FASHION NOTE: Light up a winter day with vibrantly expressive jewelry worn with dazzling originality. Jewelry above is from Peter Linderman. Gold bells shower a bedazzlement of diamonds dangling on flexible pistles, and matching earrings. A frisky pair of minks and a slyest of foxes, splurging rubies and diamonds, sapphires and emeralds spark the second hat.

Light Housekeeping

By LULA MACKAY

With new nudity, new freedom and new fashion ideas showered upon us, even the most staid have become accustomed to the bras-less look and will soon be accepting the total freedom idea also. In New York, last week, Dorothy Pollack, president in charge of advertising for Formfit Rogers, told fashion writers from across the country that it was a shock to the foundation industry to face the fact that lot of customers had only worn girdles to hold up their stockings, and bras, because like white gloves, they were good manners.

"Facts are facts," Mrs. Pollack said. "It is not only Twiggy, but a lot of Totie Fields types too running around in stockings to the waist and easy little A-line dresses. To fat and skinny, tall and short, rich and poor, old and young, the word is 'freedom,' and freedom is here to stay." Formfit Rogers previewed a new piece, not available yet, but which may be on the market sometime after May. The new "Total Body"-is in one size which fits all. It is designed to be as comfortable as skin, distributes flesh evenly over the body without ridge or rolls anywhere and can be worn without a bra and girdle.

Total Body will come in color... in various weights and textures, and can become a woman's uniform that can be worn during the day, for lounging and for entertaining. What goes over it will indicate the occasion. It can be a little Chifon top, a wrap around skirt, a little coat, a poncho, or whatever you like.

The Beauty Bit: There's no doubt that wigs and hair pieces are great beauty insurance. ...but they can also be beauty destroyers.

In the first place they may promote perspiration, which, may in turn promote complexion problems.

Your hair, if you use a wig, should have frequent shampoos, but too often washing may strip the hair of oils that keep it healthy.

Wash often, but use a very mild shampoo, baby shampoo for example.

What's New? I'm a buff for the comforts of bed. With remote control of the television, a couple of thermos bottles (hot and cold) on the night table and a batch of reading matter hand I am in Seventh Heaven for hours. Now comes another gadget to add to my joys: an alarm clock on the ceiling. With a flick of a switch, one can project the time on the ceiling at night. The little inventior makes it possible to know the hour with out rolling over, stretching the neck, or fumbling for a lamp.

PTA group denounces aid to private schools

By unanimous action the Executive Board of the Baltimore City Council of Parent-Teachers Associations (BCC) has voted to join the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers in opposition to "legislation designed to provide public funds for any educational effort other than that offered in the public institutions of Maryland."

"State aid to non-public schools," declared the Executive Board, "is unconstitutional and contrary to the principle of separation of church and state.

"Use of public money for non-public purposes is class legislation since poor children are denied the opportunity to attend private schools. The City is in dire need of tax funds to improve its schools, and the use of these funds to finance non-public schools will weaken inner-city education.

• • •

"To give public funds to private and parochial schools, furthermore, promotes segregation of the races and undemocratically and artificially divides the rich from the poor."

The BCC PTA voted to register its strong opposition to the public and to the members of the state legislature and to work actively to defeat the bill to provide state aid to non-public schools.

Visitors report due in Feb.

The Baltimore Area Convention and Visitors Council will release its annual report for 1969 at a luncheon scheduled to begin at noon, Monday, Feb. 2, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

The BACVC, established in Sept., 1968 to promote and stimulate convention and tourist business in the Baltimore area, will distribute brochure copies of the 1969 annual report at the luncheon.

A 20-minute color slide show, narrated by Lou Corbin, news commentator from Baltimore Radio Station WFBR, will explain the work of the council over the past year.

Lloyd H. Denton, executive director of the Convention and Visitors Council, said some 200 members and guests are expected to attend the luncheon in the Lord Baltimore ballroom.

Tickets are $5 per person. The BACVC's second annual Monument Award will be presented at the luncheon meeting. The Council bestows the award on an individual or organization judged to have made an outstanding contribution toward promoting convention and tourist business and attractions in the Baltimore area during the year.

For ticket information For ticket information about the meeting contact the BACVC's offices located at 102 St. Paul Street.
