No-license fishing tops list of April violations

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Violations of Maryland game and fish laws and regulations proved costly to 131 persons during the month of April, according to the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

Figures released this week reveal that $6,817 in fines were levied against violators. These funds are placed in the Game Protection Fund and are used in the furtherance of the wildlife management program.

• • •

The most common violation was fishing without a license and resulted in 44 arrests.

"This is the most prevalent and consistent violation of the Fish Code," Lt. Col. Charles H. Milton, Chief of Law Enforcement, said. "I cannot understand why some one would not spend $4.50 for a license to keep from paying a fine that may run from $10.00 to $20.00."

• • •

Of the 131 cases heard by trial magistrates during April, 69 were for game violations. As usual spotlighting deer with firearms in possession took first place with 18 cases and running a close second with 15 violations was hunting waterfowl with the aid of bait.

Milton said 43 warning tickets were issued for border line violations and only 1 person was apprehended for littering.

U. of Md. Regents hear demands, take no action

The Board of Regents of the University of Maryland met this week with members of the Governor's Committee for the Improvement of Maryland State College to discuss the "needs" of the Eastern Shore School.

High on the agenda for the meeting was a student-parent-faculty demand that Dr. James T. Williams, president of Maryland State be replaced.

However, Dr. Williams had already announced that he would retire from his post effective Aug. 1.

With the issue of Dr. Williams already decided the Board listened politely to the demands of the Committee as read by Mrs. Muriel Cousins, committee chairwoman.

• • •

Each Board member and most of the audience had copies of the 31 page investigative study of Maryland State compiled by the Black Coalition of the University of Maryland.

The study contained many observations of the substandard conditions at the school as well as detailed information on staff, equipment and curriculum deficiencies.

• • •

No one referred to the study and with the exception of Rotan E. Lee, student leader, no one referred to what the students felt needed, wanted and should have in order to upgrade educational facilities at the college.

Instead, Committee Chairwoman Mrs. Muriel Cousins read five demands to the Board.

They included that Maryland State be given highest priority of growth and academic development; that construction planned for the school be equivalent to that of UMBC; that Board vacancies be filled by blacks; that the Board make an expression of no confidence in Charles McCormick [illegible] chairman and Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland and Board member; also that the Board forward quarterly reports to the Committee and that it makes the committee as standing committee.

• • •

In short order Dr. Louis Caplan who chaired the meeting pointed out that (1) "The Board has announced its decision to make Maryland State the Eastern Shore Branch of the University of Maryland thereby bringing it directly into the University family with priorities based on the needs of the college.

(2) "Board members are appointed by the Governor not us. (3) "Our meetings are all open to the public just come in if you want to know what we're doing we don't send anybody written reports" and (4) "its your committee we can't decide whether you'll be standing or anything else." He made no mention of the 'no confidence demand.

The Board made no specified guarantees as to what it would do to meet the needs of the college. Dr. Caplan told the group that on June 19, when the Board holds its next meeting its decisions concerning the future of Maryland State will be released. He did not elaborate on exactly what those decisions will involve.

Mr. Caplan did imply that the committee would be "involved" in the choosing of the chancellor of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore but, he did not say to what extent that involvement would effect the choosing of the man.

After the meeting Rotan E. Lee, junior, student leader told the AFRO: "Those white people on the Board are doing a lot of half-stepping. They did nothing to guarantee changes at Maryland State College.

"They came to the meeting without facts or figures because they knew they would make no commitments or be specific in dealing with the problems."

• • •

Mr. Lee added that as the meeting progressed and it became obvious that the committee members were bent on discussing "things like draperies, telephones and carpets in the dorms they were failing to meet the issues.

"We have rats, roaches and general unsanitary conditions at Maryland State," he explained. "we can't blame the white man for that. We did it. It's ridiculous for any of us to stand at that podium and accuse the Board of having caused those conditions."

• • •

In addition, Mr. Lee observed the committee voiced needs for things which "will do nothing to get better classroom facilities, more equipment to work with or a better trained instructor in that it represents all the problems of the black community."

What is needed he said is that "we stoop a little bit to conquer. The upper class, middle class, lower class and students are all represented on the committee and we can't afford a rift in a body structured to deal with the problems of Maryland State."

Despite the Board's failure to answer in specifics and the committee's failure to deal in specifics, Mr. Lee declared "The students at Maryland State are together, We need the support of the families and interested people. We won't hassle.

"The struggle for Maryland State can encompass all fronts, the immediate needs and the long range remedies, the power is in the people and if the Board and the Governor fail to make tangible changes for the good of Maryland State, changes we can see and feel, they're in for a hellava time."

MAY 29

All offices of the Department of Employment Security will be closed today, a State holiday, with the exception of the Ocean City, Md., Employment Service office which will remain open to serve job applicants in that area.

The Ocean City office will also be open Saturday, May 30.
