Hurt Sings Swan Song In Classic Against W. Va.

BEAR LEADER — First string center and co-captain of the 1959 Morgan State College Bears is Ralph Chase, a senior from Washington's Springarn High. Chase is 5 feet, 9 inches, weighs 194 pounds.

Interstate rivals tied in series

WASHINGTON

If past performances can be counted as a factor, the 18th renewal of the Capital Classic, slated for tomorrow night (Saturday) at Griffith Stadium should be one of the most stubborn football contests in years.

The two gridiron rivals, Morgan State College of Baltimore and West Virginia State College of Institute, W. Va., have a long tradition of bullheadedness when facing each other on the gridiron.

In the past five years—with the exception of 1957 when Morgan romped 33-0—neither team has beaten the other by more than six points.

In 1954, Morgan won, 32-6, and the following year by 6-0. The West Virginians came back in 1956 to squeeze by, 21-20. In the contest last year, West Virginia again scored a squeaker, 8-6.

• • •

THE TWO schools will resume their stolid rivalry this year amid the uproar of some 10,000 onlookers at Griffith Stadium. Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

Morgan coach, Eddie Hurt, in his last year as builder of the Golden Bears, will be banking to a large degree on his 315-pound tackle, Herbert Alston.

Only a freshman, Alston has given up but few yards to the opposition from his left tackle position in Morgan's first three games this year.

West Virginia State's coach, Joe Burris, boasts of a well-rounded offensive punch, including two local players, Jack Craig and George Williams, both District high school products.

Other hometown lads on the Yellowjacket roster are Hubert Foley, David Baten and Vernon Hawkins. Morgan's lone Washington player is Center Ralph Chase.

• • •

BOTH SCHOOLS will enter the Classic on the brink of a slight resurgence after poor opening seasons.

Morgan, usually a strong CIAA contender, started off this year by losing two. But the Bears bounced back last Saturday here against Howard, scoring twice in the final quarter to win, 14-0.

West Virginia State had lost four in a row before shutting out Bluefield State on Saturday, 10-0.

In addition to vying for victory in the Classic, the two teams will also be out to break a won-lost tie between each other in competition dating back to 1945.

In 11 battles each has won five times. There was one draw.

Before 1954, the record was as follows:

West Virginia, 20-0, 1945; Morgan, 13-12, 1946; 6-6 deadlock, 1950; West Virginia, 20-13, 1951; West Virginia 12-0, 1952, and Morgan 13-0, 1953.

West Virginia has piled up 70 points against Morgan's 45.

As usual, a colorful street parade will precede the Classic and a half-time show featuring marching bands and the crowning of the Classic Queen will be held. Miss Jacqueline Boykin will reign as queen.

The Morgan Band, under direction of R. Hayes Stryder, will headline the half-time activities.

Parade route

The route of the Capital Classic parade scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday will be as follows:

Start at 9th and New Yrok Ave., NW., move north on 9th St. to S St., west on St St., to Vermont Ave., then north on Vermont Ave. past the reviewing stand at Vermont Ave. and U St., before disbanding at Vermont Ave. and Sherman Ave.

Fish Bowl to new stadium

PORTSMOUTH, Va.—For the first time in its 12 year history, the Shrine Fish Bowl football classic will be played this year in a new stadium.

The classic, this year pitting the Bears of Morgan State against the Pirates of Hampton Institute in a recognized CIAA tilt, will be played in mammoth Portsmouth Municipal Stadium in the heart of downtown Portsmouth, Va.

Date of the game is Saturday, November 14 and kickoff is set for 1 p.m.

Since its origin by Shrine Arabia Temple No. 12, a dozen years ago, the classic has traditionally been played at Norfolk, Va's Foreman's Field. The move to the Portsmouth site was prompted by fans' demands for a stadium closer to the heart of both Norfolk and Portsmouth in the thriving Virginia Tidewater area.

