Colts set to commence new chapter in San Diego

SAN DIEGO — The Baltimore Colts open a new chapter in their history Sunday afternoon when they begin the regular season and their era in the American Football Conference of the National Football League against the San Diego Chargers.

A sellout crowd of over 50,000 is expected in San Diego Stadium.

The Colts concluded a 4-2 pre-season slate last Saturday night in Washington by dropping a 17-14 decision to the Redskins. Baltimore saw an offensive performance that totaled 342 yards (including a 220-yard passing night by John Unitas) fall to achieve victory.

Baltimore begins the regular season with what its coaching staff hopes to be a much improved running game. The primary reason for this improvement is the Colts' No. 1 draft pick from Texas Christian, Norm Bulaich, who was impressive the last three pre-season contests after missing the first three because of a muscle pull.

Bulaich gained 47 yards in eight carries against the Detroit Lions (six yard average) and picked up 36 more in 11 rushes last week in addition to 37 yards on three pass receptions of 24 yards against Washington.

Unitas, who can reach the 20-mile mark in career passing yardage with a 206-yard day against San Diego, has hit 22 of 39 passes for 642 yards (53.9 percent) and two touchdowns. He was intercepted six times in the pre-season.

One member of the Unitas Fan Club is Charger Coach Charlie Waller. "He has the best combination of brain and arm of any quarterback. He thinks quickly and strikes quickly."

San Diego, itself a team with a potential to strike quickly, may have to face Baltimore without some of its most potent weapons. Numbered on the Charger injury list are all-pro receiver Lance Alworth, league-leading rusher Dickie Post and impressive sophomore quarterback Marty Domres. Expected to return to action against the Colts are ace receiver Gary Garrison, tackle Russ Washington and cornerbacks Bobby Howard and Joe Beauchamp.

San Diego concluded its pre-season activity with a record of 3-3 by losing to the New Orleans Saints, 20-14, before 63,904 at steamy Tulane Stadium last Saturday night.

COLT NOTES:

Baltimore Colts' quarterback John Unitas needs 298 yards to reach the 20-mile mark in career passing yardage. The legendary Unitas has passed for 38,502 yards in 14 seasons.

He has completed more passes for more yardage and more touchdowns than any quarterback in professional football history. Perhaps his most incredible accomplishment is the NFL record he holds for throwing touchdown passes in 47 consecutive games (1956-60).

Washington's victory over the Colts (17-14) last Saturday night broke a streak of 18 straight Baltimore wins in that series (pre-season and regular season). The last time the Redskins won was a 27-24 game in 1959 at Griffith Stadium on a Sam Baker field goal.

In six pre-season games, Baltimore played before five sellout crowds, four of them recording. The Colts drew 53,013 at Oakland, 38,341 at Kansas City, 42,409 at Denver 76,712 at Miami (all records) and 46,045 in Washington (all sellouts). The crowd of 34,500 for the Detroit Lions contest in Raleigh was the second highest in that charity classic's history.

Tight end Tom Mitchell was the club's leading pre-season pass receiver with 14 catches for 220 yards and one touchdown. His average per catch was 15.7 and his longest gain was 31 yards.

CHARGER CHECKOFFS:

The Chargers pulled each of their three pre-season victories out in the fourth quarter. In fact, they outscored their opponents 65-12 in pre-season action.

Merlin Olsen, all-pro defensive tackle of the Los Angeles Rams, had this comment about his pre-season skirmish with Walt Sweeney, San Diego's all-pro guard: "He is the best offensive lineman I oppose. If I had to go against him every week, I think I would sell Volkswagens full time."

'Fighter' buried in Guyana

GEORGETOWN, Guyana — Warm flames of Pan-African unity were aglow here recently as Arch Foster, a 38 year-old freedom fighter from Deland, Fla., was laid to rest in the historic soil of Berbice.

At this site, in 1763, Gabriel Prosser, the African nationalist Cuffy, led a great slave uprising which ranks high in the chronicles of the Guyanese African revolution.

It was here, with a spirit of the brotherhood that reaches across the waters, that Guyanese African nationalists buried the former associate director of the Foundation for Community Development (FCD) in Durham community.

Arch was known throughout the state as a hard, grass roots organizer.

Guyana Shows Economic Growth

GEORGETOWN, Guyana — According to a recently released report by the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs, Guyana is among the South American countries which have shown the greatest economic growth between 1968 and 1969.

The report says that the country growth was spurred by an agricultural recovery that contributed to increased industrial production.

The Dominican Republic and Paraguay also showed significant growth because of agricultural recovery.

Bullets open camp in high optimism

FT. MEADE, Md. — Opening day at the camp of the Baltimore Bullets here Wednesday, was crowned with optimism that could be characterized as warm as the 90-degree weather.

From front office to rookie player, the Bullet personnel was in a high frame of mind.

