Love most misused word in language says Miss Penny

The word love is the most used, and most oft meaningless of any in the spoken or written language, Miss Margery Penny-tion of Philadelphia, said here Sunday.

Miss Penney, director of Fellowship House in Philadelphia, was speaker at the annual Woman's Day program.

* * *

TOO OFTEN, said Miss Penny, people use the word lightly. It is a word of sacrifice, and more than any other powerful force in society and time spent is motivated the world.

This show said Miss Penny, that love has no boundaries of race, religion or national origin.

OVER 4,800 members of Fellowship volunteer their services in the House and on the cooperative farm which is owned and operated as an experimental in democratic living.

She urged her hearers to become a part of Baltimore Fellowship House because it offers such a wonderful opportunity to practice brotherly love.

OTHER PARTICIPANTS on the morning program at which Miss Penny spoke included Mrs. Ruby Gill, who presided; Miss Ann Bennett, Mrs. Bernice H. Burrows, Mrs. Phenoli Carroll, Mrs. Charlotte Harper and Miss Florine Poulson.

A Fellowship Hour, under direction of Mrs. Genevieve Lee, followed the morning program.

* * *

AT SEVEN in the evening, the program featured a panel discussion on jobs for women. Mrs. Inez Reid was moderator and discussants were:

Mrs. Grace Gaines of the Urban Renewal and Housing Agency; Dr. Effie Ellis, coordinator of medical education at Provident Hospital; Mrs. Louise Gilliam of Family and Children's Society.

Mrs. Rebecca Davis, pharmacist; Dr. Ruth Brett of Morgan State College, and Dr. Ramona Dorcas of the National Health Institute, Bethesda, Md.

FOLLOWING THE panel, fifty-odd women who are engaged in special services, politics, writing and other professions were introduced as examples of careers in which women have succeeded.

The introductions were made by Mrs. Flossie Dedmond. Miss Myrtle Mack was soloist. Also participating was Mrs. Lilia Washington.

* * *

A PARTIAL report showed that $2,470.33 was collected during the day.

The day's activities were arranged by a committee which had as general chairman, Mrs. Charlotte H. Bumbry, and co-chairman, Mrs. Rubye Gill.

Other committee members included Mrs. Phenoia Carroll, program chairman; Mrs. Myrtle Wake, treasurer; Miss Gladys Brazier, treasurer; Mrs. Theda Patterson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charlotte Hackett, secretary.

Captains were:

Mesdames Constance Brent, Phenoia Carroll, Theresa Clay, Louise Dennis, Sarah Diggs.

Mesdames Hester Floyd, Alice Hammond, Sarah Hayne, Esther Roberts, Pearl Shipley.

Mesdames Martha Allen, Mary Allen, Georgia Arvin, Elvenia Hopkins, Esther Jackson, Lillian Jones.

Mesdames Juanita Mitchell, Catherine Moore, Inez Smith, Fannie Vaughn, Doris Wallace, Ruth Washington.

Misses Lily Mae Bolton, Martha Golden, Christine Harris, Violet Haywood, Gladys Rabbett, Beatrice Miles.

Co-captains included Mesdames Elaine Fields, Beatrice Bennett, and Gertrude Johnson.

And Misses Edith Gordon and Willie Mae Cheatham.

550 attend AME meet

Approximately 500 persons, 100 of them official delegates, attended the one-day session of the Baltimore Annual Conference of the AME Church held Tuesday at St. John's AME Church.

Bishop Frank Madison Reid, presiding prelate of the Second Episcopal District which embraces Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia and the District of Columbia, presided. Host minister was the Rev. Isaac M. Gras.

The Rev. P. M. Tilghman, pastor of the Oak Street AME Church on E. Howard St., delivered the sermon for the afternoon religious service.

A business session was conducted in the morning.

A general officer attending the session was Dr. George S. Singleton of Philadelphia, editor of the AME Review, a church publication.

Presiding elders and ministers from each of the other conferences — North Carolina, West Virginia, Virginia and Washington, D.C.—were in attendance.

Speaker set at Sparrows Point

The speaker for the 11 a.m. service, Sunday, Nov. 29, at Sparrows Point Ebenezer Methodist Church, will be Melville W. Pugh Jr., instructor, Department of Sociology, Morgan State College.

Mr. Pugh has chosen for his topic, "The Pursuit Of Perfection."

The public is cordially invited to hear this youthful personality.

