Morgan's $93,000 grant for social welfareis renewed

Dr. Thomas Fraser, acting president of Morgan State College announced today the refunding of the college's undergraduate social welfare program for its second year of operation.

The program receives 75 per cent of its funds, or $70,191.00 from federal funds through the stated department of social services and 25 per cent or $23,397.04 from state funds.

This program was begun in September 1969 under the direction of Mrs. LaMoyne M. Matthews. Included on the staff are three full time faculty positions and two part time evening instructors.

Mrs. Matthews is quite pleased with this success after one year of operation. She expects the number to increase significantly as the program becomes better known.

Students graduating with the major in Sociology-Social Welfare will either be entering at first level professionals in various social agencies or programs in the social welfare field or will enter various graduate schools of social work.

Finch favors pornography

Walter G. Finch, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate declared Wednesday to a group of citizens that he favors modification and liberalization of federal and state pornographic laws for adults to be recommended by the President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography.

* * *

Dr. Finch stated that if he is elected he would fight for "repeal and liberalization of federal, state and local laws against selling and showing pornographic films, books, and other materials to adults."

"The Congress and state legislatures," he stated, "should not have the power to legislate individual moral values and standards as they apply to consensual communications, since it has been found by reliable scientific study that pornography does not cause crime, juvenile delinquency, other anti-social acts, sexual or non-sexual deviancy, character disorders or significant emotional disturbances.

* * *

"Therefore, for adults," he said, "there should be no legal restraints as to pornography laws.

"With respect to children," he concluded, "these are out greatest assets and there should be strict and rigidly enforced federal and state laws against exposing children to such explicit material.

CCB offers insurance

A unique program to recruit and train blacks and other minority group members for professional positions in the life and health insurance business, free of charge, will begin in Baltimore City this fall.

Inauguration of the 12-week course on Sept. 15 will mark the first time the insurance industry actively has recruited blacks and other minority group members.

The classes are designed to enable applicants to take Maryland's examination for insurance agents and to lead to eventual licensing by the companies hiring them. The course will be held at the Community College of Baltimore's Liberty Campus at 2901 Liberty Heights Ave.

State insurance department officials, insurance company executives, members of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance and college spokesmen will hold a special program Monday, Aug. 31 at 7 p.m. to acquaint prospective students with the program and opportunities in the life and health insurance business.

Black insurance men — from agents to home office managers to vice-presidents — will explain the advantages of an insurance career. The entire project is called "Insurance Opportunities Unlimited," or, IOU.

One local insurance company's black executive said beginning insurance agents earn an average $6,000 the first year. Some first year earnings reach $10,000 to $12,000, the executive said.

In addition to providing free training by the city's top insurance men, all those passing the state examination will be guaranteed job interviews, according to Fillmore E. Dryden Jr., an official with Maryland's state insurance division.

Spokesmen for some of the city's home office firms say those who do not pass the examination also will be interviewed and probably employed in insurance offices where their training can be put to good use.

The new program, its sponsors say, enables minority groups members to enter a dignified profession steeped in tradition and providing continuous opportunities for professional and financial advancement without requiring a college degree. It is one of few such fields in the nation.

Blount urges increased state aid to education

Clearence W. Blount, Democratic candidate for state Senate from the 5th District, called Thursday for increased state aid to education, to halt the city's escalating property tax rate and provide adequate training in the schools.

Mr. Blount, principal of Dunbar High School and veteran educator, aired his views on education and taxation in a position paper to the AFRO.

Here is how he sees the present situation and the remedies needed:

* * *

"Education, today, takes the biggest bite of every tax dollar raised in Baltimore City, yet, our children are being shortchanged at the most crucial time in their lives.

"Seemingly; the educational system is breaking down, in spite of almost universal 'good intentions.'

"Is this the result of professional incompetency or financial inadequacy? The declining tax base of every major city provides the sad, but real, answer.

"The problem of turning out adults able to cope with an increasing complex world has one huge priority: enough money. To get enough capital to give each youth the education proper for that individual requires a major shift in attitudes, nationally and locally.

"The elected representatives of this city and state must come to grips with fact that the same amount of dollars are to be invested in building sound human beings, are now spent on creating machines that destroy humanity.

"Meanwhile, city people alone cannot bear the increased tax load necessary to educate their children. As in the past decade, many of them will flee to the suburbs to escape the escalating tax rate.

