BIRD OF JUNE — Leftfielder Don Buford was voted "Oriole of the Month" for June after raising his average 66 points, from .228 to .294. Don has continued his hot streak, and with three hits in four at bats Wednesday night, he hiked his average to an even .300. Included among his hits against the Yankees were a leadoff homer and the bases-loaded single that knocked over the winning runs with two out in the ninth inning.

'Insulted' Clay loses S.C. bout

By WILLIAM VERIGAN

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Cassius Clay, complaining that he was "humiliated and insulted," abandoned his plans for a charity exhibition bout Wednesday and flewback to New York.

The county council voted Wednesday to deny the use of the county hall to stage a six-round exhibitions against a pair of promising young heavyweights, Joe Bugner of England and Jeff Merritt of Miami.

Promoter Reggie Barrett scrambled throughout the morning seeking another site, but had to give up because the rental was too high at the only alternative, the Charleston Speedway.

"I got the site," said Barrett, "But I didn't have the fee they wanted. The cancellation has been more damaging to him (Clay) than it has been to me. I just lost a couple of dollars, but it's been humiliating for him."

The 28-year-old Clay, who arrived here Tuesday in hopes of entering a ring for the first time since March, 1967, when he knocked out Zora Folley in a title bout, said he was not disappointed because he hadn't expected the exhibition to come off anyway.

"I see there is a conspiracy out," Clay said. "I don't want to bother anybody so I'm leaving on an afternoon plane. We were coming down here to help these black youths learn boxing, but all this scuffling has been humiliating and insulting."

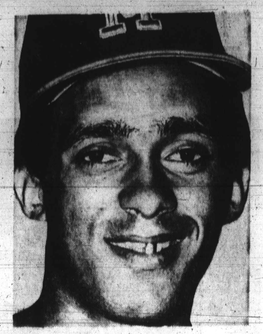
The exhibition was expected to be a tune-up for a proposed bout between Clay and Joe Frazier, his successor as heavyweight champion, in Detroit this September.

* * *

Clay, whose title was vacated in 1967 after he refused to be inducted into the Army, said his weight is down to about 222 pounds, only eight pounds heavier than when he defended his title against George Chuvalo.

"I've just been running to keep in shape," Clay said. "But I haven't been hitting the bags or doing anything like that. All I need is about six weeks to get into shape."

The benefit exhibition was to help a local amateur boxing league which is sponsored by Barrett. It is intended to raise money for the youngsters to go to national tournaments and buy equipment.



POET IN MIAMI—Former Dunbar High School righthander Len Scott continues his outstanding performance with the Miami Marlins farm club of the Baltimore Orioles. Used mainly as a reliever, Scott started for only the second time this season Wednesday, and turned it into a two-hit, 1-0 shutout of Ft. Lauderdale.

NFL players are urged to stay out of camps

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Football League players, headed by John Mackey of the Baltimore Colts, continued negotiations today with a league committee headed by Tex Schramm of the Dallas Cowboys.

At stake was the players' requests for additional money for training camp and pre-season expenses.

Mackey and player representatives of the various teams were keeping their members informed of negotiation progress, and a letter to all members asked them not to go to training camps until satisfactory agreement had been reached with the owners.

In session with Mackey were Pat Richter of the Washington Redskins, Tom Keating of Oakland, Nick Buoniconti of Miami, Kermit Alexander of Los Angeles, Ken Bowman of Green Bay and Ernie Wright of Cincinnati.

The players were confident an amicable agreement would be reached and that the "mini-strike" of two years ago would not be repeated.

In 1968, some players stayed away from the opening training sessions, but arranged private workouts so that, when they reported they would be in top shape.

Colts star highlights Sports Day program

Much to the delight of both pupils and teachers, Willie Richardson of the Baltimore Colts, visited the Fannie L. Barbour Elementary School No. 161 at Saratoga and Schroeder Streets for the ESEA summer schools Sports Day.

Willie talked to the boys and girls about the value of education. He answered their many questions about professional football. He visited classrooms and signed autographs.

Sports Day was a big success due to appearance of the brilliant Colt receiver, and the golf skill of a teacher, John Gibson III.

Sponsors were Joyce Morris, physical education teacher; Georgianna Loggins, curriculum coordinator, and Myrle R. Washington, summer principal.

Mrs. Ida Nicholas is the winter principal.

No All-Star for Clemente

(PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder Roberto Clemente says he will not play in the All Star game July 14 due to a sore neck.

"To hell with the All Star game," he said Wednesday. "The only way I would play was if the game were played in Pittsburgh." The game will be played at Cincinnati.

"If it were not for my neck injury, I would play," he said. "But, as it is, I would rather have the three days rest."

Clemente, who has played in 12 All Star games, tried to quit the selected squad in 1965, but manager Gene Mauch talked him out of it.

"I'm not going to change my mind this time," he said. "I've been having too much trouble with my neck.

The outfielder, whose injury kept him out of several games last month, said he hoped the time off would help him in the second half of the season.

FIRE FIGHTERS night; Thursday night, July 16 will be "Fire Fighters" Night at Memorial Stadium when the Birds open a three game series against the Twins . . . Clown acts and ladder climbing contests will feature an entertaining pregame program.

TEE SHIRT NIGHT: On Friday night, July 17th all youngsters 14 and under who attend the Orioles Twins game will receive free Orioles tee shirts, but the kids must be accompanied by an adult to be eligible.

UAW Wants More Than 15%

DETROIT—President Leonard Woodcock has served notice his United Auto Workers want more than a 15 per cent pay-and-benefits raise in new contracts with the big three automakers.

Woodcock told newsmen Wednesday he agreed with the negotiating aims of the late Walter Reuther, who said he expected "a hell of a lot more" than a 15-per-cent boost.

The UAW begins negotiations July 15 with General Motors Corp., July 16 at Ford and July 17 at Chrysler. Present contracts expire Sept. 14 and Woodcock said, "We fully intend to have a settlement by Sept. 14 or we'll have to take some other action."

Draft May Become Unworkable

SALT LAKE CITY — If courts continue to broaden the qualifications for conscientious objectors it could mean an end to the draft system, says the new director of Selective Service.

Curtis W. Tarr said Wednesday his department expects the number of "valid requests to increase in light of recent Supreme Court decision.

He added, however, that if the courts go on and allow potential inductees to object to specific wars rather than all wars, the draft will become completely unworkable.

"The animosities which would arise between those willing to serve and those unwilling would destroy the system," Tarr said. "Every state director I have consulted has also said this."

23 Judges Do 'Time'

CARSON CITY, Nev.—Wearing blue jeans and navy shirts, 23 judges from all over the nation spent Wednesday night in the Nevada State Prison. The judges, attending a seminar at the University of Nevada, volunteered saying they wanted to learn, about prison life.
