Morgan nips Bowie, opens CIAA tonite

The Morgan State College basketers, fresh from a squeaky win over undistinguished Bowie State Teachers Wednesday night, move gloomily into their CIAA campaign tonight and tomorrow evening against Delaware State and and Virginia Union in the Hurt gym.

Freshman Eddie Waston sank the second of two free throws awarded in the closing seconds to give the Bears a 73-72 edge. It marked the end of a nip-and-tuck battle in which a 46-point output by Morgan's Harry Johnson barely missed going for naught.

COACH TALMADGE HILL'S local charges, essentially a freshman team, now face the big job of rebounding from the Bears' dismal record of last year when they won only five games against eleven losses.

Starting for the Bruins in these early tilts is a quintet composed of only two seasoned players. Captain Cecil Bond, third highest rebounder for the Bears last season, and Johnson, who scored 246 points in 16 games for a 15.3 game average in 1958-59.

Rounding out the first five are three newcomers to the Morgan varsity: Ira Ray, freshman from Farrell, Pa.; Clarence Stewart, freshman from Wilmington, N.C., and Louis Abney, a transfer student who moves up from the junior varsity.

FORCED TO completely rebuild with team leader Charlie Brightful gone, Hill has built the team around Johnson, a 6-4 sophomore from Park Central High in Bluefield, W. Va., where he was All-State in 1957. Johnson is a tremendous shooter and seems, says Hill, to be "even more deadly this year than last."

Hill won't be disappointed if his Bears get off to a rather slow start.

"It's a new team. The boys haven't played together. The first few games may be hard ones for us. The men will have to use these games to get experience in playing as a team."

WHILE HIS team is new and will have to go against more seasoned quintets, Coach Hill admits he is cheered by the presence of several fine prospects.

Included in this lot are varsity veterans Nathan Murphy, sophomore from Douglass High; Oliver Jackson, Maceo "Hot Shot" Williams, City College product who proved to be a good playmaker last season, and Wayne (Cozy) Cole, who joins the squad after playing on the gridiron.

Among the most promising freshman recruits not on the first team are Ken Gamble, scholastic star from Braddock High, Braddock, Pa.; Edward Watson, a speedy, deceptive ball handler and footballers Jim Kornegay and Russell Binion.

Soph's 46 points sets Bear record

Harry Johnson, a 19-year-old sophomore, scored 46 points to set an all-time one-game scoring record for basketball at Morgan State College Wednesday night, as the Golden Bears eked out a 73-72 decision over Bowie State Teachers College.

The previous high for a single game output was Ernie Garrett's 41 points tallied in 1956.

Johnson stands 6-4, weighs 184 pounds and hails from Park Central High School, Camp Parole, Md.

SALUTE TO EDDIE HURT — Johnson C. McClurkin, an alumnus of Morgan State College, presents a scroll of alumni signatures to Coach Eddie Hurt as a tribute from the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers on occasion of the coach's retirement from grid mentor duties. The presentation was made Thanksgiving when Coach Hurt closed out 31 seasons coaching football at Morgan with the Morgan-Virginia State game. Partially hidden is Roy Gragway, president of the Varsity M Club who presented a plaque to Coach Hurt. The scroll was a replica of a full-page of signatures which appeared in the AFRO on Nov. 28. Mr. McClurkin is an AFRO ad salesman.

Burton, Burrell on Look All-America

NEW YORK — Big Bill Burrell of Illinois and hard-running Ron Burton of Northwestern have been named to the 1959 Look - Football Writers Association All America, it was disclosed today.

Burrell and Burton were among six Big 10 stars to make the All America team which will be announced in the issue of Look Magazine out Tuesday.

Both men received particular notice from the selection committee of the 1014 - member Football Writers Association.

SAYS LOOK, Burrell was probably the most impressive single defensive force in the Big 10 this year.

Burton was a solid choice and so impressed Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson that the Sooner mentor declared, "One of the finest runners I've ever seen."

The Football Writers Association in picking the annual Look All America squad follows a precedent set by the late Grantland Rice and selects a 22 man All America in which each player enjoys equal first string stature.

ALL MEMBERS of the team will be flown to New York to receive their awards on the Perry Como NBC television show on Wednesday, December 9.

While in New York, the squad will be honored at the All America Awards Banquet in the Grand Ball Room of the Hotel Delmonico. The highlights of the banquet will be broadcast over the NBC radio network.

Acting as hostesses for the team this year will be four Bowl Queens, representing the Hula Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Cotton Bowl and Orange Bowl.

Don Bush stars in 20-3 victory

Don Bush, 17-year-old half-back sensation for Beale High of Frostburg, Md., scored three touchdowns for the Mountaineers Thanksgiving Day as they defeated LaSalle High of Cumberland, 20-3.

Bush, a junior, raced to the trio of six-pointers on three runs of 50 yards or more and was a heavy ground gainer. Fans carried him off the field on their shoulders at the end of the game.

tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon will be virtual death for the Baltimoreans, and a farewell to the world championship they brought into this year from last.

