made her the wife of Leroy A. Mercer of New York, Washington and St. Croix, the Virgin Islands.

Miss Welcome, now wearing an organza gown, the lace bodice and sleeves paved with clusters of seed pearls, and featuring a full train and worn with a lace mantilla.

She was attended by Miss LaVerne Wallace of Baltimore, whose gown was in yellow eyelet, the embroidery in gold, with matching accessories.

Best man was Fenris White of St. Croix, now of New York City.

For the affair, Maryland Senator (Verda) Welcome, mother of the bride, wore an ensemble in two shades of pink silk, with pink shoes and matching bag.

Mr. Mercer, a graduate of City College, New York, and the New York Law School, is director of Legal Aid Services in St. Croix. He is the son of Mrs. Claudia Mercer of that city.

The new Mrs. Mercer graduated from Morgan State College, Baltimore, Howard University Law School, and is currently an assistant to the Administrator of Housing and Planning for the Federal Government. She has accepted a position as Housing Administrative director in St. Croix. Both she and her husband plan later to go into private practice in St. Croix.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were Dr. Ralph Abernathy, Dr. Walter Young, the Rev. Andrew Young, the Rev. Charles Fields, and J. T. Johnson of Atlanta, Ga.

O. T. Wells, Mrs. Gloria Branker and Miss Nina Johnson of New York City; Dr. Paul E. Miller, dean of the Law School of Howard University, Jeanus Parks, executive director of the United Planning Organization, Washington;

Also Assistant Post Master General Ronald Lee of Washington; Benjamin Darden, director of the Office of Aviation Policy and Plans of the Federal Administration; Marshall Luke Moore, Civil Rights commissioner, also Washington;

Dr. Rodney Sodio, Dr. Lawrence Plaskett, Senator Gus Doward, all of St. Croix; Assistant Commissioner Vernon Branker, Public Safety, St. Croix; Mrs. Annie De Chaviet of St. Croix;

And from Baltimore Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Monroe; Dr. and Mrs. C. James Fleming, Mrs. Marion Croxton, Mrs. Dora Hutchinson, Mrs. Robert Atkins, Mrs. Rose Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Morgan, Mrs. Janice Marron, Miss Mary Marron, Senator and Mrs. Julian Lapedias, Delegate and Mrs. Walter Orlinsky, Mrs. Fannie Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Mackay.

Saurday morning the newlyweds will leave for St. Croix.

JUNE 1

A reception honoring "Our Finest Fifteen" — the fifteen Sitting Judges of Baltimore City running for election — will be held at the Civic Center, at 6 p.m.

JUNE 14

The Kidney Foundation of Maryland will receive all funds raised by a $100.00-a-couple black tie preview party in the enlarged and refurbished Playboy Club at 25 Light St.

Invitations have been sent to friends of the Kidney Foundation and Playboy Club keyholders by Hugh Hefner, President of the International chain of nightclubs. Others who would like to attend the benefit preview may make reservations through the Kidney Foundation of Maryland, 870 Park Avenue in Baltimore, or by telephoning 752-4230.

Phi Delta Kappas in D.C. for Founder's Day luncheon

Members of Gamma Chapter of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa joined other sisters in Washington, Saturday, at the luncheon given by Beta chapter to honor the founders of the organization.

Phi Delta Kappa marked its 47th anniversary, and has grown to 76 chapters of women engaged in the teaching profession.

Other spring activities of Gamma chapter included a "Teach-A-Rama" on the campus of Morgan State College. This was conducted by a committee headed by Soror Theda Wilson.

Adults Beat Inflation! Increase Your Earning Power This Summer, Enroll At Balto. Community College

FRIENDLY COUNSELING — Both instructors and counsellors at the Community College of Baltimore are friendly and helpful. They assist you in selecting the summer courses you want and need to help you move toward goals in a career or acquire credits for transferring to a four-year college or professional school.

