Gas leak hero 'just doing my job'

"All of a sudden there was a big flash and then everything disappeared in smoke."

Describing the above scene is Frederick Edge, one of the three workmen who closed the poisonous gas leak at the Glidden-Durkee plant in the Curtis Bay area this past Sunday afternoon.

The leak spread a white cloud of foul-smelling gas over most of the Curtis Bay area driving many residents back into their homes.

Mr. Edge, 29, told the AFRO at his home in the 1800 Bl. N. Durham St. that he really doesn't consider himself "any kind of a hero."

"I was really just doing my job. Me and the two other guys had to put on new gas masks and close the leak. That's what we were trained for," continued the modest Mr. Edge, father of two young boys Michael, 7, and Frederick Jr., 4. His wife, Mrs. Mary Edge is 28.

The other two workmen involved in the incident were Richard Tamulonis, 20, of the 3700 bl. Fairhaven Ave., and Harold Higgins, 25, of the 4000 bl. Eight St.

• • •

"After we got our new masks we shut the valves after a few minites. The stuff was bothering me so much that I fell off the ten foot ladder leading to the pipeline," says Mr. Edge.

All three workmen were taken to South Baltimore General Hospital for treatment of gas inhalation. They were all later, released.

Mr. Edge, who has worked at the plant for four months, was also treated for a back injury from the fall he took. As he spoke to the AFRO he was still in the obvious pain but he stated that x-rays have revealed no serious injury thus far.

A spokesman for the Glidden-Durkee Division, Charles C. Kreis, told the AFRO that the incident involved a leak in a one-inch pipeline.

• • •

The substance that leaked from the pipe was tilaanium dioxide liquid, used to produce a white pigment for paints and paper. It immediately turned into a gaseous misture on contact with moisture in the air according to Mr. Kreis.

City firemen called to the scene poured water on the leaking liquid, which accelerated the vaporizing process and helped to spread the fumes said Mr. Kreis. The leakage amounted to several hundred gallons.

Brown prof new Hampton president

HAMPTON, Va. (UPI) — Hampton Institute announced Thursday the appointment of Dr. Roy D. Hudson, former associate dean of the Graduate School of Brown University, Providence, R.I., would succeed Dr. Jerome Holland as president.

Dr. Holland left Hampton Institute April 8 to become U.S. ambassador to Sweden. Dr. G. Robert Cotton, a member of the board of trustees, is serving as acting president until Hudson, 39, assumes the post Aug. 1.

Hudson, a neuropharmacologist and native of Chattanooga, Tenn., becomes 10th president of the 102-year-old Virginia institution.

He has been on the faculty at Brown University since 1966 as an associate professor of pharmacology, also serving briefly as associate dean of the graduate school.

Prior to joining Brown University, he served as assistant professor of pharmacology at the University of Michigan Medical School, Ann Arbor.

A 1955 graduate of Livingstone College, Salisbury, N.C. Hudson was presented his alma mater's distinguished achievement medallion in 1969, anaward given to only four others.

He received his master's degree in endocrinology in 1957 and his Ph.D. in 1962 from the University of Michigan.

Like Holland, who was a football star in the Ivy League, Hudson was an All-Conference athlete at Livingstone College and was named last year to the school's All-time Football Team.

COLEMAN — A Birthday Tribute to the memory of our loved one LEON, who departed this life July 28 1968, who's birthday is May 16.
Why did he go, when life seemed fair
And no dark clouds were near.
To dim the brightness of our lives,
Or start the bitter tears.
We thought not at the close of day,
When night veiled earth and sky,
That one so full of life and hope,
Would breathe his last goodby.
Loving Mother and Father
Sister-HELMA, Brother-RUFUS, JR. A HOST OF DEVOTED FRIENDS

But O how happy we would be
If we had you back again.

I'll whisper soft and low:
"Please God, let me have my loved one back,
Back, because I want him so."

Faith and courage for tomorrow."

Beauty of heart and soul.
