payable as follows: $3,000 on November 1, 1956; $1,500 on May 1, 1957; $1,500 on November 1, 1957; $1,500 May 1, 1958; $1,500 November 1, 1958; $1,500 May 1, 1959; $1,500 November 1, 1959; $1,500 May 1, 1960; and $1,500 on November 1, 1960."

The resolution proposed that "should the present method and mode of operation of the company change, the unpaid balance of $15,000 shall become due and payable."

(3) AT THE June 15, 1956 meeting of the Board of Directors Mr. Allen presented a resolution and urged its adoption to adjust the compensation of Mr. Brown for services rendered from November 1, 1951 to November 1, 1956.

In partial performance of the agreement the company paid the deceased a first installment of $3,000, leaving a balance of $12,000.

(3) In the early part of March, 1957 the defendant, Mr. Allen, as a majority stockholder, "did wrongfully and without justification inform the deceased that he would exercise his powers as majority stockholder to prevent and refuse payment of a balance of $12,000 owed as approved by the Board of Directors."

"And further informed the deceased that unless he agreed to cancellation of said obligation the deceased would not be elected as a member of the Board of Directors."

THE SUIT further stated that Mr. Brown refused to cancel the obligation, whereupon the defendant, Mr. Allen, requested and received his resignation as an officer and employee.

The suit contends that such an event constitutes a change in the present method and mode of operation as stated in the July, 1956 resolution, adding—

"The deceased elected to have the entire balance paid in accordance with the terms of the resolution and the demand was refused in writing dated March 30, 1957.

"Said refusal also contained an official notification to the deceased that his services and employment with the defendant would be terminated April 4, 1957.

"Although the deceased repeated his demands for payment of accumulated salary in arrears, the defendant (Mr. Allen) refused and neglected to pay."

Mrs. Brown requests that the case be tried before a jury.

AT THE TIME of his death last month, Mr. Brown was manager of the North Ave. office of another insurance firm.

While it was reported that the deceased had left Southern Life business of a salary dispute, the suit is the first public document to support what up until now was mere speculation.

Dr. Allen, Southern Life president, declined comment on the suit on Thursday.

He told the AFRO: "I have no comment. We will answer at the proper time in court."

world. You see, we're still friends."

Mrs. Morgan denied a previous report that she is planning to become the bride of a Frenchman, Joseph La Reviere.

"We're just friends. Just because you may be seen with someone doesn't mean you're getting married," she declared.

The beauty house proprietor admitted, however, that she hopes to get married "when the right man comes along."

"Do you think you can find me a good prospect?" she joked.

THE REPORT linking Mrs. Morgan and La Reviere, an export executive, was current last month.

Earlier, Mrs. Bert Ross, Mrs. Morgan's private secretary, was quoted as saying she would not be surprise if the couple announced wedding plans.

Mrs. Ross, who has been in the employ of Mrs. Morgan for eight years, also was quoted as saying the French exporter called Mrs. Morgan twice daily during her recent visit in the Dominican Republic.

Mrs. Morgan and Louis were married Christmas Day, 1955. Her first husband was Peter Coleman of Chicago. He died in 1941.

When first married they resided in a $32,000 house in St. Albans. However, the house was put up for sale in 1957, and the couple stayed in Louis's Edgecomb Ave. apartment.

This was the year Mrs. Morgan filed for annulment of their marriage.

She told the AFRO the decree ending the match became final on March 9.

Information from California, however, is to the effect that the papers officially dissolving the marriage became final last Feb. 26.

Residents win fight against tavern license

The Liquor Board on Thursday afternoon turned down application for a Class D beer, wine and liquor license for a tavern located at 808 N. Dukeland St., after protests by members of the Lanvale St. Community Club, headed by John L. Murdock.

Littleton Harriday, executive secretary of the club, was spokesman for the group, which was represented by 35 members. Mr. Harriday explained to the board that a new licensee in the area would lower the value of property and pointed out that the community is saturated with liquor outlets. He said there are already 12 such outlets in a five-block radius of the proposed tavern.

Tucker Déaring was attorney for the residents. The license applicants were Basil Discumcos and Joseph Goodwill. Four persons, only one of whom resided in the area, appeared on their behalf.

In addition to the neighborhood group, protests against the license were given by representatives of Luthrah Hospital, at Dukeland and Lanvale Sts., the Catholic Home at Poplar Grove and Lafayette Ave., and the PTA of School No. 162 in the 800 block Poplar Grove St.

There's an old saying to the effect that "You're as old as you feel."

