CCB enters labor past with faculty

By DR. SIDNEY KOBRE

The Community College of Baltimore's Board of Trustees learned officially of the State Department of Labor's certification of the American Federation of Teachers as the bargaining agent for the professional staff at CCB.

Following a vote on October 23, which the union won, the certification was given by Labor Commissioner Henry Miller and Deputy Commissioner William R. Welsh.

Representing the board in the union contract negotiations will be Frank Nocella, vice president of the regional board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Prof. Charles Cherubin, president of the local AFT, appeared before the board and thanked its members for their progressive and far-seeing attitude in recognizing collective bargaining for the instructors.

He said it was necessary that negotiations be entered into immediately, as the contract would affect the college's budget, to be prepared for submission to the Board of Estimates.

The CCB trustees also adopted an elaborate set of by-laws, replacing the old document which grew out of the time when CCB was a part of the Baltimore school system.

President Bard characterized as a forward step, the new by-laws, which had been worked on for six months by the president and Mrs. Maurice Freedlander, board member, and others.

The faculty senate executive committee, of which A. Frank Holston is chairman, came before the board to recommend that the old by-laws regarding suspension and dismissal of faculty be changed.

The previous regulations said that an instructor may be dismissed or suspended for sufficient cause, such as extended absenteeism, immorality, ill-health and other factors and conditions.

The faculty group advocated that the causes for dismissal or suspension be only for "gross insubordination, incompetence and/or moral turpitude." In the event of termination for cause, the instructor will be afforded due process.

Under new procedures, his case will be considered by the faculty committee and the board of trustees, and he will have a hearing, a written statement of the charges and the protection of counsel, if he so wishes.

These provisions were approved by the trustees.

President of the Student Government Association Robert T. Roselle Jr., recommended strongly that a statement defining students' rights be included in the by-laws of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Roselle said that the statement should include: "As citizens, students have the same duties and obligations as do other citizens and enjoy the same freedoms of speech, press, religion, peaceful assembly and petition that other citizens enjoy."

"The college will respect the rights guaranteed to them by the constitutions and laws of the United States, the State of Maryland and the city of Baltimore," Mr. Roselle asserted, and this should be made a part of the trustees' regulations.

"Students should be evaluated in a course solely on the basis of their performance in meeting appropriate standards, he said.

Mr. Roselle urged that the by-laws include the points that students individually and collectively are free to examine and to discuss all questions of interest to them, including questions relating to college policies, and to press opinions public and privately.

It was the general consensus that the Roselle statement on students' rights be included in the college by-laws, and the motion was passed by the board unanimously.

Warns on unvented heaters

Maurice A. Harmon, Director of the Baltimore City Department of Social Services (DSS), has announced that the Department has begun a campaign to educate its clients to the dangers of unvented space heaters.

Mr. Harmon stated that some 50,000 copies of a brochure describing unvented space heaters and their dangers were mailed to Department clients with November Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and adult general public assistance checks.

Another 50,000 copies of the brochure will be distributed to DSS clients through the Department's waiting rooms and offices, through general hospitals, and through some Food Stamp sales outlets.

Mr. Harmon noted that the DSS was undertaking this educational campaign as the result of recommendations of a committee convened by the president of the City Council, William Donald Schaefer. The committee recommended that City agencies launch a public education campaign about the dangers in using unvented space heaters. The DSS is also working with the Department of Housing and Community Development to establish an efficient and effective means of reporting the number and location of the heaters.

LIMITED DDT

Controlling insects around the home may at times appear complex with the restrictions now being put on the use of some insecticides. Beginning next January many pesticides, formerly in common use, will have their use limited and restricted under the new Maryland Pesticide Applicators Law. These include the so-called "hard" pesticides such as DDT, Aldrin, Chlordane, dieldrin, heptachlor, etc., and some the more hazardous kind such as parathion, phosdrin and sodium arsenite.

Parks Famous Flavor Savory Stuffing

(FOR 10 TO 12 LB. BIRD)

8 cups bread crumbs (4 soft white—4 corn bread)
1 lb. Parks Mom's Sagey Sausage
1 cup Onion, chopped
1 cup Celery, chopped
½ cup Green Pepper, chopped
2 tbsp. Salt (about)
2 Eggs, well-beaten
Liquid from Giblets or Warm Water to moisten

METHOD—
1. Crumble sausage in large skillet and brown lightly, pouring off drippings as it collects, but leaving about 4 tablespoons.
2. Add vegetables and saute slowly until they are clear, but not brown.
3. Toss bread with salt—add eggs and mixture of sausage and vegetables.
4. Toss lightly—sprinkle with liquid and mix. You want the stuffing just moist enough to hold a loose ball when you form it with your hand.

For best results use unsweetened corn bread, no crusts. If corn bread is not available, use soft white bread crumbs entirely.
NOTE—The same recipe, using Parks Famous Flavor Sausage, will provide a mild-seasoned dressing.

Anything you make in the slow, careful (and delicious) old-fashioned way is bound to be more expensive than a brand mass-produced product. And that's just why Parks' Famous Flavor Sausage is a premium-priced sausage.

It's made from a generations-old secret country recipe, carefully prepared in modern kitchens from pure, lean pork and expensive savory spices.

Try some soon. You'll buy More Parks' Sausages, Mom.
