Ax slaying horrifies Ga. sheriff

(SPECIAL TO AFRO)

ATHENS, Ga. — "I've seen a lot of slayings, with knives and about everything; but I've never seen anything like this before. It was the most brutal job."

This was how Franklin County Sheriff Fred Land depicted the brutality of the ax slaying, last Friday of a 70-year-old invalid sharecropper, Lorn Little.

"Head was just about cut off completely," the sheriff told the AFRO. "Just left hanging by a gristle."

SAM WESTBROOKS, 41, white, sawmill laborer from Homer, Ga., is being held without bail in the Carnesville jail on a murder charge.

The sheriff said the accused man, who was arrested after blood stains were found on his clothes, will be arraigned before the county grand jury on March 23.

He is represented by Horace Wood, attorney.

The victim, who was described as a "harmless and quiet man" had lived in the county all his life.

He was pronounced dead after Mrs. Little, also 70, find the death scene and called for help.

LITTLE AND his wife lived alone in a secluded tenant house just off Highway 59, about four miles from Carnesville, a town with a population of about 400 located 30 miles northeast of Athens.

The sheriff said Westbrooks was arrested a short distance from the scene after his automobile stalled.

NEIGHBORS of the Little family, the sheriff reported, said they saw a white man enter the home of Little Friday, the sheriff said.

When questioned, the accused man told officers that he didn't know where he was at the time of the killing.

"He appeared to have been under the influence of alcohol."

No motive for the slaying has been discovered, the sheriff declared.

GEORGE M. JOHNSON

Rayfields harassed?

WILMINGTON, Del.—George Rayfield was arrested Saturday for changing the address on registration certificates for two trucks and allowing two unlicensed operators to drive them.

Police denied that his arrest had any connection with Mr. Rayfield and his family moving into a newly purchased $13,000 home at 107 Bellanca La., Collins Park.

When the Rayfields moved into the formerly all-white neighborhood two weeks ago an angry mob of some 150 whites stoned the house and hurled insults at them. Several persons were arrested as a result of the violent protest.

MAGISTRATE AUGUST R. UNBRECHT of Gwynhurst fined Mr. Rayfield a total of $35 after convicting him on the charges as stated in connection with the Saturday arrest.

Mr. Rayfield was fined $5 on the failure to changes the address charge and $15 each for allowing an unlicensed driver and a driver with revoked license for operating his two trucks.

RAYMOND WRIGHT was fined $10 and cost for operating a vehicle on a revoked license and Garfield L. Anderson was fined $50 and cost for operating a vehicle without a license. Both men reside in Wilmington.

The two truck drivers were arrested by Trooper Daniel Bramble of the Delaware State Police. He said the men were stopped during a routine check and given a warning. They were stopped a second time later that day when observed still operating the vehicles.

Johnson is picked for rights post

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower Tuesday nominated George M. Johnson, former dean of the Howard University Law School, to succeed the late J. Ernest Wilkins as a member of the Civil Rights Commission.

The nomination was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi is chairman. Informed sources expect Mr. Johnson to be confirmed without any difficulty.

Born in Albuquerque, N.M., May 22, 1900, Mr. Johnson has been a resident of California since 1901. He spent his childhood in San Bernardino where he attended the public schools and where his father, William S. Johnson, still resides.

DR. JOHNSON is a World War I veteran and holds an A.B. degree from the University of California where he also received his LL.B. degree.

Upon graduation from law school he was awarded the Sheffield - Sanborn Scholarship for graduate study and completed residence work in taxation at the university. He was awarded the degree of Doctor of Juristic Science in 1936.

Dr. Johnson was admitted to practice law in California in 1929, and from 1930 to 1933 he was engaged in private practice in Berkeley.

In 1933, he was appointed inspector for the California State Board of Equalization and assisted in the interpretation and administration of the state's first Liquor Control Act.

IN 1934, after a civil service examination, he was appointed junior assistant tax counsel to the board. In 1936 he was promoted to senior assistant tax counsel to the board and in 1939 moved to Sacramento, the headquarters of the Board.

In 1940, Dr. Johnson accepted an assistant professorship on the Howard Law School faculty.

He took a leave of absence in 1941 to serve with the President's Fair Employment Practice Committee, remaining on the staff of this agency until 1945, serving first as assistant executive secretary and later as deputy chairman and acting general counsel.

Dr. Johnson returned to Howard in 1945 as full professor of law, and in 1946 he was appointed dean of the law school. He resigned that position in May, 1958, to become Director of the Office of Laws, Plans and Research of the Civil Rights Commission.

HE HOLDS membership in the California Bar, the U.S. Supreme Court Bar, American Bar, Association (Section on Taxation), National Bar Association, the Association of American Law Schools, the American Law Institute (honorary);

The National Education Association, the American Association of University Professorsrts, the NAACP's National Legal Committee, the American Judicature Society, the Board of Directors of the District of Columbia Legal Aid Bureau, and the Advisory Committee of the District of Columbia Juvenile Court.

Dr. Johnson is married. His wife has a son by a former marriage who is a lieutenant in the Air Force.

