WELL-WISHERS packed the banquet hall of Blue Crest North for the Salute to Senator Verda F. Welcome in Baltimore, Friday evening.

750 pay tribute to Senator Welcome

R. Julian, city councilman, and Mrs. Welcome has also noted it.

Dr. Mildred Otenasek, co-chairman, State Democratic Committee, and who was credited with inspiring Sen. Welcome to enter politics, gave an original ode, citing the honoree as "A great lady."

Dr. Emerson C. Walden presided at what he called the "I Love Verda" show. Gliding deftly from a light touch of proclaiming that they would get the Senator on the road to a repeat performance in Annapolis, the toastmaster struck a solemn note of proclaiming "Who else is going to give us the bonanza of devotion to duty, courageous leadership, compassion for the underdog, warmth and beauty as does Senator Welcome?"

Dr. Walden had been introduced by Mrs. Frederick Demond.

In her response, Senator Welcome said:

"Once again you have honored me by your presence and with your support, and once again I am overwhelmed, almost beyond words. I am more than thankful and appreciative to you. I feel like getting on my knees and thanking God for this opportunity of community backing, for the city-wide committee which has worked so hard, against great odds this year.

"As I look around, I see faces that have stood by me ever since I entered political life. I see persons who have worked in my every struggle to give people-centered, clean, homes and militant representation to this district.

"I see people who have guarded me when they felt I was physically endangered. I see ministers who have organized community support for bills I have introduced in the legislature. I see students representing other students, down the years, who have worked in my campaigns.

"I shall continue to work to make our state, city and district the best place possible for all of us to live, work, travel and play. I shall work to see that black children and white children receive the best education.

"I shall fight to see, especially, that Coppin and Morgan State Colleges get their fair share of the educational pig. I shall continue the fight for fair employment wherever taxpayers' money is spent, regardless of race or color. I shall work to bring more industry and financial help to the City of Baltimore, and shall support programs to keep our Neighborhoods clean and safe."

Senator Welcome gave specific praise to the women, without who no politician can succeed.

She had been introduced by Mrs. A. Paul Moss, vice president of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers, who had also pointed to the power of women in the political arena. Not only, said Mrs. Moss, is the larger percentage (52 per cent) of those registered in the State women; but also the larger percent of voters (54 are women.

Participants on the program also included Actor-Singer Joseph S. Eubanks, who sang "Til There Was You" and "You'll Never Walk Alone." Mr. Eubanks was accompanied by Mack Stathum, pianist. William H. Birche and the Cabinos Combo provided the dinner music, instrumental and vocal.

The invocation was given by the Rev. O. St. Clair Franklin. Senator Harry Hughes, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee on which Senator Welcome serves, gave greetings for Governor Mandell. Greetings came also from Congressman Samuel Friedel.

• • •

While there were telegrams of regrets from Senator Fred Harris, Mayor and Mrs. Walter Washington and Congresswoman Shirley Chisolm, all of Washington; and Paul E. Buke, executive director, Maryland Safety Traffic Commission, officials present included:

Delegate Lora K. Lee, delegate Troy Brailey, Senator "Bip" Hodges, Senator Carl Proudlow, Delegate Floyd Adams, Delegate Rosalie Abrans, Dr. Thomas D. Sheldon, superintendent of schools, Sen. Joseph Curran, Sen. James Pine, Nick Panora, Baltimore chapter AFL-CIO; Charlie Della, AFL-CIO;

Sen. William James, Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, Morgan State College, Sen. Julian Lapides, Del. John Krug, Del. Paul Sarbanes, Del. Martin Kircher, Del. Thomas J. S. Waxter, Jr., Sen. Harry J. Connolly.
