Reception given for Miss Blanche James with Lula Jones Garrett

Blanche James was as pretty as a picture in blue taffeta. . . a lovely frock with fitted bodice and balloon skirt . . . as she stood in line at the reception given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin D. James, Monday evening.

The reception, one of the parties at which she has been feted during the debutante season, was in the Gwynns Falls Parkway home of Mr. and Mrs. James. The latter wore a gown of green lace with chiffon panels.

Blanche will make her debut this (Friday) evening at the Me-De-So Cotillion, which will be held in the Alcazar.

Also in line with Mr. and Mrs. James and their daughter were Mrs. Alma Davis of Detroit, maternal great aunt of the debutante, who was svelte in teal blue lace with sequin trim; her grandmother, Mrs. Ella James, who wore blue chiffon, and Dr. Henry C. Welcome.

Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, who introduced guests to the line, selected a chic blue satin frock with balloon skirt; and Miss Mary Sue Welcome, who assisted, was lovely in blue taffeta with matching slippers.

Floating hostesses included Misses Joan Taylor, Jo Anne Allen, Laverne Stewart, Ida Bennett, Edna James, Edith Hill and Inez Redmond.

MISS JAMES had been honoree on Saturday at a luncheon given by Mrs. Walker, when guests included Misses Janet Wood, Sheila Chapman, Carolyn Ford, Patelle Green and Carol St. Clair, all debutantes, and Mesdames Genevieve Lee, Dorothy James, Catherine St. Clair, Hilda Higgins, Jimmie LaForest, Verda Welcome.

Guests at the reception were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Rufus E. Hackett, Paul Henderson, James Lewis, Matthew Lewis, Augustus Dobbins, Garnie Newsome, James Greene;

Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Laws, Joseph L. Jones, Howard, Agnes Underwood, Louise White;

Mesdames Bernard H. Parker, Bessie Chester, Bessie Smith, Helen Porter, Cora Fauntleroy, Della Daye, Madge Cannon, Rita Amos and Nellie Murphy;

Misses Shirley Detson, Mary E. Sunn, Brenda Williams, Pattie Holloway, Georgana Smith, Mabel Fields, Josephine Wallace;

William Lee, Lionel A. Jones, Joe McCarley, Edward Chambers, S. B. Smith, Harris Tisdale, Sylvan Bevans, Ernest Franklin, Clinton Coleman and George H. Ball.

* * *

WHEN MR. and Mrs. Frank Buek reached their 30th wedding anniversary, Monday, they marked the occasion with an elaborate dinner party at Wilson's.

Candlelight, flowers, sparkling burgundy set the scene and the background for a charming honoree . . . Margaret. . . in chic yellow and green print frock, corsage of yellow roses.

To share the evening with the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gambrill, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ashe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Croxton and their Catonsville neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ewing and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Payne.

* * *

AND SPEAKING of anniversaries, Mrs. Blanche Williams will mark a birthday on Sunday, and her daughter, Mrs. Frances Adams of 2913 Winchester Street will hold open house in her honor.

Mrs. Adams says that because she wants as many of her mother's old acquaintances and friends as possible to drop in between the hours of two and five, she isn't sending out invitations. . . but that as many as can make it are requested to come.

CHILDREN IN the six to nine age group of the Mondawmin Child Study Groups decided that instead of having an Easter party for themselves, they would like to do something for the children at Provident Hospital.

So, they met on the Saturday before Easter, made Easter baskets, filled them with goodies and prepared a short program to present. Then on Sunday the children along with their parents visited the play room of the hospital, where with the help of the young patients they sang songs, listened to records, played games, and dramatized a story about the Easter bunny.

A repast of punch, cookies, and ice cream was served. The baskets were left with the nurses so that the children might enjoy their contents after supper.

Participants in the activity were Cheryl Gregory, Sandra and Lonnie LaMont, Glascoe and David Baker, Dwight Robinson, Gayle Higginbotham, Brenda and LaVerne George, Kirk DeBeal and Derrick Matthews.

WEDS SATURDAY — Miss Marion White, daughter of Mr. Algie White and the late Mrs. White becomes the bride of George Russell Jr., attorney and insurance company executive on Saturday at 2 p.m. at St. Pius Church.

Frontiers authorize women's auxiliary; hear Mrs. Churn

Baltimore Frontiers entertained their wives at a dinner meeting on Tuesday evening at the Druid Hill YMCA, and authorized the setting up of a woman's auxiliary.

Dr. Bernard Harris Sr., president of the group, appointed the following wives to set up the auxiliary.

Mrs. Charles Covington chairman; Mrs. Frank Walker, Mrs. Daniel Ridout, Mrs. Cyrus Stevenson, Mrs. Orville Roey and Mrs. John Berry.

* * *

MRS. CHARLES H. CHURN, wife of the pastor of Union Temple Baptist Church, was the dinner speaker.

She urged women to take the leadership in the community. She said:

"It is important for us, as women, that we might try with in our community for a certain type of influence that the children, particularly the children, will catch the spirit of real equality. And know that real equality begins in the spirit, in the soul."

As to why some people are not successful in community work, she commented:

"We are so self conscious, we do not lose ourselves in the work at hand. We are so wrapped up in our own importance, in what other people will think so that the work we're doing is not wholehearted not sincere.

