Mike Cuellar inks 1970 Oriole pact

Mike Cuellar has signed his 1970 contract with the Baltimore Orioles, according to Harry Dalton, the club's director of player personnel.

Cuellar experienced the best season of his baseball career in 1969 when he set the all-time Orioles victory record with 23 wins. He, along with Detroit's Denny McLain, was declared co-winner of the Cy Young award and was named left-handed pitcher on The Sporting News American League all-star team.

He led the Orioles staff in strikeouts with 182, complete games with 18, tying a team record, and innings pitched, with 291, another club mark.

Cuellar pitched the only Baltimore victory against the Mets in last year's World Series, when he hurled a 4-1 win in the opening game.

Quiet man Ellis may be surprise

There is an age-old adage that the world should beware the man who has little to say.

For that reason, the huge screens at D.C. National Guard Armory, and at Baltimore's Civic Center Monday night, could turn up one of the most stunning surprises of recent boxing history. Colormedia of Maryland is producing the closed-circuit telecast of the Joe Frazier-Jimmy Ellis world heavyweight championship fight, and judging from the pre-battle exchanges it figures to be a terribly one-sided affair.

* * *

Frazier has been quoted by the news media from coast to coast and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. The New York Pennsylvania titleholder has held most of the publicity and virtually all of the interview time in newspapers and on the air.

Ellis, on the other hand, has been conspicuous by his silence. In this, he is the quiet man who must bear watching.

* * *

Frazier is the bruising puncher, the constantly-charging adversary who gladly accepts two blows, sometimes three, for the sake of landing one of his own. His power and agressiveness stamp him as the overwhelming favorite—at odds of four to one up to six to one.

But Ellis, the WBA champion, isn't fazed. When one is able to get him to something, he points out that he has been the "underdog all my life."

* * *

In every one of his fights—against Leotis Martin, Oscar Bonavena and Jerry Quarry—he was the underdog, but he took all three and the WBA title. In his only defense, he won a close decision from Floyd Patterson.

"A lot of people thought I lost to Patterson," Ellis says, "but I wish they'd watch the film without listening to any announcer so they could get an unbiased viewpoint."

After that bout, Jimmy went into training three times for bouts that never happened. Henry Cooper had to pull out when he tore a ligament in his knee, Bob Cleroux lost a tuneup and a bout with Gregorio Peralta was mishandled by the promoter.

* * *

"I've been an underdog all my life and had so many disappointments," Ellis says, "nothing can bother me now. I'm in boxing for the money, but I haven't changed much since winning the title except to buy a new car and home.

"I still enjoy hunting and singing with the church choir on Sunday, but someday I'm going to want folks to tell my children their daddy was a great fithter." . . . LACY

Clippers seek 9th straight

Unbeaten in their last eight starts, the revitalized Baltimore Clippers entertain the Quebec Aces at the Civic Center tomorrow (Saturday) night in a special Valentine's holiday attraction.

The clash with the shifty Aces will be the second of a strenuous three-game weekend for coach Rudy Migay's Clippers who are in a hot fight for second place in the AHL West. Tonight (Friday) the skaters travel to Springfield in search of their 9th in a row, and Sunday night they play in Buffalo against the Western Division leading Bisons.

The Clippers picked up additional playing strength this week when Pittsburgh sent rugged defenseman Duncan McCallum here.

McCallum saw brief duty with the Clippers two years ago and played a full schedule with the Penguins last winter. He was drafted by Providence this summer, but refused to report, and Pittsburgh re-acquired his contract last month.

Frederick host to women's event

FREDERICK, Md. — Preparations are underway for this historic community to host the third annual International Women's Cross Country championships on March 21.

Frederick, for several years a center of cross country running, was selected as host of the first such event to be held in the United States.

Under the auspices of the Frederick Jaycees and the International Amateur Athletic Federation, teams of young ladies from at least a dozen nations around the world are expected to converge on Frederick for a two-and-one-half-mile run to determine the women's cross country champion of the world.

According to Robert E. James Jr., Jaycee Chairman of the event, teams from as far away as Australia have expressed interest in the event, with several inquiries coming from European nations as well.

ECU Must Recruit Minorities

RALEIGH, N.C. — The federal government has told East Carolina University to emphasize the recruitment of minority group students, Dr. Leo Jenkins disclosed Monday.

Jenkins, who disclosed the federal "recommendations" following a trustee meeting here, said the Greenville school was giving "very serious study" to the matter.

