Book Week observed at county schools; Bates Senior High School marks United Nations Day; Support urged for NAACP membership drive; Mt. Olive AME Church climaxes 50th anniversary celebration

Last week was observed as Book Week, a week set aside each November to promote the interest of young people in reading good books.

The Children's Council of the American Library Association especially is sponsor of this celebration in the public libraries all over the country. Also schools observe Book Week, a time teachers and the PTA's launch an effort to stimulate the interest of children.

Mrs. William H. Richardson, children's librarian of the Anne Arundel County Library, main branch, made the book talk at Bates Senior High School last week.

Emphasizing the art of getting real joy and benefit from reading she gave a demonstration, using several students to make this possible. She was introduced by Linda Hicks.

* * *

MR. HARRIET WAYMAN, librarian, who planned the program, made an observation, in that she stated the book week observance tends to influence and increase the number of books read at Bates by students per the school year.

Music was given by a male ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Gibbs. The Salute to the Flag was led by Joan Lawson. Darlene Smith was in charge of the program. Laura Woods offered a special prayer.

Adams Park Elementary School presented a children's author, Mrs. Katherine Jones Carter, to its pupils during the national week.

Mrs. Carter is the author of the popular children's book, "Johnny of Johnnycake," the True Book of "Oceans," the True Book of "Houses," and her newest title, "Willie Waddie." She was introduced by Francis Noel, the school principal.

Mrs. Carter told of her experience in writing and how books are prepared for publication with demonstrations.

OSCAR KIDD, sixth grade pupil, gave the following review on "Johnny of Johnny-cake."

"It was the year, 1790 and Johnny lives with his mother and sister and dog on a farm near Baltimore. The dog's name was 'Bones.'

"Johnny's father was away from home most of the time for he was a journey shoemaker. Somehow, however, the family managed never to go hungry.

"Johnny liked to whittle toys. He was given his dog in exchange for some toys he made. His mother did not know how they could feed the dog, but Johnny found a way. He got a job at an inn and was paid with scraps of food, which he threw out by the back door.

"One day, while working at the inn a famous man Charles Carroll of Carrollton, came to the inn. He was attracted to the boy, so he asked him to visit his plantation. Johnny was there just in time to see his father make a pair of shoes.

"Soon after that his father was stationed at home by Mr. Carroll. Mr. Carroll was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. After his father could stay home Johnny, his mother, sister and dog Bones and his father lived happily ever after."

WHEN BATES SENIOR High School observed United Nations Day, the guest speaker was Dr. L. V. Keller, professor of Russian at the U.S. Naval Academy.

The program, sponsored by the United Nations Youth Chapter of Bates, with James Winters as adviser, featured a comparison of the League of Nations and the United Nations, when Patricia Carroll and Estelle Owens spoke on the effects of Hitler as a menace to mankind.

In introducing the program, Marjorie Lewis emphasized the value of better relationships among all mankind, and the reasons for observing United Nations Day were given by Brenda Dansiey.

The endeavors of the United States to secure peace in the world was interestingly related by Eva Carter, assistant secretary of Bates Student Council.

Carol Pulley, "Miss Homecoming," offered a special prayer and Lois Sharps led the flag salute. Pearl Brown presided.

The school also observed Poetry Day in honor of three outstanding Maryland poets, Francis Scott Key, Maria B. Crocker and James R. Randall. A special tribute was paid to Maria Crocker, living poet laureate.

Original poems were contributed from the student body by Brenda Brown, Patricia Carroll, James Goodwyn, Cassie Hawkins, Cecelia Kane, Lorenza Trotter, Mary Hutherson, Deborah Dyson, Joan Crawford and Patricia Randall.

THE AREA KICK-off meeting for the membership drive of the Anne Arundel County Branch NAACP at Galesville with its chairman, Mrs. Harriet Hull, was held on Monday night at the Community Center. Dr. Theodore Johnson, branch president, made an interesting talk and urged the community to respond to the drive, pointing out that the organization is fighting for first class citizenship of the group.

Board members from Annapolis who attended the meeting were:

Mrs. Lulu Hardesty, general chairman for the drive; Mrs. Ethel J. Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. Beatrice Coates, corresponding secretary; Dr. Samuel Callahan, co-chairman for life memberships; Ernest Brown, campaign worker; Milton Haskins, chairman of registration and voting.

