Thomas Wards honorees at formal party

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — An elaborate reception for a prominent, young YMCA secretary and his lovely wife, formally of Dallas, Texas and Cleveland, Ohio, was a highseason in the Sooner State capital.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward were feted at a formal reception Dec. 28, at Oklahoma City's "Hospitality House," the beautiful abode of his cousin, Ward Caldwell, 1301 N. Lottie Avenue.

Mr. Ward, who served four years as youth secretary of the Moorland Branch YMCA, Dallas, was en route to Kansas City, Mo., where he will assume the duties of associate executive of the Paseo YMCA. Formerly youth secretary in the Cleveland, Ohio, YMCA, he is a graduate of the University of Toledo.

He is the son of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ward of Baltimore, Md. His father is a retired Presbyterian minister. His wife, the former Melba Dixon of Detroit, Mich., is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of the Motor City. The Wards have two children, Michael, eight years old, and Yana, 14 months.

THE WARDS' Oklahoma City host, Mr. Caldwell, is one of the city's outstanding party-givers. He was assisted by Messrs. Roosevelt Washington and Lloyd Bronson. Mrs. Otis Freeman served eggnog from the huge silver punch bowl on the lavishly appointed dining table; and Mrs. Irving Kimbrough served the pink-ice cake.

A color scheme of pink and white was used to supplement traditional holiday decorations, which were dominated by a [illegible] mas tree. Pink carnation corsages were worn by ladies in the receiving line and those assisting the host. The men wore white carnation boutonnieres.

In the receiving line were: Mr. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward, Mrs. Lena Caldwell, a sister-in-law of the host, and Mrs. L. Marie Robinson, retired Oklahoma City school teacher who attended Bartlesville Scotia college with Mrs. Mattie Snowden Ward, the mother of Thomas Ward.

Mrs. Thelma Thurston Gorham presented guests to the receiving line and introduced a brief musical program which featured some of the city's most talented artists.

PROGRAM participants included McCormick Smith, accompanied by Leroy Hickel; Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, with no accompaniment; and two piano solos by Charles Hudspeth.

Among the guests were Miss Willa Jenkins of Oklahoma City, a student at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo., and her sweetheart, Miss Bessie Bean of St. Louis, Mo., also a student at Lincoln University; Miss Lucy Thurmond, a student at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., and Frederick Jenkins, director of Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Washington.

Scheduled to leave for Kansas City, Mo., the day after the reception, the Wards departure was delayed by a snowstorm that crippled northbound traffic.

MR. AND MRS. Ward were formerly members of the Hope Presbyterian Church in Dallas. Beside the B.A. degree in social administration from the University of Toledo, Mr. Ward has done graduate work in group social work at Western Reserve University, in Cleveland, Wayne University in Detroit and Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

He is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the American Association of Secretaries, professional organization of YMCA secretaries. A veteran of World War II, he served three and one-half years in the field artillery.

In his new position as associate executive of the Paseo YMCA, Mr. Ward will have responsibility for the over-all program with emphasis on youth activities and young adult phases of program.

Mills-Johnson wedding unites cleric families

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Miss Naomi N. Johnson, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. N.A. Johnson, became the bride of Albert Mills, son of the late Rev. Curtis Mills and Mrs. Ida Faulkner Mills of Lancaster, S.C. at the Biddleville Presbyterian Church, here, recently.

Dr. H. W. Givens officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Musical numbers were given by the brother of the bride, A. Johnson; and Mrs. Mary Alice Montgomery was soloist.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride.

* * *

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore an original creation of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, designed with a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a scalloped neckline embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The full skirt had wide ruffles near the hemline and down the back. Her fingertip veil was of imported illusion and was attached to a tiara of pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with a white purple throated orchid and small streamers with tiny white carnations.

The maid of honor was Miss Doris McCombs, who wore a shrimp-colored dress with headpiece and accessories that matched. Miss Esther Faulkner and Miss Doris Faulkner, bridesmaids, wore blue and green pastel gowns over taffeta slips with corsages and accessories that matched. They were both from Lancaster, S.C.

The flower girls wore yellow nylon dresses over full yellow taffeta slips and carried yellow baskets of flowers, dropping them in the path of the bride.

