Four Youths Sentenced To 40 Yrs. In Hold-Ups

$3,000,000 asked for new Health Department center

ANNAPOLIS — Baltimore will get a new city Health Department headquarters building, which will also include the office of the Chief Medical Examiner of Maryland, if a bill now before the General Assembly is passed.

Senate Bill No. 302 would authorize a city public buildings loan of $3,000,000, subject to the approval of voters, for the new building.

The City Senators have had the bill in committee, since its introduction on February 16.

* * *

DR. HUNTINGTON WILLIAMS, city Commissioner of Health, told the committee last Friday at a hearing on the proposal that expanded operations of the Health Department required centralized modern housing for efficient service.

Dr. Williams pointed out that the upper floors of the Municipal Building, Lexington and Holliday Sts., were made available to his department in 1877.

"Since that time," he said, "there has been a 20 percent increase in the city population, and a 250 percent increase in those segments of the population which are most in need of city Health Department services, primarily the colored people."

Dr. Williams pointed out that many new services have been added to his department since 1928.

He cited among them:

A large Medical Care section, administering the program for 35,000 public assistant clients, with 16 workers;

A new Industrial Hygiene program to protect the health of workers in factories and industry, eight workers;

A new Air Pollution Control service for the city, four workers; A new Mental Hygiene Bureau, under development to require six workers; A Bureau of Dental Care for all city school children, two workers;

A Bureau of Crippled Children and Handicapped Persons, nine workers;

* * *

ALSO, A new Research and Planning section (vital statistics), 43 workers.

A Bureau of Health Information, seven workers; A Division of Rodent Control, 11 workers, and the Bureau of Public Health Nursing has been increased by at least 50 workers.

The health commissioner added that the growth of the department has forced the Bureaus of Milk Control and Mental Hygiene and the Divisions of Venereal Diseases and Rodent Control administrative units to other locations.

He stated that the office of the Chief Medical Examiner of Maryland, located at the City Morgue, now has a staff of 25, as compared to six staff members in 1936.

Defeat the court bill, says Cole

Former State Senator Harry A. Cole said this week that "the present Municipal Court bill now under consideration by the Legislature should be defeated because it calls for the election of judges on a city-wide basis.

"The more progressive outlook on the judiciary is that judges should be appointed for life or for specified terms.

"It they were to take the citywide election provision out of the bill, and provide for appointment, then the bill might be more acceptable," Mr. Cole said.

He added: "This is what they do in Washington, New Jersey and other enlightened states.

* * *

"WHEN I was state senator, I proposed the election of judges on a district-wide basis, rather than a city-wide basis because this is more consistent with the pattern of electing judges in Maryland.

"The judges of the Court of Appeals do not run for election from all over the state, but from judicial circuits. The judges of the circuit courts in Maryland, in the main, are elected from the counties in which they reside, rather than from the entire circuit over which they preside.

"Most of these counties, with the exception of Baltimore County, Prince Georges County and Montgomery County, have fewer residents than the smallest district in Baltimore City."

Mr. Cole said "So it doesn't make sense to say there is going to be more political interference with the election of judges in a district where more people participate in the election.

"I don't deny that I had a selfish interest in making certain that minorities had the right to vote for judges in a judicial capacity; nor do I suggest that the magistrate system can not be improved.

"But it is my firm conviction, that citywide election is not the best means of improving it, and protecting all segments of the population."

Civil rights bills now in General Assembly

By MAX JOHNSON

ANNAPOLIS — A total of seven bills, designed to open public places of accommodations to all without regard to race and hasten school integration throughout Maryland, were placed before the General Assembly here this week.

Four of these, introduced in the Senate by Senator J. Alvin Jones, Fourth District, Baltimore, are:

1. Senate Bill No. 452 — To open Baltimore hotels and their facilities to all, on authorizing Circuit Court injunction relief those refused accommodations and services because of race;

2. Senate Bill No. 453 —To mandatory services and facilities of public places of accommodations within 100 yards of all of Maryland's highways, and providing damages up to $200 for persons refused such services;

(Not numbered at AFRO presstime)

3. A Senate Bill which would extend civil rights generally to all citizens of the state;

4. A Senate Bill to lawfully open all facilities and services at race tracks licensed by the State Racing Commission, such as club houses, etc.;

5. A Senate Bill to create a State Commission to protect against racial discriminatory practices.

* * *

TWO HOUSE of Delegates bills relating to racial discrimination have been placed before that body

1. House Bill No. 467, by Mrs. Verda F. Welcome, Fourth District, Baltimore, calls for an elimination of discriminations, based on race, sex, religion, class or national origin, in Maryland's public schools, to become effective this June 1.

2. House Bill No. 646, by the House delegations from Baltimore's Fourth and Fifth Districts, which would prevent law discrimination because of race or color in places of public accommodations.

* * *

TWO WEEKS ago, a delegation of Baltimore ministers headed by the Rev. Oliver St. Clair Franklin, of the Citizens Committee for Civil Rights, Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, NAACP president, and Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, head of the NAACP's Legal Redress Committee, journeyed to Annapolis in the interest of civil rights legislation.

