TWO GIRLS and a 12-year-old boy were part of the delegation that went on for two hours and climaxed with a formal protest filed with Embassy officials.

The British troops from killing unarmed Africans." read a placard carried by Mabudu Kamga, a business student from Liberia.

Her companion, Emily Mallinu bore a placard protesting recent killings in her native Nyasaland.

Another read, "Wellensky stop killing Africans without trial."

STILL ANOTHER bearing on Nyasaland and the upheaval in Central Africa was carried by 12-year-old Bwete Kanyike of Uganda.

"Can there be democracy in Central Africa when Wellensky bans political movement?"

Placards read on, "Release Dr. Banda and compatriots immediately," "Hands off Africa," "Africa for Africans," "Long Live African nationalism," "We want justice in Nyasaland," "Africans demand independence now."

The protest was staged by the African Students Association of Washington.

The petition was delivered by John Bilson from Ghana, president, and Howard medical student; Okon Idem, Nigeria, Howard graduate student in economics.

UP THERE—African pickets moved up street under police orders when students picketed the British Embassy, 3100 Massachusetts Ave., NW.

More than 25 students took part in the demonstration, protesting colonialism and recent killings in Central Africa.

ern Rhodesia and Northern Rhodesia, accused of "progressive South African type apartheid."

They expressed "outrage at the baseless charge of a "massacre plot by Africans" in Nyasaland, saying "not a single European was murdered."

Students said that they are "shocked at the recent massacres of more than 54 virtually unarmed Africans in the Central Federation by British troops."

They added that "Britain which so irrevocably supports freedom - fighters whether in Hungary or in Tibet will not stand idly by while her agents in the Central Federation crush African freedom - seekers with British bayonets".

THE PETITION asked for release of Dr. Hastings Banda and other African leaders jailed recently.

A copy of the petition was sent to the Office of Rhodesia and Nyasaland Affairs, 2852 McGill Terrace NW.

The students insisted that they remain within 500 feet of the Embassy after Capt. D. B. Kennedy and five of his Seventh precinct officers told them they would have to confine their action to limits in keeping with regulations.

Miss Maliwa said, "We want them to see what we have to say."

Embassy officials crowded the big door, some looked out windows and others stood in the yard to watch the demonstration across the street.

"WE WANT to abide by the law, but can't you allow us to remain close enough for them to see?" asked Adeye Sofola of Nigeria.

"Then I'd be breaking the law," Capt. Kennedy said.

He had a corporal to measure off the distance from the building instead of at the end of the broad expanse of yard surrounded by a wrought-iron fence, as was done earlier by police in preparation for the activity.

"That's better," students told the captain.

MR. SOFOLA carried a placard saying, "We appeal to the justice of freedom loving America. Talk to your allies."

A statement issued by the All African Students Union of the Americas said it supported the demonstration by the students from local universities and institutions.

Home runs by Reno Bertoia and Harmon Killibrew combined with sparkling pitching by Pedro Ramos to give the home fans something to cheer.

For visiting rooters, only Gus Triandos' ninth inning circuit blow, scoring Bob Boyd was the face-saver.

THE STORY of the Oriole humiliation can be couched in one simple analysis. It was just too much Ramos and too few Willie Tasby's and Triandos.'

Ramos virtually handcuffed the Birds at the plate—all except Tasby and Triandos, that is limiting them to seven hits and striking out six.

Tasby, the rookie centerfielder on whom Manager Paul Richards admits the hopes of the Orioles are pinned, collected two of the five Bird blows, and was robbed of a third by Allie Pearson's running, one-hand catch in the fifth.

ALTHOUGH IT WAS a dismal beginning for the grapefruit league "champions," the game ran the gamut for crowd excitement.

Aside from the always thrilling home runs, there was the aforementioned sharp pitching and good defense, topped off by the rarely witnessed triple play.

In this, Bob Boyd emerged as the principal figure. The diminutive Bird first sacker snared a line drive off the bat of Ed Fitzgerald, tossed to second to retire Boy Hoover, then took Ron Hansen's relay to beat Bob Allison's Hasty return.

The play snuffed out a fifth inning bid by Washington to put the game further out of reach.

THE SENATORS took advantage of two singles and an error by third baseman Brooks Robinson to score a run in the first but with that tally across and two on with nobody out, they lacked the punch to make it a big frame. Three successive fly balls chaked off the threat.

The Birds, meanwhile, missed a chance in their first, Tasby's one-bagger to center on Ramos' first pitch was nullified when Boyd bounced into a double play.

Washington got to Harshman good in the fourth. That was when Killibrew homered with Norm Zauchin aboard, and Bertoia followed one out later with Ramos on the line.

THE BIRDS enjoyed the distinction of being the hottest team in the majors in the season got under way. Earlier in the week, they had wrapped up their 23-game exhibition schedule with two victories over the Philadelphia Phillies at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

On Tuesday, the Orioles exploded for a 5-run first inning to defeat the National Leaguers, 5-3. Then the next day, they shut out their rivals, 3-0, behind the sparkling, 3-hit hurling of rookie Jack Fisher.

