corner of Park Heights and Belvedere. He has been checked by Baltimore Homicide and the FBI. He has been interviewed and denied any knowledge of the letters. He gave voluntary samples of his handwriting and fingerprints."

FBI and Baltimore police officials are awaiting word from the Washington FBI as to whether the fingerprints of Newman and those on the letter match. Identification of the handwriting of Newman and that on the letters is also awaited.

The sequence of events which have led up to the present double death threat are quizzical, but a definite pattern is slowly evolving.

Friday, August 7th, Senator Welcome received a threatening letter in the mail, addressed to her at 3423 Holmes Ave. with a return address on the back.

The first page was dated August 5th, stating: "Madam. You are just another Horre and you better stay away from my Goddam corner southeast corner of Park Heights and Belvedere Ave. If you don't I kill and I don't mean maybe.

The letter also said, "... I am white and I don't like Negroes. I kill you if you start . . . . around this Goddam corner—so stay away, if I see you bullets going to fly." (sic)

Mrs. Welcome said that she received such letters and at first was not going to turn the letter over to the police, but after consultation with her advisers, she did call police.

She noted that when police came to her home to investigate the original letprezence. Police began to investigate.

In the middle of August, an unidentified woman called the AFRO, relating, "Did you hear about the death plot against Milton Allen?" She said that the letters were sent to Mr. Allen "at his headquarters on Fremont Ave." She would not give her name, but those to whom she talked regarded her as black.

Mr. Allen's original headquartered was at Druid Hill Ave. and Biddle St. but in the middle of August he moved to 1557 N. Fulton Ave. He was established in his new office at the time the AFRO received the anonymous phone call.

The AFRO called Mr. Allen's law office at One Charles Center but at that time the death rumors could not be substantiated.

When later reached for comment, Mr. Allen admitted that he had received death threats, but was making no comment. The AFRO would have to contact police for further information, he said.

According to police reports, on August 20, 1970 Mr. Allen received a letter threatening his life. He called the Homicide Squad. Det. William J. Wiley of CID responded to the One Charles Center office.

Allen's wife, Martha, opened the letter at home and saved it for her husband.

The letter said: "You better stay away from the God dam corner of Belvedere Ave. and Park Heights or I kill you God dam negroes sonnys beach. Signed Joseph Newman." (sic.)

The Northwestern District was then notified that Senator Welcome had received the same type of letters signed by "Joseph Newman."

Mr. Allen received another letter on August 25, 1970 at home, the same basic content as the first.

He was advised by police to submit any other letters without opening them.

the FBI told the AFRO that although results of the handwriting test from Washington are awaited they will not pursue the Allen and Welcome investigation further because United State's Attorney George Beall has refused to prosecute stating that all of the letters are crank spired.

FBI Agent Arthur Hamilton further stated that "Joseph Newman" appears to be a "chronic crank."

However, citizens who have repeatedly called the AFRO throughout August feel a full investigation should be conducted to find the death letter writer and apprehend and prosecuts him.

Feeling has continued to run high in the black community since the death plot became known.

One caller told the AFRO, "Threats to President Kennedy were ignored and then what happened?" She also referred to early notice given Dr. Martin Luther King and Senator Robert Kennedy, both assassinated.

Several callers noted that Milton Allen did not receive death notices until after he had revealed that he allegedly had been confronted by certain officials of the Howard Cardin campaign to attempt to bribe him to withdraw from the State's Attorney race.

A "proper-talking gentleman" who would not identify himself stated that attempts are being made by "certain elements" to steal the election of Parren Mitchell and Milton Allen from blacks because their campaigns are showing encouraging signs.

Homicide detectives will continue to investigate the case. They believe, the AFRO was told that someone is obviously using the name "Joseph Newman."

The question being asked now is, "Who is the REAL Joseph Newman?" "What and who has motivated him to continue to threaten the lives of two of the black community's most influential members in a terribly crucial election year for blacks in the city and the country?"

cial problems this community faces and the technical problems as well."

