Twin brother shot by mistake in bar

A case of mistaken identity resulted in death during the early morning hours on Thursday.

Marcus and Marquest Oliver, 37 year-old twin brothers, living in the 2100 Block Cliftwood Ave. were victims of a gunshot battle which ended in death for Marquest.

* * *

According to police reports the homicide took place at Phil's Bar, Montford and Oliver Sts. about 1:35 A.M.

Reports relate that Marcus Oliver slapped a woman; she went to get help from friends, Willie Watkins and James McKenzie.

The woman and the men returned. According to reports, Marcus was the intended victim, but the men shot his twin Marquest in the chest, thinking he was Marcus.

The two men will have a preliminary hearing at Central Police Station on (today) Friday.

THE CONFRONTATION — Charlie Christianson, spokesman for the Seton Psychiatric Clinic where workers striking for union representation were arrested this week, talks with Fred Punch (with hands on hips), Local 1199E, the Hospital and Nursing Home Employees Union that is seeking to force officials of the clinic to agree to an election so workers could decide if they wanted to be represented by the local which now represents workers for several hospitals in the Baltimore area.

Seton workers on strike for union

About 130 workers from the dietary, housekeeping, maintenance and nursing assistant departments of the Seton Psychiatric Institute on upper Wabash Ave. have been on strike since early this week.

The 130 workers out of a total work force of 185 want the Catholic-run institution to give employees the right to hold an election to decide if union representation is wanted.

The hospital administrator, Sister Ann Williams, has refused to allow the workers to hold an election.

William R. Ray, newly appointed personnel director, told the AFRO this week that, "I knew of no problems out here. There have been no serious problems with any of the employees.

"I just took this position two weeks ago," he said "during which time there has been nothing to worry about."

When asked who was his predecessor as personnel director, Mr. Ray said, "There was none."

In talking with Bob Moore, a strike leader, the AFRO was told "the hospital is taking a hard line, and would not even speak with us."

As he talked picketers marched at the front entrance of the institute as a few watchful policemen stood nearby.

Picnic lunches and chairs were spread over the front lawn as the workers had prepared to stay out of work as long as necessary.

The workers vowed that they would remain out "all day, all night, until we get an answer."

On Wednesday afternoon the workers had moved from the front entrance to the main building of the institute about 70 yards away.

* * *

There the workers sang spirituals. The doors of the building were locked.

Mr. Jarvis S. Finney, the institute's attorney could not be reached for comment at AFRO press time.

The workers say they would like to be represented by Local 1199-E. Many of the hospitals in the Baltimore area are represented by this local.

Although technically run by the Archdiocese of Baltimore, Seton Institute is semi-autonomous.

Any change in the hospital's attitude toward union would have to come from the Seton administrators themselves.

* * *

There has been no violence at the scene, but one worker in housekeeping, Mrs. Virginia Gaskins, was hit by one of the Institute employees as a car being driven across the picket line failed to stop.

Sister Ann Williams has promised the workers by way of a television interview that she will meet with them soon.

The AFRO goes to Traffic Court

By PAUL EVANS

At 9 o'clock every morning in Baltimore's Traffic Court, Judge Gilford Ave. and Madison St., the bailiff calls those assembled in the courtroom of Judge Robert Gerstung to attention.

The audience rises; the judge takes his seat on the bench and another session has begun.

Judge Gerstung, immediately upon starting proceedings, asks if there is anyone present for hearings who wishes to plead guilty to any of the charges, usually drunk driving.

As the accusing officer faces the court, the judge asks whether the defendant was informed of his right to either take the alcohol breath test.

On Monday morning, the following cases were heard in Judge Gerstung's court:

Mrs. Lillian Brown, 42 Block Chatham Rd., not guilty of parking in the front of a bus stop. She was found guilty of reckless driving and fined $40 and costs. She was found not guilty of driving while intoxicated.

William Sampson, 2900 Block Presbury St., found guilty of driving while intoxicated, fined $100 and costs.

David Wolfe, 5300 Block Maple Ave., found not guilty of intoxicated charges, but fined $100 and costs for driving with impaired ability.

Holden Fuller, 2200 Block Eutaw Place, not guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Willie Owens, 1955 N. Collington Ave., dismissed of driving under the influence of alcohol, because of lack of evidence. He was fined $50 for impaired ability while driving.

Joseph Radomski, 500 Block South Lehigh St., was convicted of driving while intoxicated, and fined $100 and costs, and not guilty on charge of driving with impaired ability.

Eddie Golphim, 1900 Block West Fayette St., guilty on intoxicated while driving, fined $200 and costs; and guilty of running through a stop sign.

Leonard B. Andaw, 200 Block Colgate Ave., not guilty of driving while intoxicated, fined $25 and costs for driving with impaired ability, and $10 for failure to keep right of center.

A light is from our household gone,

As you always were before.

From one so good as you.

Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last,