Marylander dies in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. — A 49-year-old Frederick, Md. man identified as John Wilbur Davis was shot and killed in a gun battle with a Pennsylvania state trooper Monday.

As a result of the shooting which occurred outside a store, Sgt. George E. Goodhart was shot in the arm.

In 1955, Davis was sentenced to five years in the Maryland Penitentiary for the rifle slaying of a Reisterstown, Md., tavern owner, according to police.

Ernest J. Marshall

Death came to Dr. Marshall on August 21, 1959. He is survived by his wife, the former Willa Barrish, who resides in Kansas City, a son, Dr. Ernest J. Marshall, Jr., and three grandchildren.

Dr. Ernest J. Marshall was head football coach and instructor in chemistry at Howard University from 1909 until 1916.

Born at Baltimore, Md., in 1884, Dr. Marshall was educated at Phillips Exeter Academy, University of Michigan and Northwestern University, from which he took his medical degree in 1927.

As football coach at Howard University, Dr. Marshall compiled a record of 81 wins, 4 losses and 4 ties during his eight-year tenure. Four of his teams, 1909 through 1912, were undefeated. Later he left Howard to pursue a medical career.

Norfolk minister seeks bishopric

NORFOLK, Va. (ANP) — Dr. Richard A. Council, pastor, Metropolitan AMEZ Church, has announced his candidacy for the bishopric at the General Conference when it meets at Buffalo, N.Y., in May.

Two predecessors to the Metropolitan pulpit have been elevated to the bishopric — the late Bishop E. B. Walson and Bishop J. D. Cauthen, named at the 1955 general Conference while still pastor at Metropolitan.

Dr. Council is said to have a good chance to be elected the bishopric. He is currently on the teaching staff of the evening college at the Norfolk Division of Virginia State College.

Guitarist Bernard Shaw dies in San Francisco

A local musician, 23-year-old Bernard Shaw, died of suffocation in a San Francisco hotel room, on Monday.

Miss Barbara Shaw, sister of the guitarist and vocalist with the Big Jay McNeely's band, said a representative of the band telephoned from San Francisco and told the family of his death.

* * *

ACCORDING to Miss Shaw, the guitarist's brother had fallen asleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand.

Smoke had been seen coming from beneath the door of the room and entrance had to be forced to get in.

MR. SHAW lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Shaw at 1721 Division St., before leaving for the West Coast, six weeks ago.

He had joined the McNeely band only four weeks ago.

He played with Joe Cuddy and his House Rockers here for about two years.

* * *

THE YOUNG MUSICIAN attended John Hurst Elementary School No. 120 and Carver High School.

His hobbies were repairing radios and photography.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed at press time.

* * *

IN ADDITION to his mother and father Leo and Lajay, survivors include, his wife, Martha; daughter, Denise, 3; son, Bernard Jr., 2; four sisters, Misses Lucy, Rachel, Gertrude and Barbara Shaw.

Also three brothers, George, Leo Jr. and Theodore Shaw.

Albert Lewis

Requiem mass was celebrated at St. Peter Claver church for Albert Lewis, 51-year-old janitor, waiter of 2236 Druid Hill Ave.

Mr. Lewis died on Sunday after a long period of illness.

He was a native of Augusta, Ga., who was brought to Baltimore by his parents when he was 11 years old.

He was married to the former Miss Elnora Brown of St. Marys County. They would have celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary on December 26.

Beside the widow, he is survived by four sons, Albert Bernard, Spencer and Patrolman Archie Lewis, all of Baltimore.

Also, three daughters, Mesdames Regina Dove, Julia Morsell and Gertrude Ashby. There are also 12 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Over $137,000 reported at AME Convention

By WILDA R. SMITH

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Over and above the more than $137,000 reported for upkeep of the general Church, by First AME districts, last Tuesday and Wednesday, at the annual Convocation held in this city, was the generating of the "Community" theme promulgated in the two-day program.

Bishop George W. Baber, presiding prelate of the First District, presided at sessions held in Saint Luke's Church, at 153rd St. and Amsterdam Ave. He was assisted in the presiding role by Drs. A. Chester Clark, of New York, connectional secretary of the Missionary Department; George A. Singleton, of Philadelphia, editor, the AME Church Review.

Also Drs. Richard A. Hilderbrand, pastor of Bethel Church, New York City; and Roscoe C. Henderson of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Changing the usual procedure, Bishop Baber scheduled administering of the holy communion for the closing session, instead of at the opening.

