Mystifying Red Salmon draws Cousteau cameras

The award-winning documentary series, "The Undersea world of Jacques Cousteau," begins its fourth season on ABC with the saga of the mystifying death journey of the Sockeye Salmon.

On "The Tragedy of the Red Salmon," airing next Tuesday, Nov. 24, 7:30-8:30 p.m., EST), the perilous migration of the Sockeye to spawn in remote Fraser Lake in Alaska is graphically depicted.

Five years previously, men planted fertilized salmon egs in this lake which had never seen the presence of one of these fish. For one year after hatching the salmon built their strength there and then they set off on their voyage to the ocean.

• • •

The crew of Captain Cousteau's oceanographic vessel, "Calypso" entered Alaskan waters at Kodiak Island near the Alaskan peninsula to film what happened to the salmon. After surviving four years of danger far out in the open sea, the dauntless fish are drawn by an instinctual call to return to the fresh waters of their birth.

Some scientists believe the salmon have a sun-compass mechanism and are able to sense magnetic fields and the rotation of the earth. Recently, some theorists have suggested that the salmon might also be sensitive to variations in gravity which are imprinted in their memories to help them find their way home.

Masters in precise navigation that they are, the salmon are unable to avoid the traps set out by man.

The ones which escape the nets are followed by Cousteau's team of divers and filmmakers to record the results of the experimental egg-planting and the completion of the cycle begun fives years before. Beset by natural obstacles and predators, it is a tortuous and perilous journey.

All-Pro Chicken will join with Kentucky Fried

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Brady Keys, former all-pro defensive back for the Pittsburgh Steelers and president of All-Pro Chicken, Inc. last week announced that his company will join with Kentucky Fried Chicken in a new series of take-out places to be called "Brady Keys Kentucky Fried Chicken."

The new company, of which Keys is president and top executive officer, will not interfere with either the existing All-Pro franchises or the Kentucky Fried.

Plans for the snew company call for 50 new franchises, mainly in the Detroit area, and the employment of 1,000 black people in positions including ownership, management and supervisory positions. Capitalized initially for $400,000, the new company will be an equal partnership.

John Y. Brown Jr., president of Kentucky Fried, largest commercial food service operation in the nation, said, "We look forward to working with Mr. Keys who is already a leader in the black community. "Our corporation," the said, "has participated in and has scheduled other ventures which will pioneer in providing interracial opportunities. Further, we will continue to seek other avenues of contributing solutions for existing problems."

Said Keys, 33, "This venture will show that blacks and whites can work together. Just imagine what would happen if this concept of ours were duplicated by other major corporations," Keys said.

WBAL-TV to show Turkey Day special

"A Time for Thanksgiving," a locally produced holiday special featuring the color photographs of noted Harford County pootographer James A. Warner, will be seen on WBAL-TV Thanksgiving night, Thursday, November 26, at 9:30-10 p.m.

According to TV 11's John Morris, who wrote, produced and directed the program, the show will recreate the mood and atmosphere of "old-fashioned" Thanksgivings. Morris employs photographs taken by Warner and published in his two books, "The Gentle People" and "The Quiet Land."

The photographs have been described as having qualities reminiscent of oil paintings of the "Old Masters," as well as contemporary American artist Andrew Wyeth. They were taken in Southeastern Pansylvania, and depict the life styles of the Amish, Mennonites, Dunkards and Quakers.

"A Time for Thanksgiving" is being presented by The Schmidt Baking Co. of Baltimore.

Flip Wilson will be host to Arte Johnson, Moms Mabley, Doug Kershaw and special guest Marcel Marceau on the NBC colorcast of "The Flip Wilson Show" Thursday.

• • •

Flip, as "Geraldine Jones," will appear as a beauty operator in a salon operated by Monsieur Stone (Arte Johnson), whose greatest challenge is glamorizing an elderly custom (Moms Mabley).

Marcel Marceau will perform his famous pantomime, "The Mask Maker," and join Flip in a pantomime duet in which Marceau imitates an American getting ready for work and Flip gives an impression of a Parisian performing the same routine.

It's one thing to make a smooth whiskey. A soft whiskey is something else.
Soft Whiskey is always smooth.
But smooth whiskey is not necessarily soft.
Only Soft Whiskey blends the smoothness and mildness found in the best imported Scotch and Canadian whiskies with the full flavor of fine light American whiskey.
With a full 86 proof.
So far, no one has come close to duplicating Soft Whiskey.
And that's okay with us.
We kind of like being the only brand of Soft Whiskey in the world.