During his brief term as an attorney, young Murphy has won 30 of the 35 cases he has had tried before the courts. His reputation as a fighter brought him votes of white and black Cherry Hill residents that left him only 300 short for the House of Delegates in 1966.

The campaign followed his successful war against plans for an incinerator to be built in Cherry Hill.

Married six years to Mrs. Bettyjean Carter Murphy and father of two, Rebecca, 4 and William III, 2, Mr. Murphy Jr. is a Poly A—Course student who went to Massachusetts Institute of Technology after he finished high school at the age of 16.

Completing his MIT engineering degree he went on to the University of Maryland Law School, graduate with honors and was a distinguished member of the Law Review Magazine staff.

He was selected law clerk for Court of Special Appeals Judge Robert C. Murphy because of his high grades in law school.

He and his partner, LeRoy Carroll have offices on the 21st Floor of No. 1 Charles St.

William H. Murphy Sr., his father, is "completely and utterly opposed to the "Sitting Judges" principle and states, "It has no basis in 1970 as far as black citizens are concerned.

"In fact, it could insure our defeat since solid blocks of whites will not vote for black judges. Single-shooting is the order of the day."

A Douglass High School and Oberlin College graduate, he finished the University of Maryland Law School. He and his wife, the former Miss Madeline Wheeler of Wilmington, Del., have five children.

Mrs. Dobson contradicts pastor-husband

Mrs. Mildred Turner Dobson, wife of the Rev. Harold Lewellyn Dobson, pastor of St. Marks Institutional Baptist Church and OIC director, has taken exception to some facts he stated in his recent request for a divorce.

The Rev. Mr. Dobson filed for divorce from his wife and custody of their three sons on Aug. 12.

In his petition placed before Circuit Court the minister stated he and his wife were married in Washington in a religious ceremony on April 14, 1952 and were separated voluntarily over 18 months before Aug. 12.

However, in papers placed on file on Aug. 26, Mrs. Dobson states they were wed on April 27, 1952 and not April 14 as the Rev. Mr. Dobson told the court.

She also contradicted her husband's statement that they had been separated 18 months before he asked for a divorce.

Mrs. Dobson's petition to the court claims that they lived together until Aug. 6, a month ago.

She also contradicted her they had been separated 18 ge dismissed, in view of the "inaccuracies."

WHY REPUBLICANS SHOULD VOTE FOR EARL KOGER

Candidate For Congress—7th District

Once in a lifetime you have the right man for the right job. If you are a Republican voting in the 7th Congressional district, you have the power to be a part of an American historical achievement. If you vote for Koger, you will surely nominate the first black man for Congress in Maryland's history.

Lucky or not, Koger is opposed by six white Republican candidates. Koger will win, and this is possible only if all the Republicans of goodwill will stick together, refuse to be divided, and vote for him for Congress.

There are 630,000 Blacks in Maryland; yet, there is not a single Black representative in the U.S. Congress. This is a disgrace! Black people should run for every office. Black people should support them, without apology, just as Greeks, Italians, Jews, Gentiles, etc., do their brother candidates. It is tragic for Blacks to lose.

Koger will work for all Americans — black and white. He will support their just claims, and hear their grievances. Do not fail your child! Do not put trust in Judases who would sell his rights for silver.

Koger is the best candidate running for Congress on the Republican ticket. He is highly qualified, a proven community worker, and a resourceful fighter. He was the champion Republic voter-getter, and the last black GOP winner when he was elected and served with distinction as a Delegate to the Constitution Convention. He is endorsed by the Citywide Republican Club.

Koger is a businessman, and a leader in the Insurance Industry. He is a pioneer writer and publisher of books of inspiration for Black children about Black history. Thousands of his books are read throughout America.

Koger has faith in his fellowman, and believe that whites and blacks should love and respect one another. He says they should work together in brotherhood for what is good and best for America.