The Convocation ended in a blaze of glory with old-fashioned methodist shouting — spurred on by an old-fashioned Georgia sermon preached by the Rev. J. S. Drake, pastor of Wayman Church, Chicago, a former Georgia pastor.

Adding to the spiritual fuel were spontaneous remarks, by Bishop Eugene C. Hatcher, of Ohio — who led in singing an old-fashioned hymn, "If May Be The Last Time — I Don't Know."

THIS SPIRITUAL climax was fitting after a super abundance of eloquence dispensed by several distinguished connectional figures — all speaking on phases of the Convocation theme, "The Church and the Community," at preceeding sessions.

Also a grande musicale, held Tuesday night, in Bethel Church, presented by massed choirs of New York, and Philadelphia, of some 400 voices, under direction of several ministers of music.

One cannot soon forget the renditions of "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "The Church is One Foundation," and "Great And Marvelous Are Thy Works."

Speakers and their subtopics were the Revs. W. P. Stevenson, of Tyree Church, Philadelphia, "The Church as Mediating Factor;" Dr. A. G. Gaston, of Birmingham, Ala., the denominations secretary of Church Extension, "Economic Life of the Community;" Dr. J. Quinter Miller, secretary, National Council of Churches, "The Church as a Community Agency for World Peace."

Others included Dr. Rembert Stokes, president of Wilberforce University, in Ohio, "The Church and State;" the Hon. A. Philip Randolph, vice president, AFL-CIO, "The Church and Labor;" the Hon. Roy Wilkins, national executive secretary, NAACP, "The Church and Social Action;" Dr. S. A. Cousins, of Bethel Church, Miami, Fla., "The Church as a Conscience," and Bishop David H. Sims, of Philadelphia, who spoke on the approaching 200th anniversary of Richard Allen's birth, set for next February in Philadelphia.

A panel of Inquiry and Findings was chaired by the Rev. J. W. Johnson, of Plainfield, N.J. Presiding Elders of the district-wide area assisted in the program. The Rev. A. A. Davis was host pastor.

Long Perkins Sq. member, Mrs. Maggie Jones, dies

Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Saturday) at 1 p.m. at Perkins Square Baptist Church for Mrs. Maggie McKinney Jones, 88, 1311 Upton St., who died Tuesday at Provident Hospital. Burial will be in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Mrs. Jones, a longtime resident in the Upton St. neighborhood was a member of Perkins Square Baptist Church more than 30 years.

On Saturday Mrs. Jones would have celebrated her 89th birthday. Relatives had planned a party and had already purchased gifts.

She was born Nov. 28, 1879, the oldest of the 23 children of the late Betty and Webb McKinney of Charlestown, West Va. Her husband, John E. Jones died in 1953.

MRS. JONES lived with her grandson, Lewis E. Williams, a county club employee and her granddaughter, Mrs. Mable Thomas.

About four months ago she sustained injuries from a dog bite and continued ailing until Monday evening when she suffered a slight stroke and heart attack.

Her grandchildren took her to the AFRO: About five or six days ago, Mrs. Spriggs was at the doctor's office and he gave her a clean bill of health.

"She was up and about all day the day she died. I came home about 6 p.m. and she was in the basement hanging up clothes and told me my dinner was on the stove.

"I went on and got my dinner and went up stairs. She had told me she would be up soon as she was through.

"I came down stairs and she was sitting in the dining room as if she was reading the paper and fell asleep.

"The doctor said she must have had a heart attack."

MRS. SPRIGGS was a longtime member of the Rebecca Chapter Order of Eastern Star and a lifetime member of the Ames Church where she was a Sunday School teacher more than 30 years, and a member of the Ladies Aid.

She was born in Harford County, Nov. 27, 1878, the daughter of the late Hannah and Wesley Fleming.

Surviving are her husband, Mr. Spriggs; one son, Lawrence Wesley Spriggs, Washington; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, Baltimore; a niece, Mrs. Alverta Presbury, Baltimore, and other nieces and nephews.

Funeral for Mrs. Martha McGee

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha McGee, 72, 822 Carline St. will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Southern Baptist Church, 330 E. Preston St.

The Rev. J. S. Grant will officiate.

Mrs. McGee died at her home Monday at 2 a.m. after a lengthy illness.

BORN IN HALIFAX, N.C., Mrs. McGee lived in N.Y.C. for 28 years. She came to Baltimore in 1957 to live with her family here.
