Anne Arundel County NAACP opens drive for 1,500 members—community support is urged; Annapolis Federation of Republican Women entertained at Harwood; County teachers hold their first meeting of new school year; First Baptist Church gives program for teachers; Crownsville needs volunteer workers.

Plans are now underway for a county - wide membership drive of our Anne Arundel County Branch of the NAACP.

With a goal of 1500 members, the kick-off meeting will be held on Monday Oct. 19 at the Northwest St. YMCA at 8 o'clock.

This kick-off meeting will be unique, in that all ministers in the county have been invited as special guests. Music will be furnished by the Friendly Chorus and a coffee hour to honor the ministers will follow the business session and program.

The drive, which culminates Nov. 15, is expected to bring greater returns than ever, and all citizens throughout the county are urged to support their branch by giving their memberships to the various workers in their respective communities.

The branch not only must support the national program, but must function in its own locale for betterment of conditions for its citizens, whom it must depend upon for support.

* * *

THEREFORE THE drive is expected to serve as a stimulus to reach citizens to renew or secure membership and afterwards to attend the meetings and work together for a strong er chapter.

There is much to be done and the entire citizenry must work together for success.

The story of the NAACP is a story of progress in American civilization. The NAACP began in 1909 when 53 Americans with a fierce devotion to democracy and humane race relations banded together in an attempt to right some of the shocking wrong being inflicted upon a group of fellow citizens.

Since that time, the association has expanded steadily as Americans increasingly have joined this force striving for racial justice. The NAACP has won victory after victory, accomplishing the seemingly impossible in its unflinching struggle against race hate, bigotry and violence.

The association concerns itself with unfair practices in employment, the abolishing of lynchings, voting privileges of the group in the South, the end of segregation in education the end of military Jim Crow the ghetto patterns in housing unfair travel practices the end of segregation in recreation and public accommodation and equal treatment in the courts.

* * *

DR. THEODORE Johnson, the new president of the local chapter, made this statement:

"To us the NAACP is our strongest force in organized effort for security in human rights and constitutional privileges, and in unity there is strength.

"Let us support this great militant force along with others, so that our future is true liberty for all. Read your newspapers and see what great strides are being made by the NAACP in other communities because of this mutual 'pushing of the shoulder to the wheel.'"

Workers in the drive for the various communities are as follows:

Eddie Mitchell, downtown area of Annapolis; Mrs. Harriet Hull, Galesville; Mrs. Gertrude Gross and Mrs. Freda Magruder, Lothian; Mrs. Catherine Tongue, Cumberstone; Mr. Zelep and Mrs. Gladys Hashmi, Friendship; Upton Thomas and Guy Thomas, Brown's Woods (Annapolis); Johnson Glenn and Rev. Thomas Collins, Town Neck;

Also Mrs. Henrietta Johnson, all of the Northern end of the county; Samuel Watts, Arnold; Clarence White, Severna Park; William H. Johnson and Ernest Brown, Spa Road (Annapolis); Mrs. Ethel Thompson, Eastport (Annapolis); Mrs. Verdell White Jones;

Also Dr. Johnson, Arundel on the Bay; Mrs. Lula Upchurch, beauty shops; L. McKinney, Washington Street (Annapolis); Roscoe Parker, Clay Street (Annapolis); Alphonse Addison, Best Gate and old part of College Creek Terrace (Annapolis).

MRS. JOSEPH HARDESTY, chairman for the membership campaign stated that workers will contact the various groups such as teachers in the public schools, clubs, sororities, fraternities and churches.

Bates Senior High, Adams Park School, Parole School and Bates Junior High will be covered by Dallas Pace, Mrs. Hardesty, Miss Marita Carroll and Mrs. Ethel Wilson respectively.

Mrs. Hardesty also stated that a speakers' bureau will contact ministers of the various churches for the privilege of alerting their congregations on the Sunday after the drive begins, and that letters will be sent to key leaders also.

Those working on her committee are Mrs. Lula Upchurch Mrs. Sarah Randall and Messrs Dallas Pace, Eddie Mitchell, Alphonse Addison and James Meedam.

Other elected officers of the branch are Mrs Henrietta Johnson, first vice-president; Mrs. Harriet Hull, second vice-president; Mrs. Ethel Thompson, secretary; Mrs. Beatrice Coates corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Ethel Wilson, treasurer.

THE ANNE ARUNDEL County Teachers Association held its initial meeting of the school year on Thursday evening at Adams Park School.

A highlight was an induction ceremony for new teachers in the county, conducted by Frank B. Butler, the dean of teachers of Anne Arundel County.

