FOR HER YOUNG FANS — Mahalia Jackson, the nation's No. 1 gospel singer, entertains pre-school youngsters on TV's "Sesame Street" program scheduled for Monday. The new educational series reportedly boasts six million young viewers in over two million homes. According to a recent Neilsen survey, 190 local stations carry the program and it attracts kids of every age and racial background.

'Nat Turner' film delayed

HOLLYWOOD — Further postponement reportedly looms on 20th-Fox's long-awaited "The Confessions of Nat Turner," a David L. Wolper production which, until recently, was supposed to roll by the end of March.

Wolper said he "wouldn't want to comment" on reports that start date has been pushed back, preferring to say that film is still "scheduled" for a late March start.

James Earl Jones currently is involved in "The Great White Hope," which is supposed to complete filming in Spain by mid-February; with only a month between that and his "Turner" starring role, that might be a factor in the reported slippage.

Wolper personally acquired "Turner" rights for $600,000 in October, 1967 and early in 1968 it was stated that Norman Jewison would direct, and that 20th would finance and release.

After an outbreak of protests anent alleged distortions in the William Styron book and fears that such errors would be perpetuated on screen, an accord was reached.

Jewison later withdrew because of conflicts with his own "Gaily Gaily" and "Fiddler on the Roof" projects, the former in release, the latter to start this year.

Sidney Lumet took over directorial reins.

Schools set to graduate 3,556

DETROIT — A civil rights leader, a city aide, two judges and a minister will be among the commencement speakers when Detroit's public high schools graduate 3,456 students between Jan. 21-22. The graduates include, 1,752 girls and 1,704 boys.

Dr. Francis Kornegay, executive director of the Detroit Urban League, will address Cass Tech graduates in the auditorium of the school at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 21.

Judges to speak are Recorder's Judge George Crockett and Common Pleas Judge Benjamin Stanczyk. Crockett is scheduled to address Northwestern graduates at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 22, in the auditorium of the Adlai E. Stevenson Building.

Daniel Aldridge, a community service assistant with the Mayor's Committee on Children and Youth, will speak at Martin Luther King at 7 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 22, in the auditorium.

The pastor, the Rev. A. R. Perrino of the First Unitarian Church, will speak before the Redford group at 10 a.m., Wednesday, Jan. 21, in the auditorium of the Stevenson Building.

Also scheduled as commencement speakers are two Detroit school administrators, Dr. W. Dean Edmonson and Charles Wells. Edmonson, superintendent of Region Seven, will speak in the cafetorium of Finney, at 10 a.m., Wednesday, Jan. 21.

Changes noted in food stamp allottments

Recipients of the Food Stamp Program will, as of Feb. 1, have an increase in the amount of their stamp allotment.

There are three major changes which will be implemented.

First, everyone in the same family level will receive the same monthly allotment of stamps, but their purchase requirement will differ according to their income.

This means that a family of four making $270 a week will receive an allotment of $106, as will a family of four that makes $60 a month.

Secondly, the cost of the purchase requirement is lowered in all cases.

Thirdly, the amount of Food Stamps received by everyone eligible is considerably lowered.

Eligibility for being part of the Program has not been changed.

THE OTHER SIDE of the news about the Baltimore-area community, as well as world events, can be found in each and every issue of the AFRO. Pass your AFRO around to a friend and encourage him to buy the AFRO each week. Phone 728-3200 for prompt home delivery or for a subscription, just $6 for four months.

Zeta Phi Beta sorors begin celebration of Golden Year

With Lula Mackey

The January meeting of Alpha Zeta chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Saturday, was high with excitement as Basileus Catherine C. Neal sounded the gavel which opened the celebration of the Gol-den Anniversary of the national organization.

At the session, held in the Madison Avenue Branch YWCA, Monday evening, Soror Ethel Hall, chaplain, opened the meeting with an original reading of "The Commandments of Human Relations for Leaders." The white-robed, candle light service, emphasizing the ideals of the sorority — Finer Womanhood, Sisterly Love and Scholarship, followed.

From Saturday (the 24th) when the groups holds its Founder's Day Luncheon at Wilson's Restaurant, through August 8th, when the Boule is held at national headquarters, New Hampshire Avenue, Washington, a star-spangled program will mark the half century of service of the dedicated group.

At the luncheon tomorrow, Alpha Zeta Chapter will be host to members of Gamma chapter of Morgan State College, Nu Gamma Chapter of Coppin State College, Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity members, and the I. Z. Youth Group.

The luncheon will also have as guests, friends of the soror.

• • •

Basileus Catherine Neal will be mistress of ceremonies, and the special feature will be a mini extravaganza of poetry and song depicting the five decades of the sorority. Dramatic readings will be by Sorors Ruth M. Cleaver, Mildred Williams, Althea Cornish, Corheda Better and Katharine O. Johnson.

The musical numbers will be by Sorors Linda Johnson, Winnie Booker, Beatrice Pitts, Catherine Neal and the Gamma Chapter Chorus.

Torch bearers will be Sorors Elizabeth Demby, Emma Dudley, Jane Harrison, Sandra East, Doris Howell, Edna D. Johnson, Annie Johnson, Alice Hall and Foldia Ford.

Sorors Ruth Russell, Emma Dudley and Geraldine Powell will present the "golden ring" symbol of world-horizons in service.

The extravaganza, written by Soror Ruth Cleaver, will also be directed by Mrs. Cleaver, and presented as a tribute to Founder Arizona Cleaver Stemons, who will be guest of honor at the luncheon.

• • •

Other items on schedule for the Golden Anniversary celebration include Finer Womanhood Week, beginning on February 22rd and closing with a tea in Union Baptist Church Center on March 1.

