Floyd Patterson weighs 'one more' for old friend

By WILLIAM VERIGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Floyd Patterson celebrated his 35th birthday on Jan. 4, and the next day he went to the gym to begin one more comeback as a tribute to an old friend.

"Right now, I'm only concerned about one fight," said the two-time former champion. "I want to fight a bout for Ann Bolan and her children. I'm not going to kid myself, I'll be honest, but if I'm successful in that fight, I'll go on. If I don't feel good in there, I'll hang 'em up."

* * *

Al Bolan, Floyd's longtime advisor, died last year at the age of 39, and just before his death Floyd began plans for a comeback.

"I didn't know how ill Al was," Patterson said, "but we got together to discuss the possibility of me fighting in Las Vegas. I could see how sick he looked, and he talked like it might be our last fight together. I decided to go ahead and fight that one for Al, but he didn't live long enough."

All the money from Patterson's return to the ring tentatively scheduled for late March or early April, will be presented as a gift to Bolan's family.

FLOYD PATTERSON because of a promise

"I've discussed having a fight with Oscar Bonavena," said Patterson, who lost a highly questionable decision to Jimmy Ellis in his last fight 15 months ago. That cost him recognition as World Boxing Association champion and the unprecedented honor of being the only man to hold the title three times.

"I believe I'd rather have one tuneup first, though. I'd love to fight in Madison Square Garden again if I do well after one or two fights," Patterson declared.

Promoters from Detroit, Las Vegas, the West Coast and England have contacted Patterson's representatives to dicker for the tuneups, and Patterson said he hopes to begin boxing with his sparring partner, Wendell Newton, next week.

"So far, I've only worked out on the heavy bag and speed bag and done roadwork," he said. "A boxer never loses his feel, and the speed's still there working out with the bags. But I won't know if the speed's still there when I'm in the ring until I begin sparring."

After the heartbreaking loss to Ellis, Patterson said he was going to retire and become a film actor.

"Acting is very exciting to me, and I like it very much," he said, "but things were very, very slow. The only opportunities I had were in two television shows, 'Daniel Boone' and 'Wild, Wild West.' I hope to box and then maybe go back to California again."

Gale Sayers stands out among Hall of Fame pros

CANTON, Ohio — Twenty-two black athletes were among the 48 players selected to the first annual All-Pro Hall of Fame squad announced this week.

The two units chosen included offensive and defensive platoons, plus punter and placekicker.

* * *

The team was picked by the Hall of Fame's board of selectors which is a representative 26-member committee made up of one selector from each of 24 pro football cities and two from New York, which has two teams.

The board was originally designed to select new members to the Hall of Fame.

Chicago, despite its 1-13 record, had the top two vote getters in the balloting in running back Gale Sayers and middle linebacker Dick Butkus.

Sayers was named on either the first or second team by each selector and Butkus missed only one.

FIRST TEAM

Defense

Ends: Deacon Jones, Los Angeles, and Carl Eller, Minnesota.

Tackles: Merlin Olsen, Los Angeles, and Bob Lilly, Dallas.

Middle linebacker: Dick Butkus, Chicago.

Outside linebackers: Bobby Bell, Kansas City, and Chuck Howley, Dallas.

Cornerbacks: Lem Barney, Detroit, and Willie Brown, Oakland.

Safeties: Larry Wilson, St. Louis, and Johnny Robinson, Kansas City.

SECOND TEAM

Offense

Wide receivers: Fred Biletnikoff, Oakland, and Don Maynard, New York Jets.

Tight end: Charle Sanders, Detroit.

Tackles: Ralph Neely, Dallas, and Harry Schuh, Oakland.

Guards: Gene Upshaw, Oakland, and Gale Gillingham, Green Bay.

Center: Jim Otto, Oakland.

Quarterback: Daryle Lamonica, Oakland.

Running backs: Floyd Little, Denver, and Leroy Kelly, Cleveland.

Placekicker: Jim Turner, New York Jets.

Punter: Paul Maguire, Buffalo.

Defense

Ends: Rich Jackson, Denver, and Gerry Philbin, New York Jets.

Tackles: Alan Page, Minnesota, and Buck Buchanan, Kansas City.

Outside linebackers: Georgi Webster, Houston, and Dave Robinson, Green Bay.

Middle linebacker: Willie Lanier, Kansas City.

Cornerbacks: Herb Adderley, Green Bay, and Jim Johnson, San Francisco.

Safeties: Mel Renfro, Dallas, and Dave Grayson, Oakland.

7 await post call for Bowie stake

BOWIE, Md. — Seven three year olds headed by J. D. Farms' Rollicking, an impressive six lengths winner last Friday, will get their 1970 stakes baptismal in the ninth inning of the $22,000 added E. Palmer Heagerty Stakes at Bowie Race Course Saturday.

Racing secretary and handicapper Lawrence J. Abbundi's early checklist includes Ford Stable's Parasol Pete, third in the Senatorial Stakes at Laurel; Donelson Christmas' Tri Noble, winner of two allowance tests at Laurel; and Larking Hill Farm's Nashcordia, who set the early pace in last week's Heagerty Prep, among those expected to start Saturday.

Rollicking will be looking for the third stakes win of his career.

NLRB backs umps

(From UPI Dispatches)

BOSTON — The National Labor Relations Board (N.L.R.B.) has announced that 24 of 26 American League umpires had voted to select the Association of Major League Umpires as their collective bargaining agent with the American League.

NLRB regional director Albert J. Hoban announced results of the secret ballot which was conducted by mail following the NLRB's historic decision of last Dec. 15 that organized baseball was subject to the board's jurisdiction.

