Howell Randolph, Miss Hunter wed

Miss Doris Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter of Newport News, Va., and Howell Nathan Randolph were married here, Friday.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isiah Randolph of Charlotte Court House Va.

The ceremony took place in the home of Bishop and Mrs. Monroe R. Saunders of N. Hilton St., with the Rev. Mr. Saunders performing the double-ring ceremony.

• • •

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Willie Hunter of Newport News, Va. She wore a white lace ensemble reembroidered with pearls, designed with a high neckline and long sleeves and a ruffled collar. Her headpiece was an arranged veil, and she carried white carnations.

Miss Margarete McClammy, who was maid of honor, wore an ensemble in pink and carried pink carnations.

A reception for 60 guests followed at the home of Mrs. Katie Head of Wakefield Road.

For the wedding and reception, the mother of the bride wore an ensemble in lavender; and Mrs. Randolph an ensemble in blue.

The newlyweds are at home on N. Calvert. The new Mrs. Randolph, a graduate of the Carver High School in Newport News and the Nesbitt Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in that city, is in the ICC Unit at Provident Hospital, here. Mr. Randolph is an electrical apprentice with the Gas and CHRISTMAS is for children. The AFRO's Mrs. Santa has hundreds of children in need of food, clothes and toys this Christmas. Call Mrs. Santa and she will give you the names of a needy family, or you may send Mrs. Santa a contriubtion (cash only — no food or toys), and she will use your contributions to help the neediest ones on her list.

FLAIR Studio gives Extravaganza show

Flair Studio presented its junior students in an extravagant fashion show luncheon on Sunday, at the Sheraton-Baltimore Inn.

Adult students at the Studio had been presented two weeks earlier in a dinner-dance at Martin's West.

Following greetings by Miss Wanda Rawlings and a song and dance introduction by several of the junior students, guests were entertained during luncheon by a showing of contemporary furs from the Mitchell Fur Salon and luxurious lounge and after five fashions from Mel's of Mondawmin. They were shown by Flair Models Misses Linda Bryan, Vicki Smith, Ingrid Clanton, Dorothy Hudson and Mesdames Betty M. Brown and Beverley Foster. Gilda Dixon, child model, also participated in this informal showing.

Miss Flame White then introduced the fashion show presentation by the students which featured holiday fashions and the looks of 1971 from Phase 3 and Franklin-Simon's-Mondawmin.

Three high-ranking customs officials left Baltimore this weekend, bound for London, Brussells and Australia, via Los Angeles, before returning to their native Nigeria, next spring.

The three Nigerians were among a group of visiting officials from Nepal, the Philippines, Thailand and South and Central America, who were getting a first-hand look last week at how the United States Customs Bureau operates in Baltimore.

Fletcher I. Potter, district director, was the official host to the Nigerians during the next to final week of their five-week tour in the United States. The Nigerian officials were Isaac Oyedalu Oni, who was escorted by James McCann, asst. district director for inspections and control. Mr. Oni has been in this similar position in Nigeria for 14 years. Musibau Akanji Fashanu was escorted by Jack Riley, special agent-in-charge. Mr. Fashanu has been in this similar position for nearly eight years. Olawale Olaniyan was escorted by Roderick Mahen, assistant district director of classification and valuation. Mr. Olaniyan has filled this position for nearly 10 years.

Each of the Nigerians is from Lagos. They participated in a Customs Service training course in New York and also observed the port there. While in Baltimore they saw more specific operations of the Customs Service.

Before leaving on Friday, the visitors were entertained by Mrs. Lydia Odubiyi, whose sister-in-law resides in close proximity of Mr. Oni and family in Lagos, and whose husband, a chief in West Nigeria, is an acquaintance of Mr. Oni.

Mrs. Odubiyi's official hostess and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Verlon E. Mills (Serena G.), were on hand for the reunion at the visiting official's Statler Hilton Hotel rooms on Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Odubiyi is in Baltimore this year as a teacher ambassador to the public schools here. She is from West Nigeria.

Also visiting in Baltimore over the weekend, was Mrs. Robert (Martha) Ammons of Mount Vernon, N.Y. She was house guest of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Jackson.

The Most Exciting Headache News in Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin®. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

Pre-Trial Release moves

On Nov. 30, the Municipal Bureau of General Services moved the Pre-trial Release Division from its location in the Calvert Building to the Court House Annex, 227 St. Paul Place.

Director, Richard O. Motsay, Esq., is presently located on the first floor in the room previously used by the Security Division as a locker room.

The Pre-trial investigators are located on the eighth floor in the Jury Assembly Room.

TJD loses money bid for housing program

"We came back empty-handed."

This was the blunt comment of Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro 3rd Tuesday on his trip Monday afternoon to Washington to obtain more funds for the city's housing rehabilitation program.

The mayor and aides met with George Romney, head of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and made a pitch for the needed funds, but got no commitment.

This means, the mayor said, that some other means will have to be devised to keep the program, should necessary money not be forthcoming from Washington.

• • •

The program is the only one of its kind in the country.

It proposes on-the-job training for young men in the building trades to the point of them being efficient craftsmen, the rehabilitation of city owned vacant houses into liveable homes for low and moderate income families.

Also provided is that such families may purchase the homes at nominal rates, in most instances with no down payment.

• • •

Hitch at the moment is that the Building Trades Union has been reluctant to take on the trainees furnished by the Model Cities Agency.

The cities Housing and Community Development Agency stands to finish the houses, and the Urban League is the overall coordinator.

Another hitch is that rehabilitation of the houses originally set at around $14,000 each, has now been hiked by the building trades to $16,000.

A spokesman for the mayor said everything possible will be done to save the program, that not only provides building trades training for skilled employment but carries a facilitated home ownership plan as well.

Increase in Morgan grad school

Some 789 students are enrolled in the graduate school at Morgan State College, an increase of 44 percent over the first semester of 1969, Dr. Frank Decosta, dean, announced today.

The largest number of students are enrolled in the elementary education curriculum with the next highest in history social science. Four new graduate programs, business administration (management), physical education, recreation and urban planning account for 61 per cent of the increase.

Other curricula showing an increase are administration and supervision, English mathematics, music, reading, and science.

• • •

The number of students in non-degree programs more than doubled. This group includes Towson State College students who are participating in either the Cooperative Reading Specialist or Music Education programs.

Included in the total figure this semester are 19 foreign students from India, Iran, Japan, Palestine, Philippine Island Taiwan and Thailand.

The Morgan graduate school was begun in 1964 with 164 students 12.8 per cent white and 86.6 per cent black. Today it has 789 students, 54.5 per cent black, 43.1 per cent white and 2.4 per cent from foreign countries.

In six years, some 2,970 have studied in the Morgan graduate school and 343 have earned their masters degree.