"This is an age of synthetic living, of living on the surface, hiding our prejudices, giving our handshake with a deceitful smile, cultivating a certain tone of voice for certain people. It is important for us not to entertain in our hearts, this hatred, rancor, indifference."

* * *

AS TO what can be done to protect our new residential communities from invasion by taverns and nightclubs, Mrs. Churn said:

"The reason why we have so much trouble in our communities everywhere we move, is that we have to have a speakeasy, a saloon, or a nightclub or something of the sort.

"It is important that a group like the one we represent here will realize the significance of this and will assert themselves in this direction in order that home life will not be imparied or threatened by the vices of the world.

"And we can't raise children when they are constantly in touch with the obscene and the wicked and the evil.

"Let us remember this, that all of the things that we talk about and all of the ways that we try to explain in our living will become as nothing unless we back them up by an absolute procedure against those things that are inflicting problems in our communities."

* * *

ON YOUNG people, Mrs. Churn said:

"If we would become more cognizant of the type of young people that associate with the finer group of young people we would draw the line like our fathers and mothers used to.

"We would not let money alone raise the standard for our friendship. We would decide that character would be the outstanding requirement for fellowship with ourselves and with our children.

"And we would throw about our children the finer influences and would say to them so far and no further."

Then we would establish a precedent that would bring back the old fashioned rule of the family and straighten out much of the entrisism that we have to offer for our neighbors and our neighbors' children.

MRS. CHURCH added:

"All the young people that you know are not anxious to follow the way of least resistance. Many of them are anxious that they find a solution to the problem of fellowship with their fellow being.

"They would like to meet young people and be associated with young people, whether they have the financial backing or the professional backing or not. They would like to meet young people who are interested in giving places, who have a goal in life and who are concerned about the finer things in living.

"It isn't easy to stand off from the world and to say no to the things that are presented to us. It takes courage, it takes more stamina, it takes manhood and womanhood. It is not easy to be considered a square. It is better to most young people, they feel, to be considered one who will go along as a good fellow, as a regular guy. But it definitely is more important in the final analysis for a person who has the courage, and it takes courage, to stand on his or her two feet and proclaim to the world by conduct, not so much by voice, but by conduct, that this is the way, and that I am in the world as a servant."

* * *

DURING THE meeting tribute was paid to deceased members of the chapter and their wives who were present were introduced to the gathering.

They were: Mesdames Mason Hawkins, W. Emerson Brown Sr., W. Berkley Butler, Emmett Coleman, Leonard Wheatley, Marse S. Callaway and J. Coy Davis.

Mrs. Diggs is first woman on St. James Church vestry

Mrs. Robert P. Diggs (Cleo) was elected to the vestry of St. James P. E. Church, during the parish's annual meeting on Monday evening.

Women have had the right to serve on Episcopal church governing boards since 1955, but this is a first at St. James.

Also elected to the vestry was Thomas J. Smith. Mrs. Diggs and Mr. Smith succeed Dallas Nicholas and Samuel Phillips, whose terms expired.

Other members of the vestry are: Dr. C. R. Campbell, senior warden; Dr. Clarence Monroe, junior warden; John H. Murphy, 3rd, treasurer; George Jude, registrar; Clarence Parham, Dr. Bruce Alleyne, Dr. I. Bradshaw Higgins and Reginald Watts.

DURING THE meeting, a member of the church passed a resolution giving the vestry the right to elect the treasurer and registrar from the church membership rather than from the vestry roll.

Father Cedric E. Mills, rector, presided at the meeting held in the Guild Hall.

Also present were: Fathers Robert Powell and Robert Bennett, associate ministers of the parish.

Cards sent to cancer victims

This is more like it.

Johns Hopkins Hospital reported Thursday that the morning mail brought 13 cards to help cheer Merle Smith, the 12-year-old confined there with incurable cancer of the lymph system.

The day before there were a half - dozen cards for Merle.

"This is the first time he has had this kind of thing happen to him and it has done much for him," a spokesman at the hospital said.

Ailing now for two years, young Merle, has been given a limited number of days to live by physicians.

* * *

WHEN THE AFRO first ran a story urging readers to send cards to the young fellow, there was no immediate response, possibly because every one was so wrapped up in having a good time on Easter.

But after a little scolding in a subsequent story, our readers are beginning to help cheer this youngster's life during his remaining days.

We know you would come through. Keep it up.

The cards or gifts should be sent to Merle Smith, Harriett Lane, No. 3, East, Johns Hopkins Hospital.

SCORES A FIRST — Sallye Phillips, 16, first colored to win scholastic honors in high school in Hartshorne, Okla. She is valedictorian of this year's senior class with a grade average of 3.419 out of a possible 4.

No. 131 program

The classes at School No. 131 presented "Easter Far a nd Near" at the Orchard St. Methodist Church under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Covington and Meredith Birche.

The screen, scenery and costumes were made by the boys in the junior high school curriculum with the aid of their teachers.

The program was enjoyed by the parents and a group of boys brought from school 453 by Mrs. Emma Gilkes. John Wood, principal, gave closing remarks.