The Galesville group topped off the end of the meeting with refreshments. The campaign ends the last Sunday in November.

All members are urged to attend the board meeting on Monday evening at 8:30 to make partial reports.

SUNDAY WILL be a significant day for the membership of the Mt. Olive AME Church in the Parole area of Annapolis.

Two services will round out the observance of the 50th anniversary of the church with the pastor, the Rev. J.W. Duckette, as the morning speaker. At 3:30 p.m., the Rev. I. M. Gray, pastor of the St. John AME Church at Baltimore will deliver the sermon. He will be W. E. Hill, secretary and chairman of the church board, accompanied to Annapolis by members of his congregation and his choir.

Mrs. Georgianna Boston is chairman on arrangements and Mrs. Adelle Brooks is in charge of the program.

The church was organized in 1909, at which time the site for the building, known as "on the Hill," was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hoscluth. The church then became known as Mt. Olive AME Church, taken from the name of the Mount of Olives.

Among former pastors were the Revs. E. N. Thomas, J. W. Armstrong, S. P. Turner, L. T. Herring, M. L. Stewart, C. E. Brown, A. E. Allen and Joseph Grant.

J. W. Chambers Sr., a member of the trustee board at the present time, is a known surviving charter member. Among other members of long standing are Mrs. Mary Carter, mother of the organist of the church and Mrs. Mary Herndon, who has served as organist for over 40 years, and Mrs. Clara Smith.

J. A. Makell Sr. is superintendent of the Sunday School.

LOVERS OF THE finer arts were given a most stimulating and cultural opportunity for an enjoyable evening recently when the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Beta Chapter, presented Goeffrey Holder, sensational dancer of Port-au-Spain, Trinidad with his group and guest artist, Shrimathi Gina, dancer, at Lisner Auditorium in Washington on Monday evening.

From the first scene on through the entire program, one was entertained and held spellbound as these two interpretive dances combined their antics and movements of their bodies, displaying great talent in the classical art of dancing.

Goeffrey surprised his audience when he came on with a group of folk songs, old family numbers mostly of this country, which included the spiritual, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I See," proving his versatility.

His guest artist, Shrimathi, displayed delightful movements and exquisite pantomimes, done to stirring rhythms, in her interpretations of the dance art of India.

"Talking Drums" a pantomime of a husband - wife altercation, was truly entertaining and brought forth much application for the Congo drum in art, done by Alex Crambreien and Michael Alexander.

The Charles Waymans and the William H. Richardsons were guests of the Smalls (Dr. Horace and Dr. Bessie) at Dinton on Sunday, when the Smalls entertained members of the Delmarva and Maryland State Medical Associations.

"Our fathers fought for liberty, They struggled long and well, History of their deeds can tell—

But did they leave us free? Our fathers fought for liberty, they struggled long and well, History of their deeds can tell —

But ourselves must set us free."

(2 verses from J. R. Lowell's "Our Fathers Fought for Liberty")

The world well knows that freedom cannot be won once and for all. We fight to get freedom then fight to keep it. How many times have we Americans as a nation "fought for liberty"?

Nov. 11, was Veterans Day. The nation honored its fallen heroes, the servicemen who gave up their lives that we may enjoy that which they, for eternity will be forever deprived . . . life.

These rights which others fought and died to preserve for us should be counted among our most cherished possessions. One right that is taken too carelessly, it is the right to a free public school education.

The youthful citizens of today who fail to take advantage of their educational opportunities will be the very ones upon whose shoulders the weight of national and world problems will fall tomorrow.

If they aren't prepared to cope with the situation, can't think wisely, speak their thoughts well, or possess "free will" woe be unto the world.

IT SEEMS that there is some message to be gotten from the fact that Veteran's Day was observed during American Education Week.

One does not only fight to prevent his being enslaved physically. Man also fights to overcome mental enslavement, prejudice and negative attitudes.

Good teachers, well equipped schools and interested parents are the backbone of our American Education system. Do you can way of life. The theme for American Education week was Praise and Appreise Your Schools. Did you visit your child's school?