Horse Racing

ALL HEMMED IN — Earl Bowen, 200-pound, 6-foot-1 fullback of Morgan State College, was off on a short gain in the third period but soon all hemmed in by Howard University players. Here Arnold Johnson (20) tackles Bowen from the rear; Bernard Quarterman (81) moves in from the left, and Charlie Smith (15) and Leon Armour (35) wait to stop his forward progress. The Bisons checked the Bears for three quarters but wavered in the final period and lost to Morgan, 14-0, before 3,500 at the University Stadium, last Saturday.

Gilmor track team honored for record

A "Banquet - Social" was recently held at the Gilmor Recreation Center, 1515 Vincent Ct., honoring the championship Gilmor track team members and their parents.

The team, comprised of area boys and girls ranging from 11 to 18 years of age, walked off with two major track titles this past summer.

They edged the defending champion Baltimore Olympic Club in the 44th annual Municipal Games track and field meet.

The high-flying team garnered its second major championship in early July by capturing the annual Junior Olympic track meet sponsored by the Exchange Club of Baltimore.

In this meet, Carlene Ruffin of Gilmor,tied the intermediate 50 yd. dash time of 6.6 and Jackie Richburg, of Gilmor, equaled the midget 50 yd. dash standard of 7.4.

At the banquet the national anthem and singing grace were directed by Eugene Ward, staff recreation leader.

Miss Erma Holland, Senior Center Director, delivered the welcoming address.

Introduction of guest speakers was done by Robert Ferguson, Gilmor Homes manager, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Among the guest speakers Gerald H. Cooper, president of the Exchange Club of Baltimore; Theodore E. Brown, senior supervisor; C. C. Jackson Jr. N.W. District supervisor, and Fred B. Leidig, supervisor, Municipal Sports all of the Bureau of Recreation.

Also, on hand was Edward (Pickin) Waters, former Morgan CIAA sprint titlist.

• • •

REPRESENTING the Cross City Track Club was Judge Watkins, an adult volunteer who spent many hours of his own time helping to train the youngsters.

Unable to attend because of illness was Morgan track star Randolph Tate, a local young man who at one time ran for the center.

The track team roster included: Ora Yonar, Toni Briscoe, Jackie Richburg, Carlene Ruffin, Christina Ruffin, Deborah Rushton, Claudine Orange, Diane Kersey;

Marguerite Fatherly, Juanita Hudson, Paula Tyler, Carolyn Deal, Johnna Drummond, Deborah Cockrell, Francie Orange,Linda Thomas, Gregory Tyler, Robby Bowman;

Louis Thomas, Thomas Walker, Twinnie Murphy, Anthony Richburg, Ronald Ramseur, Stanley Stevens, Ronald Wallflor, Walter Brown;

Kenneth Degroon, Jerome Degroon, Richard Morton, William McAfee, James Sands, Larry Brunson, Melvin Goodman, Clinton Fields, Joel Bratton, Cornell Allen;

• • •

AMONG the parents were Mesdames, Viola Bowman, Hattie Brown, Ethel Smith, Mildred Dean, Pamela Tyler, Irene Stevens, Leona Cockrell, Sarah Ruffin, Mary McAfee, Dennis Murphy, Mary Thomas, Walter Byrd, Pauline Lee, Arlena Drummond, and Faulette Richardson.

The Medgar Evers junior football team served as ushers. They included: Bryant Johnson, Charles Hewett, Charlie Wilson, Archie Hill, Tommy Brown, Vernon Stevens, Pramm Tyler, Charlie Dare, Teddy Lee, and Henry Mells.

Representing the Gilmor Young Adults Club as cafeteria helps in the kitchen were: Mrs. Bertha Alexander, Mrs. Adelaide Walker, and Mrs. Alice Chairmore.

Mrs. Ivy Harris, Gilmor management aide, was on hand as was the center staff which includes Mrs. Dorothy Watkins, Eugene Ward and Walter R. Carr Jr., recreation leaders.

Bullets get old nemesis, Bill Spivey

BALTIMORE

Bill Spivey, greatest scorer in Eastern Basketball League history, was obtained by the Baltimore Bullets from the Wilkes-Barre Barons Thursday in exchange for cash and Al Cooper, Baltimore's No. 2 draft choice from Connecticut.

