, the Mount of the House of the LORD, and for the beautiful weather FATHER provided throughout the entire Eleventh Anniversary Celebration.

Toward the close of the Services our Beloved MOTHER, upon receiving a Message from the Office, suddenly arose, and with a sweet smile said:

PEACE, FATHER; PEACE, EVERYONE: As the time is swiftly passing and we will soon be having to get in the cars to go to the airport, we thank FATHER to dismiss the Table at this time; and all of the guests that are leaving on the plane may make their way up to the interviewing lobby!

(What a shout of joy went up as the prospective travelers made their way up to the interviewing lobby! Those who were leaving by bus were also permitted to come.

As the group was so large and all could not crowd in at one time, they went in by groups.

Here is a part of the wonderful interviewing session—as much as the transcriber could hear because of the press of the throng!)

One Child: Oh, Peace, FATHER Dear! Thank YOU, GOD ALMIGHTY, for letting us come in before we leave, Darling.

Another Child: Yes, Beloved FATHER, this is what we wanted to visualize on the plane—YOUR Beautiful Holy Face!

Another Child: Oh, thank YOU, FATHER and MOTHER for the wonderful time YOU gave us while we were here. Everything was so beautiful!

FATHER: So glad!

Another Child: We love YOUR Beautiful Body, LORD!

Another Child: Thank YOU, FATHER Darling, to go with us on the trip back to California, even as YOU were with us coming here!

FATHER: Keep the Faith! Take MY Spirit along with you and realize that I AM right with you all the time even as I AM now, and nothing can hurt nor harm you if you dwell in the Conscious Recognition of MY Ever and Omnipresence!

Children: Yes, thank YOU, FATHER! Oh, YOU are so beautiful LORD!

Another Child: I have my International Peace Card and carry it with me all the time, and I know I have YOUR Protection, LORD!

FATHER: So glad.

Another Child: FATHER, we're just going to take all this love back to California with us and pour it out on everyone THERE! We thank YOU and MOTHER for all YOUR Limitless Blessings YOU have given us!

FATHER: Okey. Just take this Peace and Happiness and Joy along with you and I will be with YOU now, henceforth and forever more! Peace, and many Blessings!

Children: Peace, FATHER Dear! Peace, MOTHER Dear!

(The joyful happy throng then were escorted to the International Airport where they took off into the sunlight, still waving their greetings and some waving International Peace cards at the windows of the plane.

Later in the evening the phone rang, and it was a call from Chicago where they had landed for a few minutes. How thrilled they were when MOTHER finally came to the phone.

And as Miss Happy Word spoke to MOTHER of how they encountered a slight storm but none of the passengers were disturbed, MOTHER said She was relaying their Message to FATHER there in the Office and that FATHER SAID IT was because they had received HIS Peace before they left!

What sounds of joy went up from the throng, as Miss Happy Word conveyed FATHER'S Words to those standing around her at the phone! and MOTHER'S greeting of Peace, they once more took off for California.

A story in the May 25th edition of the New Day gives a report of a May 12 Mother's Day celebration for Mother Divine.

It said that both Father and Mother were present.

Excerpts from the story follow:

Sunday was a beautiful sunny day and a private party was being given for Mother Divine by Father and the staff.

A shout of joy went up as Father entered the office with Mother and Their guests. The room was filled with flowers. One huge vase of red and white carnations read, "To Mother from Father" on the pink ribbon and a large basket full of white flowers said, "To Father and Mother" on its ribbon.

Both the guests and the staff looked chic in party attire, but father and mother were stunning, dressed in identical colors.

Mother wore a pale grey Chantilly rose design lace frock over blue-grey silk taffeta. Father's suit was hand tailored in blue-grey tropical worsted material.

During luncheon Mother read telegrams and special personal greetings and both Father and Mother greeted several followers from out of town who wanted to receive a blessing for the west and other points.

After luncheon Father and Mother showed Their guests the view of Broad Street from the wrought iron facaded balcony and as They came into view to hundreds of followers and onlookers below, a cheer of joy went up from the throng.

Traffic was jammed until Father waved His Personal blessing to the crowd and disappeared from sight.

In recent weeks, many personal letters addressed to Father Divine have been printed in the New Day with answers signed by Father Divine.

Minister dies in Dundalk cave-in

"It's hard to believe that it happened.

"He had only been on the job a week."

These were the comments of relatives of the Rev. C. A. Davis, 41, of 2326 W. Lanvale St., who died when a trench caved in on him Wednesday in Dundalk.

An employee of the George H. Schuman Plumbing Co., the Rev. Mr Davis was in a nine-foot trench with two other men at the Dundalk Presbyterian Church, Stansbury Rd., and Merrill Blvd., when the accident occurred.

His companions, Willian Finnegan and Willie Pyatt escaped from the trench without injury.

Dundalk Fire Department rescue workers had uncovered the victim and were applying oxygen when the trench caved in a second time burying Mr. Davis and the oxygen equipment.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. Jack Collins—assistant Baltimore county medical examiner.

A NATIVE OF SOUTH Carolina, the Rev. Mr. Davis was a minister at the New Jerusalem Holiness Church at 1905 Rosedale St.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mamie C. Davis, and two sons and a daughter by a former marriage.

They are Chester Davis Jr., of Baltimore, Phillip Davis of Chester, Pa.; and Miss Lena Davis.