The group heard an excellent report on the highly successful Teachers Training Institute, held at Camp Lothian under the direction of Mrs. Omega Watkins, chairman, and members of her committee, Messrs James Jessie Anderson, Freda Magruder and Florence Gladden, Misses Lilyan Burrell and Novene Holt and Messrs. Everett Pettigrew and Henry Holland.

Institute participants were: Dorothy Murray, editor of The Maryland Teacher; Milson Raver, executive secretary of the Maryland State Teachers Association; Orville Berwick, field service representative; Elmer T. Hawkins, member at large of the Maryland State Teachers Association, and Dr. Percy Williams, principal of the Central Consolidated School at Bel Air.

* * *

MRS. HARRIET WAYMAN and Miss Marita Carroll attended the Institute of Maryland Public Affairs workshop at town State Teachers College in July. Mrs. Wayman and Miss Carroll and the president, Mr. Henry Holland, are now working in conjunction with the Teachers Association of Anne Arundel County to promote such a program in this county.

It was also reported by Mrs. Elizabeth Hodges, chairman of teacher welfare, that she and her committee are working on problems of teacher placement following maternity leave and the possible revision of sick leave procedures.

Miss Esther Hamilton and Everett Pettigrew served as resource consultants at the Leadership Training Institute at Camp Louise in September.

According to Mr. Butler, head of the association's Federal Credit Union, the union has started off with a "bang," and assets have jumped to a new high. It offers an opportunity to borrow, to save, and to invest.

Mr. Holland, who serves with the sponsoring group of the Anne Arundel County Scholarship Fund, Inc., reported that the fund has been functioning throughout the summer and expressed the feeling that the teacher group made a wise move in contributing to it.

Neighbors you have been so wonderful with your many cards, your get well wishes and your prayers during my illness. I am still confined to Provident Hospital but am getting along nicely.

I do need more blood donors and will appreciate it if you can spare just a little — thanks. I shall continue my column, so please get the news to me here at Provident.

Thanks to my good friends Marie Smallwood and Ida Petty I've been able to gather this week's news. It's so good to have loyal readers and good friends such as you and you.

I am most grateful to my editor, and friend Mrs. Bertie M. Phillips for appealing for blood donors through her column, "If You Ask Me." May God always bless her and her family.

THE REV. A. J. PAYNE, pastor of Enon Baptist Church, will be honored with a testimonial dinner on Sunday, Nov. 1.

His birthday is Nov. 22. He will be 65, a young 65, and will wear a tuxedo to the party.

His hobby is fishing and golf, says he's an occasional player, does 80 for nine holes.

He and Mrs. Odell Payne, a Douglass High co-ed heroine, have been married 38 years, She will wear something of high fashion, since she is always beautifully gowned.

* * *

THE REV. Mr. Payne's fondest wish at the dawn of his 65th birthday is to accomplish in his day and generation the things he has long worked for, to build a great church and to have life at its best.

He designed the beautiful new altar with the divided chancel recently installed at the Enon church.

The Rev. Mr. Payne is 5 feet, 6 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds wears size 8 ½ shoes, 14 ½ collar, size 36 suit, has one piece of jewelry, a 35-year-old ring, and a "gang" of ties, wears bow ties in the summer. He owns one set of golf clubs.

Says his fishing paraphernalia is getting shabby.

The minister's picture collection, from travels around the globe, numbers about 500 photos and he has a baracuda and a dolphin (fish) mounted on his den wall.

The Rev. Mr. Payne will vacation in Nassau in February.

MRS. ANNA MAE HUNTER, manager of the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind, is busy putting up curtains and draperies, laying down rugs for the winter.

The Gayetles club with Miss Anne Wallace, president, the Gospel Chorus of Union Baptist Church, the St. Johns Masonic Lodge, 1205 Eutaw Place, recently gave the Hunter Home for the Blind substantial contributions which help make the winter outlook there pretty glowing.

Bonnie Hunter, the Seeing Eye dog, is happy to be back home (she was lost three weeks ago) and is not spending as much time in the back yard as she used to.

Smart as a tack, Bonnie is not anxious to go through the experiences she recently had away from home.

Mrs. Esther Dinkins Lewis, 1602 Moreland Ave., will accompany Mrs. Hunter in her recitals this season.

Blind for many years, Mrs. Hunter has a beautiful voice, will sing spirituals, gospel numbers, love songs and folk selections on her many concert engagements which are now extend through November.

WILLIAM THOMPSON, public relations officer, Johns Hopkins Hospital, where the quads were born, states that he hopes the quads will be able to pay their way through if their funds now coming in are properly guided.

Kim, the first born girl of the Graves quartet, seems to be the most aggressive, Mr. Thompson says.