300 Profitable Classes Given

By DR. SIDNEY KOBRE
Director, News Bureau
Community College of Baltimore

You have heard much about inflation, and, no doubt you have observed the rising tide of prices for everything. And you have felt the effects on your pocketbooks already.

What are you doing about this threat to your well-being and to that of your family?

There are some steps you can take to meet this situation. You can groan and complain about it. You can take your pen in hand, or warm up your typewriter, to compose a special delivery letter to your representatives in congress.

But for the long-pull, you had better increase your earning power. That's one sure way to get more income to meet the price-rise of almost every commodity and service.

Improve your economic position — and earn more. Enroll in the summer sessions of the Community College of Baltimore. You may take courses which will improve your skills, deepen your knowledge and widen your perspective. Your ability to think about and solve business and professional problems will be increased.

In the long-run you will be worth more to your employer. Pay raises and promotions and better jobs come to those who are trained.

And whether living costs go down or up, up, up — you've improved your economic position.

As your schooling increases, so do your earnings.

Director Joseph S. Culotta of the Summer Sessions at CCB, has set up more than 120 courses, from which you can choose to fit your needs. He and his staff of capable instructors are offering 300 classes for the convenience of adults who work. In the morning, classes are held between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. and in the evening from 7 to 9 p.m.

The first summer session will run from June 17 to July 23, with registration June 15 and 16. The second session is held from July 27 to August 28, with registration, July 23-24.

Mail the coupon below for all courses and times given.

Variety of Business Courses Taught by Capable Instructors

Trained personnel, who have taken college courses in general as well as specialized business subjects are in demand in the Baltimore metropolitan area today.

This summer, men and women who are employed in local business and industry or in professional occupations are returning to study at the CCB Liberty Campus. They find the hours convenient, for the classes are given in the morning and evening, and the adults can continue to work while adding to their education.

Some of the students get an overall view of the business world in the business administration or economics courses, while others study accounting or learn about data processing — fast-growing occupation. Other adults study psychology to learn about human motivations, and some study business law. Some are attracted to the communication arts, study advertising.

A number of adults are enrolling in the engineering courses — construction, electronics, drafting or surveying.

Cultural Programs Give Background

The business and professional worlds are changing rapidly today, and those in business and the professions need to understand these changes and be aware of the impact on their occupations. Alert employees, therefore, seek to broaden their backgrounds to meet the new challenges.

Many workers in downtown and suburban factories and offices are enrolling now in the summer sessions of the Community College of Baltimore. They will study geography, history and the population crisis. Others interested in the latest findings in psychology and human relations — knowledge of value in all commercial work.

Adults will enroll in courses in the city and race relations as well as in sociology. Desiring to improve their English, they will take English composition or advance courses in writing and literature.

Informal Courses Appeal to Many

Many adults in the Baltimore metropolitan area are not so much interested in college credits as in improving their skills and in broadening their general knowledge during the summer. Others desire to add to their knowledge of a specific business.

Interested in the arts, a number of men and women, and recent high school grads, want to deepen their appreciation of films, theatre, music, and poetry.

Eighteen informal courses are given this summer at CCB by the Community Services Division, headed by Dean Andrew M. Bohle, and manned by a knowledgeable, experienced staff of instructors.

Prof. Jerry Allen gives one course in basic photography and another in cinema classics. Miss Deborah London, assisted by others, presents "Musical Theatre." Students also enroll in "Summer Theatre" by Prof. Forrest D. Gossage and Jerry T. Wood, while others attended the course in "Theatrical Production."

Prof. G. David Nottingham gives an excellent course in "Fundamentals of Television Production," and Marian Buchman presents "Traditions in Modern Poetry." Mail the free coupon below for course list.

'Zero in and do own thing' Mrs. Lee advises Society

There is need for black citizens of Baltimore to come to grips with the ills of housing, unemployment, crime, apathy in voting, low salary scale and unsatisfactory schools, the Hon. Lena K. Lee, said here, Sunday.