No terms were announced but a league official revealed it was a "record payment and well over anything ever paid before in the league. It would be comparable to a six-figure deal in the National Basketball Association. It was too much for the Barons to turn down."

The seven-foot Spivey, who sparked the Barons to two successive playoff titles after coming off the harmstorming trail, averaged 35.9 points per game during 1958-59, finishing with 1,004 points in 28 games, a new total record for the league, and in his last start of the season — against Baltimore—scored 64 points to establish an all-time professional one game mark.

Pick Baltimorean for Laurel entry

LAUREL, Md. — Henry S. Clark, native Marylander who trains for the well-known Christiana and Mooring Stables, has been chosen by Col. C. J. Tippett of Lima, Peru, to condition his Lightning in the $100,000 Washington, D.C., International horse race on November 11.

Tippett accepted the invitation from Laurel president John D. Schapiro to race his five-year-old star in the Mile-and-a-half turf classic.

Clark, from Glyndon, just out side of Baltimore, is president of the American Trainer's Association. He is the developer of the Mooring Stable's Tempted and the Christiana Stable's Endine, outstanding filly performers of the past two seasons.

SETUP FOR A SETBACK — Dick Westmoreland, freshman halfback star, blasts around right end to give A. and T. College an 18-yard gain and set up the first of two touchdowns as the Aggies set back Maryland State College, 13-0, at Greensboro. Defeat was first of the season for Hawks. Maryland's Hal Gray (64) and Dan Miller (39) pursue fleeing Aggie. Aggie Lloyd Oaklen (47) tries vainly to outrace Gray to protect his teammate.

Resurgent Pack's threat to Colts

In avenging their only loss of the season by beating the Chicago Bears, 21-7, last Sunday, their record to three wins and one defeat and moved into a Western Conference deadlock with the San Francisco 49ers and this week's opponent, the Green Bay Packers.

Coach Vince Lombardi and his revitalized Green Bay squad Sunday, with the kickoff slated for 2:05 p.m.

• • •

WHILE THE defending champion Colts may be lagging behind their 1958 offensive pace they can show an improvement where defensive statistics are concerned.

In ground gaining the Hosses are 275 yards back of their rushing and passing output of 1,693 yards of a year ago. In scoring the Colts are 49 points shy of last fall's 143-point total.

• • •

AT THE same time, however, coach Weeb Ewbank's forces have cut the opposition from 84 to 66 points. While the Baltimore line has been as unyielding as ever, it has been the secondary defense that's grabbed most of the glory.

In the win over the Bears the Colts' anti - aerial corps clutched five Chicago passes, stalling the Bruins' attack and setting up a touchdown of their own. The Hosses thus hiked their season's interception count to 15, two ahead of their 1958 gaint.

• • •

ANDY NELSON, who tied teammate Ray Brown for third place in the league with eight thefts last season, and Milt Davis lead Baltimore's burglar brigade with four apiece, followed by Brown's three.

Each of the trio managed to swipe a Bear toss and linebacker Don Shinnick added a pair.

Frosh quarterback lifts Bear hopes in Classic

"They've got a real good team and we expect a real tough game."

That's the way Morgan State College Coach Eddie Hurt sized up the Capital Classic clash between his Bears and West Virginia State College tomorrow (Saturday) night in D.C.'s Griffith Stadium.

For Morgan the game will be their twelfth with West Virginia State and a non-conference clash, with the Bears seeking their second win of the season.

HURT WOULDN'T say definitely, but he indicated that Carmie Pompey, freshman from Douglass High here may go in as starting quarterback, replacing Sam Prier.

Even if he doesn't start Pompey, who sparked the Bears in the last quarter of their 14-0 win against Howard University last week, is scheduled to see plenty of action.

HURT SAID Prier has been developing all the time, but Pompey showed he could move the team "when we're twenty yards from a touchdown."

"That's been our trouble all season. We've moved the ball and we've moved down field in every game we've played. We haven't been able to get over for the touchdown."

Carl Hite and Carl Smith, who went in the starting line-up in the tackle posts last week, will be back in starting posts this Saturday, Hurt says. Smith has a slight finger injury, but the coaches are hoping he'll be in good shape.
