—Mrs. King at Morgan

While we categorically condemn all violence, as incompatible with the survival of a just, democratic and humane society, we state emphatically that aggrieved groups must be permitted to exercise their consuional rights of protest and public presentation of their grievances.

Investigatory commissions are not needed to tell a nation which spends 80 per cent of its national budget for death and destruction and only 20 per cent for life and development that it is a sick nation and in need of medical treatment.

Investigatory commissions are not needed to tell the wealthiest nation in the world that it should provide a decent income for 40 million of its citizens who are in poverty.

Investigatory commissions are not needed when the administration stifles disent, but detract its posi-sentiment.

I, like many of you, heard the president's belated remarks on last Thursday when he acknowledged what we have known for several years. Students have a right to speak, a right to dissent, and a right to be heard.

How tragic it is that the murder of students by guardsmen on college campuses had to bring him to this glaring truth! But I must hasten to add — you must not be deceived, nor must you let your focus be diverted from the fight against repression that we must continue to wage.

Challenge

In issuing you "a summons to greatness" — I challenge you to give your talents, your innovativeness, and energy to the eradication of the triple evils which are rife in our society.

I challenge you to turn your protests to actions for the state and national candidates who will see that we are extricated from our involvements in Southeast Asia.

I challenge you to accept the lucrative job with the country's largest corporations, but I also challenge you not to forget your brothers and sisters who are living below the poverty level. (Applause.)

I challenge you to work as diligently for peace as the warmakers work for war.

I challenge you to reject all vestiges of second class citizenship because America will never be what she should be until we can accept our rightful places in the country to which we have given our sons, our daughters, our husbands, and our own lives.

The summons to greatness is not a mandate from man! It is a mandate from God. I believe that God has a plan for each of our lives and if we submit ourselves to his will, we can become His instruments of peace, justice and equality.

Christ submitted himself to God's will for the redemption of man.

Mahatma Gandhi answered his summons to greatness and lived to see India freed of British colonialism.

Martin Luther King Jr. answered his summons to greatness and through his leadership of the non-violent movement in his country, in only twelve years of public life he evoked more respect for black people than a preceding century had produced.

Warning

I must warn you, however, if you answer your summons, you may be reviled.

If you answer your summons, you may be maligned.

If you answer your summons, your family may turn against you.

If you answer your summons, you may even lose your job . . .

If you answer your summons, you run the risk of being called a Communist.

If you answer your summons, you may get your home bombed.

If you answer your summons, you may have to spend time behind bars.

If you answer your summons, you may even be assassinated.

Answering your summons means standing up for truth, standing up for justice, standing up for righteousness in order to bring brotherhood and peace to this confused and troubled world of ours.

If you answer your summons, you may have to walk alone, but I can assure you if you commit yourself to the divine will in the midnight hours of your life, God will reveal to you his plan and purpose for your life.

Answering your summons requires great courage, commitment and faith: qualities usually bought with the high price of suffering and sacrifice. God needs you — each one of you to answer your summons so that his purposes for mankind and the universe may be fulfilled.

Answering the summons of greatness will bring to fruition and to the world of which my husband dreamed. To paraphrase, a world where poverty, racism and war will have been eliminated and where peace, justice and brotherhood will reign supreme.

Will you face and accept this challenge? It may lose your friends.

Nixon looks for extra money to cool hot months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration is looking for extra money to help give city youngsters good clean fun this summer and cool what two mayors say is a serious threat of hot weather rioting.

At a meeting of the President's Council on Youth Opportunity Thursday, second-echelon representatives of more than a dozen federal agencies were assigned to see if funds could be made available for more youth recreation projects this summer. The staff personnel were instructed to report back next week.

Missing numbers cause headaches

Social Security numbers missing from, and incorrect or impossible Social Security numbers appearing on employer reports submitted to the Department of Employment Security spell time, trouble and money for employers and the Department, and can affect employee unemployment insurance benefits.

Maryland employers covered by this State's Unemployment Insurance Law are required to submit Employer Reports on a quarterly basis, itemizing each employee's Social Security number, his name and the total wages paid that employee for the quarter.

Some 20,000 items, (all Social Security numbers), were reported in error during the first quarter of 1970, which ended on March 31, 1970.

Among the more common errors noted were, missing Social Security numbers, (complete blanks in the space allowed for this purpose), digits transposed or an insufficient number of digits (Social Security numbers have nine digits), and impossible Social Security numbers. An impossible Social Security number is just that; a number which could not have been assigned.

Perhaps With A Rain Dance?

SAN FRANCISCO — The Indians on Alcatraz want somebody to give them water. They say they'll run out in a few days. Spokesman Bob Bradley said Friday federal officials said they left the Indians 70,000 gallons of water, but spokesman Bob Bradley charged the amount is close to 4,000 gallons. He said it would be drained when an expected 400 persons attended Indian Liberation Day festivities Sun

Mrs. Filbert's introduces a surprising new way to eat strawberries.

Mrs. Filbert's new Strawberry Spread. A smooth, delicious blend of real strawberries and the good things that go into Mrs. Filbert's margarine.

So now you don't need cream or sugar or cereals or ice cream or shortcake to enjoy real strawberry flavor.

All you need is a piece of toast and a knife. And Mrs. Filbert's has done the same for oranges and grapes and cinnamon. So altogether there are four new Flavor Spreads; and they're all in your grocer's dairy case now. Use them on toast, waffles, and pancakes. Frost a cake or cupcakes with them. There may be ways to enjoy them we haven't even thought of yet.

Take this coupon to your grocer and start experimenting today.