Executive vice president Jerry Sachs reported having discovered a brand new enthusiasm among local fans, and No. 1 draft pick George Johnson provided encouragement with the way he maneuvered on his questionable knees.

Sachs' pleasure was caused by the manner in which Bullet season tickets have been sold. With almost a month remaining before the NBA opener here, the Bullets already have almost doubled the 1968 total of 710 season tickets, and have exceeded last year's total that was acquired well into the seson.

"What is most gratifying," says Sachs, "is that we have accomplished this despite the fact that we were extremely late in getting our ticket drive underway. The fact that we've sold 1,247 tickets in just two and a half months, and that our season ticket brochure has been out only a month, makes that figure even more satisfying to us.

"The response thus far has been tremendously encouraging. When we consider that last year's total includes purchases made after the season had actually gotten underway and that we started a month later this summer, we feel there's ample reason to believe that this is going to be a banner year for us."

Although he continued to show signs of some pain, Johnson, on whom the Bullets will depend for relief of center Wesley Unseld, appeared much improved over his days of the rookie camp.

Trainer Skip Feldman expressed confidence in the youngster's willingness to live with pain, and said he is hopeful that Johnson will recognize that his main problem now is mental. Once he survives this test, said the conditioner, the big fellow can be a big help.

Further pleasure was experienced by the entire Bullet family over the condition of Earl (The Pearl) Monroe.

The Bullets' main offensive weapon reported 18 pounds under his body of early 1969, and seemed well within himself while making sharp cuts on his recently repaired knees. . .LACY.

EAST LANSING, Mich. — In order to combat what he calls a "feeling of alienation," the Michigan State University director of minority students, Don Coleman, will coordinate a leadership training program this fall to acquaint students with university structure and policies. Central to the program is a new class entitled "The University."

Oriole manager Weaver cool to 'premature' party

WASHINGTON — Baltimore manager Earl Weaver didn't take part in the festivities following the Orioles' clinching of the American League's Eastern Division title Thursday.

He'd rather wait until his club gets the chance to avenge last year's World Series defeat — and nothing would please Weaver more than getting another crack at the New York Mets in the annual fall classic.

The Orioles backed into their second straight title Thursday afternoon as the Boston Red Sox defeated the second place New York Yankees, 5-4 in a 10-inning contest. Dick Bosman damped the Birds' spirits somewhat with a five-hitter.

ard votes anges at gustine's

LEIGH, N.C. — The er of Saint Augustine's ege was changed ally as voted by its of Trustees at its meeting. Two significhanges were made are believed in the un will make the pro of the College a-more one.

first change elimi the requirement that hairman of the Board of Trustees by the bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina.

This change was made at the insistence of the Right Rev. Thomas A. Fraser, bishop of North Carolina who by virtue of his ecclesiastical office, served as chairman of the Board of Trustees.

It was Bishop Fraser's feeling that the interests and mission of the college could both be served by making it possible for any member of the board, back or white, lay or clergy — to serve as its chairman.

In addition to a change in requirements for the chairmanship of the board, changes in the charter were made to provide for membership on the board of a student elected by the student body. This action follows that of a number of colleges in this country that granted student representation on their boards of governance.

In other actions the board reaffirmed its support to the college as it made plans for initiating an appeal for capital funds with which to implement the college's long-range development program.

Wife of former Bullet star dies

Mrs. Brenda Chambers, wife of pro basketball star Jerry Chambers, died early this week, presumably victim of a lingering illness from child-bearing.

Details of the death and burial plans were not available at AFRO press time.

Mrs. Chambers, 24, a graduate of UCLA, gave birth to Jerome Jr., six months ago. She reportedly never regained her health.

Her husband, Jerry, an All-American collegian, played with the Bullets until two years ago when he was traded to the Phoenix Suns, who last spring dealt him to the Atlanta Hawks of the NBA.

AUSTIN, Tex., — A federal Judge Thursday refused to move the trial of S. Sgt. David Mitchell, charged in the alleged My Lai massacre, from a military to a civilian court.

U.S. District Judge Jack Roberts instructed pretrial hearings in the case to begin next Tuesday as scheduled. The move apparently removes the final barrier which had stalled pre-trial hearings for Mitchell since June.

KODAK INTRODUCES THE FLASH CAMERAS THAT WORK WITHOUT FLASH BATTERIES.

Ingenious new X-flash system works like magic with magicubes.

Now you can take good, clear flash pictures without flash batteries. With any of the new Kodak Instamatic® X cameras.
You'll never have to buy, replace, or even think about flash batteries again.
Instead, there's the new self-powered magicube. It's flashed by a spring, not a battery.
You just pop one on the camera and shoot away. Four flashes to each cube. If you try to use a used-up magicube, a red signal in the viewfinder warns you. If you try to use a battery-type flashcube, it simply won't fit.
Just drop in the film. And flash away.