TASBY, FRESHMAN outfield sensation of the Birds, solidified his hold on the starting centerfield slot by connecting once in each of the contests. It was the 26-year-old flychaser's blooop single leading off the first that started the Birds' uprising of Tuesday.

Bob Boyd followed with another fluke safety and before the frame was out, the Phillies' starter, Ruben Gomez, had been victimized for a grand-slam homer by Gus Triandos.

The two hometown victories enabled the Birds to complete their pre-season schedule with 17 wins against eight losses, far and away the best in the two loops. The Red Sox were closest with their 10-12 mark.

Diggs, Dawson get home office rents

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — Rep. William L. Dawson, (D., Ill.) is drawing $100 a month from the Government to pay office rent in a Democratic headquarters on Chicago's South Side.

House vouchers showed Monday that Mr. Dawson got $300 reimbursement for rent paid during the last three months of 1957. He attached three receipts for $100 each signed by Alderman William H. Harvey of Chicago's Second Ward.

Mr. Dawson, who was the ward's alderman from 1933 to 1939, said the $100 went, and continues to go, for space in the Second Ward Democratic headquarters at 315 E. 35th St.

"I LIKE to keep close to my constituents," Mr. Dawson explained. "The organization office is in the heart of my constituency." The total rental paid by the organization, Mr. Dawson said, is $300 a month plus heat.

Mr. Dawson, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, reported that he has subleased space in the Democratic office since he was elected to his first term in Congress in 1942.

Since 1939, Mr. Dawson has been Democratic committeeman from the Second Ward. He said Alderman Harvey is acting committeeman in his absence.

Other entries disclosed that Rep. Charles C. Diggs (D., Mich.), was reimbursed at the rate of $75 a month for space rented during 1957. Mr. Diggs submitted receipts from "Diggs' Enterprises, Inc." of Detroit.

AFRO last Tuesday, she was clad in a cute blue cotton print dress.

Betsy's wardrobe consists of numerous dresses and under clothes. Most of them are gifts.

She came to Baltimore July 28, 1953, when she was a year old.

An unusually intelligent animal, she received much of her training from Arthur R. Walker, director of the animal welfare division.

Mr. Watson told the AFRO that Betsy doesn't really spend her money, but it goes into a fund to purchase other animals for the zoo.

In all probability, she will get away without filing her income tax forms will year.

Betsy wants to remind you, that April 15 is the last date to file your Federal and State income tax reports.

Those persons earning more than $600 for the year must file state income forms.

For Federal income taxes, if you have earned $5,000 or less, you must file a short form. If you earned $5,000 or less, a 1040A form is sufficient.

No matter what form you use, it has to be postmarked by 12 o' clock midnight, April 15— that's next Wednesday.

Thomas R. Zappacosta estimated damage to the home at more than $4,000.

Undaunted by her narrow brush with possible death, Mrs. Rayfield "is more resolute than ever," not to move from her home, Mr. Nix declared.

Mrs. Rayfield had previously vetoed her husband's decision to move from the house and sell it to a Collins Park Community group, and the property could not be sold without her signature.

Mr. Rayfield had decided to stick with his wife now," Mr. Nix disclosed.

ON WEDNESDAY Mr. Nix filed a petition on behalf of the Rayfields in Chancery Court seeking a preliminary injunction against six named defendants to prevent their interfering in any manner with the family's right to peaceful occupancy of their home.

Community support for the Rayfields developed in the wake of the bombing as Local 1694 of the International Longshoremen's Association, whose membership includes licensed contractors, carpenters, cement finishers and other craftsmen, agreed to donate their services for the restoration of the Rayfield home.

Officers of the Local include Arthur R. Wilson, president; Charles Harrison Jr., financial vice president; Medford Lowe treasurer; Howard K. Tolliver, secretary and St. Clair Parsons, delegate.

On another Wilmington front of the "undemocratic and hostile treatment" of the Rayfields, more than 120 persons representing a cross section of local civic groups met Wednesday night at the Eighth Ward Social Club to pledge their support of the family in its fight.

THE REPORT stated that the five-foot six-inch tall women was dressed in black toreador pants and a dark blue blouse.

Mrs. Wees was pronounced dead at the scene at 9 a.m. by Dr. William Lovett of the medical examiner's office. Her death was attributed to manual strangulation.

The body of Mrs. Wees was identified by a relative, Mrs. Margaret Hardy of the 1000 block Somerset St., and was claimed at the city morgue by an aunt, Mrs. Louise Keene of the 900 block Cherry Hill Rd., police said.

According to neighbors, the murdered woman lived alone in a second-floor apartment with her sons Michael, 15 and Doran Bailey, 13; and Glen Howard, 8.

ANOTHER SON, Ellsworth, 17, reportedly lives in Richmond with his father.

Relatives of Mrs. Wees said she was formerly employed as a barmaid and had recently been attending classes at a beauty school.

They theorized that she was on her way home from the school when she was killed.

The children were alone in the house overnight and were aware of what had happened until relatives were told of the tragedy and picked them up.