The decision, selection of a bargaining agent, and future bargaining with the American League is an outgrowth of a two-year-old dispute in which two umpires, Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, were fired.

The pair charged they were dropped for attempting to organize the A.L. umpires into a union and their appeal filed through the Association of Major League Umpires, basically a National League group, resulted in the NLRB decision.

Chiefs vs. Cowboys

DALLAS — The Dallas Cowboys have announced they will play the Super Bowl champion Kansas City Chiefs, who originally started out in Dallas, in preseason competition this year.

The Chiefs were one of four American Conference teams in the Cowboys' preseason schedule announced Wednesday.

The Chiefs started as the Dallas Texans in the American Football League the same year the Cowboys entered the National Football League. The Chiefs later moved to Kansas City. The two teams have never met before.

They will play Sept. 5 in Dallas.

Bengston has ulcers

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Phil Bengston, head coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers who has been hospitalized since breaking his big Christmas Eve, disclosed Wednesday that the doctors found he has ulcers, too.

"It's nothing serious," Bengtson said at St. Vincent's Hospital. "I hope to get things squared away and be out of here pretty quick."

Baughan quits

LOS ANGELES — Maxie Baughan, standout linebacker with the Los Angeles Rams for the past four seasons and the club's defensive signal caller, announced his retirement Wednesday.

"I actually thought about retiring before this past season but George Allen (the Rams' coach) talked me out of it," Baughan, 30, said.

Bo is better

PASADENA, Calif. — Coach Glenn "Bo" Schembechler Thursday was listed as an ambulatory patient at St. Luke Hospital where he has been confined since Jan. 1 recovering from a heart attack he suffered just prior to the Rose Bowl football game.

The indications were that Schembechler would be able to return to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, within a week, a hospital spokesman said.

More football

WASHINGTON — University coaches accepted the decision to expand the football season to 11 games next year but a spokesman for the college athletic business managers assailed the move by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Michigan State's John Lootz, president of the College Athletic Business Managers Association, claimed the move may prove costly and possibly spell the end of varsity competition in minor sports such as golf, soccer and lacrosse.

The amendment to permit an 11th game sailed through the NCAA convention by a 162-98 vote at the final session. There was no opposition.

Cliff Hagan out

DALLAS — Cliff Hagan has resigned as coach of the Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association "because of a difference in coaching philosophy with the team's owners."

The former Kentucky and St. Louis Hawks star, the only coach the Dallas franchise has had in two and one-half years existence, would not elaborate on the resignation.

Max Williams, Chaps general manager and a Southern Methodist star of the late 1950s, replaced Hagan as head coach.

Dallas officials said the replacement was permanent.

Stock for Bucks

MILWAUKEE — Milwaukee Bucks players and coaches were rewarded Wednesday for their fine play in the National Basketball Association with 10 shares of stock each in the club.

The Bucks, led by Lew Alcindor's outstanding play at center, won 31 of their first 46 games this season.

Kenyans to Philly

PHILADELPHIA — "Jumbo" Jim Elliott of Villanova, meet director of the Jan. 24 Philadelphia Track Classic, says that Kenya's Kipchoge Keino will compete in the mile run and his countryman, Kenyan Naftali, in the 800-yard race.

Cut for Kaat

MINNEAPOLIS — Pitcher Jim Kaat, a 14-game winner last season, has signed his 1970 contract with the Minnesota Twins.

Kaat, who earned an estimated $60,000 last year, lost 13 games in 1969 and was the only one of the Twins' top 25 players to receive a salary cut.

Arnie buys club

ORLANDO, Fla. — Arnold Palmer has purchased Bay Hill Club and Lodge, including its 27-hole golf course, for an undisclosed sum.

The facility, located 13 miles southwest of here, was purchased from a group of Nashville, Tenn. executives.

Oscar, Elgin eye record, but Lew grabs spotlight

By GARY KALE

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Oscar Robertson and Elgin Baylor reach for an All-Star scoring record Tuesday night, but the attention will be focused on Lew Alcindor's ability to go against a conglomerate of the league's best players in the 20th annual National Basketball Association classic at the Spectrum.

The East holds a 13-6 lead over the West and has won five of the last six All-Star games.

* * *

Robertson, Cincinnati's super guard, won his third most valuable player award last year and is gunning for Bob Pettit's all-time record of 224 points.

Baylor, the veteran Los Angeles forward who was named MVP along with Pettit in 1959, has matched Robertson's scoring total of 209 points in All-Star competition. Sixteen points is needed for a new record.

* * *

Walt Frazier of New York, is the other starting guard on the East team. Knick teammate Willis Reed opens at center, while Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and John Havlicek of Boston start at the forward positions.

Baylor and Connie Hawkins of Phoenix are the West's starting forwards, Nate Thurmond of San Francisco is at center and Jerry West of Los Angeles, and Lou Hudson of Atlanta, open at the backcourt posts.

* * *

Alcindor, Milwaukee's prized rookie, lost out to Reed in balloting for the starting center berth by sports writers and sportscasters from the league's 14 franchise cities.

Big Lew came to the NBA with all the credentials befitting an All-America. He was mishandled, whomped a few times and some even called his lope downcourt downright lazy during the early part of the season.

Alcindor matured along the way and veteran players around the league say the Bucks' pivotman has it all over Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell in their first years as pros.

Jockeys held

WEIRTON, W. Va. — Two former jockeys at Waterford Park race track have been bound over to the U.S. District Court grand jury on charges of fixing a race.

Gary R. Gillespie, 28, New Cumberland, and Charles Clark, 37, Kearneysville, were held for grand jury action following a hearing before U.S. Commissioner John Vujnovic.

Gillespie and Clark were charged by the FBI with influencing by bribery the fourth race at Waterford last March 24.