The Zeta Educational and Tutorial Center, headed by Soror Beatrice Pitts, will hold an exhibit and open house at the Lafayette Square Community Center the first week of June.

Special efforts are being made by Sorors Mary Hurt, national chairman, and Thelma Ashe, local chairman, who have collected food, clothing and games for a family selected by the national body and adopted by the Baltimore chapter.

The celebration will include a recreation element when the chapter entertains at a Spring dance on April 17 at Mardel's West Wing. Soror Carrie D. Jackson is chairman for this event.

Present at the Monday session were:

Sorors Thelma Ashe, Roberta Clark, Ruth M. Cleaver, Elinor Colvin, Althea Cornish, Isolene Crowner, Elizabeth Demby, Catherine Dixon, Eva Dowd, Emma Dudley, Sandra East, Melba Faison, Mary Fields, May Fortune, Mary Frazier, Alice Hall, Beatrice Hall, Jane U. Harrison, Sorors Doris Howell, Mary Hurt, Carrie Dorsey Jackson, Annie Johnson, Edna DeCoursey Johnson, Frances Johnson, Katharine O. Johnson, Angie McClain, Catherine Neal, Hazel Phillips, Beatrice Pitts, Geraldine Powell, Ruth Russell, Roberta Nathalia, Bettina Scott, Naomi Smith, Mary Taylor, Jessye Valentine, Eula Mae Watts, Mamie Williams and Mildred Andrews Williams.

• • •

Also celebrating Founder's Day at a luncheon on Saturday will be Iota Chapter of Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority, which will be holding forth at the Sheraton Inn.

Speaker will be Mrs. Pearl Cole Brackett, assistant superintendent in charge of community schools. Mrs. Iona S. McQuay is chairman. Iota chapter is headed by Mrs. Imogene B. Douglass.

"Twas a regular "Love In" . . . that first meeting of the year for the Baltimore Chapter of Girl Friends, Saturday. But then, they are a pretty loving bunch, anyway. May Williams and Doris Wheeler were the hostesses. The Caesar Room of Holiday Inn was the place. And cocktails, luncheon and a reports hearing, the motif.

Catherine Wilson was absent. She had just flown in from Europe and was too pooped to make a move. But Margaret Driver, back from England and France was on target . . . looking for the world like a Parisian model in all white: white wool shirt frock, white mink hat, white mink coat and a dot of black in shoes and bag.

Gwendolyn Roper was out, planning a few days in the hospital for a check-up.

But about were Bernice Chatman, Georgeanna Chester, Amanda Davis, Catherine Law (current president); Gwendolyn Lynch, Mae Parrott, Agnes Patterson, Maizie Rea, Irma Roy, Gaynell Spaulding, who has also just returned from jaunting about the world; Elizabeth Stewart, Amota Wheatley, Vera Williams, Theda Wilson and Lula Mackay.

The Clifton Greens (Hooks and Hattie), along with their petit daughter, 18-month old Stephanie Michelle, "warmed" their lovely new home on Rheims Road in Baltimore County, recently.

The affair was gala with relatives, neighbors and friends.

The beautiful people who came (many bearing gifts) included:

The Edward Bushes, the Robert Knights, the Harry Fergusons, the Robert Olivers, Elmer Carroll, Mis Gretchen Cephas, the James Thornlons and daughter, Lisa; and son, Andre, the Glord McGuires, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Nelson, Mrs. Clara Armour and daughter, Karen;

Mrs. Velma Jackson, Mrs. Victoria Butler, Mrs. Paulette Holmes, Mrs. Margaret Williams, Frank Waterhouse, Mrs. Emma Brower, Anthony Powell, Miss Inez Washington, the Lee Lewises.

Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ceghas Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. William Dicus, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Howard, the Alonza Kilgores, Willie Curbean and the Joseph Mellos.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Bertha Robinson, Mrs. Benito Lake and daughter, Bronte, all of Cambridge; the Kenneth Miors (Jean) of Washington, D.C. and Miss Gloria Ennels of Aberdeen, Md.

I have to back-track now and pick up the holiday doings of the Baltimore chapter of Epicureans, who began with a party for their husbands in the form of a delightful evening at the Bolton Hill Dinner Theatre. They saw the "Crack of Dawn," which gave them entrance into the holidays with laughter.

At year's end, Hostesses Dot Johnston and Sadie Jenkins entertained Eppies and guests in the Warwick Room of Warren House. The girls donned most fashionable pants ensembles, jump suits and maxi skirts for an afternoon at cocktails, dining and dancing, music and conversation and a exchange of gorgeous gifts among members and presentation to guests.

The afternoon ended with champagne toasts by Guests Stevie Harris and T'Jon Hill and the traditional singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Outfits were dazzling. Frances Henderson was garbed in a beautiful bright red pants set. Kay Carter's pearls against not black velvet pants outfit drew continuous compliments. Hostess Dot Johnston in red woolen maxi dress, with gold trim and gold slippers made her an effective Santa Baby . . . not to mention the sack flung on her back filled with an sorts of goodies for the group. Hostess Sadie Jenkins wore white pants ensemble which had a crocheted top.

Engies about were Barbara Bennett, Elise Clarke, Gladys Daniels, Phyllis Diggs, Sadie Jenkins, Dorothy Johnston, Bettye Moore, Audrey Pinderhughes, Anabel Rawlings, Nikki Randolph and Marita Stokes.

Guests were Blanche Beckham, Miriam Brown, Kay Carter, Juanita Harris, Stevie Harris, Frances Henderson, T'Jon Hill, Ruth Jennifer.

Also Bernice McDaniels, Christine Moore, Clarice Parrish, Louise Robinson, Esther Simmons, Delores Sykes, Ruth Tonkins and Anita Watson.