At the time, they reminded the Fourth District delegation time was becoming short for introducing such legislation.

The Senate Bills have been referred to that body's Judicial Proceeding Committee.

The House Bills have been placed before the Judiciary Committee.

Sponsors of these bills have noted that public hearings will almost certainly be required before they are returned to the floors of their respective bodies with, or without, favorable reports.

* * *

THREE WEEKS remain for action on these bills. The 90-day session of the General Assembly ends April 6.

During the first 30 days of such sessions, a committee chairman may hold a bill for 20 days without action, unless it is petitioned out by two-thirds majority of the members of the House in which it originated.

After the first 30 days of a session, a committee chairman may hold a bill without action for 15 days under the same conditions.

* * *

TWO OTHER bills designed to end discriminatory practices in state agencies were introduced in the Senate Wednesday.

1. Senate Bill No. 436 would prohibit racial discrimination in hiring of workers by State agencies.

2. Senate Bill No. 437 would require that state contracts and subcontracts contain provisions prohibiting racial discrimination in the hiring of workers.

These bills, introduced by Senator Jones, were referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Another bill — Senate Bill No. 438 — introduced by him and referred to the Finance Committee, would require an automatic five percent salary increase for state employees who have been in their maximum classifications for five years.

Joe Green not guilty, jury rules

After three hours deliberation, a jury returned a not guilty verdict late Wednesday acquitting Joseph W. Green, 36, of murder.

He was tried in Criminal Court for the Christmas Eve fatal shooting of Charles Rowell, Jr., 27, 1200 block Linden Ave.

Sgt. Clarence L. Eaton, Southwestern District, testified he was called to the murder scene in front of a bar in the 300 block N. Fremont Ave., and found the body of Mr. Rowell on the street.

JUDGE JOSEPH ALLEN and the jury were advised that there were bent cartridges from a foreign make gun were found near the body.

Mr. Green was arrested because he was seen in the bar that evening and answered the description of the assailant.

However, Mr. Green convinced the jury he was telling the truth when he said he had no knowledge of the fatal shooting.

Bill Dalton gets 4 years

William L. Dalton, 33, 1100 block N. Arrow St., was convicted of false pretense in Criminal Court yesterday (Thursday) and sentenced to four years in the Penitentiary.

According to Joseph Koutz, assistant State's attorney, while employed at Archway Motors, Mr. Dalton ordered assorted automobile parts and signed fictitious name on their delivery.

The parts were later sold or pawned.

"BURN, NORTHWESTERN, BURN" was the chant that went up from crowd of 900 along Pennsylvania Ave., when firemen answered the call at the police station. The 8-story old building weathered the storm, but that didn't alter a thing. Probe for perjury in damage suit

Immediately after her trial in which she and her husband were awarded damages, Judge Michael Manley requested a probe of possible perjury against Mrs. Essie Webb, 38, 100 block W. Hamburg St.

In her suit heard by Judge Manley on Friday, Mrs. Webb claimed she had not been able to work at her job for a canning company from July to October, 1958, because of injuries she suffered in an automobile accident.

She was awarded $250 for injuries to her face, back, neck and legs, and her husband, Herman Webb, who sued for loss of her services and medical expenses, was awarded $475.

The plaintiff in the suit was Elmon L. Armistead.

ACCORDING TO testimony, Mrs. Webb was riding in Mr. Armistead's automobile on June 21 and she was jostled about as the car crossed railroad tracks on Ridgely St.

Testimony at the trial revealed that Mrs. Webb had worked at the J. M. Langrall and Co., canning factory under her maiden name, Miller, which was also the name on her Social Security card.

Her employer identified Mrs. Webb in court as the woman he knew as Miller and who had worked during the time in question.

It was also revealed that Mrs. Webb's approximate earnings during that period were $400.

In his letter requesting State's Attorney Grady to investigate, Judge Manley said that on three different occasions while she was under oath, Mrs. Webb said she could not work during that period in question, July to October, 1958.

Fifth boy to serve one year

Five youths were sentenced to a total of 41 years in Criminal Court Monday for armed robbery, larceny and burglary.

They were:

Nathaniel E. Brown, 21, 1400 block Freestman St., and Cleveland McNeil, 20, 900 block Jonlin St., 10 years each in Penitentiary for armed robbery and one year concurrent for larceny.

Don A. Jeffries, 19, 1300 block Riggs Ave., and William F. Nolan, 17, 400 block Cummins Ct., 10 years each in the House of Correction for armed robbery and one year concurrent for larceny.

* * *

THE FIFTH youth, Charles Ringgold, 16, 500 block W. Mosher St., who allegedly participated in a Mosher St. burglary, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction.

According to the testimony he had nothing to do with the armed robbery of a grocery store in the 600 block W. Franklin St., on Jan. 14.

The store's proprietor, Morris Caplan, said his assailants escaped with $35.

IN SENTENCING sentence, Judge Joseph R. Byrnes told the youths that although he didn't know what he could do to "break up these hold-ups," he could do something to keep the defendants from participating in any for a while."

To Ringgold, who was found not guilty in the armed robbery case, Judge Byrnes said, "You are in a bad gang."

