was still in City Jail awaiting grand jury action.

STILL VISIBLY upset by their experiences on Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were reluctant to talk about what they said was an unwarranted attack on them.

They sat at a table in their combination bedroom - living room and told of their nightmare experience.

Both explained they did not know the two men who invaded their home, and could give no reason they had been set upon.

Mr. Richardson, 32, stands five feet eight inches tall. He is a construction worker, and weighs around 175 pounds.

His wife who is 30 and about the same height, is a small woman weighing about 110 pounds.

STILL SHAKING his head in disbelief, Mr. Richardson told the AFRO:

"It was about one o'clock and I was coming home from a bar around the corner. I saw these men but I didn't pay much attention to them.

"When I started to put my key in the door, one stepped up on each side of me.

"The big fellow put a pocket knife on my neck and said 'don't move.'

"He pressed it so hard against my neck until it scraped the skin," Mr. Richardson declared as he unbuttoned his shirt collar to let the reporter look at the two-inch scar.

"When they got me up here the big guy went to the kitchen and got a butcher knife.

"He handed it to the little guy and told him, 'If he moves, pull his d— head off.' Then he started toward my wife.

"I made a break for the door and the big guy whirled me around and hit me in the stomach and face.

"He had the biggest and softest hands of any man I have ever saw.

"I don't believe he had ever done a day's work, Mr. Richardson continued.

"HE KNOCKED me almost out and I stayed on the floor. I tried to get up and the little guy hit me and dragged me by the feet into the kitchen.

"They would come back every now and then to see what I was doing. They were both naked. I stayed there and played dead.

"The little guy must have thought I was dead because he kept telling the big one to 'come on, let's go.' The big guy didn't want to go."

* * *

MR. RICHARDSON said the two men "searched the house from top to bottom," and stuffed a small traveling bag with $7 in bills, a piggy bank containing 100 pennies, a portable radio and over $25 worth of clothing.

"The little one said, 'This is the last job I'm going on with you' and then he left with the bag.

"I eased up the kitchen window and had started down the drain pipe when the big guy heard the noise and ran in.

"He just missed touching my hand as I slid down.

"It was a long way down, but I was too worried to think about falling," he concluded.

MRS. RICHARDSON added that she was in bed reading her Bible when: 'I heard a noise and my husband was pushed into the room with these men behind him.

"I started to get up and they shoved me back on the bed. After awhile it happened.

"When the big man went in to see about my husband, I started out the door screaming as loud as I could.

"I got down to Mr. Armstrong's room and told him some men were after me.

"ABOUT THAT time the big guy struck the door and said: 'I'm coming in after her. Mr. Armstrong told him to leave me alone and go away.

"The big guy said something about: 'I'm a bad man, and I'm coming in.'

"He said he was going to count to 10 and if I wasn't out of the room by then he was coming in after me.

"He counted to three and struck the door. When he came in he made a grab for me. I ran into the bathroom and locked the door.

Mrs. Richardson added: Mr. Armstrong kept telling him to get out but he stood there with his hands in his pockets like he had a gun.

"They both went downstairs and that's when I heard the shot.

"If it hadn't been for that man, (Mr. Armstrong) I believe that he would have killed me.

"After all that's happened I feel that I'm still lucky," Mrs. Richardson declared.

"I'm alive," she said.

His body was found by police in a pool of blood on the premises of a filling station at Franklin and Pearl Sts., early Monday.

When she talked to the AFRO, Mrs. Johnson had just returned from the morgue where she had identified her son.

HERE IS how she learned her only child was dead:

"The police came here and told me they were not sure, but they thought they had my son at the morgue and asked would I go down with them.

"They had a friend of Kenneth's in the car with them.

"At the morgue I recognized him right away. I couldn't believe it.

"I saw him earlier on Sunday when he left home with a friend and said: 'I won't be gone long.'

"He and his friend sat around Sunday playing records until about five then they left.

"WHEN KENNETH didn't come home, I started to worry," Mrs. Johnson said. "I thought maybe he had gone to visit friends in Washington."

Asked what kind of a man her son had been Mrs. Johnson said, "He loved music and sports.

"He started pro boxing about four years ago but had to stop."

THE MOTHER said he sustained a long scar on the left side of his cheek when he "got in a scuffle with another boy. That's why he had to stop boxing.

"Kenneth married and has a little girl who is three. He and his wife Nancy K. Johnson were separated. She lives in the 2700 block E. Chase St.

"He never went to the Army. He was deferred because of bad feet."

Mrs. Johnson said Kenneth was born in Asheville, N.C. and came to Baltimore when he was small.

