POT - POURRI: In our lovely boudoir department . . . here the ink was dry on her petition for divorce, the Herbert Wilsons (Catherine McMechen) had kissed and made up . . . so much to the joy of their friends.

Gazing tenderly in each other's eyes these days are James T. Dorsey (he's the filling station owner) and charming Norma Dillard, of the Morgan College faculty. They were in towsome at the Me-De-So cotillion . . . again at the Pitch and Putt Club's "Nineteenth Hole" party.

And folks (to say nothing of close friends who also they are in the know) are saying that Dr. Regina Goff of Morgan faculty and Josiah F. Henry, attorney, were wed in St. Louis Mo. two weeks back . . . that they are headed for an announcement and a Hawaiian honeymoon.

But there's no kissing in the cabin of the R. Hayes Strikers (he's in the music department at Morgan). He and his Marian have decided to make their separation a legal severing.

Johnnie Mae Dorsey, R. N. and George P. Andrews, both of the town's youngest set, exchanged vows Tuesday night. Lester Norris Sr. who floated all of the ice and snow the long winter through, slipped on the slight slush of Sunday's thaw and broke a leg.

Too, in with a broken ankle is Mrs. Charles E. (Mouse) Dorsey . . . suffering the special inconvenience of being incapacitated at the time of moving into their new Elgin Avenue home.

Out of Provident Hospital and back at her Pitcher Avenue home (R.F.D. 3, Box 141, Bay Highland, Annapolis, Md.) is Mrs. Margaret Hubbard of Barrett School staff who is well on the road to recovery.
