Bobby Seale heard in trial of 'Chicago 7'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Black Panther Chairman Bobby Seale was whisked from a jail cell in San Francisco to one in Chicago Tuesday night in order that he might testify in the trial of the "Chicago Seven."

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman Tuesday granted a defense motion to allow Seale to testify in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Seale was removed from his cell at the San Francisco County Jail, where he has been awaiting extradition to Connecticut on a murder charge, at 11 p.m. Tuesday night.

Wednesday he was reported lodged in the 21st floor lockup of the Chicago Federal Building where the trial is in progress. Seale's attorney, Charles Garry of San Francisco, was in the courtroom.

Seale was at one time a defendant in the trial. But he was so outspoken in his insistence on acting as his own attorney that Judge Hoffman at one point ordered him bound and gagged and then declared a mistrial in his case.

Morgan-Hopkins Co-Op planned

Plans are underway to set up a cooperative program in the Social Science Area between Morgan State College and the Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Nirmal K. Sinha, chairman of the Department of Sociology at Morgan, has begun arrangements to have two sociology majors attend a class in Social Theory at the Hopkins while the cooperative proposal is being studied.

Dr. Allyn W. Kimball, Hopkins dean, stated in his letter to Dr. Sinha that he hopes "this will be the beginning of an expansive relationship."

Dr. Harold Delaney's former dean of the College at Morgan began the initial discussion of this cooperative program with the Hopkins. Dr. Sinha hopes to complete the arrangements.

* * *

Morgan already has cooperative programs with Goucher and Loyola, both private colleges, and Carolina Bowie, Salisbury, Towson, and Frostburg, all state colleges.

Freshmen are not eligible to participate in these already established programs.

Students, also, may not take a course in a private college that is offered at Morgan.

However, a student may take any course at another state college whether or not it is offered at Morgan.

Undergraduate students may now purse 24 credits or three semesters of full-time work at another institution. Graduate students are limited to 12 credit hours.
