Frontiers mark Founders Day; hear Dr. Allen, Mr. Crawford

The Baltimore Chapter, Frontiers of America, marked the 23rd anniversary of the founding of the national organization and the 17th anniversary of the local chapter on Sunday.

The Founder's Day program was held at the New Shiloh Baptist Church, and featured talks by the founder himself, Dr. Nimrod B. Allen of Columbus, Ohio; and the national president, Don L. Crawford, Dayton, Ohio.

Dr. Allen told the gathering that as leaders they must remember, you have a stewardship. If God gives us talent and opportunity, we are trustees of these talents which belong to the people. If we fail to use them as trustees, we're not using them for the purpose God intended them."

DR. ALLEN suggested that Frontiers should give more support to the civil rights fight, pointing out that "the NAACP is doing a tremendous job for America, and needs our help."

He added that Frontiers might work with the people to get them to give just a portion of the money they spend for liquor and cigarettes to the churches and the civil rights fight.

Mr. Crawford urged that if Frontiersmen would serve and lead, they must determine man's needs, master the skills and techniques to help him get what he needs, and believe in what he needs."

TO ACHIEVE what he termed this 'monumental goal' of the organization, Mr. Crawford suggested that: members

1. learn to fight and speak for the things you're for rather than just for the things you're against.

2. master the idea of transposing our mutual generosity and giving in a concerted effort

3. concern ourselves about how we grow, and interpret this for those who are young; Glorify the kind of things we want them to master.

MR. CRAWFORD added: "As leaders you must bear a responsibility that is greater than your fair share.

"Leaders of the people must always be in the minority and provide for the masses that which should be theirs in a land of freedom.

"As an organization and a group, it behooves us to grow in size and stature, knowledge and understanding, and serve our fellow man with humility and wisdom."

DR. BERNARD HARRIS SR., twice national president of the Frontiers, and now president of the Baltimore chapter, introduced Dr. Allen and Mr. Crawford.

Both speakers praised the Baltimore physician for his leadership, pointing out that Maryland now has 8 chapters, and has set the pace for other communities to follow.

They also praised the work of the late W. Emerson Brown Sr., who was national secretary for three years and one of the best Frontiersmen we had."

JAMES E. DENKINS chairman of the Founders Day Committee, presided.

Greetings were extended by Dr. G. James Fleming on behalf of Dr. Martin Jenkins, Morgan State College president; and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Phillips, on behalf of Dr. Carl Murphy, AFRO - AMERICAN president.

Music was by the Morgan College Octet. Invocation was by the Rev. Howard Cornish, director of the Morgan Christian Center. Benediction was by the Rev. J. Timothy Boddie, pastor of the host church.

AMONG out - of - towners here for the celebration were: representatives of the eight chapters located in other Maryland communities.

They included James Brown, Anne Arundel; Leonard Corbin, Hagerstown; William Shockely, Frederick.

William Hall, president, and Romey Keys and George Crawford, members of the Prince Georges chapter and W. D. White, Salisbury.

Mrs. M. Statesman

High Requiem Mass was said for Mrs. Martha Stateman, 63, 1325 Myrtle Ave., Thursday at St. Pius V Church, where she was a member of the Holy Name Society.

Mrs. Statesman died Monday at her home after a prolonged illness.

A native of Washington, she came to Baltimore 25 years ago after her husband, Andrew, died.

She lived with her sister, Mrs. Lucy Rice.

Other survivors include a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Spriggs of Washington; and two brothers, Philip Duvall of Prince Georges Co., and Joseph Duvall

Rites held for Mrs. R. Champlin

High Requiem Mass was said for Mrs. Rosia Champlin 55, 1324 Caroline ST., Thursday at St. Francis Xavier Church, where she was a lifetime member, and a member of the Holy Name Society.

Father William Moffett officiated. Burial was in Arbutus Memorial Park.

Mrs. Champlin died Sunday at St. Josephs Hospital after a three week illness

A NATIVE of Charles County, Md., she came to Baltimore in her teens.

On July 16, 1910, she married Chauncey Champlin, now a retired 37-year smelting company employee.

They had four daughters, Mesdames Geneva Brown, Dorris Woods, Hazel Custis and Dolores Jones.

And a son, Elwood Champlin.

Dear friends in the brotherhood of God, through the love of Jesus Christ and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit. We ask the aid and cooperation of all mothers in encouraging their children to attend regularly the Sunday school of their choice. We feel that early training in the teachings of Christ is an investment that will contribute greatly to the future happiness of both parent and child. It is up to the people of God, to begin such a movement. NOW. May the inspiration of the Holy Spirit bless the people of all races and go with us, in this endeavor. God's speed.

Come and Hear This Great Lecture
SUNDAY, APRIL 12, 1959 at Muhammad's Temple of Islam
at 1:30 P.M. — ENTITLED
"IS INTEGRATION THE ANSWER TO THE NEGROES PROBLEM?"
Over three hundred years of Chattel slavery and ninety some odd years of mental slavery should be enough evidence for the foulest type of mind to seek new avenue of escape to the good life
Africans were brought to the Americas and Europe to become part of the white man's material holdings. Our names and numbers were toned on the same manifest with his pig, plow, horse and cow. Though it has been formally acknowledged that the members of the black Race are really human, we are most often treated inhuman and are forced to remain at the bottom rungs of society, so that we will not become capable of competing with those who are reaping the nectar from the horn of plenty. Why? because of our cheap labor, suffering and sadistic sacrifice from the foundation of this luxurious but decaying civilization. Our forefathers were ripped from the shores of Mother Africa to do the diabolical biddings of the slave master. Our people can be found throughout the world suffering under the heels of white supremacy! Last hired, first fired because it was and is not intended for the Black Man to become beneficiary to any part of the white man's legacy of luxury and comfort, though acquired by the sweat, blood and lives yielded by Black Men.
How long will our educated people and religious leaders beg the slave master for that which every other nation struggles to build for themselves
I think that it is high time for the so-called Negroes of America to stop fighting among themselves, arguing over religion that the slave master gave them; going further after they die than they can go while they are alive. We should look down to Mother Earth from whence we came and unite with the true Brotherhood of Islam and enjoy what God has given every man life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and let the hereafter take care of the hereafter, hereafter
So be our guest, to hear this great lecture. Guest speaker will be
DR. ISAIAH KARRIEM