Koger is Qualified

Koger was elected delegate to the Md. Constitution Convention; and sponsored the first provision passed by the Convention on State Audits. He served on the Baltimore Insurance Advisory Commission. He was appointed by Gov. Agnew to the Maryland Human Rights Commission.

Koger is a member of both the Criminal Justice Commission and the Maryland Crime Investigation Committee. He is a member of the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce and the Baltimore Business League, an organization of black businessmen.

He organized and served as first president of the Harlem, New Area and Ashburton Improvement Associations.

He heads Koger-Laws Insurance Agency. He was the first black man licensed as an Insurance Broker in Maryland, and has been in business for 30 years.

He is author and publisher of "History of Black Man," "Legend of Jocko," "Mother Goose," "A.B.C. of Insurance and "Negro Heroes Card Game." His books are distributed throughout the U.S.A.

Koger organized and led with ... the fight to open the White Coffee Pot Restaurants. He marched with the Activists to open large high-rise apartments to blacks. He served on the Baltimore Grand Jury and exposed its racially prejudiced operation.

Koger led 30 successful fights to keep Tavern out of residential areas. His leadership was responsible for a sidewalk being laid down Gwynns Falls Pkwy. along Hanson Park to protect children at school No. 80 and Lemmel Jr. H. S. Koger was a leader in the elimination of the racial term "Negro" in newspaper crime stories. He opposed Baltimore City when Easterwood Park refused his son playground equipment because of his race, and sparked the fight for desegregation of City Parks.

Girl in cemetery still unconscious

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

Police are still investigating the strange case of the 18-year old Baltimore girl found shot twice in the head in the Mount Calvary Cemetery late the night of July 24.

Meantime the teenager, Miss Paula Denise Spencer, a June graduate of Houston-Woods Junior-Senior High School, has remained unconscious at University Hospital since caretakers of the historic old cemetery and neighbors found her the next morning around 10 a.m. on July 25.

Visiting her in quiet, prayerful vigil each day for the past days are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Spencer, 3000 block Westwood Ave.

On Monday the mother, Mrs. Lydia Spencer told the AFRO, "We are still praying. Where there is life there is hope. She is very quiet when we go in and the doctors tell us she is still the same, lingering between life and death.

"We do not know whether she recognizes us or not. She is in intensive care. She can not eat. She is fed through a tube. She can not talk. She just lies there."

The mysterious case came to the attention of the neighbors residing near Mount Calvary Cemetery before dawn July 25 when they heard gun shots fired in the burial ground.

They reported to police they also heard screams of a young woman and later moans and terrifying cries.

The cemetery is located near Snow Hill Rd. and Cedar Lane in the Brooklyn area in Anne Arundel County, over 10 miles from Miss Spencer's home.

Police reports show she was last seen by classmates and girl-friends between 10 p.m. and 11 p.m. July 24 when she was on her way alone to get a bus to go home.

Her mother said she was wearing blue jeans, a white sleeveless shell, brown sandals and a wide necklace with earrings to match.

Anne Arundel County police responded to neighbors' calls and searched among the tombstones for some sign of a human being. However darkness halted their investigation.

The next morning the cemetery superintendent, his workers and neighborhood men followed the moans to the girl's unconscious form.

Police reports show she had not been molested and was fully clothed.

They report that they have continued to comb the graveyard for clues but refuse to reveal what they have discovered that may eventually lead to the mystery of the young woman in the graveyard.

Miss Spencer's parents told the AFRO they know of no one who could have wanted to kill the quiet, pleasant young woman.

Police state that the person of persons who committed the crime obviously thought she would die after the two shots in the head.

The bullets have been removed by hospital surgeons.

Miss Spencer is a lifelong member of the family church, Whitestone Baptist Church, where she is a member of the Sanctuary Choir. She had planned to enroll in nursing school this fall.

Her father, Jerome Spencer, is a World War II veteran and a government employee of 16 years at Fort Howard Veterans Hospital.