James McAllister prosecuted for the State.

'You've got a profession to protect'

"You've got a profession you've got to protect. You can't go around here stealing things.

"Well, I'm going to give you a clean bill of health, because I don't want to mess up your career."

Magistrate Linwood G. Kogar, who was speaking Tuesday in Northwestern Police Court to Dr. Sail Turkay, a 38-year-old Turkish-born food market proprietor, 2400 block Pulaski Pl.

The Turkish-born defendant, pleaded not guilty to larceny of clothing and cosmetics from a Mondawmin food market, and Magistrate Koger dismissed the charges.

Charles Pyle, detective for a food market, identified Dr. Turkay as the man he observed putting cosmetics in his pocket.

However, the physician denied the theft, stating that his four-year-old son put the items in his pocket.

UN course now offered at Hopkins

"Can the United Nations Meet Today's Challenges?"

This is the provocative topic of an eight week informal course to be held at McCoy College, Johns Hopkins University on Friday nights, 8:30 to 10, beginning March 13.

The series of meetings, offered with the cooperation of the United Nations Association of Maryland, Mrs. Frances Humphrey Howard, executive director, will feature talks by distinguished visiting lecturers of international reputation and a period for questions from the class.

Subjects and lecturers for the first two Friday nights will be:

March 13 — "What Is the Role of the United Nations in Today's International Diplomacy?" with Sir Leslie Munro, permanent representative to the United Nations from New Zealand.

March 20 — "What Can the United Nations Do about the Threat of World War III?" Ernest A. Gross, former U.S. Deputy Representative to the UN and Assistant Secretary of State and a delegate to five UN General Assembly Sessions.

Interested persons should inquired at McCoy College, Johns Hopkins University.

IN DIVORCE COURT: 'I left her after she told me to get out..'

His wife tried to pass him off as her brother, according to Robert H. Lee, who divorced Mrs. Nanie Lee in Circuit Court, here, last week.

Mr. Lee, who gave his address at 609 Bartlett Ave., said that Mrs. Lee, when he last saw her from her, was in Wilmington, Del.

They were married in Springfield, Mass. on February 3, 1945, and the union ended on June 29, 1946, the husband testified.

"I left her after she told me to get out," Mr. Lee added. He continued: "I gave her money to go to the market and get groceries, and when she came back she had no groceries, and was with my sister and two soldiers.

"They walked in the house, and one of the soldiers said, 'That must be your brother.' I walked out.

"My wife came out and struck me. She said, 'You tried to be smart. I want you to get out.' So, I did."

* * *

LAWRENCE BLACKWELL, who sued Mrs. Mary Blackwell for a divorce, lost his suit, but won custody of their 15-year-old son.

The divorce went to Mrs. Blackwell, who corroborated and testified that her husband left her.

She will also have custody of their 17-year-old daughter. Mr. Blackwell must pay $10 per week for the child's support.

The Blackwells were married in 1939 and separated in 1956.

* * *

CONSTRUCTIVE DESERTION was the basis for the granting of a divorce to Mrs. Dorothy Howard of 3ae N. Hilton St. from Hubert W. Howard.

"I left my husband because he forced me to leave. He beat me and mistreated me.

"I was marked and bruised and had to undergo an operation because of his mistreatment," Mrs. Blackwell testified.

Mr. Howard has been ordered to provide $20 per week for support of three of their four children. One child is now self-supporting.

Their marriage, which took place in 1940 ended in 1954.

Mrs. Juanita J. Mitchell was attorney for Mrs. Howard.

* * *

ALSO WINNING a divorce was Robert H. McKinnon of 1514 Druid Hill Ave. from Mrs. Sarah E. McKinnon.

Their four children were given into custody of the mother and he is to pay $12 per week support.

He and his wife voluntarily separated, the husband testified.

Find Yule skate death was accident

The January 3rd death of 14-year-old James Dunston, 500 block N. Fulton Ave., was an unavoidable accident.

So ruled Magistrate Standley L. Richardson in Central Police Court Tuesday when he freed Joseph W. Palmer, 39-year-old truck driver on an automobile manslaughter charge. Mr. Palmer resides in the 1400 block W. Franklin St.

Patrolman William C. Boozer testified the fatal accident occurred when the Dunston youth skated into the rear of the Palmer truck at the intersection of Harlem Ave. and Stricker St.

Police also submitted two eyewitness statements which alleged that before the accident, they saw a group of children hooking rides on passing cars.

Youth Dunston was an eighth grade pupil at Houston Junior High. Relatives said he was playing on a pair of Christmas skates he had borrowed from a friend.

Two-time loser gets seven years

Spencer Braxton, 34, 400 block N. Freemont Ave., was sentenced Wednesday in Criminal Court to seven years in the Penitentiary for violation of narcotics laws.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Norman Hochberg, Braxton is a second offender. He was sentenced to five years on a similar charge in 1954.

Since his release last summer he has not been employed.

Mr. Hochberg described Braxton as "a habitual user" for 15 years. His daily dosage was six capsules.

Braxton was arrested Feb. 2, in the 800 block Pierce St.

Judge Joseph Allen imposed the sentence.