THINKING OUT LOUD

Flying saucers, propaganda, the Cold War and world peace

By RALPH MATTHEWS

WASHINGTON

IT WAS RATHER late for the phone to be ringing and I was therefore not surprised when an excited voice inquired, "Are you still up?"

The voice, excitement and all, belonged to my old friend Evelyn Chisley, extending me an urgent invitation to dash out in my backyard and take a look at the sky. He was certain he had just seen some flying saucers or some other unidentified flying objects streaking across the heavens and he couldn't quite trust his own eyes.

"I was out on my back porch," he explained, "and happened to look up and suddenly this strange phenomena appeared. At first I thought it was just a plane, but the saucers seemed to be different. See what you can make of it."

I DID NOT tell him then, but he had selected the worst possible witness I can make out pretty good on anything reduced to print that I can hold directly under my nose, but objets more than six feet away throw me for a loop.

The municipal authorities have taken full cognizance of this physical imperfection and have printed instructions in bold letters on my driving permit advising their guardians of the law to take me into protective custody if ever they detect me being heavy in motion without my specs. While I have not been given a definite number as a public enemy and my portrait, fore and aft, is not on display in the post office's rogues gallery, I assume that I am considered some kind of a menace to society when armed with an accelerator, unadorned by my bifocals.

I CITE this fact merely to explain that my failure to rush out into the night to substantiate Friend Chisley's report was not due to skepticism nor lack of faith in his veracity, but merely because even if I had seen them, no competent jury would take my word for it.

In spite of his own eyes, even Chisley was a little wary about what he had actually seen and refused to commit himself on the matter of space ships. "You know what I think?" he asked. "I'll bet the Russians are back of this and they have perfected some fantastic missiles which we are unable to stop or intercept."

That was the first indication I had that even my dear friend, whose intelligence I respect, had succumbed to the "blame it on Russia virus," which has dominated American thinking to the point of national paralysis during the past 10 years.

THIS DISEASE has been growing apace ever since that wily old a c h e m e r, Winston Churchill, delivered his famous speech at Fulton, Mo., during a wedge between the U.S. and Russia, officially opening the cold war.

If you think back a little to the war year, you will recall that in all intent and purpose the Soviets were accepted as pretty decent people who were in there pitching valiantly helping us to conquer Hitler which they accomplished to the surprise of the world, with Hitler probably the most surprised of all.

WE SHOWED smiling photographs of the victorious allies shaking hands across the Elbe, beautiful poses of Mesdames Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin and others beaming sweetness and light and brotherly love, looked like we were all one big happy family, dedicated to eternal peace.

But what happened? As soon as Franklin D. Roosevelt died, Churchill, like a slick city cousin, took advantage of the provincialism of Harry Truman, who was a fine gentleman, but a country bumpkin in the field of world diplomacy. FDR, who had some tricky English blood flowing through his own veins, coupled with formal training in the motherland, would not have fallen into this trap, because he was not overawed by a clipped Oxford accent.

But Harry, coming as he did from Missouri, working his way up through the precincts of St. Louis and Kansas City, was an easy prey for the blandishments of a "Lord of the realm."

NOW WHY was the cold war started? It was started because Churchill, who had announced that he would never preside over the liquidation of the British Empire, saw that if two powerful nations like America and Russia became too chummy the word "Great" would soon be dropped from the name Great Britain.

With America and Russia dominating the East and the West, England would be squeezed in a power vise which would reduce her to a second or third rate power. Churchill could not let this happen.

Both Russia and America, with their great land masses, are self sustaining within their own borders as far as the basic necessities of life are concerned, but England, growing little on her rugged shores, must send her ships to loot the rest of the world in order to survive.

This has made them both unscrupulous and born of wily and in the field of international intrigue to the point where the most illiterate cockney in the hold of a tramp steamer is a shrewder diplomat than the Harvard trained Babbits who guide our ship of state.

So Churchill planted the seeds of suspicion between America and Russia, and has been fanning the fires of dissension on both sides ever since. Our diplomats are too blind and too naive to either see through it or extricate themselves from this sorry and dangerous predicament.

WHILE CONSTANTLY warning us to keep our eyes on the other fellow, the British are picking our pockets in world trade and if we aren't unusually alert they just might pread America and Russia into mutual annihilation so they can feast on the carcasses.

It is just this type of mutual suspicion, generated day after day and rammed down our throats by our own frightened press, that makes it possible for an intelligent man like Evelyn Chisley to look at a light flashing across the sky and imagine that the Russians are out to destroy us. What greater fears must be plaguing the souls of the dolts and morons within our midst who lap up propaganda like a hog eats slop never realizing that they are being fattened for the slaughterhouse.