STUDENT PROTECTION

Maryland and Blue Cross and Blue Shield today announced the fall semester enrollment period for their student coverage program will run through October.

Maryland Blue Cross and Blue shield has an will run through Oct. 15.

The program, which offers year round protection on and off the campus, is available to students 19 through 26 years of age. Last year nearly 8,500 students were covered by the program.

NEW POSTAL SYSTEM

Establishment of a new U. S. Postal Service to run the mail system has created unprecedented interest in National Postal Forum IV, to be held in Washington October 26 and 27. Postmaster Warren M. Bloomberg reported recently. Over 2,000 business and government executives are expected to attend the Forum to discuss programs and problems involved in the movement of the mails.

area early this week.

Mr. Fertitta told the AFRO the raid that apprehended more than a dozen "big timers" both men and women, "completely wipes out, we hope, Westcott's multi-million dollar dope ring, one of the largest on the Eastcoast."

Stating that his is not the end of the huge roundup of what state, Federal and county police feel are major narcotics distributors, Fertitta added, "We are going on with sweeping arrests, but this one we feel has immediately cut off the biggest supply and distribution for a long period of time. We think we will have every major supplier soon."

A great part of the narcotics distributors' dope had been destined for school opening, he said.

Westcott is also scheduled along with teachers aide Miss Margeret Thompson of Baltimore to face charges stemming from their 1968 arrests.

The trial which will be in Cleveland, Ohio this month concerns her arrest at the Cleveland airport allegedly with $60,000 of cocaine hidden in her purse and Westcott's arrest the next day at a Detroit Mich. motel.

Both are under $10,000 bail in Ohio.

Westcott had a total of $50,000 bail placed on him after Federal agents arrested him Tuesday morning in Norfolk.

Also arrested by the Federal, city and county team of narcotics agents was another well-known sportsman and Avenue figure, Charles Burman, 38, 3800 block Rogers Ave., who was not at home when the raid came early Tuesday morning. However records show the officers striked out the residence and arrested the suspect when he returned to his house to pack his clothes and belongings.

Confiscated were guns, several hundred glassine bags and a large amount of cutting agents used in narcotics trade, Mr. Fertitta said.

Blonde Sally Bryant, listed in police files as a girl friend of Westcott's and mother of an infant, was also arrested and charged with conspiracy to violate narcotics laws and importation of drugs.

John Quincy Edwards, white, arrested at his home in Harford County and charged with conspiracy, is owner of the Belair Edwards Motors and described by Mr. Fertitta as a dealer who has sold many high - priced cars to local racketeers.

Mr. Fertitta said confiscated in the raid at Edwards Motors were four late model Cadillacs and Lincoln Continentals worth about $35,000. The cars have been towed to Baltimore County and city lots, he revealed.

Another well-known Avenue figure now out on bail on a murder indictment is Donald Harrington, arrested by narcotics agents in a house in the 2900 block Cold Spring Lane. Police report Harrington was in possession of more than $14,000 cash.

Robert Fagan doorman at the Charles St. near North Ave. Carousell Lounge is reported to have had over $20,000 lottery action when police cracked down at his home.

Mr. Fertitta reports that Fagan threw numbers paraphanalia out of the window when he saw officers approaching. His wife, Mrs. Sophia Fagan, was also apprehended and charged.

The raiders started before dawn at a room on the 5th floor of the James Brown Motor Inn to nab Roosevelt Charles Howard of New Jersey on charges of drug violations and taking part in a liquor highjacking in North Carolina.

Arrested at the Bel Air automobile agency was Clarence M. Scruggs Jr., 32, Gastonia, N.C. now under $20,000 bail.

Among others arrested were Douglas G. Christian, 27, 3200 block Piedmont Ave.; Yoma Mitchell, 2300 block Cold Spring Lane; Albert R. Christian 29, 3600 block Gelston Ave., brother of Douglass, who turned himself in at Northwestern Police Station; Charles Robinson, 1300 block Division St.; Betty Ann Bee, and Stancil Stanback.