His father, Harry Johnson, lives in Chicago and is on his way here.

Funeral services for Johnson were held today (Friday) at the Rollins Funeral Home at 4339 Hunt Place NE, Washington.

Burial was in Lincoln Memorial Cemetery, Suitland, Md.

sister was reluctant to talk to the AFRO about it.

He explained that he had undergone terrific strain, an overwhelming struggle within himself, and now that it was over, he wanted to forget it.

WITH A SMILE on his face and yet, with tears in his eyes, he fitfully consented to tell of the experience:

"I wanted to accept the position and then suddenly that Friday, all desire for it left me. I felt a strange peace and calm.

* * *

"Later when I learned my members were praying secretly in their homes, realized why the change had come over me," the Rev. Mr. Wood said.

"The cooperation of these people here and the spirit of their progress has made me most proud of my church," he continued.

"They have gone along with my program in every respect. They have complimented me in many ways."

THE REV. MR. Wood emphasized that his decision was a spiritual one rather than a material one.

Obviously, he had reference to the fact that as pastor of Providence, he draws approximately $4,400 a year. In the NAACP post he would have a yearly income of $2,580 as the job pays $7,000 a year plus all expenses.

As NAACP church secretary, he would have lived in New York and traveled all over the nation visiting churches, colleges and schools interpreting the NAACP.

THE REV. MR. Wood is the third minister to pastor Providence since its founding on April 4, 1928 by the Rev. David W. Oyler, who died in April, 1929.

And, at 35 years of age, he is the youngest minister the church has had.

He was called to the pastorate in 1952 from the Bethlehem Baptist Church, Woodbury, N.J., where he had served two years.

He succeeded the late Rev. E. W. White, who served the church for 22 years (1929-1951), Rev. White died Sept. 1956 at the age of 85.

When the Rev. Mr. White left the church, it was debt-free, and the Rev. Mr. Wood has continued a pay-as-you-go program.

The lower Church auditorium has been remodeled and a small house in the rear of the church purchased and renovated for classrooms and meetings. Only a small indebtedness, less than $1,500 remains to be paid off.

UNDER HIS resourceful and able guidance, the brilliant minister has added a total of 411 members in five years.

There are also 32 separate working groups established with a total membership of 1041.

Noted for his administrative ability, his church organization has made remarkable financial progress during his ministry there.

Without the sale of tickets or fund raising the church received $27,827 in membership pledges in addition to $5,695.17 for the expansion and building fund.

THE REV. MR. Wood is married to the former Miss Bessie Pendleton of West Virginia.

They have two children, Jeanette, 16, a student of Douglass High School and Marcus, 14, who attends Booker Washington Junior High School No. 130.

The Rev. Mr. Wood is the son of Julia and Frank T. Wood, Sr., who reside in Gloucester County, Va., where his father is a carpenter.

Other members of his family are his six brothers.

The oldest is Frank T., Jr., who is director of the Syracuse, N.Y. Community Center.

Allen R. Wood is a Norfolk contractor while Levi is employed by the Seaboard Railroad in North Carolina.

Leslie Wood is a Baltimore contractor; Lockley is a draftsman with the U.S. Government in New Jersey, while Garnett is a bacteriologist at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

THE REV. WOOD has been president of the Douglass High PTA for the past two years.

He is also a member of the executive board of Fellowship House and trustee of the Maryland Baptist Home for the Aged.

He is also a trustee of the Maryland Baptist School of the Baptist Ministers' Conference, and chairman of the Citizens Committee for Civil Rights and Legislation.

THE YOUTHFUL minister is an active member of the executive board of the Baltimore branch of the NAACP, and serves on the branch's financial committee.

He is also chairman of the NAACP's education committee and secretary of the branch's membership committee.

Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson, president of the Baltimore branch, describes the Rev. Mr. Wood as 'one of the finest young ministers' in our city,'' and a hard worker who "believes in working and fighting for equal RIGHTS."—E.M.O.-B.M.R.

He expressed sympathy for the local school officials, whom he said he believed would have proceeded in good faith to work out an acceptable plan had not their hands been tied by a special session of the legislature which provided for the withdrawal of all state support from any schools operated on a non-segregated basis.

THE NORFOLK school stands to lose two million dollars in revenues. Superintendent Brubecker told the court and they would be unable to operate. He pleaded with the court to permit more time to work on an adult level to prepare the atmosphere for integration before attempting to mix the children.

"This case," snapped Judge Hofheimer, "has nothing to do with adults. They are not going to school and besides what can you do with adults under existing state laws which prevent the mixing of races?"

Mr. Brubecker admitted that little could be done.

