Latin Casino settles row with the Supremes

CHERRY HILL, N.J. — Peace has settled over the Latin Casino here, now that the Supremes have agreed to fill a date they walked out of in the spring of 1969.

The Casino management announced last week that the popular girl trio will work the spot for nine days, commencing April 23, 1971.

* * *

The dispute stemmed from a suit instituted by Latin Casino operators Dave Dushoff and Dallas Gerson after the Supremes split from an engagement at the club in the midst of a run and at a time when the spot was sold out solidly.

The cause of the sudden exit was the fact that lead singer Diana Ross' two dogs died as the result of eating poisons which had been left in crevices in the floor by exterminators.

Miss Ross was "so stricken" that she and the others deserted their engagements mid-term.

She has since become a single and inaugurated the season last Wednesday, at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria's Empire Room, N.Y.

In addition, the Latin Casino has booked the Temptations, another Motown act for 10 days starting April 2.

Gibson Terms 'Nonsense' Idea Of Plot In Assaults On Police

By RONALD BURNS

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Newark Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson terms "nonsense" and "dangerous" the spreading stories that a nationwide plot is behind recent attacks to policemen and is fearful they may lead to growing police repression.

Gibson, who took office 75 days ago as the first black mayor of a major northeastern city, said in an interview that recent shootings of policemen were "scattered acts," and that theories of a nationwide conspiracy would only "condition people to accept repressive action."

"I think most of these stories are nonsense," he said. "They prepare the public for illegal acts on the part of policemen. And once they're prepared, they don't catch on until later."

Labelling" retaliatory action" some the wake of recent shootings, Gibson said:

"You saw those continuous reports of conspiracies to shoot patrolmen. And then you heard, say, that "a Black Panther poster was found in such and such a place.'

"Then, when there was a raid on a Black Panther building and two or three people were shot, the public made no outcry because they were conditioned to accept it.

"The same damn thing happened in Hitlers' Germany," he said. "It is a traditional and often dangerous politician approach that has destroyed many lives."

Gibson, who took office July 1 after trouncing former Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, later convicted on federal extortion charges, voiced hope that Newark, torn by bloody riots three years ago, could avoid using those methods.

He said he was working to change police attitudes, in part through the recruitment of more inner city blacks to the city's force.

He blamed "improper recruiting in the past" for the small number of 130 blacks on a force of 1,300 men in a city which is more than half black in overall population, but said "we are working to change that right away."

He said a small truck called a "recruitmobile" is on the streets right now" in ghetto neighborhoods to try to "overcome the poor ratio" of blacks to whites on the city's force.

He said the city was considerably calmer now than when he took offile 75 days ago, despite some indications of unrest in the Puerto Rican community. He said that Puerto Ricans "are going through the same thing that blacks went through a few years back, so now they're resorting to pressure tactics to achieve their ends."

"They're going to demonstrate for more jobs, better housing, better education for their children, the same things that every group wants," he said.

"But I would hope that we would be able to deal with their needs without having to go through some of the problems that we've had with the black community."
