Mother of five held in homicide

"She said she shot him because he was going to take her baby."

That was part of the brief testimony Patrolman William Raivel gave in Central Homicide Court Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Bernice Davis was charged with the murder of John Calvin Parham, 36.

The 31 - year-old mother of a five-month-old child entered a not guilty plea and was held for action of the grand jury without bail.

Mrs. Davis did not testify before Chief Magistrate Joseph Kolodny.

She attended the preliminary hearing accompanied by a policewoman. The court was told that her children were being cared for by relatives. Patrolman Raivel testified to the following:

"WE WENT TO 130 N. Aisquith St., at 6:48 p.m. on September 30 and found a man lying unconscious in front of 130.

"We inquired about what had happened and Mrs. Davis spoke up and said, 'I shot him.'

"An ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital where he died from a gunshot wound of the chest. Mrs. Davis took us to a second-floor apartment and showed us a .22 caliber rifle.

Patrolman Raivel added that Mrs. Davis signed a statement in connection with the slaying. The statement was not read in court.

GOOD NEIGHBOR of the week:

Our good neighbor of the week is Miss Maxine Laster, a head nurse at Provident.

A native of North Carolina, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Laster and at 23 years of age she is the youngest of five children.

She has been a lifelong member of Liberty Chapel Congregational Christian Church in her home town.

In addition to being a Sunday school teacher, she was president of the Young People's Fellowship, usher-board member, secretary of the Sunday school and a member of the Junior Choir.

Miss Laster is a 1954 graduate of Horton High School, Pittsboro, N.C.

While a student in high school, she played on the basketball team and was an active member of the Excelsior Club, Dramatic Club and the Jolly Ecker Club.

She also drove the school bus.

After graduation she entered Kate Bitting Reynolds School of Nursing, Winston-Salem, N.C.

During her training she played on the basketball team, sang on the Glee Club and was treasurer of her class.

Miss Laster affiliated in psychiatry at Crownsville and was graduated in 1957.

From there she joined the Nursing staff of Provident.

Miss Laster says that she owes her schooling to her beloved parents for their understanding and sacrifice.

We salute her as our good neighbor.

A RITTING sequel to the fabulous Flower and Garden Show of the Cooperative Women's Civic League recently was the Flower and Garden Show of the Cherry Hill School No. 160 PTA. Under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Lichton, president, and Mrs. Jennie Butler, chairman of the show the gymnasium of the school was transformed into a garden in which parents and children shared alike in the exhibits.

Judges for the show were members of the Civic League Committee, Mrs. Ethel Harris and Mrs. Henrietta Holliman, co-chairmen, and Mrs. Vivian Cook, president of the League. Parents were also treated to musical selections by the school orchestra and soloists.

A coalition meeting of the Northeastern Community Improvement Associations including Cold Spring Lane, Kenilworth, Kimberleigh, Radnor, Wilson Park and Wrenwood was held Tuesday at the Guilford Elementary School, corner of York Rd. and Old Spring Lane, to hear city councilmen from the Third District and Urban League speakers discuss police protection, recreation, sanitation, taxation and traffic problems.

Two held in robbery seen by policemen

"Your honor about 9:15 Saturday evening, we noticed a man being assaulted a quarter of a block from our car . . . We saw four men run from the place when we approached."

This eyewitness testimony by Sgt. James H. Butler, Detective Bureau, resulted in bail of $1,500 being set in Western Police Court Wednesday for Edward Jennings, 21, 1700 block Walbrook Ave., on a robbery charge.

He is accused of being one of four persons who robbed Elzy Jones, 1700 block W. North Ave., on October 17.

On Tuesday, Edward Louis McClain, 19, 1700 block Ashburton St., was placed under $1,500 bail for grand jury action on the same charge.

Sgt. Butler, who was accompanied by Officers James Wilkins and John Carney at the time, said the other two who attacked Mr. Corry are juveniles and have been handed over to juvenile authorities.

Attack on officer brings six months

"Where is Helen?"

Philip Cromwell, 34, of the 700 block E. Preston St. did not have the answer to that question when he was asked about a missing witness in Central Police Court Wednesday afternoon.

It made little difference after Mr. Cromwell was found guilty of assaulting an officer and was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct.

Miss Sheila Casey, 18, 200 block E. Lafayette Ave., was charged with disorderly conduct in connection with the case, and was fined $25 and costs.

THE QUESTION of where the woman identified as "Helen Johnson" could be found was asked by Chief Magistrate Joseph Kolodny.

At the beginning of a 25 minute hearing, Cromwell testified that a walking cane that was used to strike Patrolman William Scott of the Central District had been in the hands of Helen.