If you were to consult experts on the subject of age, you might find that physiologically human development and deterioration fall into five stages.

First, comes infancy. It lasts until the seventh year.

Between that age and 14, there's childhood. Youth falls between 14 and 21. Between 21 and 50 is the adult stage. Old age, according to physiologists, is everything over 50. Don't get excited, now—we're just passing on what the experts claim.

In the stage of infancy fall children of pre-school age who constitute the largest group in our country, over 19 million, about 1/9 of the population. In the youth group you will find about 25% of U.S. college-age boys and girls are in colleges and universities compared with less than 10% of the college-age kids in Europe. Of the adult group you will find that almost 75% of Americans over age 65 have incomes of their own and 36% have some income but less than $1,000 a year. Only 15% have annual income of over $2,000. What can be worst than retirement without income? The problems of accumulating money for the education of your children, and for your own retirement, is a problem that we at MUTUAL BENEFIT would like to help you solve through some of the many plans that MUTUAL BENEFIT now offers its public. Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

VICTORY NO. 1—Photo made inside Arundel Ice Cream Co.'s Northwood Store shows students enjoying sodas. They were served for first time Wednesday following five-day sit-down demonstration in public places in the area which refuse service to colored people. Pictured here are Morgan students, Anna Brown, freshman, Baltimore; Clifton Henry, junior, Baltimore; Joyce Mitchell, freshman, Washington; and Frank Greene, senior, NYC. Greene is one of the leaders in the Civic Interest Group which sparked the Northwood demonstrations.

a student leader from Baltimore.

Other student leaders include Aubrey Edwards and Nathaniel Pierson. All are from New York except Mr. Spriggs.

Miss Joyce Mitchell, a freshman from Washington, commented—

"One reason the campus students want these places opened to them is because they're the only place in the neighborhood to carry sort of recreation.

"Now, if we want to go to the movies, we have to go all the way in town.

"I see no reason why we can't go to the Northwood Theatre."

Wayne Gunthrops, a freshman from Mt. Vernon, N.Y., added—

"It's not so much the fact that we're dying to get in there as it is the principle of the thing. I don't think that any person should be discriminated against."

SINCE THEY started the campaign to desegregate the theatre and eating places in the center, which are the only ones so close to the college campus, the students have held a series of mass meetings which have attracted large numbers.

On Monday a crowd jammed the meeting place to hear inspirational messages from Mrs. Daisy Bates, Little Rock, Ark., NAACP leader; Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, president of the local NAACP, and Lenny Moore, Colt star.

There was an atmosphere of friendliness in the Arundel Ice Cream company on Wednesday as the management agreed to serve colored patrons.

Students placed their orders and were served in their booths.

Six police cars and a patrol wagon were outside the store on the parking lot during the sit-in. Several policemen were inside or just outside the place but they found the group orderly.

INSIDE THE STORE, Mr. Ketcher told the students.

"The only thing that I ask is that when you come in here, conduct yourselves in an orderly fashion and don't try to monopolize the place.

"That is, if you aren't buying anything, don't come in just to take up the space that a buying customer could be using."

An AFRO reporter noted one blond youth purchasing ice cream for a Morgan student and they sat together, chatting as they ate.

Others were observed offering cigarettes to the students.

One student said a policeman chastized another blond youth who bought a soft drink for one of the students.

THE STUDENTS received congratulations from several white patrons in the places where they demonstrated for their peaceful protest against what one of the patrons called "shameful" exclusion.

One told Mr. Greene she hoped he wasn't hungry and the youthful leader replied, "I have been hungry for 200 years."

She then complimented us and said she hoped we were that we were the only ones in the place who could hold our heads up." Mr. Greene added:

THE STUDENTS have organized their protest in mass meetings and arranged to have shifts of picketers or sit-in teams.

At a meeting on Tuesday for a sit-in at the Hecht restaurant, the students decided first to send in two white - looking colored girls.

Later, when the teams arrived, they found that these two girls had been served. They filed in, moved quietly to fill every empty seat in the place.

A man who identified himself as a photographer for a daily newspaper was overheard advising a waitress to turn out the lights until the students depart then open the place again.

Most of the patrons apparently did not realize what was happening.

One of the two advanced girls who had been served, was told "I'm sorry," by a waitress when she asked her to serve her friends.

The sit-down movement in the Northwood Area is sponsored by the Civic Interest Group.

The group is composed of Morgan students, and white students in the area, and members of the Congress on Racial Equality and the Northeast Interracial Council.

A number of ministers have also supported the group.

Robert Watts, attorney, has given them legal advice.
