Continentals' weekend conclave in Annapolis

with Lula Mackay

By EDITH HOUSE

By the time you read this, things at the lovely setting of the Annapolis Hilton Inn, located directly on the waterfront, will be in full swing. This is the weekend, you'll remember, that the Baltimore Continentals are hosting the 15th annual conclave of the organization.

The happenings began on Thursday when delegates arrived from Bermuda, New York, Philadelphia, Newport News Roanoke, Twin Cities, Columbus, Ohio, Goldsboro, and Washington for a meeting of the group's central advisory committee.

Following Thursday's business meeting, the Baltimore contingent hosted a cocktail reception for the out-of-towners in one of the hotel's suites.

Sue Miles, conclave chairman, elegantly smart in a sleeveless white linen sheath, set off by pink print shoes, welcomed the 200 Continentals and guests at this afternoon's (Friday) official opening meeting.

Helen Mae Chamberlain, president of the local group, also extended greetings. She was looking good in a hot pink knit which she accessorized with white jewelry and black patent shoes.

At 5, everybody boarded the Harbor Queen cruise ship for a tour on the Severn River. There was hardly a minute to take a breath, when it was time for the smorgasbord dinner-theatre featuring Baltimore's Arena Players.

Tonight's fun activity will be a Psychedelic Happening.

At Saturday morning's open meeting, each chapter will make its annual report of activities and progress during the past year in helping children in their local communities.

A patio luncheon and fashion show Saturday afternoon will feature the Dett Set models.

The workshop immediately following will have Dr. Addison Pope, psychiatrist, Mrs. Josephine Rogers Sloan, social worker, Mrs. Ruth Morrow, psychologist, and Mr. Allen Bressington, principal of Winterode School, as moderators.

Highlight of the weekend will be the Saturday night formal banquet at which time a cash contribution will be presented to the Maryland Association for Mental Health for use at School a school for retarded children. The Rev. Robert W. Carlson, president of the Association, and Dr. George M. Phillips, superintendent of Crownsville State Hospital will accept the presentation. Dr. Harriett Trader will be guest speaker.

A dance will follow the dinner activity. Sherman Lewis will provide music for the entire weekend.

Sunday morning's brunch and farewell will feature entertainment, gifts and surprises.

Baltimore hostesses also include: Susan King, Catherine Howard, Margaret Beaman, Frances Branch, Sevilla Carroll, Corrine Coleman, Thelma Cox, Helen Gattis.

Also Katherine Gross, Ellen Howard, Daisy King, Mattie Mumby, Emily Peck, Frances Pennington, Helen Quarles, Vivian Rigby, Doris Smith, Phyllis Thompson, Carol Scott and Delores Young.

Talented Georgia Peay, the 16-year-old junior at Milford Mill High School who recently received the appreciation trophy as the "Outstanding Girl of the Year," left Thursday for 10 weeks in Finland.

Georgia will spend four weeks with a Finnish family, four in a Finnish boarding school and the last two touring the country. She received this scholarship to go abroad from the American Field Service Organization.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Peay of Randallstown, and granddaughter of Mrs. Margaret Peay, AFRO's oldest Clean Block advisor.

Georgia has been honored at bon voyage parties this week. On Friday, all the young people came to wish her a safe and enjoyable trip. On Sunday, friends and relatives gathered at her Randallstown home for a lawn party.

She enjoys reading, listening to different types of music, and is planning to major in French.

An exciting program to be repeated this summer is a "Creative Arts Workshop," from June 29 to July 30 at the Madison Ave. YWCA, for boys and girls, 12 to 17 years of age.

Fifteen children in last summer's workshop wrote and produced a play which included music and dancing. Costumes and scenery were also created for this production, giving the youngsters a wide range of opportunity to create in many media.

A similar curriculum is contemplated for the 1970 workshop which will meet four days a week, Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

After swimming in the morning, the group will work on the theatre project in the afternoon.

The production created by the group will be presented at play areas in the city. Fee will be only $6.50 per week for this truly outstanding opportunity to develop the talent of these young people.

On Friday evenings the "Psychedelic Shack" will be open in the basement of the YWCA from 6 to 8 p.m. for the teen age crowd. Music will be supplied by records and an occasional group.

Tables and chairs will be arranged cafe style around a dance floor. Games and refreshments will be available.

Happy 25th wedding anniversary hellos to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Harris. Planes and trains brought family and friends from California, Ohio, Harrisburg, New York and Philadelphia to help them celebrate their silver anniversary at the Sheraton-Baltimore Inn.

After lighting a candle the couple has lit for 25 years, Dr. Edna K. Williams of Philadelphia offered prayers. Sinclair Swan sang, "Because" and "Through the Years," which were sung at their wedding.

An elegant fashion show by Flair Studio was part of the entertainment.

But, the surprise of the evening was when Gussie (Mrs. Harris) sang a solo. Everyone knows that Gussie must do it her way and to match her personality, she delighted the audience with "I Did It My Way."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Traynham, who will be celebrating their golden anniversary this Sunday at 4 with a reception following at the Douglas Memorial Community Church.

Jack and Jill members will install Mrs. Juanita H. Gates as president when they meet on Monday. Currently serving as president, Mrs. Gates succeeded Mrs. Kathleen Carter, who was elected Eastern Regional Director last fall.

It was quick but delightful and relaxing just before rushing off to the big faculty dinner that evening at the Pimlico Hotel. Mrs. Glynnis K. Hill gave a cocktail party at her Liberty Heights Ave. home for her co-workers.

About were: Mesdames Lillian Boger, Emma Smith, Rose Gallop, Madeline Harding, Emily Willis, Sybil Kohn, Thelma Dericks, Beatrice Hines, Bates and Glenda Malloy. Miss Marion Lavin and Monsieurs Alvin Gallop, Gordon Willis, Maynard Derricks and Edward Williams.

Business was mixed with pleasure yesterday (Thursday) at the St. James Guild Hall on Lafayette Ave.

It was the Board of the Lafayette Square Community Center, Inc. ninth annual luncheon meeting and it was a gorgeous affair.

The caterer did a fantastic job on the center pieces for the table and the food made them even lovelier.

Everyone looked so refreshed for such a hot day. The clothes worn by the women were lovely and summery. Everything was
