Sigma Wives flash personal wardrobes

with Lula Jones Garrett

Sigma Wives, meeting at the beautifully redecorated home of Katherine O. Johnson, Saturday evening, breathed a satisfied sigh.

They, even they admitted, were pleased with the fashion show they had presented the week before.

And so were the guests they had invited to share with them, last afternoon of high style and the tea which followed.

The fashion show had been in the Thomas G. Pullen Gymnasium of Coppin Teachers College, and the first affair in the new building. The tea was in the Miles W. Connor Building.

The Sigma Wives showed numbers from their own wardrobes...with the exception of hats: Elise Hunt's elegant creations, and chapeaux from the Regina Shop...along with original costume jewelry by Lynde Jordon.

Novel, too, was the setting... a living room with the hostess being Reva R. Lewis, president of the organization, and her family.

Particularly fetching were the Sigma Wives' small fry in a galaxy of frocks from sports-wear, past time to party wear. And of course the ladies tipped the fashion scale from lounging to evening wear, from church to street clothes.

Other than Mrs. Lewie, officers of the fraternity auxiliary are:

Mesdames Thelma C. Moore, vice president; Violetta Lee, recording secretary; Mary Graves, corresponding secretary; Juanita Hill, financial secretary; Marguerite Wilkins, treasurer; Fannie Goodwin, chaplain; and Mrs. Johnson, publicity chairman.

Come the 25th, the ladies will be spotlighted again as they share host duties with their husbands when Zeta Sigma Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity holds their annual dance in the Richmond Market Armory.

"DON'T GET" hemmed in by local propaganda, nor stymied by provincial thinking" might well have been the theme of the Pierians Club's session, Friday evening.

The club's meeting was in the lovely confines of Mercedes Douglas' home on Mondawmin Ave.; speakers were stimulating Mrs. Virgil Cliff, who is a native of Bagdad, Iraq; and John McClain, native of Liberia, Africa.

From Mrs. Cliff, who incidentally, is teaching in a city school and doing lecture courses at Goucher and Morgan State College, here, came a deeper understanding of the Israeli-Zionist situation; From Mr. McClain, a student at Morgan, thinking of young Liberians, in addition to the instrumental numbers he gave. Mr. McClain is an accomplished pianist.

This cultural group (the Pierians) is composed of Jewel Mosley, Mrs. Douglas, Annetta Johnson, Lydia Mussenden, Mamie Todd, Carole Blanton, Verda Welcome, Gwendolyn Tarter, Hazel Fleming, Kay Carter, Olivia Dixon, Charlene Mebane and Edith Smith.

Missing from Friday's evening session, because of illness and being out of the city, etc. were Mrs. Mebane (considerably improved this week), Mrs. Carter, and Mrs. Welcome, who was then in Washington.

Guests were Emma Bright, Lula Atterson and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Prosper of Haiti, guests of Mrs. Dixon.

Mrs. Johnson presided, also co-hosted (with Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Mussenden) in place of her sister, Mrs. Mebane.

WHEN THERESA WATERS held forth for the Links at their last session, she had two interesting guests, Marie Vidal and Enid Beard from New York.

Links also have two new additions. They are Louise Perrin and Lillian Jones, transfers from the Raleigh, N.C. and Dayton, Ohio chapters, respectively.

Business of the evening centered around a fund-raising project for their charities.

JEANETTE L. JOHNSON and Mae G. Cornish were hostesses when the We Moms met last Saturday.

Reports were given concerning the recent outdoor barbecue enjoyed by the Moms and their offspring at the Allendale Road home of Thelma Ruffin and the dinner theater party enjoyed by the Moms at the Garrison Lounge then to the Town Theater.

Most of the business session was spent in making plans for activities for the holiday season. The younger children will spread Christmas cheer by playing Santa Claus at the Children's Ward of the Provident Hospital.

The older children have volunteered their services at the Hygiene Society. They will assist with the wrapping of gifts for patients in the mental hospitals. Several Moms will purchase and wrap gifts for inmates at Henryton.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERIC W. THOMPSON were married in Baltimore, recently. The bride is the former Miss Marian Gibbs.