Mrs. Keane, the aunt, said: "I don't know what happened. I haven't talked to her in a long time. She was probably on her way home when it happened."

Mrs. Wees also has two sisters, Mrs. Mary Louise Turpin and Mrs. Mabel Mills of New York City.

Man takes wife on wild ride, then kills self

WASHINGTON

Foto Perkins, 40, abducted his wife, took her on a ride, threatened her life then after she escaped shot himself to death.

Lt. Charles Burns of Homicide Squad gave this account of the tragic incident.

Mrs. Mary Jane Perkins, 40, ran out of her home in the 1200 block Harvard St., NW, Monday about 7 a.m. from her nurse's aide job at Fort Belvoir, Va. A District truck driver who had been married to her for eight years and separated for the past three months was waiting for her.

AT THE POINT of a shotgun, Mrs. Perkins was forced into a car under the guise of being taken to her home. Perkins drove. He told Mrs. Perkins he was driving to his place in the 3300 block Ely Pl., SE, where he intended to kill her and kill himself.

When he stopped for a traffic light at 13th and Independence Ave., SE, Mrs. Perkins jumped out and fled down an alley to a home in the 1300 block Independence Ave. where a resident allowed her to call police.

Two 14th Precinct policemen were dispatched to Mr. Perkins' home on Ely Pl. They were told by Mr. Perkins' mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Lewis, that Mr. Perkins was in his second floor room.

MR. PERKINS was found unconscious with a gunshot wound in the left side of his body, the 16 gauge bell-action shotgun in his arms. He was pronounced dead on arrival at D.C. General Hospital.

Mrs. Lewis told police she had heard a noise but thought it was a car backfiring.

The Perkinses had no children, according to police.

The coroner's office issued a certificate of death by suicide.

PALMER'S SKIN-SUCCESS OINTMENT

By R. DELACY PETERS

Have you ever wondered why chefs wear those super-high hats? The practice was started by a French chef, Vatel, in the 1700's. Kitchens had so many chefs falling over one another that Mons. Vatel decided to identify the top dog in the kitchen by giving him a hat higher than any of the others.

Vatel, incidentally, was perhaps too tempermental, even for a chef. Arranging a posh dinner for a dignitary, Vatel committed suicide when some of the supplies came late.

Tawes hears both sides in hotel case

ANNAPOLIS — Gov. J. Millard Tawes heard pro and con arguments Thursday afternoon on whether he should sign into law a bill which would permit the York Hotel to transfer its alcoholic license to a new address.

The Governor did not indicate what action he would take after meeting for over an hour with about 30 person.

This meeting with Gov. Tawes was requested by the Mount Royal Improvement Association, in an effort to influence him to veto House Bill No. 733 passed in the closing days of the General Assembly.

The bill amends the present law, which provides that 51 per cent of the property owners within a 200-foot radius can successfully block an application for a liquor license for an establishment.

Written into law by House Bill No. 733 is the provision that this shall not apply to those establishments forced to move from a location because of official condemnation.

The York Hotel, at Madison Ave. and Dolphin St., is to be razed, because it is in an urban renewal area and is now included in those plans.

Lloyal Randolph, the owner, wants to build a 60-room, four-story hotel on Eutaw Pl. near Preestman St., and establish a restaurant with liquor facilities in the 800 block W. North Ave., less than two blocks away.

The Mount Royal Improvement Association has contended that this will be a detriment to the area, as there are too many liquor outlets there now.

Mr. Randolph charges that none of these places offer non-discriminatory services to colored citizens, and that the restaurant and liquor license are a necessity for such citizens living in this area, as well as for the operation of the new hotel.

SELECTION OF MEMBERS is made through a committee including a well-known businessman, minister, social worker, physician, and recreation leader. This is your assurance of compatability of members whose standards and ideals are in keeping with your own.

$150 IS ALL YOU PAY REGARDLESS of the number in your family! This, plus a small initiation fee, entitles every member of your family to use ALL facilities at anytime. . . 7 days a week. . . for the 3 most important months of the year — June through Labor Day!

Think It Over! A 3-Month Vacation for the Entire Family for Less Than you Would Spend for A single Week in New York!

CONSTANT SUPERVISION AND PLANNED ACTIVITIES while mom relaxes around the pool; dad enjoys a game of softball; keep the children happily and gainfully occupied during the day. Instruction is given by qualified teachers in the field. The Camp Directors, having operated this site for 12 years, are both guidance counsellors in the public school system of Baltimore. Swimming instructors assist the head Red Cross waterfront director at all swims. A registered nurse is on the premises at all time and a camp pediatrician on immediate call. Yes, every day is adventure - packed with new, exciting thrills, all planned; thoroughly supervised for the tots-to-teen-agers!

ADULTS ARE INVITED TO FORM THEIR OWN CLUBS, within the country club, to suit every single individual. You'll enjoy such things as family "cook-outs" with the entire family pitching in; dancing around the pool under the beautiful starlite skies, card parties. . . oh, so many, many varied and wonderful hours of pleasant relaxation and fun will be in store for you at HOWARD HILLS!
