Carl's mother sees future as brighter

"We are getting straight now.

o are beginning to catch up on our bills and my husband is going to take an extra little job to pay our weekly payment on the hospital bill."

Mrs. Louise Smith, 2106 Greenmount Ave., who is the mother of small Carl Smith, a cancer victim who died last January 13, was telling the AFRO that the darkest days are nearly over. "thanks to AFRO readers who have contributed funds.

"I appreciate what the readers have done and because of them, we have come a long way toward getting the $2,000 bill straight," she added.

CARL IS the youngster who touched the hearts of AFRO readers during the Christmas season when stories told of his gallant fight to beat the disease that was claiming his life.

Christmas cards and gifts by the score were sent to the youngster in Johns Hopkins Hospital and Christmas to him was full of pleasure.

He died a short time later but his family still had a $2,000 hospital bill and AFRO readers did not forget them.

MRS. SMITH now reports that she has received a check for $122 from the Rev. Edward Carroll who handled the funds at the suggestion of Mrs. Sara Diggs.

The Rev. Mr. Carroll who is Methodist Church, in turnitin pastor of Sharp St. Community over the $122 check listed the following new contributors: Mrs. Frederick D. Allen, $5, and Miss Emma E. Clark, $5.

Mrs. Smith also reported that Mrs. Angelo T. Thomas, 2026 W. North Ave., sent her $5 toward the hospital bill.

Total funds received so far amounted to $255.50.

The above sum includes $158.50 collected by Mrs. Annabell Coleman and $25 sent to the hospital by the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Mother of four charged in death

"I accidently cut him when he tore my nose apart.

"The trouble started over television.

"He wanted to work on the set."

That statement was read in Homicide Court Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Vera Lee, 43, of the 100 block W. Hill St., pleaded not guilty to stabbing to death Otis Overton.

The accused woman, mother of four, was ordered held without bail for action of the grand jury by Magistrate Stardley Richardson.

A tenant in the Duckett home, Mr. Overton died from a slab wound of the chest on April 12.

SGT. WILLIAM CARBERRY of the Southern District stated on his report that when he arrived at the Duckett home, he found Mr. Overton lying in a pool of blood on the living room floor and a butcher knife on the dining room table.

In a statement allegedly signed by Mrs. Duckett, she said Overton, her boyfriend, struck her in the face when she asked him not to take the back off the television set.

Mrs. Duckett said that after drinking a half pint of flavor, Overton left the house and returned an hour later and ordered her to prepare a dinner of hot dogs and eggs.

"We got into a struggle and I told him I'm not going to let your hurt me.

"I didn't know he had been cut until I saw blood dripping on my foot," she said.

70-year-old husband divorces wife, 62

Seventy - year - old Melvin Lamb of 1106 N. Monroe St., ended his marriage of 48 years to Mrs. Betty Lamb, in Circuit Court, here, last week.

He charged his wife with having deserted him, first, in 1913 and again in 1926. He said that in the meantime Mrs. Lamb, who now lives in Brooklyn, N.Y., had married a man whose last name was Spinner.

Thinking that she had divorced him, he married six years ago. Mr. Spinner has since died, according to the testimony.

MR. LAMB testified that he and Mrs. Lamb, now 62, were married on Oct. 13, 1909. She left him, he said in 1913. "There was no argument, she just got up and left," the husband said.

They effected a reconciliation in 1923, but that was short-lived, too, according to Mr. Lamb. She left again in 1926. "I was satisfied to have her leave, this time," Mr. Lamb added.

The last time she also left their infant daughter, which the father has reared, according to testimony.

Mr. Lamb said that he hadn't heard from his wife from the time she left in 1926 until last year.

"SHE SAID that she wanted to be with this other fellow, Bill, so she just took her things and left." Darswell R. Sparks of 1525 W. Lanvale St., testified before a Master, of Circuit Court No. 2 Wednesday.

He was explaining his separation from Mrs. Bernice Sparks of Philadelphia and seeking a divorce which was granted.

Their marriage lasted from February 8, 1942 until Feb. 10, 1945, during which time he was "a pretty good husband," he said.

He was granted a decree.

MRS. MAE FAULKNER of 342 Bloom St., who had formerly filed a suit for divorce from Andrew J. Faulkner but had it dismissed, won a second try, Tuesday.

"We had frequent arguments and he left," she testified. The couple was married from Dec. 14, 1945 until October 10, 1954.

Mrs. Faulkner was represented by Dave Mason, attorney.

'Pray together,' advises Mrs. Parks

"We must pray together, stick together, ...and work together, if we expect to have a better world."

Mrs. Rosa Parks of Montgomery, Ala., who came into the international spotlight for touching off the famed bus boycott in that city, gave this advice to the Baltimore delegation of the national Prayer Pilgrimage for Freedom on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Parks spoke before approximately 80 key members of the Baltimore delegation, assembled in the main auditorium of Enon Baptist Church, Edmondson Ave. and Schroeder St.

A PROCLAMATION, noting May 17 as "Prayer Pilgrimage Day for Freedom in Maryland," has been issued by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. Presented...John" on a European tour, Gov. McKeldin signed the proclamation before he left for Liberia a few weeks ago.

It was the arrest of Mrs. Parks on December 1, 1955, for refusing to move to a rear seat of a Montgomery, Ala., transit system bus that sparked the now famous bus boycott there.

Mrs. Parks urged the Marylanders to take advantage of every opportunity to better their condition.

ANOTHER SPEAKER, Mrs. Ella Baker, national organizer of the Prayer Pilgrimage for Freedom movement, traced its history.

The Rev. Thomas Kilgore, of New York City, and Edward H. Johns, executive secretary of the Baltimore Federation of Labor, were also guest speakers.

They praised the spirit of the people behind the movement, and urged the same type of brotherhood cooperation to be continued after the march on Washington.

The Rev. Luke G. Reynolds, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church and chairman of the local committee, presided.