Bannister Elementary and Jr. High School was well visited during American Education Week. Interested parents came, visited classes, ate in the cafeteria and talked to their children's teachers.

The PTA Wednesday night was very well attended. After the program and business session, parent - teacher conferences were held in various classrooms.

While the conferences were being held refreshments were served by members of the school's Host and Hostess Club, sponsored by Mrs. Lula Mills.

A printed newsletter was also sent to each parent. The purpose of the Bannister newsletter is to inform parents of outstanding or interesting instructional happenings in the school and to encourage a closer relationship between the school and the community.

David S. Driver is principal of Bannister Elementary Junior High school.

THINKING AROUND THE COUNTY

TOWSON

Proud is not the adjective that will do justice to the way parents and friends felt while watching the recent performance of Misses Barbara Ware, Joyce Van Brackle and Shirley Smith at Mt. Calvary AME Church.

The three artists were presented by Mrs. Valerie Britton, Mrs. Catherine Berry and Miss Iona A. Smith.

The recital featured Miss Barbara Ware, a student of Peabody Institute. Miss Ware was poised beyond her years and possessed a refined command of her material.

MISS WARE was lovely in her street length gown of pale blue her matching slippers complimented her gown perfectly.

As Miss Ware graciously accepted her corsage of baby pink rosebuds from the members of the Recital Committee, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, 441 Schwartz exchanged radiant smiles.

They had good reason to be happy. In the audience was Barbara's voice instructor from Peabody, Mrs. Nila Wright. (Incidently Mrs. Wright was placed with Barbara's performance.)

Classes will be held in the gymnasium at the Harvey Johnson Junior High School. A professional teacher will be in charge.

Mrs. E. Britto

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Eunice Britto, 1361 Ward St., St. the wife of Mike Britto, yesterday (Thursday) at Wayman AME Church.

She died after being hospitalized for eight months.

A native of Anne Arundel County, Mrs. Britto had lived in Baltimore for the last 30 years.

As an active member of the Wayman Church, she belonged to the Trustee's Aide and the church choir.

Survivors include her husband; three sisters, Mrs. Harry, Mrs. Bernice White, and Mrs. Minnie Hudson; a foster son, Alvin Turner; and a grandson, Leon White.

Rev. T. B. McQueen, pastor.

THE PTA of Mt. Winans School will present Ann Mercer's Junior Theatre in a live production of Pinocchio with a cast of 50 children on the school auditorium, 2401 Harman Ave. on Friday, Nov. 20, at 7:45 p.m.

Mrs. Mary Wise, president of the PTA; Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace, chairman; Mrs. Alice S. Hazzard, principal.

The Red Rose Bud Club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Lillian Forker, 421 S. Fremont Ave. on Tuesday. Plans were discussed for their Christmas Party to be held on Dec. 14. Charles Rice, is president.

Congratulations to Mt. Winans' own C. Donald Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Parker of 2421 Huron St., on his promotion to lieutenant in the Army.

A class in modern dancing will open Friday, November 13 under the auspices of the South Baltimore Playground.

Classes will be held in the gymnasium at the Harvey Johnson Junior High School. A professional teacher will be in charge.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Smith Sr., Lutherville.

Incidently, Miss Smith is a scholar too. She was the recipient of a four year scholarship from Towson High School.

Miss Joyce Van Brackle's piano selections also captivated the audience.

Miss Van Brackle, a student at Tow-on-Schools' High, lives in Lutherville. She is the daughter of Mrs. Edith Van Brackle, a very active member of Edgewood Methodist Church.

The recital was given for the benefit of the Mt. Calvary AME Church Woman's Day Mrs. Catherine Berry was chairman of the Woman's Day Committee.

Pastor of Mt. Calvary AME is the Rev. Richard P. Hill of 2629 McCulloh St.

IN AND OUT OF THE COUNTY

A well planned party of ladies was the Que-Ettes gathering at Kipps, Inc. on Liberty Alpha Wives in the beautiful home of Mrs. Morgan Clark in Harper Hall. (The decor you know is ultra, ultra).

There were no strangers at this affair. Members get acquainted games saw to that! Example: If you were an Egyptian (EHS, you had to find your partner. 21 naturally. At times you found yourself wondering, and to encourage, a clever relationship between the school and the community.
