When the one you care for has departed,
And you sit alone and broken hearted,
There's something in a kindred mind
That always leaves a sense behind
Of true companionship, we know
Yet memory softens everything
The grave its victory — death its sting.
We, who loved, you sadly miss you,
We, who held you very dear,
And in lonely hours of thinking
Often feel your presence near.
Though God has taken you away
You are with us every day