"He must develop his own design and do what the youth refer to as 'zeroing in' with an understanding of the political processes and new technics for dealing with economic and social matters," the speaker said.

Mrs. Lee was addressing the guests at the Fifth Annual Closing Meeting of the Herbert M. Frisby Historical Society held at the Belvedere Hotel, Sunday.

She pointed out that in the typical city of today, 40 per cent of the housing is unfit, and more than 3,000 persons are on waiting lists of public housing.

Of the work force, she said, 4.5 are unemployed, and 2.3 of these are black. The critical point is that 90 per cent are in the 18-25 year old group.

Many areas, Mrs. Lee added, are so far advanced that the black man cannot hope to catch up. It is the opinion of experts, she said, that the black man must develop his own design in new areas where new problems exist and critical needs must be met. The building trades, pollution and the proper use of political processes offer enormous opportunities for progress, she said. In these areas he can best attack the system and make it work for him, Mrs. Lee suggested.

"However, nothing can be gained unless there is renewed concern on the part of black people," the speaker continued. As an illustration she used the retreat on the part of the large silent minority, and charged this group has lost its sense of outrage.

Recently, she said, one of the leading citizens, a developer of black history, an educator and an internationally known explorer and scientist, Dr. Herbert Frisby, was attacked in his own home and robbed. Yet, it was shocking to see the community only mildly concerned, and not one cry for vengeance made, Mrs. Lee said. She said there should have been a group offer of an award for apprehension of the intruders.

Senator Carl L. Friedler read the Senate Resolution recently adopted by the State of Maryland, honoring Dr. Herbert M. Frisby and recognizing his dedication in perpetuating the name of Matthew A. Henson as co-discoverer of the North Pole with Admiral Peary.

Dr. Frisby, who has made 22 trips to the Artic during the past 24 years, told of his expectations to close the gap of circumnagayating the Polar Region, this year with a trip to Siberia.

He also announced his gift of property to house the Historical Society's museum. The gift will be in memory of his late wife, Mrs. Annie Russell Frisby; and mother, Mrs. Ida Henry Frisby.

Mrs. William Turks was mistress of ceremonies at the meeting. Mrs. John C. Strawborn gave the occasion of the meeting. Mrs. Roland Williams presented achievement awards to H. Russell Frisby, Jr., Dwight Jefferson and Roland B. Williams.

Music was by Mrs. Mary Robinson, soloist and Miss Almira Miller, accompanist. The closing remarks were by Mrs. Charles Anderson, president of the Society.

The invocation and benediction were by the Rev. Willia T. Peters, Jr. of Grace United Presbyterian Church.

Come Sunday (the 31st) Mrs. Pearl C. Brackett, assistant superintendent of the Community Schools Division, will be speaker for the Woman's Day services at the Fourth Baptist Church in Richmond, Va.

And on June 4th, she will go to Harford County to be commencement speaker at the Edgewood High School.

The previous Wednesday evening was "Bosses' Night" with the Baltimore City Educational Secretaries Association . . . with the latter hosting a dinner session at Holiday Inn, Downtown. There were greetings by Mrs. Wilda Weisblatt, president of BCESA, and such a beautiful invocation by Mrs. Annette Johnson, principal of School No. 453, that I'd like to have you share it with the secretaries.

Petitioned Mrs. Johnson: "O God, our Heavenly Father, we call upon Thee to bless these, Thy humble servants, who are gathered here tonight, to share together, an evening of goodwill and comradeship.

"Help each of us to always be guided by the Golden Rule — 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' Help us, as bosses and secretaries, to develop a mutual understanding and respect for one another, as we go about our daily chores. But most of all, help us, as co-workers, to develop and nurture the kind of Godly love that we'll guide us toward the complete fulfillment of our goals.

"For love is provided for all, suited for all, proclaimed to all, offered to all; as free to the passing wayfarer to pluck as the stream of water is to drink."