Plans are in the making for the Moms and Pops to get together for a night of fun sometime during the holidays.

Plans are also in the making for the tenth anniversary celebration of the We Moms in the fall of 1960. Anne Smith and Mae G. Cornish are co-chairmen for these week-end activities.

After partaking of a delicious repast the Moms relaxed while playing "Bonanza."

Present at the meeting were Marian Amprey, Leana Ferrell, Neonia Corbin, Pauline Armstrong, Thelma Ruffin, Thelma Thompson, Patricia Holtaclaw, Bernice Turner, Lucille Williams, Marguerite Wilkins, Anna Smith, Vinessa Porter, Minerva Williams, Jeanette Johnson, and Mae Cornish.

Marguerite Wilkins is president of the group.

THURSDAY EVENING session of the Northwest Child Study Group was co-hosted by Florella Clark and Marjorie Chapman at the former's home.

Speaker, Dr. Riva Novey, consultant at Springdale State Hospital and Shepherd Pratt, and a private practitioner, drew a spirited question and answer session following her talk.

Guests also included Anna McIver and Juanita Mitchell.

Items of planning included a group attendance of "I Like It Here," being presented by the mother body of the Vagabond Theatre on Tuesday and a Christmas party.

Incidentally, the unit will observe a 10th anniversary this year.

The meeting was attended by:

Lucille Cephas, Margaret Driver, Courtney Valentine, Mariam Myers, Gladys Jones, Alice Payne, Ellen Johns;

Also Ruperta Waters, Jimmy LaForest, Anethia Williams, Marilyn French, Iona Collins and Elsie Scott.

THE THANKSGIVING meeting of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was held at the YWCA on Monday.

The theme for the meeting was "Essentials Of Happiness Something To Do, Someone To Live For, Something To Hope For."

The opening was under the direction of Soror Lillie Ross, Third Anti-Basileus.

Soror Emma Henson, chaplain, was in charge of the devotions which in addition to the regular opening procedures, presented Soror Alice Hall as soloist.

With integration as the thread of thought, Miss Charlene Moore a graduate of Oberlin College discussed "Integration From A Student's Standpoint." Mrs. Beulah Caldwell, who taught in an integrated situation in California, spoke on "Integration From A Teacher's Standpoint." She is now connected with the school system of Baltimore.

Soror Ruth Cleaver then conducted the proceedings with the usual business. Reports were heard from Courtesy Committee, Finer Womanhood Week Committee, Dance Committee, Ways and Means,

Miss Gibbs is recent bride

Miss Marian Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibbs of 1809 Poplar Grove St., became the bride of Frederic W. Thompson, here, recently.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nathaniel Wicks.

GIVEN IN marriage by Henry Gibbs, the bride wore a gown of blue chiffon. She was attended by Miss Edith Gibbs.

Mr. Thompson, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Robinson, had as best man, Melvin Scott.

A reception followed the ceremony and was held at 1710 Dukeland St., the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson.

The newlyweds are at home at the Dukeland St. address.

Miss M. Frye wed to Wm. H. Hawkins

The beautiful sanctuary of Metropolitan Methodist Church was the setting, Saturday, for the wedding of Miss Morro Dquita Frye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Frye, and William H. Hawkins.

Mr. Hawkins is the son of Frank Hawkins Sr. and the late Mrs. Mamie Patterson Hawkins, of Elkridge, Md. He is also the nephew of Mrs. Lucy Thomas.

Shellman Johnson, organist, provided the pre-ceremony musical program and also served as accompanist for Miss Jacqueline Johnson, who was soloist.

The Rev. Frank Williams, minister of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, Miss Frye wore an exquisite gown of Alencon lace, floor length, long sleeved, and with a panel of ruffles at the back sweeping into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a tiny half-hat and she carried white orchids on a white Bible.

Miss Arlen Frye, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. Hawkins had as best man, Milton S. Taylor.