"And so, the taxes will escalte every higher. The only immediate source of relief is the state.

"The state must assume a greater responsibility to educate its youth. It must become directly involved in the financing of a realistic educational system, improved physical plants, higher professional standards and courses geared to the onrushing 21st Century.

"The city, then, will be able to carry its own weight and provide all other services, on existing taxes. The proper legislation will insure that this does not mean an increased dependency on the state.

"Instead, an ambiance of true cooperation among the federal and state and city governments will result in the creation of an educational process that will produce an informed and enlightened citizenry."

Headquarters open today

Official opening of the Chester-Allen-Murphy will be held today (Friday) from 4 to 7 p.m. at 1357 N. Fulton Ave. and the public is invited to meet the candidates and their campaign personnel.

All running city wide, the candidates are:

Paul L. Chester, on Democratic ballot for Clerk, Court of Common Pleas; Milton B. Allen, on Democratic ballot for state's attorney, and William H. Murphy Sr., on Democratic and Republic ballots for Municipal Court judge.

Taxi applicants await hearing

The American Association, Inc., a corporation made up of some 80 licensed black cab drivers is seeking the only franchise for a black-owned cab company in the history of this city.

For some five months the petition has been before the Public Service Commission, the state agency charged with issuing and governing transportation, but to date no action has been taken on the matter.

One of the factors which the commission will consider in determining whether or not to issue the franchise is "the expression of need for additional taxi service in the city," according to Benjamin L. Brown, attorney for the group.

Mr. Brown also pointed out that in an effort to aid the Commission in reaching "a decision beneficial to all concerned," the association itself is conducting a city-wide survey to determine if there is a need for additional cab service.

Cards measuring five by three inches and containing six questions are being distributed throughout the city.

Questions asked on the cards are: 1. Do you think there are enough taxicabs to serve the people of Baltimore? 2. How often do you ride in taxicabs? Did you have to wait for a taxicab (space for answers to this question also include a place for indicating how long the passenger had to wait)? 4. Did you call for a cab? If so how long did you wait (space provides for answers in minutes or hours)? 5. In what condition do you find taxicabs and 6. What comments do you have to make about taxicab service?

James Crockett, a real estate executive and chairman of the association's Board of Directors told the AFRO: "The results of the survey will be released in three weeks."

Mr. Crockett points out that the survey was designed because "the commission is now considering issuing permits for 275 in Baltimore County where there hasn't been an application for permits of even a survey to show need."

Mr. Crockett pointed out that the primary concern of the association was "the kind of service which would be best for the people of this city.

"There are areas where working people simply cannot get cab service because while drivers are afraid to go there. Also, people are forced to ride in cabs which are in bad condition."

Mr. Crockett added that "with owner-driven cabs as we propose, the upkeep of the cab will receive closer attention because the owner himself will be looking out for his property and not someone who could care less."

The Commissioners have not given the association a date for the long awaited hearing but have pointed out that one will be scheduled in the near future.

Too hot? Let cool thoughts blow your mind

Forecasters some months back predicted a hot August would drag out a long, hot summer.

Bearing them out, the present 90-degree temperatures are supposed to continue through today (Friday), Saturday and Sunday with 90 and above, little or no wind and no rain in sight.

In absence of your own pool or no way to get to the beach, let the cold water faucet run a stream over your wrists, wear light clothing, stay out the sun, eat sparingly and think COOL.

Tildon, Gallagher head Tydings campaign

Charles G. Tildon, associate director of Provident Hospital and Francis X. Gallagher, attorney, have been named Baltimore City co-chairmen of the Tydings for Senate in '70 campaign effort, the campaign committee announced today.

Victor Cushwa Jr., chairman of Senator Joseph D. Tydings' statewide campaign effort, said the two men would advise on operations in the city, provide liaison with the various political organizations and help prepare the senator's schedule of Baltimore appearances.

"We will be counting a great deal on Charlie and Frank in both the upcoming primary and general elections," Mr. Cushwa said.

"Baltimore City is one of the keys to a Tydings victory, and we have two men who can do the kind of job here that will have to be done."

* * * *

In a joint statement issued from the Tydings campaign headquarters, Messrs. Gallagher and Tildon said they had agreed to serve as co-chairmen because "it is imperative that Joe Tydings be returned to the U.S. Senate."

"Nothing is more needed in these diffcult days than dedicated public officials who are sensitive to the problems we face and who have the courage to meet those problems head on with bold solutions," they said.