THROUGHOUT THEIR trip out, via jet from Friendship Airport, yesterday, the Colts players were jubilant and bearing an attitude bordering on cockiness.

"It isn't that the fellows are cheesy," coach Weeb Ewbank explained. "It's simply that they realize the job is theirs to do. Nobody else can do it for them now (the Packers) whom the 49ers meet next Sunday are distinct underdogs.

"I guess you might say they're pleased at the double chance they have: Beating San Francisco, you know, means we get a second shot regardless of what happens in Los Angeles."

BY BEATING the Forty-Niners, the Colts can clinch a tie for the Western Conference crown. That would mean a win over the Rams the following Saturday at the Coliseum could send Ewbank and his charges into the title playoff.

If they win here tomorrow and lose at LA, they'd be no worse than tied for the Western lead. That would provide another game before the home fans in Memorial Stadium.

This would mean a division playoff similar to that between New York and Cleveland for the Eastern title last year. Such a playoff would be held in Baltimore. If the Colts make it as division kings, they'd also defend in Baltimore.

Arriving here late yesterday (Thursday) afternoon, the Colts took up quarters at the Clift Hotel. They were scheduled for a light workout at Kezar Stadium this morning (Friday).

TWO WEEKS ago in Baltimore the Colts rose to a season a peak both offensively and defensively to crush the 49ers, 63-14. A similar performance, plus something extra, may be required to topple the Prospectors in their own ballwick here.

In seven previous trips to Kezar Stadium the Steeds have been denied a single triumph. Four of the setbacks were by a margin of four points or less.

And while the Colts have held leads out here, they haven't been able to protect them successfully.

EWBANK HERDED his Hosses to the Golden Gate in 1957 with a one game advantage over the rest of the pack.

The visitors were only 47 seconds from clinching a first place tie when relief quarterback John Brodie lofted a 14-yard touchdown pass to Hugh McElhenny for a 13 - 10 San Francisco conquest.

THE CULPRIT of two years back may again be on the firing line against Baltimore this week.

Filling in for the ailing V. Tittle last Sunday, Brodie in his third pro season led a pair of scoring passes as the 49ers edged the Cleveland Browns, 21-20, and gained their share of the Western Conference top spot.

If Tittle is unable to work Brodie will be under center, intent upon victimizing the Colts again.

Wilt quick click with pro cagers

By JACKIE ROBINSON

At the start of the basketball season there was quite a lot of speculation as to what Wilt Chamberlain — entrance into the pro leagues might mean.

This corner, for instance, said it was duly impressed with Chamberlain's record at Kansas and with the Harlem Globetrotters, but offered the opinion that "it won't mean a thing when he takes the court against the real pros." We'd have to wait and see, I said, but how the rookie would stand up against the likes of Bill Russell, Bob Pettit and Elgin Baylor.

WELL, WE certainly haven't had to wait for long. I don't believe anybody in or out of the pro ranks could really have anticipated just what has happened. Chamberlain has sparked the Philadelphia Warriors to a 12 - 5 record and they are now just a shade behind the Boston Celtics in the race for the Eastern Division championship.

Further, he has led his team to two straight victories over the Celtics: 123 - 113 and 143 - 130, while scoring an amazing total of 94 points for the two games. In the Thanksgiving Day game in Philadelphia, Wilt broke a Convention Hall record for individual scoring by racking up 49 points.

IN TWO very thrilling clashes with the N.Y. Knickerbockers this week-end, Chamberlain, continued on his merry way, scoring 61 points for the two.

Still, to the delight of us Knickerbocker fans, the Warriors were forced to split the fair with N.Y., winning the first by 109 - 106 and losing on their home court, 127 - 126.

This doesn't detract in the slightest from Wilt's dazzling performance, however, for if further proof is needed of what he has meant to the Warriors, we need but compare this year's record to last. Philadelphia finished hopelessly in the cellar then, but today they could easily prove to be the best team in basketball.

AS FOR the Knicks their terrific showing against the Warriors this week-end, certainly gave N.Y. fans a great deal of hope. Up until now, we have all been disappointed in their performances. To me, it has seemed a case of not being able to put enough good efforts together.

One time Willie Nauls would have a very good night but Ken Sears and Richie Guerin would be off their top form. And if either of the other two were "on," then it appeared as if the rest weren't up to par.

THE KNICKS— lacking an individual star such as a Pettit, a Chamberlain or a Cousy —must have consistent good performances by three or four of the members of the team in order to win. And until this fumbling is ended for good, they can't very well hope for a playoff berth this year.

Currently ranking last, with a 6 - 11 record, they will have to reverse themselves and win 2 out of every 3, instead of losing by the same ratio, if they expect to catch up.

The season is still young, however, and if the Knicks can continue the kind of sparkling play they achieved against Chamberlain and the Warriors this week-end, they could yet turn the tables.

I've talked with Carl Braun, who has told me of the determined team spirit the Knicks have, and I for one am not going to count them out so early in the race.

MEANWHILE, Wilt the Stilt goes on and on, and with the Celtics' Bill Russell on the ailing list, Wilt promises fair to turn in the most amazing individual performance we've seen yet.