The honor attendant wore a frock of green reversed satin, with a low decollete, and full skirt, the fitted waist line accented by a bow at the back.

BRIDESMAIDS WERE in identical frocks of gold reversed satin. They wore matching headpieces and carried fall bouquets to compliment their gowns.

The bridesmaids were Misses Eva Blackwell, Rachelle Utley, Reva Bryant, Mabel L. Butler and Blanche E. Hawkins, sister of the bridegroom.

Two flower girls, Robin Frye, niece of the bride, and her godchild, Patricia Keys, wore sheer white frocks posed over pale blue underskirts. They carried baskets of autumn petals.

USHERS INCLUDED Alphonso Butler, Robert Hawkins, brother of the bridegroom; Vander Frye, Charles Fletcher and Harry Hawkins, also a brother of the bridegroom.

A reception followed for the local and out-of-town guests who came from seven cities for the ceremony.

The reception was held in the social hall of the church and followed by dinner for out-of-town guests hosted by the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Hawkins is a graduate of Coppin Teachers College and has studied at Columbia University and Johns Hopkins University. She is a teacher in the city schools.

Guests included:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkins, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Dashiell, Mrs. Ethel Day, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. James Young, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Butler, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, Miss Mrs. Clara B. Frye, Mrs. Amelia Gresham;

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Utley, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bayman, the Rev. Julius Logan;

Mrs. Cornelia Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Durham, Mrs. Mabel Brooks, Jimmy Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edwards, Mrs. Pearl Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Brazel Lynch;

Med. Auxiliary welcomes 14

The fall season saw the opening of the activities for the Woman's Auxiliary of the Monumental City Medical Society when the Provident Hospital and their November Hostesses entertained this group at luncheon on Saturday at the Provident Hospital Annex.

More than 50 ladies enjoyed this occasion with their old friends and with the wives of doctors who are new to the city. Gifts were presented to the new wives as well as a warm welcome to the city and an invitation to join the auxiliary.

The past presidents were honored with award plaques which were graciously given and received.

THE HIGH POINT of the afternoon was the address given by Mrs. Edward Mazique, wife of the president of the National Medical Association, who has just returned from Russia on a peace mission. She spoke on "The Russian Woman," and she made an appeal for understanding of Russia based upon knowledge—knowledge of their present and past. She found a great interest in colored Americans, and a degree of respect that caused her to be proud to be one of them.

For more than 40 minutes she held the audience spellbound with the brilliance of her presentation. When she had finished she received a standing ovation.

The auxiliary made plans for the year, highlighted by a ben-

Politics a necessity says Dr. Fleming

By LULA JONES GARRETT

Politics is no mere game but a dire necessity if you are interested in your and your neighbor's future, Dr. G. James Fleming said, here, Sunday.

Speaking at the second annual leadership conference and luncheon of Womanpower, held in the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, Dr. Fleming warned the 320 women present that they must now begin taking the trouble to learn how to be effective in politics.

THE SPEAKER, who is director of the recently established Institute for political education at Morgan State College, and professor of political science at the college said:

"Millions of voices down the ages tell us that every group that has wanted political recognition has had to fight for it, organize for it, work for it, pay for it, whether these groups be farmers, labor unionists, military men, businessmen, or any other kind.

"History insists that, if the women represented here today want more status in politics, they will have to obtain it in the same way. They must know that if they will benefit from politics, they have to get into politics, using this term in its highest meaning.

"For we must not forget, to paraphrase the words of Harold Laski, the noted British political economist, that 'Those who are excluded from politics, or those who exclude themselves from politics, are also excluded from the benefits of government.'"

"ARE YOU interested in the benefits of politics and government? And if you are, what benefits are you interested in? Are you just interested in ringing doorbells at election time for $15 or $39 per day? Are you only interested in getting a little job for yourself (the crumbs that fall from the master's table)?

"Are you only interested in getting a traffic ticket fixed? Are you only interested in an occasional demonstration in the Sheraton-Belvedere decked out in the latest Dior, Schipperelli or St. Laurent?