Testimony was also given that after Patrolman Scott was attacked on October 11 Helen vanished and has never been found. According to the officer this is what transpired:

as Arthur Patterson. They were "I stopped them and said, "I was in the 400 block of E. Lafayette Ave., when I met two women and a man known "Quiet down or I'll lock you up."

"The man said, 'before you lock me up you will have to kill me.'"

"Cromwell and his brother came over and Phillip got into the argument I was having with the man.

"I went to grab Arthur and he started swinging and I started swinging.

"We struggled on the ground and he tried to take my gun. I had a good chance to shoot him but I didn't see any use in killing him.

"While were were on the ground I heard Phillip holler, "Kill the—I recognized his voice. He and Helen and this young lady (Miss Casey) were all around me and I was beaten about both legs with a cane.

"When a crowd gathered they all ran. I chased the boy but he got away. I never chased Phillip because I knew where to find him.

"When I asked Sheila where I could find Helen she refused to cooperate" Officer Scott concluded.

When sentence was passed Cromwell asked to be sent to city jail. He told the court he wanted to be nearby so that his mother could visit him.

Housing projects criticized

"The Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency has a staff of trained individuals, who are able to assure that the appropriate social services, which are available in the community, are offered to families needing this kind of assistance.

"This may not be the complete answer, and we are constantly searching for a more complete method of achieving our goals and objectives."

Edgar Ewing, assistant director for renewal operations, Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency, was speaking Thursday, commenting on a criticism that public housing management has produced little attention to the tenants, as human beings.

The criticism was made by Mrs. Agnes Meyer, author and lecturer on social problems during a meeting this week of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment officials in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Meyer charged that public housing projects are "more like prisons than human habitations," and are operated in a "heartless, artificial atmosphere."

Mr. Ewing, third in command at his agency, told the AFRO:

"MRS. MEYER was talking about the same thing we have been concerned with here for years.

"A public housing agency, to do its job, must be concerned with the lives of people themselves, as well as the physical aspects of a housing project.

"We have got to find a way to assist these families with their social problems to a far greater extent than has been true in the past."

Mr. Ewing continued with these observations:

"WE MUST assure that families receive the kind of benefits which the community is able to provide.

"The end, in view of this whole program, is to insure, in so far as possible, that families can profit from their experiences of living in public housing, and contribute substantially to the social fibre of the nation.

"This agency (BURHA) is also concerned with the same philosophy in urban renewal areas, as the same things happening in public housing."

Hounshell, charged with murder, assault

The grand jury took action Tuesday charging Harold Hounshell, 22, 1600 block E. Oliver St., with the Sept. 27 murder of Mrs. Delores Chambers and with assaulting three officers on Oct. 14.

Mrs. Chambers, 22, mother of two small sons, was found dead on an E. North Ave. parking lot. She lived at 1406 N. Eden St.

Last week, an attorney for the Bethlehem Steel custodial worker, appealed to the Supreme Bench for an order to deliver Hounshell before the court, charging that he has been beaten by police in the course of questioning.

When the court denied the order, Saul Harris, State's attorney, indicated his office would investigate the charges Hounshell made.

ACCORDING TO one source Hounshell became unruly in the custody of officers and police force was necessary to subdue him.

It was also said Hounshell attempted to jump from an upper window at Central Police Station.

Hounshell is charged with assaulting Lt. George Schnabel of Northeastern District, Det. Sgt. Anton Glover and Det. Clarence Roy of Dective Headquarters.

The officers said Hounshell attacked them and kicked one of them in the groin.

Trial has not yet been scheduled.

50 cent cab ride worth 630 days

"She fought like a wildcat."

"For 50 cents she wanted to be admiral of the ship."

Those comments were heard around the Northeastern District Station house Sunday after Miss Patricia Ann Nelson, 17, 1200 block Chatham St., and Albert E. Hawkins, 26, 2600 block Worsley St., were sentenced to a total of 630 days in jail.

They were given a hearing before Magistrate Jerome A. Dashner after they became involved in a dispute with a taxi driver at North Ave., and Hope St. Saturday.

Police said Miss Nelson and Mr. Hawkins "started a brawl" when the cab driver, Ralph Hancock of the 2500 block W. Fayette St., refused to take them to a second destination after their money ran out.

TESTIMONY WAS given that the couple had run up a 30 cent fare before policemen from the Northeastern and Northern Districts were called, and that a result of that development, three officers and the cab driver were assaulted.

Magistrate Dashner gave Miss Nelson four 90 days sentences and two 60 days sentences, all to run consecutively.

Charges against Miss Nelson involved disorderly conduct in the station house, spitting on Mr. Hancock, grabbing and spitting on Patrolman Edward V. Walter, grabbing and