"Joe Tydings is such a man and that is why he has to be re-elected to the Senate."

A neighborhood carnival put on for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy victims will be held on August 29, at 100 Fleming Dr. the home of Vincent Carl Moore whose mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Humber will serve as ringmasters.

The carnival will begin at 4 p.m. and end at 6 p.m. Featured will be such games as bowling on the green, penny sales and dart games.

3rd D. candidate hits Real Estate Board

John Carroll Byrnes, candidate for State Senate in Baltimore City's 3rd. District and organizer of the community relations agreement last year has blasted the decision of the Real Estate Board of Greater Baltimore to warn its members to refrain from signing such agreements.

In the disputed agreements various realtors made certain commitments to three large communities in Northeast Baltimore City to prevent blockbusting and neighborhood exploitation by certain undesirable real estate operators.

* * *

Mr. Byrnes, chairman of the Northeast Planning and Zoning Conference, the organization which brought together the Community Councils of Govans, Greater Northwood and Old York and fifteen real estate brokers, said:

"I am angry and bitterly disappointed at this latest display by the Real Estate Board of its official indifference to the neighborhoods of the City.

"The community sponsors of the agreement excluded from the agreement city real estate speculators and investors.

"The Board cannot point to a single reputable realtor-broker whose request for inclusion in the agreement was denied."

Front office personnel from the Birds' minor league department apparently bring good luck to Orioles farm clubs. Last week Don Pries, director of Player Development, visited the Rochester Red Wings of the International League. The AAA club won five of the games Pries viewed at Silver Stadium.

Jack Pastore, Pries' administrative assistant, saw the Miami Marlins several weeks ago and the Birds' class-A affiliate in the Florida State League came up with four wins in five games.

* * *

Family night will be August 26 when the Orioles play the Oakland A's at 8 p.m. The head of the family pays $2 for an upper deck reserved seat and the rest of the family pays just $1 each.

Center fielder Randy Kleinschmidt from Grayville, Illinois has signed a Bluefield contract for the 1971 season, it was announced by Walter Shannon, the club's director of scouting. The 18-year-old player will report to the Appalachian League club's spring training base at Fernandina Beach, Florida next spring.

* * *

Joe Altobelli, manager of the Birds AA affiliate in the Texas League, the Dallas-Ft. Worth Spurs, finished first in a home run hitting contest last week in Rochester.

The former Cleveland Indians first baseman knocked four out of the park in competition with three other former Red Wings home run champions. Merv Rettenmund, current Orioles outfielder, slammed two out, as did ex-Cleveland Indians first baseman Luke Easter. Russ Derry, former St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, also took part in the contest.

Twins repeat as Mosher champs

The Twins, winner of the James Mosher Little League title in 1969, repeated Thursday by downing the Cardinals, 5-3, in the Championship playoff at School 144.

The same two teams were involved in last summer's finale.

Thirteen-year-old Clark Mallory hurled a no-hitter despite the fact his Cardinal opponts scored three times. Bases on balls and throwing errors by himself, his catcher and the centerfielder accounted for the Redbird tallies.

In addition to holding the opposition hitless, Mallory contributed a home run in the sixth inning.

Dwayne Thornton also delivered a 2-run homer in the Twin victory.

The Twins won the American League race, and the Cardinals finished as champions of the National League.

Final standings follow:

American League
Twins	11	1	.917
Yankees	9	4	.692
Orioles	9	4	.692
Athletics	6	7	.462
Tigers	3	10	.230

Doctors' Tests Show How You Can Actually Help Shrink Swelling of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

...Due to Inflammation and Infection. Also Get Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Rectal Itching and Pain in Such Tissues.

When inflammation, infection and swelling exist in hemorrhoidal tissues—it can be very painful for the sufferer. But there's an exclusive formulation which in many cases gives hours of relief from the burning itch and pain in hemorrhoidal tissues. It also helps shrink the swelling of such tissues without affecting the underlying vein itself. Sufferers are delighted at the way it acts so gently and is so soothing to sensitive tissues.

Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients reported similar successful results in many cases. And it was all done without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or stinging, smarting astringents of any kind.

You can obtain this same medication used in these tests at any drug counter. Its name is Preparation H®. Preparation H also lubricates and protects the inflamed, irritated surface area to help make bowel movements more comfortable. Be sure and try Preparation H in ointment or suppository form.