They were Rebecca Foster and Hazel Ida Ford.

* * *

MRS. N. A. JOHNSON, mother of the bride, was dressed in rose taffeta with a pink corsage and accessories that matched. The father of the brother, Nevid A. Johnson of NYC, was best man.

Other out-of-town guests attending the wedding were two sisters of the bride's father, Mrs. Minnie E. Dandy of New York City and Mrs. N. L. Wright of Fort Pierce, Fla.

* * *

MRS. MILLS is a graduate of Lincoln Park Academy, Fort Pierce, Fla. and of Johnson C. Smith University. She received Master's degree from Columbia University in New York City. Her husband, a graduate of Johnson C. Smith University, is a teacher in the Southside Elementary School for the past 10 years.

Mr. Mills is a native of Lancaster, S.C. He is a member of the Men's Choir of the Methodist Church in Washington, D.C. He is a switchboard telephone operator at the Operator of Engineers in Washington, D.C.

They will spend their honeymoon visiting friends and relatives in Southland, North Carolina and will make their home in Washington.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT MILLS were married in Charlotte, N. C., recently. The bride is the former Miss Naomi N. Johnson.

Mrs. Joyce Austin named Wagner aide

ALBANY, N.Y. — Mrs. Joyce Phillips Austin, assistant deputy commissioner of the State Department of Commerce, has been named to the post of assistant to Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

She fills the $12,500 - a-year post left vacant by Mrs. Anne Arnold Hedgeman, who recently resigned to head a cosmetic company. The appointment also brings Mrs. Austin an increase of $2,800 over the $9,700 she received as commissioner.

* * *

A GRADUATE of Hunter College and Fordham Law School, Mrs. Austin practiced law in New York City for 11 years before entering public service. She had also been on the staff of the Practicing Law Institute in New York City as an editorial assistant and legal researcher.

In the position as assistant deputy commissioner of the Department of the Commerce, Mrs. Austin served as director of the Woman's Program, a service agency working co-ordinately with other divisions of the department.

Through its own program of clinics, forums and workshops, the Woman's Program provides specialized services for women in business and industry, and college women planning business and professional careers.

* * *

MRS. AUSTIN became a member of the Commerce Department in 1956 as executive secretary of the New York Women's Council. She was more recently appointed a member of Mayor Wagner's Committee on the Problems of the Aging.

She is a member of the New York County Lawyers' Association, Harlem Lawyers' Association, New York Women's Bar Association, National Council of Negro Women, the Urban League of Greater New York, Executive Committee on Discrimination in Housing.

* * *

MRS. AUSTIN is also on the Executive Council of the Women's Division of the Democratic State Committee, Fordham Law Alumni Association, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and the New York Club of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which, last year, gave her their achievement award.

Mrs. Austin is the wife of Rodman W. Austin, a teacher in the New York City public school system.

Week's best buys can help you stretch your food budget

There is a variety of good buys at the market for tasty, tempting winter meals. Careful planning before you shop and wise management in preparation will result in economies, says, Virginia McLuckie, food economist, Baltimore Office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

Meat or protein is a major item in food purchases, taking about one quarter of all food expenditures. Best and pork are major meat items used in most families. Careful selection of a cut of meat with enough quantity for planned left-overs for casseroles and stews will help stretch the meat dollar. Chuck roast and chicken are recommended buys this week.

* * *

THE FISHING INDUSTRY is being hit hard by frozen water conditions all up and down the coast. Receipts of fresh fish are not as heavy when such weather conditions prevail. Frozen fish fillets of haddock, cod and ocean perch are on the list of best buys.

Eggs are a good buy in protein. Top quality eggs are being produced this time of the year. Grade A Large eggs are the best-buy. Add an extra dozen eggs to your market list for omelets and souffles.

This is the season when very little locally grown produce is on the market and it is necessary to depend upon shipped-in produce from warmer growing areas. There are good buys in head lettuce that are coming from California and Arizona. As the base for salads lettuce is the most popular item.