Cream of big league teams to aid King Memorial fund

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Forty-eight all-star players will kick off major league baseball's second hundred years htre March 28 in a unique, one-time game pitting the best of both leagues' Western division against the best of both leagues' Eastern teams, which will kick off baseball's second hundred years, will benefit the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Center being established in Atlanta, Ga. It is sponsored by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and has been sanctioned by commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the Players' Association.

The team selected by the Southern California Sportscasters Association and the local chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, will be managed by Roy Campanella for the East, and Joe Dimaggio for the West.

Campanella led the old Brooklyn Dodgers in the 40's and 50's while Dimaggio, who recently held a front-office job for the Oakland Athletics, starred for the New York Yankees in the same period.

The classic will be staged in Dodger Stadium on March 28. Coaches will be announced later.

Two players were chosen from every club except the San Francisco Giants, who will be touring Japan at that time. Willie Mays and Willie McCovey were selected for the team, but their place will be taken by a third player from two other Western clubs.

Joseph D. Peters, director of the SCLC's Sports Projects Committee, explained at a news conference that selections of the two 24-man squads attempted to achieve a balance between the top players on each team and the best players at each position.

Md. Senate adopts censure of S. Africa over Ashe

AFRO Bureau

ANNAPOLIS—The senate adopted Thursday afternoon a joint resolution censoring South Africa for refusing Author Ashe, American tennis champion, a visa to that country, but not without a bit of a hassle.

Senator Robert P. Dean (D. Eastern Shore) rose to object that this was an international affair and charged that Mr. Ashe was not being refused a visa because he is black.

"The only reason his visa was not given is because people go to South Africa and try to meddle in their policy affairs," he stated.

Senator Dean then requested that his resolution endorsing the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court be acted on.

Senator Julis L. Lapides (D. 2nd Balto.), sponsor of the Ashe resolution, took the floor to defend the measure, and said it is important to put the people on notice about the senate's feelings.

At this point, Senator Frederick C. Malkus Jr., (D. Eastern Shore) got into a debate stating the floor of the senate was no place for that resolution.

He pointed out he had a resolution at one time condemning Israel for an attack on an American ship during which 34 Americans were killed, but decided against it. He said that if the senate passed this one then he would bring his out.

They adopted the resolution by a close voice vote. It now goes to the house of delegates for action there.

Senator Dean then rose to justify his stand, pointing out that he comes from a very conservative section of the state but "accepts the laws of the land."

The senator said he rents to a black family within 300 yards of his own home, but charged that several of his colleagues will not and would not live in an integrated neighborhood.

The senate then charged that if there were ever to be a correction of the racial situation in the state, the designation of race, color and creed would have to be eliminated.

U.S. asks court reverse Carswell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has asked the Supreme Court to overturn a lower court decision on working mothers endorsed by Judge G. Harrold Carswell. It said the decision violated the 1964 Civil Rights Act and is contrary to government welfare policy.

Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold, on behalf of the department, asked the court to rule that the Martin Maletta Corp. violated federal law by refusing to hire Mrs. Ida Phillips, mother of two preschool children, as an assembly-trainee in its Orland, Fla. plant.

The case was cited as evidence Carswell was biased against women by author Betty Friedan and Rep. Patsy T. Mink, D-Hawaii, at recent Senate hearings on Carswell's Supreme Court nomination.

In its friend-of-the-court brief, the government said the ruling, if left standing, "will cause unwarranted hardship to families in which the mother is the only available bread winner."

Griswold argued that an employer violates the 1964 Civil rights act if he hires men with preschool children and refuses to hire women in the same circumstances.

Federal District Judge George. C. Young, of Orlando, however, found no discrimination in the suit brought by Mrs. Phillips, with the aid of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund. His ruling was upheld by a three-judge panel of the 5th Circuit.

* * *

Later the full circuit voted 10-3 against a rehearing for Mrs. Phillips, with Carswell voting with the majority as an appeals judge.

Although Mrs. Phillips is white, the LDF supported the case because they interpreted the ruling to provide particular hardships for working black mothers.

* * *

Mrs. Phillips' appeal, accompanied by the government brief, will soon be acted on by the high court.

The 5th Circuit panel held that since there was no discrimination against women as a whole, the civil rights law was not violated. The 1964 statute makes it unlawful employment practice to discriminate against any individual on account of race, color, religion, sex or national orgin.

* * *

The government brief said the lower court decision runs against federal policy which encourages unemployed women with preschoolers to seek gainful employment as an alternative to welfare payments."

Griswold added that the government has a financial stake in the decision since it provides most of the funds for aid to dependent children programs in the states.