"If these are all you care about, it will scarcely matter what you do here or whether you come here, or not, in the first place.

"But if you and the women you represent want to have a real hand in influencing the government of your city, then your being here is tremendously important.

"If you want to influence the condition of your children's schools and the quality of their education; if you have a sincere concern whether your neighborhoods are clean and safe or whether even government helps to turn them into slums; if you are interested in whether the police serve and protect you or whether they disserve you; in whether your being here is a 'giant step' in the right direction.

"If you are concerned whether your children have a future of opportunity or not; if you are interested in seeing that all segments of the community, regardless of sex or any other consideration, get equal recognition in high offices of responsibility and trust (then you are starting out the way every other group has found it wise to start.

"INDEED, your meeting here today may also mean that you have an interest in your men folks really having a chance to be men.

"If you want more than the crumbs and tinsel of politics and of government, there are some things which you must stop and some things which you must start.

"You must stop leaving politics and government, for somebody else to do (If you 'let George do it,' he will do it for his own benefit and not for yours).

"You must stop regarding politics as a 'game' (it is a serious calling if we would have it serve the people's good).

"You must stop thinking little (depressed over what 'just a few women can do' or over the 'impossibility' of changing present conditions).

"You must stop expecting other people to pay for our political advancement, or any other kind of advancement (for it is still true that he who pays the fiddler calls the tune)."

Then there are some things women must start doing, said Dr. Fleming.

Said he:

"You must start thinking big determined that what others have done you can do.

"You must start taking the trouble to learn how to be effective in politics (through the very kind of workshops you have engaged in today and many more). They need not all be on this grand scale but, like a certain church group, you can hold Sunday School — 1 mean, political schools — in your homes, on empty lots in the summer, anywhere.

"You must start paying for your own political development; you must start putting money into politics (your own money).

"You must start recognizing that the political powers-that-be wherever they are, have little respect for what is right and just, or even for what is democratic. But that they have tremendous respect for power — the power of numbers, the power of money, the power of organization, and respect for the courage of those who use their numbers, their money and an effective organization to help and reward political friends, and to hinder or punish political enemies."

IN POLITICS, they who would be free themselves must strike the first blow, said Dr. Fleming.

"They must be free to have full participation in the life of citizens, free to secure the full and equal and protection of government, free to have those they help to put in office represent the interests of all the people, free to benefit from government as well as to contribute to the support of government, free not only to lose but also to win, and free to help keep freedom secure, with responsibility, under our democratic form of government.

OTHERS WHO gave two-minute talks included Mrs. Emma M. Carter, John L. Berry, Mrs. Polly Weeden, Mrs. Lillie Jackson, Arthur Chapin, Mrs. Juanita Mitchell and Mrs. Helen Maxwell.

Mrs. Mary B. Adams, luncheon chairman, presided. Greetings and presentation of Dr. Fleming was by Mrs. Ethel Rich, executive secretary of Woman Power; and the executive director, Mrs. Victorine Adams gave instructions to discussion leaders, who directed workshops at tables of 10.

Self-analysis can reveal life, death

Procrastinatrion is the major evil that brings disaster to many women who develop breast cancer, 80 Alpha Kappa Women were told, here, Saturday night.

Speaker was Dr. Edward F. Davison, assistant professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins, chief of the breast clinic at Johns Hopkins, medical advisor of the Public Education Committee and member of the executive committee of the Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society.

POINTING OUT that one woman in every 20 develops cancer of the breast, Dr. Lewison said that the fatality in this group could be greatly reduced if every woman gave five minutes of time per month to self examination.

While the greatest frequency of the malignancy is between the ages of 40 and 60, cancer is also often found in women between the ages of 20 to 90, said the speaker.

"TWO, THREE or four months delay in discovery can mean the difference between life and death," said Dr. Lewison.

Shown was a film depicting the methods of self examination, and the women were urged to practice this examination at definite dates each month.

Dr. Lewinson was presented by Soror Rebecca Davis.