* * *

CHOOSE LETTUCE with solid heads and with outside leaves that are crisp and fresh with no signs of freezing injury. Celery is a good buy this week on your market list. The supply is more than great enough to carry customers from Florida and California. The coarse outer stalks, tops and leaves make excellent flavoring for soups, stews and other cooked dishes. Celery stalks should be medium in length and thickness, so crisp that they snap easily, and their leaves should be fresh in appearance. Such celery has good heart formation.

* * *

WHITE POTATOES are one of the lowest cost per serving vegetables you can buy. The supply is abundant and the quality high. The regular potato, katahdins, which is commonly called cobblers, are coming from Pa., N.Y., Long Island, Del., and Maine.

Two varieties for baking are available; Burbank Russets and Idahos. The Russets are grown in Maine and other eastern potato growing areas and the market list, Buy large size 10 or 25 or 50 pound bags if you have cool storage space. The larger the size unit you purchase the less they cost per pound.

Sweet potatoes from Maryland and nearby states are of high quality and attractive in price. This yellow vegetable supplies a wealth of vitamins and energy as well as taste appeal.

* * *

TURNIPS are rather neglected vegetables, however they are in good supply and quality. They make admirable additions to soups and stews. They can be served in fritters, puddings, and in casserole dishes.

Onions and fresh mushrooms are on the best - buys list. Fine seasonings use plenty of onions. For adding interest in flavor and dressing up dishes

The best-buys at the fruit counter are grapefruit, tangerines and apples.

* * *

HUNGERIAN GOULASH is made with two pounds beef from chuck, two cups boiling water (or part tomato juice) 2 teaspoons paprika, one large onion, thinly sliced, 3 tablespoons fat, 2 teaspoons salt, and one large green pepper, chopped.

Cut beef in two inch cubes. Brown in fat in heavy skillet. Remove to Dutch oven or skillet. Lightly brown onions and chopped green pepper; stir in paprika and salt; and add to meat. Add water to juices in skillet, and pour over meat.

Cover and cook slowly over low heat for about an hour and a half until meat is tender but not soft. (If necessary, add more boiling water during cooking. If desired, add half cup heavy sour cream. Serve with buttered noodles.

COOKING IS FUN

You can't miss with versatile sweet potatoes on the menu

You simply can't miss when you put sweet potatoes on your menu.

Few vegetables are served the year 'round as are sweets. Then, too, there are so many ways to serve them.

You may mash them, top with marshmallows and brown, boil and candy them, bake them with a brown sugar and butter topping; or bake, scoop out of shells and mix with mashed sausage, then stuff back in shells and sprinkle with crumtopping.

You can make small balls of the mashed sweet potato and beaten eggs, roll in chopped nut meats and fry in deep fat; or serve in orange shells with marshmallow or baked nuts on top and browned.

These, of course are the old and tested ways of preparing sweet potatoes with which you are familiar.

* * *

THERE ARE MORE exotic ways of doing dishes made with potatoes.

There are, for instance, glazed yam balls.

You will need four large yams, two tablespoons butter or substitute, a fourth cup cream.

A half teaspoon salt, a half cup finely chopped nuts, six marshmallows, ginger snap cookies, rolled medium fine.

Cook unpared, scrubbed yams in boiling water until tender. Drain. Cool enough to peel. Mash thoroughly.

Stir in butter, cream, salt, nuts and a fourth cup crumbs. Shape into balls with marshmallow in center of each, making sure marshmallow is well covered.

Roll balls in remaining crumbs. Place on baking sheet.

* * *

YAMS COMBINE beautifully with meats. Try fruited yam sausage casserole for a special treat.

You will need two tablespoons butter or substitute, a brown sugar, a medium-sized apple, cored and cut in wedges.

Also two cups mashed cooked yams, two eggs, separated, a half teaspoon, paprika, an eighth teaspoon nutmeg, a tablespoon granulated sugar and four brown - and - serve sausages, sliced.

Melt shortening, add brown sugar and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved.

Add apples and cook until apples are tender. Drain apples, reserving syrup. Combine yams, egg yolks, paprika and nutmeg; mix well.

Add syrup and mix well. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add granulated sugar and beat until stiff. Fold egg white mixture into yam mixture.

Turn into a lightly greased casserole. Arrange apples and sausages on yam mixture. Bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes or until thoroughly heated.
