Former priest weds girl he 'loved at first sight'

By LULA MACKAY

Eugene J. Price, a Jesuite Brother until two years ago when he withdrew from the religious order, married "the girl he loved at first sight" in the St. Cecelia's Catholic Church, here, Saturday ago.

She is Miss Emily Marie Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curtis of Upper Marlboro, Md., and a Baltimore social worker.

• • •

The couple met a year ago on the steps of Saint Cecelia's Catholic Church. Both say that they knew almost immediately that they were meant for each other. Two weeks later he proposed. Two months later they became engaged, but did not reveal this secret until a year later. She felt, she said, that they should know each other better.

The ceremony which tuited them, Saturday, was as unique as their romance.

The Catholic ritual, interspersed with folk music, and participated in by members of the family of the couple and members of the wedding party, was arranged by the priest, the Rev. Fr. George Giese, Mr. Prie and Miss Curt is. Price and Miss Curtis.

Celebrants, in addition to Fr. Giese were the Rev. Henry J. Offer of St. Peter Claver Catholic Church of this city and the Rev. Joseph Rodney of St. Luke's Catholic Church, Washington.

• • •

Maurice Murphy was organist. Miss Margaret Little, niece of the bridegroom, was soloist. The folk singers were Michael Stockton, Miss Carolyn Spears, guitarist; Miss Renee Spears, Miss Saundra Spears, Nason Spears and Miss Patrice Johnson.

The wedding guests participated fully throughout the entire ceremony in song and prayer, bringing forth a feeling of sharing in the sacred occasion.

The gifts of bread, wine, and water and the chalice were brought forth by youth of the family, presented to the bride and bridegroom, who is turn presented them to the altar. The offertory procession included: Leonard J. Washington Jr., nephew of the bride; Rose Marie Davis, Garnette Rice and Lauretta Rice, nieces of the bridegroom.

"The Peace" was passed by the bride and bridegroom, each passing down the aisle on their particular sides.

• • •

The color scheme of orange and green was carried from the vestment worn by the officiating priest to the decorations of the wedding cake.

At the end of the ritual, the bride placed a floral offering at the feet of the Blessed Mother.

A reception for 400 guests followed in the St. Peter Claver Hall.

• • •

For her wedding, Miss Curtis wore an A-line gown of peau de soie, appliqued with lace motifs. Her fingertip length veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of lace embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade of white carnations, and for the reception, a bouquet of apricot and green carnations, baby's breath centered with an orchid.

Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Rebecca Curtis of Washington, who wore a gown of lime green chiffon with matching headpiece and carried a cascade of green carnations. The flower girls, Roslin Curtis and Martha Washington of D.C. also wore ensembles in the lime green.

The bridesmaids were gowned in apricot chiffon and matching accessories. They were Mrs. Diana Badgett of this city; Miss Alene Curtis, cousin, of Upper Marlboro; and her sisters, Miss Erma Curtis of Washington, Miss Gabriella Curtis of Upper Marlboro, and Mrs. Joan Curtis Greene of Washington.

Howard Price was bestman for his brother.

Ushers were George Price, Alexander Rhoades, Eugene Rice, Howard Rice and Nathaniel Rice.

Eric Davis was ring bearer.

Mrs. Gladys Estep of Dunkirk, Md., aunt of the bride; and Mrs. Lillian Rice of this city, sister of the bridegroom, directed the wedding.

Hostesses who assisted at the reception were Miss Cheryl Washington, Miss Michaell Thomas and Mrs. Elizabeth Hines of Washington; and Mrs. Beatrice Cuff, Miss Bonita Dancy and Mrs. Elise Mason of this city.

A group of students from the Peabody under direction of Philip Stancil provided music at the reception.

Mr. Price, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Price of this city, and his bride honeymooned at Niagara Falls and in Canada, and are now at home on Talbot Road. He is an employee of the Department of Public Works in this city.

MR. AND MRS. EUGENE PRICE were married in Baltimore, recently. Mrs. Price is the former Miss E. Marie Curtis.

Party for Mrs. Young

Mrs. Marion R. Young of Ellicott City was honoree at a birthday party, Saturday, when her children entertained at her home, 3619 Mount Ida Drive.

Mrs. Young marked her 62nd birthday.

Hosts were Mrs. Mary L. Boardley, Milton H. Boardley Sr., Jerome Young, Miss Thelma Ann Young, Charles Young Jr., and the guest of honor's husband, Charles Young Sr.

Among ther guests were Mrs. Young' sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Kirkwood, Mrs. Bessie Mungin and Mrs. Rose E. Brooks.