The members of the board of education were introduced to show that no action had been taken to give relief to the 232 colored parents who had petitioned to have their children assigned to schools nearest their homes, except to advise them that the board intended to operate the schools in accordance with existing state laws.

AN INTERESTING exchange followed the statement of Walter W. Brewster, clerk of the school board, who in reading the minutes said, "we received the petition from the NAACP on July 14, 1955, and——he was cut off by Vinson Nash, attorney, who insisted that he reread the petition to prove that in no way was the NAACP involved or associated with the petition.

Mr. Brewster admitted that only the names of individual parents were signed to the petition and the NAACP was not mentioned.

Another sharp exchange stemmed from the testimony of Police Lieutenant Racine who urged postponement of integration on the ground that it would increase violence and fights among the pupils.

"DO YOU MEAN," asked J. Hugo Madison, "that you do not have any fights among school children at present?"

"Oh yes," he replied, "but not of an interracial nature, which is more serious."

"Isn't it true," asked the attorney, "that students are already mixed in the Parochial schools and do you have more fights there?"

The officer admitted they had had no trouble from this source.

Speaking as a police officer, he said, "I just feel that mixing the races' means trouble."

Only three of the 232 petitioners testified. They were the Rev. William P. Westbrook, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Branch and Mrs. Anna Cheatham. Both sides conceded that all subsequent testimony would be practically identical.

DEFENSE ATTORNEYS urged the judge to postpone his ruling and give the school authorities time to work out a solution.

"How can you solve it," asked Judge Hoffman, "when everybody is afraid to speak out? Everybody who tries to champion the cause of integration is silenced and those on the other side are made into heroes.

"I would even listen to a program that provided for the gradual integration of schools, but you come in court without the semblance of a plan except the defiance of the Supreme Court.

"So since you have no plan at all, I will set a date, for you. If, in the meantime, you can present any program devised in good faith I will give it careful consideration."

The only comment of Chief Counsel Oliver W. Hill was, "We are on the right track but they just won't let us pull into the station."

-Turner Station

berg said they were informed of the shooting, by Mr. Johnson who telephoned them from the home of Irrineld in the 500 block of New Pittsburgh Ave.

Police said Mr. Branch told them the shooting took place around 10 o'clock. Mr. Johnson called him outside of the restaurant and said:

"Give me a dollar."

"I told him he already owed me money. Then he pulled out a gun—We struggled and it went off," Mr. Branch stated.

RUMORS THAT linked the shooting with an alleged numbers operation in the community were in circulation soon thereafter.

The rumors circulated last month when a Turner Station sportsman told friends that an alleged county numbers combine was "angry" because numbers writers were "turning in" their play to city backers.

The sportsman expressed fear that he would be "fingered" by the county combine.

Two days later, another person, David Levi Poole, 48, 100 block Carver Rd., was arrested and charged with a lottery law violation.

When asked Thursday if there was any connection between the Wednesday night shooting and the so-called numbers operation, county police said "no."

However, when an AFRO reporter asked to see a report on the shooting, there was a delay of more than half an hour while police went into conference with their commanding officer.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Maryland State College at Princess Anne would, under the budget, receive its first funds for capital improvements in the sum of $147,000 for two faculty apartment buildings.

BOYS VILLAGE would receive $367,200 under the budget while Provident Hospital would be paid $252,812, based on payments of at least $13 a day for indigent persons being treated at the hospital as non-pay cases.

The smallest appropriation in the budget was $2,000 for the Cardinal Gibbons Institute in Ridge, Md.

In regard to the Coppin situation, Dr. Fischer, superintendent of local schools, said last night that "I'm for the future" Towson State Teachers College should be regarded as the institution that will provide teachers for Baltimore and the counties of Central Maryland.

HE SAID, THAT — Coppin should not be disbanded immediately but should be kept in operation as long as necessary in order to graduate the students then enrolled.

This would have placed the closing date at 1960.

Dr. Fischer also recommended that no additional major outlays be made at the college.

While the college is congested by the state and Dr. Fischer's connection is with the city, his words, carried weight since the majority of Coppin graduates will be teaching in city schools.

THE URBAN LEAGUE also suggested the closing of Coppin but left the way open for it to continue if the state appropriated enough money to make it an accredited institution.

This matter of non-accreditation has been one of the principal issues raised over Coppin. The school has never received the accreditation given to the other state teacher colleges.

(These are Bowie, Towson, Salisbury and Frostburg.)

Accreditation has been denied because Coppin lacks an adequate auditorium and library.

While the budget makes provision for the auditorium it makes no mention of a library.