And from what I've heard, it couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

Besmanoff tests Liston Wednesday

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Willi Besmanoff, German 200-pounder who holds a recent decision over Marty Marshall, only man to have beaten Sonny Liston as a pro, meets heavy-fisted Liston on December 9, at the Cleveland Arena (ABC-V, 10 p.m. EST).

Liston, St. Louis produce now living in Philadelphia, has registered 16 knockouts in 26 starts, his last four in a row. The last two, over Nino Valdes and Cleveland Williams, didn't go beyond the third round.

Besmanoff outclassed Marshall last August 1 at Stuebenville, Ohio, while Marshall took a decision over Liston on September 7, 1954, at Detroit.

American observers fear that if Liston's cannonading doesn't get Besmanoff out of there within five rounds, Sonny will have a battle on his hands. Willi is clever, hits fairly well himself.

Charnley rematch okeyed by Brown after TKO win

HOUSTON, Texas — Lightweight champion Joe Brown lightly dismissed Dave Charnley as a menace to his 135-pound title following his 5-round technical knockout of the British challenger here Wednesday night.

"He can have a return shot any time it can be worked in," Joe declared on being advised in his dressing room that Charnley considered the win by Brown a freakish one.

"He says it was a butt. Okay, let him say it. Maybe I got a harder head than he has. I didn't get stopped, he did.

"FRANKLY, THOUGH, I was surprised at how easy the guy is to hit. I jabbed him all night. You don't jab good southpaw (lefthanded) fighters. He was such an open target, I felt I could take him any time I wanted to.

"If he got butt, it was just a case of getting it a little earlier than he would have otherwise. Sure, he can have a rematch. All he has to do is talk to Lou (Viscusi), my manager, and see when it can be worked in.

"I don't book my fights, I fight 'em."

CHARNLEY AND his manager, Arthur Boggis, claimed that the cut which resulted in stopping the fight at the end of the fifth round, came about from an unintentional butt.

However, referee Jimmy Webb said it wasn't. According to him, a heavy right to the head opened the gash over the Briton's right eye.

"That's the one that ripped him open. I saw him shaking his head just after it landed and even before the blood started to come. But I would have knocked him cold anyway if I hadn't cut him."

IT WAS obvious that Brown was going to win the scheduled 15-round bout anyway. He had carried every round on all except one judge's card.

In the second round, Brown's flicking left — and his 3½-inch reach advantage was the big point in this fight — opened a slight cut under Charnley's right eye.

In the third Brown had swarmed the little man from Britain. Charnley gave indications of a comeback in the fourth.

BY WINNING Brown tied the all-time record for defenses of the title in this class.

The late Benny Leonard held it when he retired in 1925.

The bout went into the record books as a fifth-round TKO.

WIVES OF HAPPY WARRIORS — One reason why Philly's Warriors vanquished the Boston Celtics 140 to 130 in their thrilling game at Convention Hall Thursday night was because they were being cheered by this trio. Left to right, Mrs. Nell Carter, Mrs. Woody Sauldsberry and Mrs. Eddy Johnson. The latter two are the wives of two of the Warriors court aces.

Nino Valdes TKO victor in London

LONDON — Cuban heavyweight Nino Valdes scored a technical knockout victory over Brian London, former British Empire champion, here Tuesday night.

Valdes, the ponderous Cuban who never has lost a bout in Britain, notched his fourth triumph in this country when London was forced to quit at the end of the seventh round because of a cut over his left eye.

It was London's first bout since taking a drubbing from Floyd Patterson in their title fight.

Bullets, Barons show new faces here tonight

Feeling more chipper after their 108 - 106 overtime victory at Sunbury, the Bullets return to their home Coliseum court Friday night when they tangle with the defending champion Wilkes - Barre Barons at 8:30 p.m. and Coach Buddy Jeannette is hoping that old one about the traded off player gaining revenge pays off for Bill Spivey.

The seven - foot pivotman, whom the Bullets obtained for a record price and rookie Al Cooper, has certainly been finding the range for the Bullets in his first three starts, hitting 23 in the opening victory over Sunbury here, 28 in the loss at Scranton, and 33, including the regulation game's closing goal and the three straight winning points in overtime, last Saturday at Sunbury.

WILKES - BARRE'S new coach, Steve Chanecka, has picked up a scoring sensation of his own, Alex "Boo" Ellis, on option from Minneapolis of the National Basketball Association to augment holdovers Charley Hadden and Buddy Thompson and speedy Sonny Hill, obtained from Allentown with Gerry Paulson for Danny Finn.

Ellis arrived with the season three games old and is appropriately bent on going back to the Lakers.

A lefthanded shot who is especially tough on defensive rebounding, the former Niagara star has scored 119 points in four games. Hill, who likes to jump or go on the fast break, is the big gun among the Barons with 148 points in seven games.

Hadden, also a backcourt threat, has 98 points, also in seven games.

THE BULLETS will unveil a new face, too. Maurice King, Will The Stilts former feeder at Kansas, has been optioned by Boston and expects to fit right into the scheme of things.

He's 6 - 2, can shoot from outside and is very fast.