THE NU-DY-PER firm handles diaper service for 13 hospitals and was among the first to hire colored workers.

Owners are two brothers, Joseph and Reuben Warnch. Employees total 25.

Twenty - three are laundry workers, all colored. Eleven are truck drivers, all white. There are two secretaries, one white, one colored, and two laundry room workers, one white and one colored.

DIAPERS ARE washed by automatic machine.

The 23 laundry workers' job is to fold and package them.

The hourly rate for the workers was 29 cents.

In addition, after folding a minimum of 115 bundles the women were paid three cents extra per bundle.

The union is asking a minimum of $1.10 an hour.

THE WARANCH brothers told the AFRO, "We can't afford to raise salaries, due to competition."

Reuben Warnach said to the AFRO: "We have tried to be fair with the girls but if we increased salaries to what the union wants, it would harm our business.

"Yes, we are paying 70 cents an hour now. We were paying 29 cents an hour before they went on strike.

"They (the employees) get coffee and doughnuts free while on the job and the room where they work is air conditioned. No other plant in the city has that.

"This company will be 13 years old on July 1st and this is the first trouble we have ever had."

A SPOKESMAN TOLD the AFRO that 14 union officials on both the local and national level are directing the organization of laundry workers in this area.

Officials say they are also concerned over recent attempts by a new laundry workers local to enter the picture.

According to Kenneth Friedman, International representative of the AFL-CIO local, the sudden appearance of the new group is connected with a "conspiracy" to defeat the honest union in Baltimore.

IN AN EFFORT to rally support for the strikers, Local 239 carried their story to the public on Thursday at a meeting of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance.

Following a talk by Oliver W. Singleton, regional AFL-CIO director, the ministers appointed a "Social Action Committee" to study the situation and to offer recommendations.

The Rev. Frank L. Williams is chairman of the committee. Members are the Reverends V. T. Williams, G. M. Edwards, Harrison J. Bryant, Arthur J. Payne, Frank L. Frye, E. M. Revells and Alliance chairman Marion C. Bascom.

John A. Hawkins, field representative of the AFL CIO presented to the ministers ways and means to interest their members.

THE OPERATION was performed on Mrs. Delores Robinson of 46 Baldwin St. two weeks later. It was successful.

If convicted of the charges, the cult leader could get a year in jail or a $1,000 fine, or both.

PVT. CHAMBERS ran to the car as it gathered speed downhill. He yanked open the door and applied the emergency brakes.

In the daring feat, he stopped the vehicle from plowing into pedestrians crossing 14th St. during the busy lunch hour.

Pvt. Chambers suffered cuts and a back sprain in bringing the car to a halt.

Picket line at YMCA

WASHINGTON

Picketing of the Central YMCA was scheduled to begin today (Friday) in protest of refusal of the Woodward School for Boys, operated by the branch, to admit colored students and refusal of the branch to admit colored members.

The picketing is an outgrowth of issues of racial discrimination which have been before the Central Board of Management for nearly a year without any decision upon a change in policy.

The segregationist policy of the Woodward School was first brought to public attention in June, 1958 when Hubert Hinton 3rd, of 3913 20th St., NE, was denied admission to the school because of his race.

THE SCHOOL, which is located at the Central YMCA Branch at 1736 G St., NW, is operated under the supervision of the Metropolitan YMCA as an educational service.

It was established in 1919 as a preparatory school for boys and was given its present name in 1924 after the late S. P. Woodward (Washington department store founder) who had a deep interest in the work of the YMCA.

Young Hinton, who was qualified as to academic background, made application to the school in the manner usually through his godfather, Milton Fisher.

When the youngster and his godfather went to the office of Walter Lewis, headmaster of the school, for a personal interview on June 17, 1958, they were told bluntly that the school was not integrated and that therefore, young Hinton was not acceptable.

THE INCIDENT led to formation of the Citizens Committee for the Advancement of Christianity in the YMCA with the Rev. James D. Foy, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, and Charles C. Weber, director of the Office for Religious Relations of the AFL-CIO as co-chairmen.

After numerous but fruitless appeals through letters, interviews and conferences with officials of the Metropolitan YMCA in an effort to secure an end of its violation of the general policy of the national YMCA against racial discrimination, members of the Citizens Committee began a drive to focus public opinion on as attempt to bring about a change in policy.

SPECIFIC complaints which the committee lists are:

(1) Refusal of the Central Branch's general board to admit colored boys to Woodward School;

(2) Refusal of the Central Branch to admit colored members and to permit them to use the swimming pool and other recreational facilities at the branch;

(3) Refusal of Central to admit colored boys to its summer Camp Letts, located at Edgewater, Md.

Committee members and other citizens who are scheduled to picket the Central Branch in addition to the Rev. Mr. Foy and Mr. Webber include Mrs. Hubert Hinton Jr., whose son was refused admission to Woodward; Dr. Edward Mazique, Belford Lawson Jr., and others.