He was also the step-father of James Henry Shird of Whitesville, N.C.; Leroy Shird of Washington, and William Shird of Baltimore.

Survivors also include two brother, S. J. Davis of Washington; Andrew Davis of Richmond; and a sister, Mrs. Lillie Mae Thomas.

Howard S. Brown dies, was former headwaiter

Funeral services will be held for Howard Smith Brown, 71, of 2346 McCulloh St. from the Douglass Memorial Church Saturday at 1 p.m. The Rev. Marion Bascom will officiate.

Mr. Brown died at Provident Hospital on Tuesday after a lingering illness.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eva Brown, two daughters; Mrs. Frances Lockwood and Mrs. Delorez Scott, both of Baltimore, and two sons, Gilbert Brown, Ferndale, Md., and Sgt. Harold Brown, U.S. Air Force, Westover Field, Mass.

Also three grandchildren: LaVerne Lockwood, Jill Brown, and Deborah Lockwood.

Mr. Brown was born in Jesterville, Md., on Jan. 6, 1886, and spent his boyhood in the place of his birth.

On March 6, 1908, he married the former Miss Eva A. Fraction.

MR. BROWN spent all of his active life in the hotel dining room business and was employed as headwaiter at hotels in New York, New Jersey and Baltimore.

He was known to hundreds of young college students who came to work during the summer as "Chief."

Burial will be in the Arbutus Cemetery.

Son whom Mrs. Ebb denied inherits her $3,981 estate

Although she hid her motherhood throughout her life, the illegitimate son of Mrs. Elizabeth Ebb came into her estate here, Friday.

Orphans Court ruled Arthur Dorsey the legal heir of the matron who told some that the boy was her nephew and others that he was only a friend.

Mr. Dorsey, who had lived under several names of families who temporarily heltered him, said that he permanently adopted the name of Arthur Dorsey after Mrs. Ebb had revealed to him that she was his mother and that one John Dorsey was his father.

TESTIFYING AT a hearing before judges of the Orphans Court, Mr. Dorsey said that sometimes his mother recognized him as her son and at other times she denied him.

"She did not want her company and other people to know that she had a child before she was married.

"So she would tell some of them that I was her nephew or a friend. She was a woman who kept her business to herself." Mr. Dorsey said.

HE SAID that he learned early that he was the son of Mrs. Ebb and never forget the fact.

"I was raised by a man named Adrian Posey. I left him and came to Baltimore in 1913.

"The people with whom I was then told me who my mother was and took me to see her. I was young but I remember that my mother broke down and cried. she was so glad to see me. From that day on I never forgot.

Testifying further the son said "I stayed with my uncle, my mother's brother, in Harrisburg, Pa. for some time. He recognized me as his nephew.

THE UNCLE, the Rev. Ernest Ogden of Harrisburg, was the one other person who filed claim to the estate.

Mr. Dorsey said that he had entered into an agreement with the uncle to share the estate with him. "What else could I do?" he asked the court, adding, "I had no birth certificate or anything but my word to prove my parentage."

Clinching the argument for the son was a Social Security application card, filed in 1942, on which he named Mrs. Ebb as his mother.

Mrs. Ebb died on Oct. 27, 1954. She left property of 345 Robert St. valued at $5,075; a bank account of $2,933.16; furniture valued at $316.50 and insurances amounting to $138.98.

COURT COSTS, a payment of $750 to Mrs. Julia Ball, funeral bill and executor's fees reduced the estate to $3,981.19, which went to Mr. Dorsey.

After Mrs. Ebb's death Mrs. Ball filed a claim in Superior Court for $1,892 charging that she had taken care of her and provided food, etc for her during her last illness.

The Court awarded her $750.

William Gosnell was executor of the estate.

Boy, 10, drowns in gravel pit

"He couldn't swim so well, but he went in with five or six other boys.

"The gravel pit is behind where we live, and when they dig more sand and gravel from there, the hole fill up with about ten feet of water.

"The kids around here like to sneak off and go swimming. That's what happened Sunday.

Willie Haskett Sr., 136 Bishop St., Pumphrey, was telling the AFRO Wednesday what he knew of the Sunday afternoon drowning of his ten-year-old son, Willie, Jr.

The body of the youth, who was a 5th grade Pumphrey Elementary School pupil, was taken from the gravel pit at 5:15 p.m., May 26. The child was pronounced dead by the Brooklyn Fire Department medical examiner.

"JUNOR" as he was called, was the only son of Mr. Haskett and his wife, Mrs. Lenora Haskett, who resides in Newark, N.J.

Funeral services were held Thursday at the Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church where Willie Jr., attended Sunday school.

The Rev. Luke C. Reynolds officiated. Burial was in the Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Survivors include his mother, his father, a grandmother, Mrs. Elma Haskett and a grandfather, John Haskett, both of Baltimore. Also surviving is an aunt, Mrs. Ruth Porter.

Nurse's aide hurt in crash

Mrs. Lillias Wall, 34, nurses' aide of 2918 Brighton St., sustained shoulder injuries last Friday when her car collided with an automobile at Winchester and Dukeland Sts.

She was treated at Lutheran Hospital and released. She was charged with reckless driving and failing to give the right-of-way to an approaching vehicle.

The driver of the second car, Howard Martin Layton, 17, of 3113 Tany Rd., a pupil at Forrest Park High School, was also charged with reckless driving.