They are scheduled to picket today (Friday) from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and again from 5 to 6 p.m.; Saturday from 12 to 1 p.m.; Sunday from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. and Monday from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Monday's picketing period will coincide with a meeting of the General Board of the Metropolitan YMCA which is scheduled to be held at the branch from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

An evaluation meeting will Branch YMCA on Friday at be held at the 12th Street Branch YMCA on Friday 8 p.m. to discuss progress and future strategy in the campaign.

dents, is primarily a colored state. All of its half million residents are of mixed racial ancestry, so they have more than a passing interest in voting and in civil rights.

In addition, because Hawaii 2,100 miles from San Francisco, is just 4,000 miles east of Tokyo, the United States has a closer link with Asian nations.

Residents of Hawaii vary in skin coloring from dark brown to white.

Voting age was recently reduced to 20. Primarily Republican, in the last three elections, Hawaii has gone Democratic.

Congressional approval of statehood for Hawaii means it can hold its first state election in time to seat two senators and one representative in the House in this session of Congress.

another public accommodations ordinance.

They say they already have three sure votes in the Fourth District; four in the Fifth, and two more with Mr. Abramson and the vice - president of the council, G. Lyman Schueler, Second District, who has favored the measure all along.

The B'hoys say this assures them of a total of nine votes with which to launch matters.

SO — THUS ARMED, they believe ruffled feelings of the five lame - duck councilmen ousted by their constituents the Second and Third Districts, are such that they can pick up at least three additional supporting votes.

This, they are saying, will give them a total of 12 votes for their ordinance, a clear majority in the 21man City Council.

Such is the stated side of the story now surrounding efforts for another public accommodations ordinance.

THERE REMAINS, however, another side not stated by the B'hoys.

The three incumbent Fourth District councilmen are members of the faction of James H. (Jack) Pollack, district Democratic boss, and are opposed in the May 5 general election by a slate of three colored Republican candidates.

One of these is Harry A. Cole, young attorney and former State Senator representing this district.

Theodore R. McKeldin, former governor, and a known liberal, is the Republican candidate for mayor, opposing Mr. Grady. State's attorney, whose liberal stand is not so well known.

SOME CLOSE observers have put two and two together, and come up with the reasoning that the Democratic B'hoys are more than just a little fearful that Mr. McKeldin might carry a couple of the district's Republican candidates to the City Council, replacing the incumbents — even if Mr. McKeldin slips on the way himself.

Also, there is further speculation that the Democrats must come up with something to match the past liberal tactics of Republicans in office.

It would seem, from current interest, observers are saying, that the Dixon Ordinance is just the thing.

Meanwhile, how does Mr. Dixon feel about another Dixon Public Accommodations Ordinance?

"I am prepared to put one in," he told the AFRO. "And all I want is to see it go through."

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

By MILTON E. ELICKSON

"ADVICE WHEN MOST NEEDED IS LEAST HEEDED . . ."

Strangely enough, in difficult and adverse times when sound and wise counsel might be of great benefit, many people will shun it. As is often the case a difficult situation becomes the more difficult when, lacking a workable solution ourselves, we refuse to seek out help and advice or, worse yet, reject it when it is offered.

It is only natural that most of us would prefer to work out our own problems. However, it is a rare individual indeed who can boast of experience and vision in sufficient quantity to find ready answers to the problems and complexities which are certain to be a regular and frustrating part of our everyday lives.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"The Town of Don't Yes Worry"

There's a Town Called Don't Yes Worry
On the Banks of River Smiles,
Where the Cheer Up and Be Happy,
Blossoms Sweetly All the While.
Where the Never Grumble Figure,
Blooms Beside the Fragrant, Try.
Where the Never Give Up and Patience
Point their Faces to the Sky.

Urban Leagueurges changed approach to housing problem

Failure on the part of the Baltimore Urban Renewal Agency to keep the social and intergroup aspects foremost in its planning will prevent the program from getting off the ground, the Baltimore Urban League charges.

In its annual report, here Sunday, the League expressed the hope that the Renewal Agency will see fit to plan a more prominent role in the total housing picture of the city. Trouble spots, it said, if not corrected, might tend to increase the need for renewal in other areas of the city.

BURHA SHOULD have long since made approach to building on behalf of new construction for minorities, since much of the current problem in housing results from the renewal program.

Other areas in which the League expressed particular concern included that of family living. The disorganization of the group family, as reflected in the number of families lacking a male figure, the high incidence of working mothers, the high incidence of illegitimacy and the generally undesirable conditions and demand intensive remedial attention," the report said.

THE LEAGUE marked as a major accomplishment in 1958 the award of a grant of $72,000 by the Civil Rights committee of the United Steel workers of America AFL-CIO for a two-year project "To strengthen the minority family."

The project will enable the League to promote a demonstration program whose methodology and results will be made available to other community groups.

Dr. Furman L. Templeton is executive director of the Baltimore Urban League.

IN REPORTING the official family of the League for the coming year, a story in the paper earlier this week noted that Mrs. Marguerite Harmon and Robert Moyer resigned from the board. Mrs. Harmon advises however, that they did not resign but declined to serve another term.
